Kaguya Sama : Love Is War [Anime & Manga]
The Seven Mystery Of Shuchiin Academy [LN]
We Want To Talk About Kaguya [Spin-Off]

Introduction

This Document will explain everything that has to do with Kaguya intelligence feats from the AniManga to the spin off and LN. Showing her underrated place in the SCD community. (Still getting Mid Diff (-) by Yuuichi) Recommend you to read the manga to see these feats in with more understanding (The story is peak trust me fr fr). But if you want to see the writing and comedy of it, I recommend you to watch the anime.

Kaguya feats put her in the low tier of SCD Characters like Nagumo, Yumeko and Near due to her feats not being impressive due to the other characters such as Chika and Miyuki disrupting the feats for the plot. She is by far one of the characters with many anti feats, like Aqua and Yuki.

Volume 1

•[CH1, S1 EP1] In the introduction of Miyuki and Kaguya, it is said that Kaguya has excelled in Theaters, Music, Martial Arts and much more.

The martial arts is proved to be true as it is shown in the later part of the manga, that Kaguya can defeat Ishigami and Miyuki easily in an arm wrestling competition in the student council room. (CH117, S3 EP1)

•[CH1, S1 EP1] After half a year timeskip, Kaguya has started to develop the Love Is War personality toward Miyuki in her mind, which kick started the series. Thus, she started to plan something to corner Miyuki into confessing to her without him knowing it was her who planned all of this, by putting a movie ticket that she won, in Chika (The Secretary of the student council) mail box as a fake prize. For her to go to the student council group later on with tickets since Chika can't go to the movie because of her political parents. (She knows this since they are childhood friends)

Using the advantage of the myth that says if a girl and a boy go to a movie together, they will be guaranteed to start dating, Said by Fujirawa. This is absolutely predicted and planned by Kaguya since she later on told Miyuki that he was just gonna tell Kaguya to go with him to the movie, after what Chika said. This was in order to corner Miyuki into making it seem like a confession to her with what Chika just said, pushing Miyuki into a dilemma. Because of the Love Is War personality both Kaguya and Miyuki have. “Whoever confesses first would loose!”. Since he can't really do anything about it, such as trying to say that he’s gonna sell the tickets while being flustered. With no other options, he admitted that he will go to the movie with Kaguya. Kaguya thought in a instead about how she sees through Miyuki's strategy of leaving up to her to decide whether or not, actually go out together to the movie. She has the option to refuse him but that would make everything she has done in this planning to be meaningless. So as a woman, she will accept Miyuki's invitation.

“I do sort of believe it... But I was hoping someone would give me an invitation to see it..”

Kaguya uses the skill “Feigning Innocence”. One of the secret psychological techniques passed down from the father to the child in the Shinomiya Family. Against this carefully calculated expression and sudden voice, the heart of someone would be set Aflutter. Miyuki's thoughts were thrown into disarray. Miyuki stubbornlythe kicked.
“Well... I suppose confessing is the duty of the man...”
His thoughts become clouded, and a crack in his will was formed. This crack did not slip past Kaguya unnoticed, SHE STRUCK!. She approached it as she would in a chess puzzle, As she closed in, Shirogane searched frantically for his next move... As their conclusion is finally reaching. An immovable object approached the plan of an unstoppable object...

In the midst, both Kaguya and Miyuki's brain and thoughts were overwhelmed by the sudden approach of Chika with another ticket of a movie that Kaguya did not plan to put in the mailbox, that it started the process of the Chaos theory in their mind. In the end, Fujirawa wins against Miyuki and Kaguya by eating the only sugar food there was, leaving Kaguya and Miyuki as the losers. Tho, this plan did highlight the planning, psychology and logical thinking of Kaguya in the end.

•[CH2] This feat is not that impressive as it can be seen as an anti feat, though it should be worth mentioning because of Kaguya planning in this feat. Both Kaguya and Miyuki decided to play a game of Old maid with the one winning have the power to make a request, Miyuki immediately thought of Kaguya in a maid and swimsuit clothes before She then said to him that lewd request won't be make, which probably means that Kaguya expect to Miyuki think of something like that, Kaguya managed to make Miyuki act and be careful even after the fact that she said that she will not be cheating, by checking if there is a scratch or mark that will make Kaguya know which card Miyuki have, but there isn't, gaining trust from him for a while before Miyuki realize this could be a another plan of her since she proposed the game first. Kaguya has 9 cards with Miyuki having 8 cards. Since Kaguya has the old maid, she goes first, forming a pair. Shirogane draws... and gets a JOKER on his first try. Sending fear into him, Miyuki immediately pulled it up for Kaguya to grab it, thinking that her plan was trembling because of this... Tho this was probably also part of her planning since she wanted to suggest Shirogane to request them to go to the movie later on in this chapter, meaning that her losing is part of her plan. Miyuki immediately sees that Kaguya is smiling and thinks that it is just a bluff since he has the advantage after all, not knowing the main body of her plan. Shirogane immediately realized soon later while thinking about the bluff smile that she could be losing to manipulate him after losing to the movie with tears, psychologically manipulating him with that. Thus after this, Kaguya actually realized that Shirogane is acting strange and came to the conclusion that he must know her plan of making them go to the movie together, her basic idea was completely correct even though some trivial details of it were off.

•[CH4] She casually answers each one of China's riddles correctly, such as correctly guessing which number goes to which letter/direction (East is 3, West is 9, South is 6, and North is 12), something that Miyuki fails to accomplish.
