break the mirror

hark entered the room,it was black empty square room,there is nothing expect a figure stand in end of room,the figure look exactly like hark,like its his clone,hark stared at clone,the clone stared back,hark titled his head to side,the clone did the same action,hark approached to clone,clone approached too,they stand in front each others little to close,hark raised his right hand,the clone raised left hand to mirror hark's hand,they touched each others hands,hark looked at clone,deduce that its mirror clone so he tried another way,he hooked his right arm and the clone hooked his left arm,parallel hark's action,hark deduce that clone mirror or parallel depends in action,so its smart clone knows wherever parallel or mirror hark's actions,hark knew he need to kill the clone to pass the room but how?,the clone counter every move hark do,if hark punched with his right hand the clone counter it with left hand,if hark deliver a swift punch by right arm,the clone counter it with right arm too,hark looked around the room and there is nothing he can take for advantage,completely blank room,hark walked to left and the clone mirrored the action,it look like the clone blocking the path,hark grabbed and intertwined with clone and moved in cycle,hark turned around to other side of room but its still no use,he need to kill the clone,hark thought about many solutions,if he punch the clone he will punched back,if he throw his shoe at clone the clone will throw his shoe back,so hark decide to use a strategy,he get close to the clone,then lift his leg above and passed near clone's head like taekwondo kick and he stayed frozen in this position,the clone parallel these actions,now they are frozen in taekwondo kick position very close and passing through each others,hark grabbed the clone's right leg,the clone also grabbed hark's right leg,hark shake the leg while clone did the same,they both start to lose balance moving right and left,hark kept shaking until he stopped shake when they imbalanced in right direction,they both fall in ground but the clone fall in face while hark fall in back,hark moved his left leg to press it in clone's back while clone couldnt mirror or parallel this action,the clone copying power has broked,then hark sit up above clone the grab the clone head and breaked the neck,the clone lays died in ground,hark stand up and saw door open and he walked in