Kim Dokja SCD feats

Made by the_anime_nox

Note : This only contains some of Kim Dokja’s feat and not all of them!!!

CPI

Explanation : Kim Dokja summarised the information in " his head " and his means yo Jungheoyok, so he had to summarise all the information yj had so he had to remember and process all information of twsa and it's revisions and the current round. Why did he need to do that ? He needed to summarise the best future and had to summarise the information that yj currently had and he did all of this in a matter of seconds.

Had to summarise all of yj's current available info

This includes all of the twsa he has read which is 3,150 chapters and why does he need to do that ? To get the best future and know what kind of information he had , so he needed to summarise the information of all chapters and rounds along with the revised which there were 2 iirc at that time and he needed to summarise the information of the current round which had changed because of han sooyoung

And with my assumptions he needed to summarise

Kim Dokja's CPI feat calc is 4,761,000 info in a few seconds cuz it states " quickly "

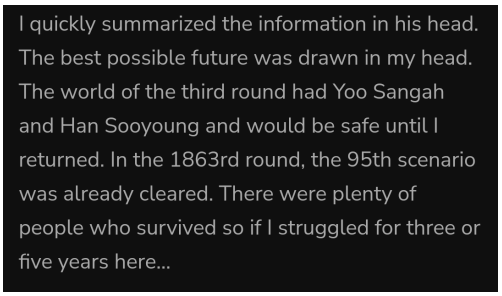

How I got the number

Twsa chapters = 3,150

Revised versions = 2 so , 3,150 + 3,150

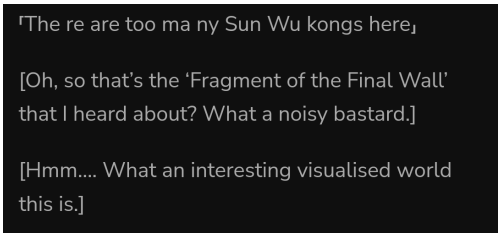

The information he got from there , it isn't said or something but Kim Dokja states that many changes had appeared and it is shown and Kim Dokja stays there for a few days. So I'll use it as the number. So it's 72

So after adding these numbers and then multiplying it by 500 we get 4,761,000 , and 500 is taken cuz one chapter usually has 500 pages

Note : This calc may not make sense , I made this a while ago , I lost the actual process behind the calc so sorry!!!

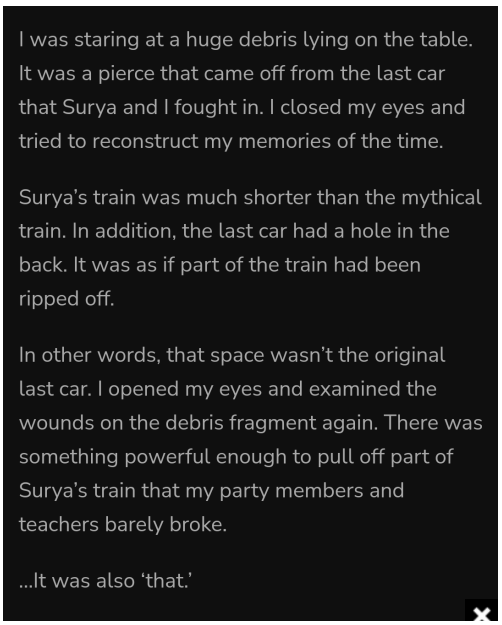

VSI

This proves that the entirety of the fourth wall and the mind of Kim Dokja is a space that is visualised. Plus there is the library which has infinite space Via having infinite information and being stated to be infinite iirc.

VSI

Kim Dokja reconstructed his memories of his intense fight against Surya and was also able to reconstruct memories of other people stated below in the scan " that my party members teachers barely broke " this would qualify as to other people's memories since the debris was of the outer cart and not the inner and he only saw yoo sangah , lee hyunseung and yu junghyeok break the doors , so it would mean that he reconstructed other people's memories too and it was a traumatising near death moment too , and after reconstructing his memories he came to the conclusion that it was some other person who was able to break the train and the debris was because of that

Deception

In this feat , Kim Dokja was being faced with a public issue and to calm down the issue , he first of all used his demon king of salvation power (hax) to disguise himself , And then asserted that " Look at my appearance. Do I look special ? " , to give people false hope indirectly as , The reason for that is , he's simply asserting that " Do I look special? " Which puts up the impression that he isn't special, which would mean that you can also achieve that , he's indirectly making it look easy. Then when a person asked the question, "..... Can we become that?" , Kim Dokja replies with a " You never know what will happen before any scenario ends. Don't give up until the end. " So he's not asserting that " Yes you can " and instead he's saying that " You never know " and if you read in between the lines it will come as " Maybe , maybe not " he asserted that in a way which conceals the truth. And then he himself asserted that they couldn't do it , and this was a fake hope.

Overall this is great Acting Skills, Persuasion and Indirect Manipulation, Mass Manipulation, Emotional Manipulation, Bluffing, Verbal Deception.

Those beings were now in reach if I stretched out my hands.

I looked at the people with my horns and wings. [Look at my appearance. Do I look special?]

The people were looking up at me with bemused eyes. It was as if they were looking for something inherently special in my appearance. Someone muttered, "...Can we become that?"

[You never know what will happen before any scenario ends. Don't give up until the end.]

I turned around and spoke final words.

[The front door is open. If you wish, please come in and seek help or advice.]

This might be a fake hope. Perhaps most of them wouldn't climb to the stars but they would be excited by the enchantment when they faced the starlight. Still, what the people needed right now was this fake hope.

Then someone muttered my modifier. "Demon King of Salvation..."

There was a bitter taste on my tongue.

[The demon king 'Devil of Lust and Fury' likes your deception.]

Deductive Reasoning

When he and Han Sooyoung were having the three questions, Kim Dokja could combine the information he had gotten from the three questions and deduce more information from the combined information. Which he also asserts to be a deduction. Premise uhh I didn't take rest of the scans so cooked.

Deductive Reasoning, Information Gathering

I could combine them and deduce more information. For example, it was likely that this Han Sooyoung came from from the same 'third round' as me. She also obtained information about the future through methods I didn't know...

I spoke to Han Sooyoung, "Thanks to you, I got some good information. Then all that's left is my last question?"

Planning

In the scan below Kim Dokja asserts that he has been calculating a certain something from the moment the first scenario began and that certain something was how many fables it would take to kill all constellations in the final scenario. This is a crazy feat. Because He would have needed to anticipate everything till that point (expect for the unexpected variables) as he was calculating the amount of fables to kill the constellations and the fact the he read TWSA supports this , he was already going to kill the constellations from the beginning and he already had chosen his way , and since he knew everything from TWSA , he could have easily anticipated everything in the way he was going. And after some point , which I didn't take scans for , but in some point in the story it was shown that a young Kim Dokja was drawing on how to complete the scenarios which would mean that he already anticipated everything from the beginning, but it's been a time since I completed ORV and I don't have scans for that too. But ye.

Formulation Rate , Anticipation, Preparation Process, Planning Versatility, Strategy Complexity, Strategy Execution.

