Eumenides Prison arc Feat (From the Chinese Novel “The Death Announcement”)

note

Pink = Context from the story

Hang Wenshi = Hang Van Tri, Du Mingqiang = Do Minh Cuong = Eumenides(Google Translator pretty suck), Xiao Shun = Tieu Thuan, Hei Zi = Hac Tu, Truong Hai Phong = Zhang Haifeng

Context: Eumenides is a serial killer who kills individuals that he thought deserved to. Before he kills someone, he always sends an announcement consisting of name, crime and day of execution. After a hard time, L.P(the main character) finally convicts him and sends him to the prison, but can only sentence 5 years because of lack of evidence.

Starting off the arc is Hang Wenzhi (a new prisoner, but he was accused falsely) is sended in the same prison cell as Eumenides. But soon, he can’t bear the pressure and the bully anymore and try to suicide by a piece of breaking glass and Eumendies finds that his condition still not bad enough (considering his skin) and save him by a piece of clean fabric. Eumenides also reminds the warden to put Hang Wenzhihand over his head for stopping bleeding

Eumenides try to persuade Zhang Haifeng (the chief warden) not to expose what happen to Hang Wenzhi:

Du Mingqiang(Eumendies) spread his hands, his expression very relaxed: "It has nothing to do with me."

"But you really hide the truth!" Zhang Haifeng stood up, pressing his face close to Du Mingqiang "Moreover, you even stopped Hang Wenzhi from speaking! Do you think I'm stupid? Don't you realize?"

"I don't hope to hide you." Du Mingqiang revealed a helpless expression, "But you can't speak, otherwise he really can't continue living."

Zhang Haifeng sneered: "Are you using my dignity to curry favor?"

"He doesn't say anything, which means he won't harm your fat. Moreover..." At this moment, Du Mingqiang raised his head and no longer avoided the other party's gaze, "You also don't hope to encounter any more problems, right?"

Zhang Haifeng's eyes softened, seemingly moved. A moment later, he turned around and inserted the electric baton back into his waist, then clasped his hands behind his back, saying: "Can you guarantee that nothing will happen again?"

Du Mingqiang received an attitude that could change the other party, and the procedure said: "Hang Wenzhi is a victim, and his personality is stubborn and unyielding. If we use the rules in the prison to hone him, we will wear him down. Let me go and advise him, he is a cultured person, he will definitely listen to advice.

Hang Wenshi has another idea. He wants to convict the crime to the bully, but Eumenides try to stop him:

"What did you say? Say that someone else beat you up last night?" Du Mingqiang pressed his face against the other person's bed, "Do you know how many people will be implicated? The Binh brothers(the “boss” of Eumenides and Hang Wenshi’s prison cell), including the prison guard on duty, everyone will have to live and die! Captain Zhang - Zhang Haifeng, his methods are something he has never seen before?"

"It serves them right! Do I still have to think and worry about them?" Thinking about the pain and humiliation he endured last night, Hang Wenzhi's mood became extremely agitated, and he couldn't help but tremble all over.

Du Mingqiang looked at Hang Wenzhi with sympathy, "It's not thinking and worrying about them, it's thinking and worrying about yourself."

Hang Wenzhi slowly turned his head, a strange expression appearing on his face.

"If they receive a bit of blame and trouble, he will definitely use all his strength to take revenge on you." Du Mingqiang lightly waved his hand at Hang Wenzhi's shoulder a few times, sighing: "This is the rule of the game in prison."

Hang Wenzhi paused, after a long while the corners of his eyes gradually became wet, his voice suddenly sweet: "Why do you guys still want to love me? On days like this, why don't you just let me die?"

"If I'm dead, then what's the point of thinking anymore; if I'm alive, at least there's hope." Du Mingqiang turned his gaze towards the window of the hospital room, although the black iron bars of the railing were broken, the early morning light from the horizon still faintly shone in.

After some event (including the fight between Hang Wenshi and some of prisoners in his prison cell and the detective who try to arrest Eumenides visits him, gives him a CD from his Girlfriend), Hang Wenshi suggested to Eumenides that they should escape this prison, but Eumenides try to analyze the situation for him in order to stop him:

Du Mingqiang rolled his eyes helplessly, reminding the other party: “Even if you go out, you still won’t be able to meet her! As soon as you escape from prison, there will immediately be a group of police closely monitoring all your relationships. Do you still hope to meet your mother? Stop dreaming! As long as you dare to contact your family, you will definitely be arrested by the police!”

Hang Wenzhi shook his head, saying: “I’m not that stupid, after I go out, of course I won’t contact my family. But I will think of a way to make that woman pay back my parents. As long as I achieve this goal, it’s worth dying for.”

“Make that woman pay back?” Du Mingqiang looked at Hang Wenzhi, “What other way do you have?”

Hang Wenzhi hesitated for a moment, saying: “I haven’t thought of it yet… but there will definitely be a way. I don’t even care about my life anymore, I don’t believe I can’t handle a slut!”

Du Mingqiang stared, as if he was looking at a complete stranger. After a long while, he laughed bitterly: “You are really crazy

“I am not crazy!” Hang Wenzhi reached out to grab the other person’s arm, his expression slightly agitated, “It was you who told me: you cannot forgive those who have harmed you. You were the one who aroused my anger, I was filled with the desire for revenge. Now you say I am crazy, could it be that those words of yours were not your true thoughts?!"

"That's right, we should not forgive those bad guys, we must take revenge. But revenge cannot be accomplished based on anger and agitation…" Du Mingqiang raised his hand and lightly touched Hang Wenzhi's head and heart, "Revenge requires wisdom and patience, do you understand?"

Hang Wenzhi was silent, he seemed to have calmed down a bit, then he asked: "Then according to you, what should I do?"

"Obediently serve the sentence, perform well, and get your sentence reduced. Then ask your friend to help you find a good lawyer, collect evidence that the woman has taken possession of your family's property, if it can be proven that the property originally belonged to you, then the charges of kidnapping and extortion can be dropped."

Hang Wenzhi "tsk"ed in disappointment: "Reduce the sentence? No matter how much it is reduced, I will still have to sit here for more than ten years, by then it will be too late! I don't even think about it anymore, if I could have evidence, I wouldn't have been sent to this place, right?

Du Mingqiang knew that what the other party said was true, he had no way to refute it.

A moment later, Hang Wenzhi asked again: "Do you have any other suggestions?"

Du Mingqiang shook his head.

Hang Wenzhi then said firmly: "Then I can only escape from prison!"

Du Mingqiang didn't say anything more, he turned around and grabbed Hang Wenzhi's arm, pulling him out from the dark corner.

Hang Wenzhi was startled: "What are you doing?"

"Look over there." Du Mingqiang raised his hand and pointed to the north, "Tell me what that is?"

Anyone could see it clearly, it was a towering guardhouse. An armed policeman armed with guns and bullets was standing there, the dark barrel of the gun was emitting a cold light under the sunlight
Seeing that Hang Wenzhi didn't say anything, Du Mingqiang sneered and continued: "Guardhouses like this are arranged in every corner of the prison, all the prisoners' actions are shown under their eyes. Try running and see? It's easier for the guards to shoot you than to shoot a pig."

Hang Wenzhi took a deep breath, but the desire in his eyes was still not extinguished.

Du Mingqiang took a step back and said, "Even if you have the ability to hide and avoid the guards, what's the point? If you want to escape to the free world, you still have to face the two-story high prison wall and the densely arranged electric grids on the wall. Climbing over is impossible. Of course, you can run south. If you can pass the fingerprint security check, you can enter the office area in the front yard. But I have to tell you, not only are there prison police everywhere, but there are also surveillance cameras installed in every corner. At the southern end of the prison, there is a large iron gate that is strictly guarded. People and vehicles entering and exiting are all checked by guards. Don't even mention a living person, even a mouse can't hope to escape from there."
After convincing him, Eumenides also understood his feelings

In the following days, Hang Wenzhi did not bring up this topic with Du Mingqiang again. When he was free, he often wandered around alone, but his state was completely different from when he first entered prison. The dull, dreamy, and helpless look that no one could help him had disappeared from his face, and his eyes began to sparkle with an elusive light as if he had always hidden many of his thoughts.

Du Mingqiang could of course see the changes that had happened to Hang Wenzhi, but he always maintained an attitude of not bothering to ask. In fact, Hang Wenzhi might have intended to escape from prison. Du Mingqiang thought about it carefully and did not find it too strange. Many prisoners who committed serious crimes had such illusions when they first entered prison, but time would slowly but surely erode them, until in the end, only a hard callus remained in their hearts. Thus, those burning flames will lose the courage of their desires, be destroyed in cruel reality and become calm.

One day, Eumenides volunteered to bring the paper bag(prisoners' job is make paper bags and bring them to the truck) with Xiao Shun and Hei Zi, but soon Blackie lost his pencil, and Eumenides and Xiao Shun had to come back to their cell after a check. At that moment, Eumenides analyzed:

Prison Block 4 is the most sensitive area, the pencils that prisoners use during labor are always one of the most strictly managed items. It must be known that most of the prisoners detained here are criminals who have committed serious crimes, and a sharpened pencil in their hands is very likely to become a weapon that can kill people. Therefore, when people work, all pencils are only accepted when they are used, and must be returned before leaving the factory. Even a pencil stub cannot be taken away.

In fact, Prison Block 4 has learned a lesson from a case involving pencils. About a year ago, a prisoner broke a pencil he received into two pieces and secretly brought one piece back to his cell. Because he handed in the other half when leaving the workplace, the prison guards did not discover this disaster. As a result, a few days later, the remaining half of the pencil was stabbed into the prisoner's eye during a fight. Fortunately, the pencil was not long, the victim was only blinded in one eye and was not in danger of death. However, all the guards of Prison No. 4 were punished to varying degrees, especially the captain of Prison No. 4, Zhang Haifeng, who lost his chance to be elected as an excellent officer, and his future career path was also tarnished.

With such a lesson, the pencil management in Prison No. 4 was even stricter. Before starting work, each prisoner who received a pencil had to clearly state the actual length of the pencil he received, and after completing the work, he had to compare the length of the pencil when returning it. According to regulations, the difference between before and after work should not exceed two centimeters, to avoid the prisoner hiding a pencil.

According to the records, this afternoon, Hei Zi received a brand new pencil. If someone took this pencil out of the factory, it would be enough to cause a murder in the prison area.

But how could a brand new pencil 20 cm long evaporate from such a heavily guarded factory? Thinking back to the previous conflict and resentment between Hei Zi and Xiao Shun(Because Xiao Shun cooperated with Hang for defeating Hei Zi for a better power in prison cells), the hidden story behind this incident really made people think.

After another meeting between the detective and Eumenides, he decided to escape the prison with Hang Wenshi, but they needed to neutralize the prisoners in his cell first. Xiao Shun and Hei Zi were released after being locked up for 10 days (because of the punishment). And Binh punished Xiao Shun for doubting that Xiao is the one who stole the pencil by compelled him to sleep in standing condition in the toilet. But when they woke up, they were surprised because of Xiao Shun's death and figured out that Hei Zi was the one who stole that pencil. For Zhang Haifeng's job, he wanted to conceal this incident, but instead of cooperating, Eumenides provoked Zhang that he would kill his son when he finished his sentence, and Zhang was really angry that he locked Eumenides up for 10 days. After that incident, Eu finally could discuss with Hang about the escape plan. He used both old people's glasses and nearsighted people's glasses for making a small and nearsighted telescope:

Di Mingqiang's prediction was absolutely correct. That day, before climbing the chimney, Hang Wenzhi adjusted his glasses. He wore a pair of glasses made from two different lenses, one was a concave lens from his daily prescription glasses, the other was a convex lens from his reading glasses. After climbing the chimney, Hang Wenzhi took these two pieces of lenses and used glue and cardboard from the factory to make a telescope.

In short, this is Hang's plan: climb the ventilation pipe to the 4th floor -> drop a rope down to climb down -> go down the underground pipe -> go through the office building -> climb the stairs to the top of the building -> swing across the lake. Binh was worried about the problem after the prison break, he had no clothes or means of transportation,... Eu immediately suggested that he would tell Thieu that on the day of the prison break, he would pretend that his car was broken and park it next to the lake. After the prison break, the prisoners could steal the car and escape. The reason for stealing the car was that they were afraid that Thieu would be considered an accomplice.

The plan seemed to be complete, but unexpectedly HVT told Truong Hai Phong the whole plan. It turned out that HVT was the person sent by A Hoa to assassinate Eu. He pretended to go to prison, lured Eu to escape with him so that Eu would be caught and killed during the prison break. Seeing that THP had a grudge and was wary of Eu, HVT immediately asked THP to help him during the escape, waiting for the opportunity for THP to escape from the ambush and shoot Eu dead with the excuse of preventing the escape.

On the day of the escape, Eu arranged for Uncle Thieu to lose the key and sleep in the car for a night. The reason was because Eu said that leaving the big car outside would cause suspicion, it was better to wait until the escape and then signal Uncle Thieu to come out to support, that way there would be less suspicion. That night, Eu's group acted very quickly and neatly because they had prepared in advance. In addition, Truong Hai Phong also deliberately rearranged the shift schedule, sensor cameras,... to match the plan of Van Tri's department to ensure that the whole group reached the top of the office building - where THP would shoot Eu dead. Everything went very smoothly, Eu's entire group reached the stairs leading to the office building according to HVT's plan without encountering any major obstacles. While A Son was unlocking the stairwell door and Anh Binh was paying attention to the surroundings, Eu delivered two heavy blows that knocked the two criminals unconscious. Eu reasoned that the other two were criminals so HVT couldn't let them escape and asked HVT to help him tie the other two up. After tying them up, HVT urged Eu to continue climbing to the top of the building but Eu refused. He had noticed something unusual in THP's work schedule as he usually never worked on Friday nights because he had to pick up his son. HVT made up an excuse that THP's son had to stay in the dormitory but Eu knew that HVT was a dispatched assassin so he obviously didn't believe him and immediately took control of the administrative department, especially hitting HVT hard on the throat so that he couldn't scream. I could also infer that if thp and hvt wanted to kill him, the ideal location would be on the top of the building:

Haifeng now hated me to the core. I was sure that he would be waiting for me with a gun ready to shoot me while we escaped. And where would he shoot me? Well, first of all, it was definitely in the office building. Because according to prison regulations, guards were not allowed to bring guns into the prison. It was just that in all office buildings, this would definitely made him confused. Because if the process of him waiting to kill me was recorded by the camera, then later when the case was investigated, he would definitely be in a lot of trouble. Therefore, the leader had to choose a more ideal place. If the Devil Ant Sau knew the details of our escape route in advance, he would definitely choose the roof of the office building as the ambush location. Not only were there no cameras there, but if he accidentally shot me there, the whole process would be very easy to explain. He could make up a story that he was still on duty in the room, but in the middle of the night he suddenly heard an unusual noise coming from the stairs, so he chased him to the roof and found out that there was a fugitive trying to escape. In the process of chasing the fugitive, he had to shoot and kill the most dangerous prisoner there.

=> Analytical Thinking(maybe), Linear Thinking, Logical Thinking, Anticipation
And Eumenides easily knew that Hang Wenshi was a traitor by his Logical Reasoning and Perception:

Du Mingqiang didn't need to explain to the other party, he just continued with his train of thought: "You really wasted a lot of time planning to take advantage of the same situation to approach me first, then find an opportunity to attack. Haha! The beginning is really perfect, but do you know, everything that is perfect has a fatal weakness - it is not real." Hang Wenzhi tried to turn his head to look at Du Mingqiang, seemingly not understanding the other party's meaning.
Du Mingqiang replied: "A person with similar circumstances as me, was imprisoned right after me, and was assigned to the same cell as me. Don't you think this is too much of a coincidence?"

Hang Wenzhi still didn't believe it, he glared and said in a hoarse voice: "You have serious paranoia!"

Du Mingqiang used both hands to pull the cloth rope wrapped around tightly and replied: "Your bitter plan was very good, executed very well, almost fooled me. Actually, you didn't bleed that much, right? But you put your wrist in the toilet so it looked like a lot of blood flowed down the drain. It's just that you recovered too quickly. Remember, if a person loses blood and falls into a coma, it will be very difficult to wake up the next day. Even if you are healthy, your spirit cannot recover that quickly. As for you, you just got out of the hospital, you don't show any signs of worrying about your health." After saying that,Du Mingqiang tied the rope tightly around Hang Wenzhi. He sat there breathing for a while as if celebrating his victory. Then, he patted Hang Wenzhi's face like teasing a hunted animal, and said as he patted, "Once again, you made me suspicious. That was the night Binh's group fought in the prison cell. At that time, I asked you to confirm whether Dang Hoa was really dead or not. Do you remember how you answered me?" Hang Wenzhi blinked, he really couldn't remember such a small detail anymore.

Du Mingqiang immediately answered for him: "At that time, you said: There was a very powerful killer who sent him a death notice, then killed him in the airport waiting room."
Hang Wenzhi glanced at Du Mingqiang and asked back: "So what?"

Du Mingqiang chuckled and replied: Among the people I killed, there were many people whose death notices I posted online. But before killing Dang Hoa, I never made it public online. The truth about that death notice was only known to Dang Hoa and the police. Because the person who directly shot Dang Hoa was the captain of the Criminal Police Department at that time named Han Hao, so the police from beginning to end avoided talking about Dang Hoa's death and never announced it to the people of the whole city. Then how did you know the secret inside?"

So that's how it was. Hang Van Tri painfully thought: after Dang Hoa died, he learned the whole truth about this matter from A Hoa. From then on, he was always immersed in pain and anger, not paying attention to how ordinary people knew about this matter. Later, he learned that murderers had a habit of posting on the internet before killing people, so he immediately thought that the death notice sent to Dang Hoa had also been posted online. Although this loophole was not too big, it was still difficult to fool a wise person like Do Minh Cuong.

Hang Van Tri sighed inwardly, while Binh and A Son were extremely surprised. From the conversation between Do Minh Cuong and Hang Van Tri, at least some clues were heard: it turned out that Dang Hoa was killed by Do Minh Cuong. And Hang Van Tri went to prison just to avenge Dang Hoa. This result was truly beyond everyone's expectations. Especially Binh, who had always been the eldest brother in the cell. Now he understood: his small strength was nothing compared to the battle between the two. He only hated that Do Minh Cuong had discovered Hang Van Tri's plot a long time ago, but he didn't know. If there was no way to say it, he decided not to step into this mud.

Hang Van Tri was silent for a moment, then turned his neck and tried to reason one last time: "What you said is all your imagination, you delusional person! How can thin cloth cover the eyes of a saint? If you say others don't know, then others won't know? Before you went to prison, the truth of this matter had already spread everywhere. If you say you don't know, I really don't know that you are that murderer!"

"You're right," Du Mingqiang nodded in agreement, "It may be that my paranoia is a bit severe. Now that the Internet has developed to this extent, it is difficult to avoid the possibility that some police will come to the scene to leak information to the outside. Make sure that my previous doubts about you can be completely resolved: today's suicide may not have caused you serious injuries, it's just that after being injured, your condition must have worsened so you were discharged from the hospital;

why are you and the prisoner so similar, hello, this world lacks valid coincidences. If you just rely on the two words coincidence to convict such a person, I'm afraid that the whole world can find any famous person. while cleaning up.

Hang Wenzhi caused it, unexpectedly it was Du Mingqiang who said these words. His eyes lit up a little and he felt a glimmer of hope for a moment. However, Du Mingqiang's next words completely blew it away. New hope was lit in Hang Van Tri's heart.

“But why did you have to kill Xiao Shun?”

Hang Wenzhi was surprised, could it be that the other party also saw through this story? Although he thought so, Hang Wenzhi’s expression was still very calm, he dryly explained: “What are you talking about? Xiao Shun was clearly killed by Hei Zi, everyone knows this!”

Du Mingqiang slightly raised his lips and said: “That was just you deliberately framing Hei Zi!”

Hang Wenzhi smiled faintly and then reflexively said: “False framing, false framing how? The pencil that killed Xiao Shun was hidden in the bathroom, this job can only be done by Hei Zi. How could I have that pencil?”

Hearing this, Mr. Binh and A Son both looked at Du Mingqiang with a puzzled expression. Actually, Du Mingqiang’s suspicions about Hang Wenzhi before, although there was no solid evidence, were still very reasonable. However, now he said that Hang Van Tri killed Tieu Thuan, which is really hard to believe. The pencil was the murder weapon that was lost in the factory. The following evidence showed that it was hidden in the factory's restroom, which was also the only place that was overlooked when the prison authorities conducted the investigation. Since the pencil was lost only when Hac Tu went into the restroom, the person who hid the pencil must have been Hac Tu. Afterwards, both Hac Tu and Tieu Thuan were locked in a closed room, and right on the night they were supposed to relax, a network occurred. Although no one witnessed the entire process of Hac Tu assaulting Tieu Thuan, the whole incident was very clear: First, Hac Tu robbed and shouted, deliberately hid the pencil to correct Tieu Thuan, then he was punished. At that time, everyone in Binh's group thought that the pen was stolen by Tieu Thuan. After they were released from the locked room, Hac Tu must have moved the pen that night. The conflict between the two was brought to a climax, so Hac Tu took the opportunity when Binh's group was torturing Tieu Thuan after committing the murder, and that pencil became his most convenient weapon. After the murder plan happened, everyone in the prison expected the same thing to happen, including Truong Hai Phong. Discussing, Do Minh Cuong relied on that to say that Tieu Thuan was killed by Hang Van Tri? After a while of being confused and not understanding anything, Binh stopped his stomach, he thought: maybe Hang Van Tri already knew about Hac Tu's way of hiding the pencil, so he took it to use earlier? In that case, after killing Tieu Thuan, he had to deal with Hac Tu. But thinking a little more carefully, he found that his reasoning was wrong. Because after Blackie was released from the locked room and discovered that his pen was taken by someone else, he would definitely be alert. Then when he saw Xiao Shun being killed by his own pencil, he would have understood immediately that someone was trying to frame him, at that time Blackie should have made it easier. But the truth was, Blackie's expression at that time was like he was thinking about what was going on. This could only mean: either Blackie didn't know anything about the lost pen or he was mentally prepared. By Quy absolutely showed any signs of fear of being framed.

The more he thought about it, the more confused he felt. Mr. Binh just waited to see what kind of explanation Do Minh Cuong would give.

Do Minh Cuong chuckled and said: "Everyone thought that the missing pen was hidden in the toilet by Hac Tu, but I knew that was not the case. Because when the prison guards came to search, I also thought of a way to hide the pen like that. Today, when everyone dispersed, I immediately went to the toilet to check the basement. If the pencil was hidden there, even though the management cloud could not find it, I would definitely find it. On the other hand, I can confirm that in the drainage slot in the factory, except for the analysis and urine, there is no other opinion".

Saying that, there is no more imaginary document. Mr. Binh and A Son were both gagged so they could not say anything, only Hang Van Tri spoke for their doubts: "The drainage slot in the toilet is the only blind spot that makes it difficult for the prison guards to find it. If it was not hidden there, would the pen have disappeared and then reappeared?"

Do Minh Cuong looked at Hang Van Tri and said in a voice that was more than a breath: "Speaking of this, I can't help but admire you. Your skills are quite good!"

Hang Van Tri still tried to raise his neck and asked again: "You insist on saying that I hid it, right? Okay, so tell me where I hid it?"

Do Minh Cuong smiled and replied: "You definitely hid it, right? There are many ways to do it, hide it in socks, under the soles of the feet, hide it under the skirt, or stuff it into the ear, all can be done".

This time, even Mr.Binh found it absurd. At that time, the original pen was completely lost, its length was also nearly 20 cm, how could it be customized for a person? And it was even hidden in the error, Is he the Monkey King???

But what made Mr Binh find it even more strange was that Hang Wenzhi did not refute the other party. On the contrary, he supported Du Mingqiang with his eyes as if the other party was talking about time. No matter what, when the correct pen was hidden by Hang Wenzhi on his body? Then how special must his body structure be to be able to pass the previous weight test of the prison guard?

Du Mingqiang seemed to read mrBinh's mind. Then, Tu whittled it into a small pen tip. With his whittling ability, it was completely possible to turn a short pen into less than 2 cm, such a small thing, where would he want to hide it, right? "

MR. Binh didn't think anything of it when he heard that, but instead felt even more confused. Hiding the pencil tip was really simple, but if Hang Van Tri erased the entire pencil tip into a pencil tip at that time, how could he turn the pencil tip into a pencil used to kill someone later?

This was also the problem that Do Minh Cuong was solving. He added in a long voice and said: "First, a pencil was lost, then another pencil appeared. Therefore, everyone thought that the pencil that appeared later was the one that was lost before, someone took advantage of this thought to plot, first to steal the pencil, then to kill someone. Suspicion focused on the ending between Tieu Thuan and Hac Tu, and no one knew the secret inside."

Do Minh Cuong turned back to look at Hang Van Tri and continued: "This plan of yours was very carefully arranged. Although I know that the lost pencil was not hidden in the toilet, this is not enough for me to see through your plot. Then I could see that it was all due to your small daily habits. So, speaking of this point, it's not me who beat your friend, but your habits that beat you."

Hang Wenzhi still didn't say anything, but his eyes showed surprise.

"You like to spend money, this has been your habit for many years. The first day you started working at the factory, you were "soaked in the mud" for a while, but after that, you still couldn't change your habits. Because there was no other way, the "silver cake" had to keep your pencil to choose you to use alone. And the tip of the pen was snoring very loudly, that was his sign. This was actually very normal, a person's habits were very difficult to change. When he concentrates on normal work, he will quietly go into his mouth like a habit." Speaking up to here, Do Minh Cuong paused for a moment and suddenly said with a relieved look in his eyes: "The unusual thing is: one day that habit of his was lost."

Hearing Do Minh Cuong say that, Mr. Binh also began to remember. It is true that from today, Hang Van Tri no longer snores. Currently, in terms of time, it is after the incident of losing the pencil. These two jobs probably related?

"A person's habits are very difficult to change" Do Minh Cuong repeated this sentence once more. Do continued to explain: "Even if you want to change, it will take a whole process. But your change is too unpleasant, moreover, it is very small. This is enough to make me suspicious: you definitely cannot just change a bad habit, but also have another purpose, and its meaning is so important that you are forced to endure the habit that has been formed for many years."

Indeed, a person's habits cannot be changed in day, and the image cannot be changed immediately. Even though Hang Van Tri wanted to change, if he was not careful with his breathing, he would make a mistake immediately.

Before, was it because he had been "quietly scolded" before and still could not fix it? How come he could suddenly fix it so quickly and decisively as if he had never had this habit before? At that time, Mr. Binh and many others also found it strange, but thinking about it was just a small matter, so no one paid much attention to it.

However, at least there was still one person who paid attention to that person's details, and that was Do Minh Cuong.

Continuing to analyze: "I discovered that his habit of clogging had changed, so I began to analyze his goal of doing so. This was not difficult, because after he no longer had a pencil, the biggest change was that every day when he went to work, he could color his pencils like other prisoners. Thinking back to the day before he changed his habit, he had also cracked that pencil. He often used the pain of having to throw it away, so I could not expect his real goal to change the pencil. Moreover, in the future, he had to keep his freedom to choose a pencil at all costs. Next, of course, I would think: in the end, what kind of pencil did he want to choose? According to my observation, the first two days, the pencil he chose was very short, which was the type that almost all prisoners there no longer used. I was worried that at one time I had the idea of a super short hydraulic pen as his goal. But then there was a different image. He had to It seemed like he was no longer interested in that super short pen, and then the length of the pens he chose increased, and finally he even became like other prisoners, switching to choosing relatively long pens. This point made me very suspicious, or I had no way to determine his pencil selection rule, nor could I understand his true goal. It was not until Xiao Shun was killed by someone else, a whole and complete pencil went straight into his eyes. However, why did the pen that had not existed before now? No, it could not be a pen! When I discovered this and learned about the relationship between those two pencils, I had the answer to the entire pencil selection screen he had built.

Facing Du Mingqiang's detailed analysis, Hang Wenzhi had no strength to fight back at all. So, in this dark, quiet basement, the screen where the four men were discussing together turned out to be a solo performance by Do Minh Cuong alone. Then he continued to speak in a friendly manner: "Every morning when you choose a pencil, you are actually doing manual work. You can change a very small tip into a complete pencil. I said before that you took Blackie's pen and erased it into a long pencil with two small tips. It was easy to pass the biggest test on the first day of the plan. When you need to change, you need a 4-centimeter long pen. When you finish the work, you return the 2-centimeter long tip to its original place and keep the 4-centimeter long pen. Because during the work process, even though the length of the two pens has been reduced, it is understandable that no one would suspect anything about your change. And the ability to measure and redraw is your profession, so the pen you keep has actually been worn out quite a lot. The hidden tip of the pen from 2 centimeters has grown to nearly 4 centimeters long. What's even more coincidental is that the "steamed bun" is also useless. cooperate with him: today he finished the old pen "banh man tou" deliberately discovered for him the shortest pen punish and make things difficult for him unexpectedly this work is suitable for his meaning. If at that time, you give him a long pencil then his plan will have to slow down for a while.

The next job was very simple: he just needed to be skilful. Twice a day, twice a centimetre each time, and his first pencil would naturally grow long like that. Xiao Shun and Hei Zi were locked in a closed room for a total of 10 days, and these 10 days were enough for the pencil tip to grow long enough to become a complete pencil. After his conversion switch was completed, he immediately brought the long pencil back to his cell and hid it in the toilet. On one hand, he could use it at any time, and on the other hand, he could analyze the poisoned pencil with urine, which would be convenient for prosecuting Hei Zi after the explosion. After a long silence, Hang Van Tri finally found a chance to counterattack. At this time, he opened his mouth to speak to the deer and my mother. What is the lawsuit for that son? He hated little Thuan to the core, so of course he wanted to kill him. What reason do I have to kill little Thuan? The relationship between me and little Thuan is very good, but it's behind it.

Minh Cuong laughed and wondered again. Why does little Thuan have a good relationship with him?

Hang Van Tri now opened his mouth and seemed to be stuck. It seemed that the situation was not cute, so Binh and A Son both looked at Do Minh Cuong and thought to themselves. The relationship between little Thuan and the glasses guy must be all because of you. Today, you yourself exposed the origins of the other people in the room once. It was clear that you wanted to breathe out the area where little Thuan was safe. Before, the wind blew in the direction that he covered. Then he deliberately got close to you and the architectural eye guy because he wanted to show off to other sons. Did the two Black Tu and Little Thuan end up together and have to start from that mission?

However, Du Mingqiang's next words were completely beyond the expectations of Brother Binh and A Shan: "If it weren't for Xiao Shun having a good relationship with you, he would have died. Hi, in this cell, Xiao Shun is actually the one who doesn't deserve to die the most..." Du Mingqiang gently opened his eyes as if he had a bit of pity, then continued speaking in a voice as if he was recalling the past: "Tonight, Hei Zi incited everyone to punish Xiao Shun. When Xiao Shun was equipped to no longer be free, he needed to save you, at that time he said a sentence Hehe, that sentence was not normal at all. Brother Binh heard this and his body was slightly damp because of the detail Du Mingqiang mentioned here, he still remembered it very clearly. The sentence that Tieu Thuan said at that time was "Brother Tri, I've been treating you very well recently. You've more or less said a few words to help me, Brother Binh can cover your face...", when Brother Binh heard that, he was so angry that he threw a punch at Tieu Thuan. Do Minh Cuong saw that Brother Binh's expression had changed a bit, so he said to the other side: "Brother Binh, you must have been very angry at that time, right? Surely you would think: I'm in this cell, I say one thing, no one else says two, what right do you have to make me face that brat Hang Van Tri. But why don't you try to think about why Tieu Thuan said such words?"

Do Minh Cuong also did not pay attention to Mr. Binh anymore but continued to speak to Hang Van Tri: "After Tieu Thuan finished saying that, you hurriedly stood up and stuffed a rag into his mouth. Your action was so obvious that I could not help but be suspicious. From that moment on, I could determine that your identity was not normal at all. However, from the beginning, Tieu Thuan certainly did not know your identity, so he dared to bully you like that. So I started trying to remember when Tieu Thuan's attitude changed like that? I remembered the first day Tieu Thuan called you "Mr. Tri". It was a Saturday afternoon, that day, you, me, and Tieu Thuan all had friends visiting the prison. We both went home first and sat in the stadium to talk. After that,

Tieu Thuan also came over and insisted on becoming friends. He made me sick of him so I found an excuse to leave. But you were pulled aside by Tieu Thuan to talk for a long time. I stood from afar and saw his attitude. At first, I also felt a bit disgusted by his attitude towards Tieu Thuan, but then I quickly accepted it. At that time, I only felt that Tieu Thuan's ability to flatter was too great, but now that I think about it, I finally understand: it was at that time that Tieu Thuan began to know his identity, and he wanted to keep it a secret so he had to coax him, and that very day he even came out to help Tieu Thuan fight with Hac Tu. From then on, Tieu Thuan was like hugging a big tree, he increasingly did not consider Hac Tu as anything anymore. But for him, this was really not good because letting Tieu Thuan keep this secret was as dangerous as letting a child take care of a time bomb. That kid was too impulsive, always only knowing how to cause trouble. With his childish mind, he really just wanted to immediately announce to the whole prison: Mat Kinh is a big person, I am his close younger brother! On the night of the murder, Xiao Shun's patience with the black-clothed men had truly reached its peak. He could expose your identity at any moment. Isn't this the reason you killed Xiao Shun?"

Hang Wenzhi didn't know what else to say, so he just laughed bitterly. Because everything was indeed just like Du Mingqiang had analyzed. He used a rag to gag Xiao Shun first, then killed him for this reason. At that time, Hang Wenzhi thought that his plan to assassinate Du Mingqiang was on track, but when Xiao Shun accidentally revealed something, all his efforts would be wasted. Therefore, he took a risk. Unfortunately, that risk ended up being the most unsuccessful move, causing the entire plan to collapse.

Du Mingqiang flicked Hang Wenzhi's face and said: "You have both the tools to commit the crime and the motive to commit the crime. Let's see if you can still justify the murder of Xiao Shun?"

Hang Wenzhi only laughed once. He looked straight at Du Mingqiang, his expression now no longer concealed, his hateful eyes almost bursting with fire.

At this moment, Hang Wenzhi's voice rang out hoarsely but filled with hatred, sounding very terrifying: "That's right! I came to avenge General Dang! Even if my bones and flesh are crushed, I will die with you!"

Meanwhile, Du Mingqiang only laughed and replied: "That's why you deliberately went to jail, found a way to approach me, then incited me to escape and created a trap for me to fall into, right? Unfortunately, I refused to fall into your trap from the beginning. So you prepared a second plan. The pencil you spent so much time preparing was actually intended for me, right? But before you could do anything, I actively agreed to escape from prison. If I agreed, you would think that it was unnecessary to risk assassinating me. Unfortunately for Tieu Thuan, he was talking nonsense at this time, so you used that pencil to deal with him. As for the plan to frame Hac Tu, you had prepared it long in advance, so you could carry it out so smoothly."

Realizing that his plan had collapsed, Hang Van Tri deliberately provoked Eumenides to kill himself, thereby if he was caught, he would also die with Van Tri. This intention of Hang Van Tri was easily pointed out by eu. He realized that Eumenides only used his own interests to come here and actually had another plan. Van Tri once again provoked Eumenides to tell him about his escape plan, hoping that Eumenides would be too brave to tell him. Although he had received this opinion, he still told him his own plan. San said he had told him to weld a box behind the car, start the engine to heat it up, let Eu sit in a cocoon to hide his body temperature and escape from prison. Van Tri now has only anger, eu alone contacted the introduction doctor and did not know anything about the details of your conversation. Speaking of this, eu declared that he was preparing to go to work now that the introduction car was also hot. Sit up, take out the glasses of the window, break them and choose the sharpest piece of it to kill Hang Van Tri,A Son, Mr Binh and send out 4 death notices. 3 are from the three members of his cell, the remaining is from the son of Zang Haifeng. After completing all that work, mark to leave to carry out your plan. When the greeting has just disappeared, unexpectedly the literary man wakes up. Eu failed to kill Hang Van Tri and he is lucky to survive. Hang Van Triis depressed even though the vocal cords have stabilized, he himself is seriously ill but still climbs up 9 floors, quickly presents the plan to overcome eu for Haifeng, provides all 4 death announcements for Haifeng to see. Thp saw that 3 of them had been executed, the remaining one entered his son quickly to announce the emergency method of capturing the fugitive, Haifeng quickly just called and got into the car to prepare to access the Eumenides capture. But surprisingly, Eumenides - sitting after Haifeng's car seat, and then he hit Haifeng's nape so hard that he passed out. His plan to escape by Thieu's car was too risky at first, the real plan was to steal Haifeng's car and escape by it. Hang Van Tri's survival was in his calculation in his plan in order to handle Haifeng in advance. Eumenides had asked Haifeng car number before, and the prison guards were too familiar with Haifeng car that they won't notice who was inside that car(and think that Haifeng just chased Eumenides inside Thieu's car, according to their belief. Eumenides was planned everything from the moment that Xiao Shun was assassinated:

Eumenides should not take Master Thieu's car out of the house because it is not Extension's practical plan. That is just a thing.

After disguising the car, the heat output from the car's generator to get through the infrared scanner, this plan is only feasible in theory. To be able to hide a pair of anti-aging glasses for his son like Do Minh Cuong, it is necessary to install an iron cabinet. Not to mention that completing the improvement of the engine in the car is not easy at all, because there is no way in the trunk of the car that there is such a large space.

Even if such a difficult improvement can still be completed successfully, Do Minh Cuong cannot ask his master to introduce him to develop such a prison break plan. Even though the relationship between Chien and Master Thieu is very good, it is not good for the ability to create an opponent willing to go through life and death with him. Light substances also only help to support Master Thieu's life financially. If using that method to continue choosing a prisoner full of hell, then Master Thieu's life would be completely destroyed. Therefore, Do Minh Cuong has never made any request that is too worthy for the other party.

The logic in this job is actually not difficult to realize. In order to deceive Hang Van Tri and Truong Hai Phong, Do Minh Cuong knows that he must fully prepare all the steps to cushion.

All the unreasonable performances and prominence of Do Minh Cuong before, are actually all the steps for the fire to be intentionally created. Because that is part of Ngoc's real plan.

The plan started since Tieu Thuan was murdered.

Just as Do Minh Cuong analyzed when he was in the basement of the office building, the doubts about Hang Van Tri gradually accumulated and strengthened but were still uncertain. In the end, Tieu Thuan's death clarified all the doubts in your heart.

Looking at his next target Hang Van Tri, he also understood why A Hoa was forced to go through hell. The actions of the two people just happened to create a perfect trap, an extremely dangerous trap that Do Minh Cuong could not jump into.

Do Minh Cuong knew that Hang Van Tri would benefit from the opportunity of hell to deal with him, but the engineer still participated in this hellish action. Because at that time, Ngoc himself had to face a reason that he could not refuse.

The plan exceeded the limit that Hang Van Tri of course could not carry out but could bring benefits, because after all, more than anyone else, he was the one who understood the layout of the pipe system in the house to the maximum. Do Minh Cuong decided to use Hang Van Tri as his army flag to take himself out of the prison to the nearby office building. However, to escape the prison safely, Do Minh Cuong needed another decisive chess piece, that person was Truong Hai Phong.

Therefore, Do Minh Cuong tried to create a situation for Truong Hai Phong to go crazy in the prison camp's general meeting, creating a connection between their two criminal groups to the point where they could not even research. He made a sexy statement about the life of Truong Hai Phong's son. This made any father in the world unable to give in.

When Du Mingqiang made a threat, the terrifying words that forced others to hit him were actually deliberately intended to show Hang Wenzhi the art. Hang Wenzhi saw Du Mingqiang's determination to take revenge and also Zhang Haifeng's fear and inner thoughts. So, in his heart, he immediately thought of an attractive plan that was hard to refuse, which was to use the residents' interests to get rid of Du Mingqiang's scent. Therefore, it can be said that Du Mingqiang was the one who created the opportunity for Hang Wenzhi to join forces with Zhang Haifeng. And Hang Wenzhi, in the process of tutoring Zhang Tianyang in his studies, had also received Zhang Haifeng's trust early on. Therefore, Du Mingqiang believed that Hang Wenzhi would not let this relationship go to waste. On the other hand, Zhang Haifeng tried to conclude that Xiaoshun's death was a suicide, and Hang Wenzhi also grasped his weakness thanks to that. When giving those two reasons, plus the soft and firm words of Hang Van Tri, Truong Hai Phong, facing Do Minh Cuong's charm at that time, had no reason not to step on the same boat as Hang Van Tri.

All the work to carry out this plan cannot be based on accurate predictions, because even if many predictions are correct, it must be experienced in reality to know. Yesterday afternoon, Master Thieu ran into the office to take shelter from the rain, he really had a goal, he saw the duty schedule in the living room and immediately told Do Minh Cuong the information that Truong Hai Phong was on duty that night. Therefore, Do Minh Cuong was sure that: as expected, Truong Hai Phong and Hang Van Tri had joined hands and the two of them together would help the comb open the self-made gate.

Master Thieu also helped Do Minh Cuong with two small things: one was to tell the other party the license plate number of Truong Hai Phong's police car, and two was that in the afternoon, after loading the goods onto the car, he pretended to have lost the key to stay in the prison, waiting for Do Minh Cuong's signal to drive away. These two things were just small things, besides, Master Thieu did not know anything about Do Minh Cuong's other plans. Rest assured, he did not know that the fire wanted to curse, and even less that the assassin would kill people. Because of that, after everything that happened, Master Thieu would not be implicated. Late at night, the four prisoners in cell 424 began their miserable journey. On the surface, it seemed like Hang Van Tri was in love with the regime, but in reality, he was just a pawn in Do Minh Cuong's hands. Knowing that the group could definitely reach the office building in a completely different way because Zhang Haifeng had helped them deal with the obstacles beforehand, such as adjusting the online plan in the office building overnight.

After the people arrived at the basement of the office building, Hang Wenzhi's plan was already dead, while Du Mingqiang's plan had just officially begun. Actually, for Eumenides, the three people Hang Wenzhi, Shen Jianping, and Fang Weishan could be killed or not. First of all, talking about Hang Wenzhi, after the truth of Xiao Shun's death was exposed, he naturally had to receive appropriate punishment; as for Shen Jianping and Fang Weishan, they were already criminals, and if they failed miserably once again, their future would have some prospects. Therefore, those three people were not considered as people who could not be punished by the law, and Eumenides also had to take action.

The real reason why Do Minh Cuong attacked those three people was just to create a problem that could force Truong Hai Phong into a corner. Hang Van Tri's lucky escape was of course also a detail that Do Minh Cuong had arranged. Because of the need for Hang Van Tri to inform Truong Hai Phong that he had hidden in Master Thieu's truck to escape hell. This required a trick, because if he had presented his escape plan to Hang Van Tri, he would certainly be suspicious. Before that, Do Minh Cuong focused on analyzing and dissecting Hang Van Tri's plot, both to make the opponent afraid and to protest that he was a braggart and very arrogant. When Hang Van Tri used the popular method to get all the information about Do Minh Cuong's real escape plan, the new assessment was favorable to respond and successfully infected with Hang Van Tri's method.

The second purpose of Du Mingqiang letting Hang Wenzhi survive was to use the other party's hand to send the piece of paper with the "death notice" to Zhang Haifeng. In fact, the notice could not possibly contain any details, because it was written with a very absurd crime. That crime was neither illegal nor immoral, so it naturally did not fall within the scope of the Eumenides' trial. It was an invalid death notice, Hang Wenzhi and Zhang Haifeng both had the opportunity to see the outline of it. But the stepping stones that Du Mingqiang had created before were too complete, fresh blood and death, all of which had completely conquered the two of them, leaving them with no doubt about the authenticity of a death notice. Just when Hang Wenzhi dragged himself all the way to the 9th floor, Du Mingqiang had already parked the car in the office building, then signaled Master Shao to drive away from the prison. Surviving then sneaking into Zhang Haifeng's police station Sitting and waiting for "Ghost of Sorrow" to appear.

The time when Master Shao left the house was also suitable. After Hang Van Tri and Zhang Haifeng met, Master Shao had just driven away not long ago. This gave Zhang Haifeng a spark of hope to pursue. Du Mingqiang could be 100% sure that Zhang Haifeng would definitely launch an emergency method to capture the fugitive.

Having been trained by his teacher since he was young, understanding prison was also one of the subjects that Eumenides was required to learn. By doing so, he knew clearly that the prison was very strict, usually escaping from prison was harder than ascending to heaven. If he wanted to do it himself, the only hope was that the whole family would fall into an "emergency" situation.

Du Mingqiang knew the rules of survival in prison and also knew all the plans to deal with difficult situations that arose in the prison, including the emergency method to capture criminals. That method is a quick response mechanism, quick is often accompanied by "hurry". When the prison side falls into the "house" state, the sound sensor wants to overcome to have a real chance.

After activating the emergency method, the person who shouted the most was definitely Truong Hai Phong, because being too worried about his son would disturb him. He only focused on thinking about how to mobilize forces to protect his son's safety, while all his strength was absorbed in chasing Do Minh Cuong who had just escaped from prison. When his martial arts and physical strength were almost exhausted, how could he avoid a strong blow from an opponent who had a pre-balanced skill standard.

Therefore, Do Minh Cuong was successful in fighting for Truong Hai Phong right in the car. In the shortest time, choose a prison uniform and put on the police uniform, put on Truong Hai Phong's warning hat. Then, Zhang Haifeng's gunfire used a cloth rope to wrap tightly and the cloth to the opponent. After finishing everything, he climbed into the front wheel and turned on the lights to start the car.

Outside the prison gate, a police car behind had been checked by the guards and was leaving the prison. The prison's iron gate had been opened right after the warning loudspeaker sounded, because the heavy iron gate opened and closed too slowly, and in an urgent sweep, every second and minute had to be taken advantage of, so in the "emergency method of chasing and capturing fugitives" it was emphasized that the iron gate had to be opened before it was convenient for the pursuing energy to enter and exit.

Du Mingqiang stepped on the gas pedal hard, the police car accelerated towards the gate of the house, at that time the corner of Du Mingqiang's mouth curled up into a smile.

The gate of the house had been opened, the car that Du Mingqiang was driving was a high-speed police car. The right hand was holding a loaded gun, now who could stop him from leaving the contained prison?

Conclusion:

Chinese fiction(beside RI) is insanely underrated, and "The Death Announcement" is one of them. There are 3 books in this series, and Eumenides EOS will > Vincent Lalo very high (+) according to my friend(since I've only finished Book 1). Sadly, I haven't seen any English Translations of The Death Announcement. Also, his feat is well - explained, so…don't worry, PA, Stop and Methodology scalers

Although my friend said that his planning is insane, imo this planning isn't that good imo(lose to BB by a small margin, good in Contingencies and Aim, decent in Versatility and Coverage). His strategy is underrated asf

His Inter EI, LR is busted too. The next doc is about his best Logical Reasoning and Inter EI feat. Imo his LR can be even > Patrick Jane ngl

Also I’m interested in The Ravages of Time too. Tanya vs his father(Vien Phuong) will be interesting + even Lu Bu(not even top 8 of the verse) solos Koji mid diff. But I need to read Youjo Senki first
