Second part of Emma Elliot Wilson doc

Bright Future School 2nd Year Event:

This time the event would be quite different from last year and would be a mix of physical and mental abilities. Obviously Emma was chosen to represent her class in the mental part and John, the student who secured class 1-C 3rd place in the physical education exam, which was actually supposed to be a math test, but thanks to Emma had to be changed in a hurry. After a small debate, Emma and John were definitely chosen to represent them in the event. The first game of the event would be a confrontation between the classes in a 1VS1. In the mental part of the challenge, Emma would have to face the leader of class 3-A from the previous year, who decided to repeat the year on purpose so he could have a direct confrontation with her. This wouldn't be a big problem after all, his father was a billionaire and he wasn't in any hurry to graduate. The game was simple, just like the first event in which Emma participated, a detective game in which Jonathan, the leader of class 3-A, had 10 minutes to think of the most incredible, complex and well-designed murder plan. who could imagine and would have 5 extra minutes to execute this plan, totaling 15 minutes of advantage for Jonathan. Furthermore, unlike the detective, the killer would keep his memories of the real world and would know that it was all a mere simulation. As for the detective, who would be Emma, all of her memories, from her birth to the present moment when she found the body, would be altered and replaced by false memories. After the arrival of Index, humanity prospered and technology evolved to astronomical levels, making even such a thing possible. Furthermore, Emma had a time limit of 2 hours to complete the case and if she didn't manage to do it, she would lose. Right away, it is possible to notice that the killer has several advantages compared to the detective. After waiting for a long time, the 15 minutes passed and Emma went towards the simulation chamber to be able to start the game. Emma, with her memories already altered, opens her eyes and finds herself in a place that seemed to be a warehouse. She looks to the side and the other and sees to her left a group of police officers around a press that has an exaggerated amount of a red liquid that Emma could not identify because she was still a little confused. But after resting for about 15 seconds, she goes towards the police officers and looks at the press. When she looks at the same red liquid under the press, she quickly deduces that it is definitely blood and there is no doubt about it. The police officers, upon noticing her presence there, approach her and start talking to her, saying that they are happy that she has arrived and tell her everything they know about what happened. They say that it has not even been 2 minutes since the body was discovered and they have not even contacted the rest of the police officers about the great atrocity that is in front of them, Emma ordered them to report this to the police station so they could get help while she stayed and analyzed the body. Emma also ordered two of the officers to stay with her in case someone tried to kidnap her or do something bad to Emma while she did her investigation. Two officers stayed there and the rest went to the police car to report the victim to the police station. Emma observed the situation and made certain conclusions.

P1: There was an extremely exaggerated amount of blood under a huge press that was at the crime scene.

C1: It is quite obvious that this was the weapon used in the crime. However, killing someone with a press is not an easy task. With a knife or a syringe with poison it would be much easier. However, the killer must have chosen to use the press to destroy the body and make the investigation more difficult.

P2: There is a knife stuck in the press's activation button. In addition, the wires that gave it power were all burned.

C2: The killer probably did this to avoid any chance of anyone saving the victim while he was being pressed and to prevent them from lifting the press.

P3: There is a large open bag with a knife near a bunch of boxes at the place where the murder took place.

P4: The knife stuck in the button of the press and the knife that was in the bag were the same.

C3: The bag was too big for just one knife, most likely both knives found at the scene came from the same bag.

C4: The killer used only one of the knives and left the other knife near the boxes, the reason why the killer did not throw the other knife away must be because the place where the crime took place did not have any windows or openings nearby through which the killer could have thrown the other knife.

C5: The fact that the killer didn't throw the knife around while heading towards the crime scene means that he was in a hurry for some reason, or he wanted the police and the detective to see the knife. Maybe the killer is some kind of copy of the Zodiac Killer, giving the police clues that prove his guilt?

P5: There is a very powerful lighter next to a bunch of burnt wood. This lighter was the kind that you just pressed once and the fire would start to come out, and then you just had to press it again or close the opening and it would stop.

P6: Emma put on a glove and held the lighter trying to turn it on, but the lighter wouldn't light at all. Emma looked inside the lighter and saw some very noticeable burn marks on the mouth of the lighter.

C6: To get to this state, the gas in the lighter must have been on for quite some time, until after it had been on for quite some time, it ran out completely.

P7: There is a small, completely insignificant and random pebble near the lighter that anyone else would completely ignore, but not Emma (this pebble was important in Jonathan's murder case).

P8: Right in the corner of the wall, in the place farthest away from the lighter and the wooden boxes, there was a completely empty gasoline can.

P9: Emma was warned by the police officers who were on the scene that a fire had started in that exact location before the discovery of the body.

C7: The gasoline was definitely used to start the fire that alerted the police and firefighters to what was happening at the scene.

C8: The lighter and the gasoline can were definitely used to start the fire at the scene. The killer in this case most likely started this fire with the intention of luring the people who were there outside, that way the killer could blend in with the people who would be fleeing the fire in the confusion, thus camouflaging himself in the crowd and avoiding suspicion.

After observing the place for a while, Emma noticed that on the bag of knives, there was a small label that said that the bag had been purchased from the SilverLake home improvement store. After realizing this, Emma immediately went to the place with the police to see if she could find out anything about the killer. Emma in the police car played a game of flappy bird to distract herself a little, but she didn't have much time to play because they had already arrived at the place. Emma then got out of the car, upset, and entered the store. She went towards the owner's counter and placed the bag of knives on his table. Emma then explained the situation to the approximately 56-year-old man. Emma judged Emma by looking at her appearance. She said that there was a killer on the loose and that the knives that came from his store were at the crime scene. Without even giving him time to explain himself, the man was escorted to the police for questioning. At the place, Emma and one of the police officers talked about some trivial matters with the salesman. Emma asked about things like the knives, the history of his store, etc. Emma after During this entire conversation, she noticed something strange about the salesman. Whenever he made a statement that he wasn't sure was true, he would scratch his head. When asked the name of his store, he replied, SilverLake Home Goods. When asked what types of supplies he sold, the man remained quiet and scratched his head for a few seconds. Five seconds later, he answered the question incorrectly. This habit of the old man became clearer as the conversation progressed. Emma then raised this point with the old man and asked him if he had a habit of scratching his head when he wasn't sure about something. The man, upon hearing this, began to sweat profusely. The police officer who was standing next to him, noticing the change in the man's attitude, who had previously been calm and was now in a cold sweat, decided to press him to answer the question. The man, with his head down, replied yes and said that he had this strange habit since childhood. Emma then told the police officer that they should stop beating around the bush and get straight to the point. Emma and the police officer, with very serious faces, asked the man who had bought that knife. He said that the knife was bought by a young man of about 18 years old named Jonathan, after that the man was released and Emma along with the police went to Jonathan's house, in front of the house Emma stopped the police and told them to leave the situation with her, Emma was hearing crying noises coming from Jonathan's house while the police did not hear anything and said that it would be better to avoid conflicts, people become very anxious and careful when they are approached by the police and said that it would be better if someone like her who was not a police officer talked to Jonathan's relatives, After hearing this the police agree and Emma goes towards the house, she knocks twice on the door of Jonathan's parents' house, but no one answers, Emma then says that she is a friend of Jonathan and is looking for him which is a lie, she also says that she saw him this morning, this is also a lie, after hearing this Jonathan's mother hurriedly opens the door and almost falls to the floor, but is held back by Emma, the desperate woman looks at her and asks about the boy, she asks where he is, Emma understanding that her mother had no idea of the boy's whereabouts said that she didn't know either, Emma then makes up an improvised story saying that she had seen him that morning and that he had gone towards the place where the crime scene took place but did not mention the blood and murder that occurred at the scene to prevent Jonathan's mother from getting too stressed, Emma with her calm and gentle voice calms the woman who seemed like she would faint at any moment and assures her that she will look for the boy, Emma asks Jonathan's mother about his whereabouts or Some useful information, she just said that he left the house with an emotionless look on his face exactly like someone who had no attachment to life and completely ignored her, leaving the house without warning her and said that this was the last time she saw him today, noticing that the woman was avoiding looking directly into Emma's eyes, she decides to reveal to Jonathan's mother about the murder, she says "you know there is something quite curious about the place where Jonathan went, a murder occurred there today, I wonder who the culprit is", after finding out about the murder the woman is speechless, Emma says "Jonathan went to that place today and after that he completely disappeared, he was in a place where a murder occurred, his current whereabouts are completely unknown, at this point it is more than obvious that he is involved, now tell me what you think, would he be the culprit? Or maybe the victim?”, the woman was totally scared by this and let something slip that Emma ended up considering important, the boy had spent 25 dollars on the credit card, this amount was exactly equal to the sum of the price of the products found at the murder scene, the lighter, the gas can and the pair of knives, Emma got the information as she had predicted, Then she gets up from the couch and heads for the exit, but before leaving Emma says that Jonathan's fingerprints had been found on the knife that pierced the press button and that he was definitely the culprit. This was a bluff, the result of the fingerprints has not yet been revealed. Upon hearing this, Jonathan's mother commits suicide and Emma leaves through the front door towards the police car. After all this, Emma summarizes what happened to the police officers, excluding the parts where she manipulated Jonathan's mother and made her commit suicide. Emma feels a small vibration on her cell phone and looks at it, realizing that she received a message on her cell phone saying that the other police officers had fixed the press and were going to lift it. Emma, along with the group of police officers, went straight to the scene and watched as the press was lifted. Underneath it was only a large pool of blood and several exploded human organs such as the lung, heart and brain. Emma, however, noticed something strange in the exploded organs, more precisely in the lung. Emma noticed a small and memorable, somewhat dark coloration in the lung and easily identified it as lung cancer.

Coincidentally, Jonathan's mother also had lung cancer and said in her conversation with Emma that her son probably had it too. Emma then perfectly and without difficulty remembered and organized within her mind all her memories that went from her birth to the present moment, all the events she had ever witnessed in her life, all her thoughts, all her reactions and emotions towards something, all the characters of each of the 479 books she had read, all the actions that the people around her had done and all the phrases and words she had heard since her birth. Emma organized all these memories within her mind in 3D and created a copy with the exact same amount of information in 2D, she did it all these things in mere four seconds. When browsing through the false memories, Emma noticed several contradictions in these memories and thanks to these contradictions she discovered that she was inside a simulation, but that didn't matter for now. After organizing all of this, Emma hid her memories that had nothing to do with the case and gave priority only to the memories that had some relationship with the case. After thinking for a while, Emma finally discovered the truth behind that case. It wasn't a case of murder but rather a suicide, the person under the press was Jonathan.

- Jonathan buys the resources for his grand suicide plan to trick Emma Elliot Wilson into looking for a killer who had been dead for a long time and would make her lose the game thanks to the 2-hour time limit.

- Upon arriving at the scene, Jonathan takes one of the knives out of the bag and holds it with one of his hands, but first Jonathan places a lighter near a bunch of wooden boxes and uses a rubber band to keep the lighter lit so it can start a fire and make the people nearby leave the place, Jonathan lay down under the press.

- Using a small pebble that Jonathan considered to be too insignificant for Emma to notice, he threw it towards the lighter and thus knocked it onto the wooden boxes soaked in gasoline which, as planned, caused a fire, Jonathan threw the knife towards the activation button of the press, which turned it on and made it go down and down until it was completely crushed.

Because of the complexity of the plan, the police would unconsciously believe that it was a murder case when in fact it was merely someone's suicide. Emma then won the game by perfectly deducing the identity of the killer/victim, his methods and his murder/suicide plan, thus winning the event. Jonathan, knowing that it was all a game, was not afraid to make such a plan after all he would still be alive in real life. In the area of physical education, John, unlike when he went to the first event, came in 2nd place in the event and the two of them together, Emma and John, granted class 2-C a guarantee that they would pass the year.

Emma starts dating Joseph to observe the development of her potential closely and to use it with the intention of making Amelia jealous and this worked very well, Amelia who was being ignored and left aside by Emma began to act much more obediently and the bond between the two was significantly strengthened, to the point where Amelia was fully prepared to kill herself if it were to get her sister's attention, Emma begins to buy gifts for Amelia and to give her more affection, love and attention, further strengthening the relationship between the two, Emma stops acting rudely towards Amelia as she did before as a way of rewarding Amelia and making her feel as if the way she was currently acting was correct and appreciated by Emma, Amelia then began to be more and more obedient to her sister and as a way of reinforcing the idea that she should act that way from now on, Emma continues to give her several gifts, almost completely changing Amelia's personality, even though Amelia is aware that she is being manipulated, she didn't care about that at all and just wanted to be able to enjoy Emma's affection.

Emma, who was very tired after not sleeping for 2 days, watched on 16 small monitors measuring about 7 centimeters all the tests, special exams virtual reality exams/events and events that all the classes in the school had from 4 different angles (this includes the tests, special exams, the virtual reality events/exams and events held by the reserve classes). Emma carefully observed every single detail. There were more than 20 hours of recordings that Emma was watching at 50x normal speed. She was perfectly understanding every single detail, and when I say every single detail I'm serious. She was easily observing everything to the point where she was even counting the number of hair strands on each student and judging which of them were the most talented and which were the least talented. Thanks to the recordings, Emma read the facial expressions, emotions and actions of each of the students so well. That she is now able to predict all their thoughts, reactions and speeches before they even think about how/what they are going to think, react or say about something, Emma's reading was so good that she was effortlessly reading the minds of the school students using merely their emotions, way of thinking and actions as reference, in fact, she even anticipated all the thoughts that all the students would have and all actions they would make in the future 24 hours after leaving school, not only that but she even complained that the video was too slow, but decided not to increase the speed because at that slow speed she could observe the students in more detail and have less chance of end up missing something without her noticing, not only this but she also watched the videos of all 16 monitors and the four different angles at the same time while being tired and sleepy (this doesn't come close to Amelia's feat of processing half of Milin's 16 years of memories in 1 second but it's still an insane feat, especially considering that she was quite tired and had not slept for 2 days).

One day before Amelia Elliot Wilson arrived at Bright Future School, Emma decided to hire a professional killer to kill all the boys in Leon's group, the school principal's son. Emma sent an anonymous letter to the principal's son ordering him to go to the staff room at school. Emma hacked and disabled all the cameras near the place. After entering there with all the members of her group, Leon and the other boys were trapped by Emma inside the staff room, which almost no one enters. Emma left them trapped there for the rest of the day, until night fell and all the other students left the school. Emma hid the key to the staff room on top of a specific tree, where she could be sure that no one in that school would try to climb it, and notified the killer about the location of the key. The killer in question was a crazy suicidal psychopath who killed merely for pleasure, the killer always placed a bomb around him and if he was not able to kill his victim in time he would explode and die, The feeling of risking his own life excited him and encouraged him to continue killing and killing. Emma, who was holding one of her father's guns, hid inside a closet in the school principal's office and waited for the right moment to put her plan into action. The boys in Leon's group and Leon himself began to feel hungry and thirsty, but when they heard footsteps outside the door, they screamed and begged for help from whoever was on the other side. Their prayers were answered, or so they thought. However, the person on the other side of the door was the killer that Emma hired, carrying a single-handed ax in one hand and a cleaver in the other hand. The man began violently killing a rather chubby boy who was part of Leon's group. After witnessing this, Leon's boys desperately tried to flee the scene. A hunt began and the boys were eliminated one by one, until only 5 of the 13 members of the group remained. de Leon remained alive, trembling with fear and cornered they were absolutely certain that they would die without any chance of being saved by anyone, but unexpectedly Emma shoots the killer in the head and kills him in front of all the boys. Emma, with the face of someone who was scared by the situation (manipulating her own emotions), appeared at the last moment and saved the boys like a white knight. After that, Emma, along with the boys, threw the killer's body out the window and a few seconds later the bomb that was connected to him exploded and caused the grass on the ground to catch fire, charring the killer's entire body and destroying any kind of involvement Emma had with him. After that, the boys in Leon's group began to treat her like a heroine and her actions were even shown on television, further strengthening her fame and influence as planned. Emma then used the boys to get information about the other classes that were rivals to hers, but later realized that they were useless for that. Emma then appeared the next day in the cafeteria in front of her sister with a face that she herself had injured. Emma was aware of how intelligent her sister was. She looked around the cafeteria and purposely avoided looking. to the cafeteria table where the boys from Leon's group were sitting, making Amelia think that they had done something to Emma and, thanks to her knowledge of martial arts and her overprotective sisterly personality, she ended up beating them all up. Amelia already knew that it was just Emma's act, but she realized that beating up the boys in front of everyone could be advantageous for her and so she did.

The Island Survival Exam:

Amelia electrocuted Emma's brain against her will to completely erase her traumas and bring back her “genius capabilities". However, Emma's genius capabilities had never disappeared. She had only pretended to have been traumatized by her parents' death, even after having received a painful shock to her mind. Emma held back even as she felt extreme anger towards her sister for having caused her so much pain. Amelia explained to Emma about Ryan and Red9. She also revealed herself to be the avatar of the goddess of death and intimidated Emma by saying that she could kill her at any moment if she didn't cooperate with her plans. Upon hearing this, Emma already knew that Amelia wouldn't really kill her and that it was just a bluff to scare her. Emma decided to go ahead with Amelia's plans because she thought that as long as Amelia's interests didn't oppose hers, Emma wouldn't care at all about who she really is. She also knew that Amelia wouldn't just say something like that without a guarantee. that Emma would not say anything to anyone, looking at Emma's serious face staring at her, Amelia stated that in 13 days, that is, 1 day after the exam ended, Emma would lose her memories of the entire conversation they had had so far and said that if she tried to write down what she said, Amelia would know and would not go easy on the punishment, in addition she said that the two should pretend to be each other to fool Ryan, Amelia told Emma that with her genius capabilities, she had nothing to fear. From now on, whenever I say Amelia I will be referring to Emma and the opposite is also true.

(Narrative)
The reunion:

Amélia had missed a class to relax a little and went to school the next day. There she found out that there was an elite student who had not been to school for a week and that he had quickly become a very influential person. After walking a little, Amélia came face to face with the elite student and recognized him almost immediately. That was Ryan Heinrich, also known as the apostle, second vice-leader of Red9, Amelia was surprised, why was he there and why had she not been warned of his arrival, even though she was not the leader of Red9 (Amelia Clone is the leader of Red9 and only the vice leaders know about the existence of the 2 Amelias) she should have been informed about this because she and the leader of Red9 are theoretically the same person, she acted as if that was the first time she had seen him, while talking to him Amelia thought in her mind why he was in that place, and after much thought she came to the conclusion that he wanted to confront her the reason for this was because they had known each other since childhood, Ryan was a narcissistic person and loved to be the center of attention but he almost never had the opportunity to feel special because Amelia always stole the attention for her and only when she went to another school did he become the center of attention again, but that was not enough for him, he realized that the students were only paying so much attention to him because Amelia had left which created in him an inferiority complex and in fact she was right, so at that moment a VERY long confrontation between the two would begin.

The 1st Confrontation:

After leaving the student council room, Amelia went to her classroom and on the way she met a group of 3 girls and a boy, that specific boy was Raymond James, a member of class 3-B, the class of which Amelia was the leader and realizing that one of the members of her class had gotten into trouble she went towards the students to understand what was happening, the group of girls told Amelia that Raymond tried to harass July a 15 year old girl in the first year of school, Amelia quickly asked if they had proof of what happened and they said yes and showed her a photo, when looking at the photo Amelia began to feel a bad feeling, there was nothing telling her that the photo was fake or that everything was set up, there was no logical reason for her to be feeling this way, it was pure intuition with no logical reason, Amelia then After observing the image in detail, she noticed that the man who had harassed July could not be Raymond and the reason why she thought this was because the harasser put his hands in his pocket and why would that be strange you ask? Simple because Raymond's uniform was defective and had no pockets. Instead, the uniform had pockets that were drawn using colored markers that were specially made by Amelia, which gave the impression that his uniform had pockets when in fact it didn't. It was logical why Ryan didn't know this is because Raymond had entered that school a week ago and he never got close enough to Raymond to notice that his uniform had no pockets. Not only that, but Amelia also saw a roller coaster on the back of the photo, and near that school the only place close to an amusement park was the football stadium, so Amelia easily discovered the place where the photo was taken. However, Raymond hates football and always avoids places that have anything to do with football because of an old trauma caused by his brother who had an accident and died during a football match. He instinctively avoids football completely, so it would be illogical for him to go to the football stadium. After telling the girls his discoveries, July said she was sure the man who had harassed her was Raymond and Amelia continued saying that was impossible, July then questioned Amelia that Raymond could have taken an extra uniform and that was why he had pockets, Amelia with a face of someone who was holding back laughter, she is merely acting, she really wouldn't laugh at something so "insignificant", she looked at Raymond who looked embarrassed and asked if she could tell him why Raymond couldn't have taken an extra uniform, and he looking to the side gave Amelia permission, he had lost his extra uniform on his first day at school and so he couldn't have used it to commit a crime, besides if he was smart enough to wear an extra uniform why did he let himself be seen by the cameras so easily, after that July said that someone could have given Raymond his extra uniform in which Amelia said that it was indeed a possibility and that the two (Amelia and July) could go to the principal's office to see the cameras, confused July asked why and Amelia revealed that the room where the principal's lockers are the students, which is also where the extra uniforms are kept, had cameras and they could simply go to the principal's office and ask for the camera recordings. After hearing this, July began to get nervous and desperate. Noticing this, Amelia told the nearby students that she and July would go to the principal's office. When they got close to the place, Amelia stopped in front of the teacher's room door and ordered July to come in, which she did. There, Amelia pressured July until she confessed that Ryan was the mastermind behind this plan, that Raymond, who harassed her, was fake and that it was all a set-up to weaken class 3-B. However, Amelia had recorded everything. When it was time to leave the school, July was called to go to the principal's office. There she met Amelia, Ryan and the school principal. Ryan, very angry, said that he couldn't believe she would do something so dirty and that he even tried to make Ryan take the blame for what she did, denying any involvement with her "plan." After that, July, desperate, tried to argue to escape that situation, but there was no way something like that was possible. So July She was expelled from school, but Amelia was surprised by something, the fact that the principal, even after hearing in the audio recorded by Amelia that Ryan was the mastermind behind July's plan, did not believe it. Amelia quickly guessed why the principal didn't believe it, it's because Ryan is most likely blackmailing the principal and if he tried something that would be harmful to him, the teacher would deeply regret it. Outside the classroom, Amelia was heading towards her classroom when she was stopped by Ryan. There they had a conversation in which Ryan basically confirmed Amelia's suspicions about why he was there and also revealed that at school there would be an exam in which the students would have to survive 7 days on a paradise island. It would be in that exam that he would finally defeat Amelia once and for all. His plan for the first confrontation to accuse Raymond of being a harasser and weaken Amelia's class was merely a test and that the real challenge was yet to come. After saying this, he left the place. Amelia thought about what he said and left the place soon after.

Presentation to the Island Survival Exam:

4 days after the events of the 1st confrontation between Amelia and Ryan, all the students were called to the school gymnasium, which had enough space for a maximum of 1,400 people, and there the school's management revealed the island exam to the students and explained how the event would work. Each of the school classes will form groups and will need to survive on that 15 km long island for 7 days. However, there is a specific detail: each of the classes received only 7.5 liters of gallons of water. If we divide this water among a group of more than 20 people, it is obvious that there would not be enough water for the students to survive all 7 days. To tell the truth, there was less than 1 liter of water for each student. That is, at some point the groups would have to steal water from each other or explore the island in search of water to drink and food. In addition, there was another super important detail: if a student in a class could no longer continue the challenge due to thirst, illness or serious injuries, all members of the group to which that student belonged would be eliminated from the exam and would not receive anything. The groups that survived all seven days and did not lose any members due to thirst or any other reason would be rewarded with 275 points. Each of the students received a tablet with a digital image of the island and other important functions, such as being able to call group members or teachers to ask for help or warn that a student was dehydrated for example, in addition the tablet had a function that if it suffered a strong impact and became inoperable a signal would be immediately called to the teachers' special tablet to help the student who owned the tablet, the students needed permission from their parents to participate in the exam and if they did not get permission from them, the students would have to take a written test that would only give 175 points, 100 less than the exam, after all it was just a written test compared to a 7-day exam on an island that was clearly more difficult, the objective of this exam was to test the leadership skills of the students how they deal with dangerous situations while under extreme pressure and also to test the students' ability to adapt and survive, Now let's go to the rules of the exam:

Students may not attack each other or commit acts considered intolerable or criminal such as rape or murder.

Students must choose a leader the moment they arrive on the island. The leader's tablet, which is the same as the teachers', is special and with it, students can buy advantages using exam points (exam points are granted each day to leaders by teachers. The better the leaders' performance and their leadership skills, the higher the points they will receive.

The leaders of each class were required to send summarized texts about all the events that occurred during all 7 days if they wanted exam points. The teachers had the role of, after reading the text and judging their performance, granting the leaders a certain amount of exam points). The leader can only be changed if the students have good enough reasons, so things like: I'm lazy, I'm too scared, or I cut my little finger are not considered good reasons.

STUDENTS CAN STEAL WATER, FOOD, OR OTHER RESOURCES FROM EACH OTHER.

Amelia paid extra attention to this last rule because she found it very strange and unnecessary and also didn't really fit in with the school's guidelines, so she deduced that it was probably a rule created by Ryan to defeat her and she was right, Ryan had ordered the school principal to add that rule or else he would be exposed. Ryan had a charismatic smile on his face until he heard the principal say, "and now it's the last rule." That rule about students stealing water from each other was supposed to be the last in Ryan's plans, so hearing that there was one more rule means that Amelia did something and had already noticed his control over the school principal. The new rule added by Amelia said that classes could form alliances of up to 2 groups if the majority of the members of each group agreed, and that when forming alliances, students could share food, water, and resources. This rule was to prevent Ryan from putting Emma in a risky situation where Amelia would be forced to act to save her sister. However, all of that was useless. Ryan had already predicted Amelia's plan and also knew that she would pretend to be his own sister to confuse him. After all, they are twins and the only difference between them is their personality and a small difference in the length of Emma's hair, which was a little longer than Amelia's. (The difference was less than 3 centimeters) The reason he knew this is because he saw both Amelia and Emma talking about something that he did not hear, but he was able to read Amelia and Emma's lips and deduce what they said, Ryan had already predicted all of Amelia's actions, After the announcement of the exam ended all the students went home and three days later, the students got on a cruise so that the exam could finally begin. the voice recorder in the teachers' room was not the only one that Amelia (Emma) had placed in the school, she also placed a voice recorder in the principal's office since she was still in the first year of school and the recorder was not found for 2 whole years and through this voice recorder she found out about the rule added by Ryan, after hearing this Amelia (Emma) decided to blackmail the school principal and force him to add one more rule.

(Narrative)
1st Day of the Island Survival Exam:

After all the parents agreed to let the students participate in the event, all the students from the school traveled by cruise ship to the island. The Bright Future school was financed by Emma and Amelia's father and the cruise ship used for the trip was his property. Upon learning of this, some students began to try to hit on Emma to get her money and take advantage of the fact that she was very honest and "easily manipulated", that is because they did not know who she really was. But Amelia quickly realized the situation and intervened. The trip lasted 3 days. When they finally arrived at the island exactly at 2:30 P.M, most of the students did not want to get off the ship but were forced to by the teachers. After making sure that all the students were on the island, the cruise ship quickly moved away from the site and, together with four other smaller boats, began to surround the island to prevent the students from getting hurt and to provide help as quickly as possible if something happened. After landing on the site, all the class leaders had been chosen. Before they separated, Amelia approached Emma's class and proposed to make an alliance with them. The students in Emma's class, Class 3-C, accepted the proposal without thinking twice, after all, Class 3-B was known for having the most creative and intelligent students in the school. The alliance between the two classes was quickly created. In fact, all the classes in the event made alliances, after all, teamwork would be very useful in that place. After that, the students from Class B and C of the third year (let's call the alliance between these two classes MVP) decided that the first step should be to look for food and a beach, because the place where they were was not even remotely advantageous. The place was extremely rugged and full of rocks. When they looked around, they noticed that the other alliances had already entered the island's forest and MVP did the same. Amelia was the leader of Class 3-B and Emma was a common member of Class 3-C. The leader of Class 3-C was Hector, a student considered a genius and great at leading and encouraging others. Amelia was the leader of Class 3-B and Emma was a common member of Class 3-C. The leader of Class 3-C was Hector, a student considered a genius and great at leading and encouraging others. MVP walked until they reached a beach on the lower right side of the island and it wasn't just any beach but a beach full of coconut trees that they could use to satisfy their hunger. Using the leaves and some wood, the MVP students made a cover to escape from possible rain and made a fire using rocks, grass and twigs. At night, the students heard noises coming from the bush which they thought was a rival student but in fact it was just a pig. Amélia had MasterChef-level cooking skills and cooked the pig for everyone to eat. It was Emma who did this but Amélia also has MasterChef-level skills. However, the invasion of that pig raised a possibility that could not be ignored. The rival students are enemies and may try to cause problems for other classes soon by stealing water or food. So it was agreed that someone should stay awake all day to make sure that no one would try to steal water. The people who volunteered were Amélia(Emma) and Hector, the two leaders of MVP. Since they were very responsible people, no one from MVP opposed this and so the first day it ended.

(Narrative)
2nd day of the island survival exam:

At the beginning of the 2nd day, all the MVP students woke up at 10:00 and got together to decide what they were going to do, after all, in just 1 day the MVP used almost 5 liters of water, it was more than obvious that the water would not last until the fourth day or possibly not even the third, Emma and other students went in search of a river that could have drinking water, Raymond along with other students and some boys went in search of food or important materials, Heitor along with three other students stayed watching the water and making sure no one stole it, and Amélia along with other students would also look for a source of water but different from the Emma's group would go around the island, Amelia's group would go into the forest to look for water or anything useful, several hours passed and Amelia's group made a knife out of rocks, wood and a rope that they found on the ground, in addition Amelia's group found a turkey and decided to roast it to eat, Amelia's group returned to where the others were but when they got there, the students were arguing with each other, Amelia then asked what had happened and the students said that Emma's group had not returned yet, upon hearing this Amelia was speechless and decided to spend her exam points to buy a benefit and this specific benefit would be to have access to the location of Emma's tablet, after seeing that her tablet was in the center of the island she ran there immediately leaving everyone behind, Amelia quickly ran to the center of the island and when she got there she met Emma's group who explained to her that they were helping a student from a rival team who had gotten lost, she had injuries all over her body, but when they decided to return to the camp to ask for help from the teachers they realized that They had also gotten lost and forgot to call the other members of the group to let them know about their situation. Emma's group and the unknown girl(who was a spy from class 1-B, she was tasked with the mission to observe the MVP, but she was caught by Emma and when she was trying to run away she fell and got injured), guided by Amelia, returned to the MVP base. She was taken to the cruise ship and was identified as a student from class 1-B. It was announced on the students' tablets that all of class 1-B had been eliminated from the exam. Nothing unusual happened the rest of the day. Amelia cooked the turkey and the MVP members went back to sleep. Once again, Amelia and Hector stayed awake to keep an eye on the water.

Remaining water in liters: 4.2 liters

3rd day of the island survival exam (this is where things start to get really bad):

The MVP group woke up and after noticing this, Amelia, who hadn't slept for 2 days, went to rest for a while. The MVP left Amelia sleeping and went in search of a source of freshwater that was safe to drink. They separated into groups of 3 members. This time, to prevent what happened yesterday from happening again, the leader of Class 3-C, Heitor, used his exam points to buy a marker online and marked the location of the MVP base on his tablet. After that, he shared the image of the marker with all the students in the group. If anyone got lost, they could just head towards the marker and they would arrive at the MVP base. So the MVP members separated to look for water and only a few students stayed to observe the water. However, they all fell asleep. Several hours later, Amelia woke up and the students were fighting again. She once again asked what was going on. The leader of Class 3-C approached Amelia and said he was sorry. She, not understanding anything, asked with a serious expression what happened. Then the leader of class 3-C, Hector, told her that all the water jugs had been stolen. Amelia then asked if the students had found a source of drinking water. They said yes, but that that place had already been taken by another group. Then Amelia, smiling, said that there was nothing to worry about, after all, she had a plan to deal with the situation. She asked the students to tell her where the water source they were talking about was. After they showed it to her, Amelia ran towards the place. A few minutes later, the students' tablets signaled that class 2-D had been eliminated from the exam. After a while, Amelia returned and said that she had dealt with the students from the class that were occupying the water source. When they asked how she did it, she said that she got too close to the place so that the students could see her on purpose and stole their water. However, she did not do it to use the water, but rather to put the students in a situation that they did not want to deal with. They would have no choice but to chase Amelia to get their water jugs back. Amelia purposely went down a bumpy path full of trees and bushes to hide among the trees. If she was lucky enough, one of the students might get hurt and have to leave the exam, which didn't happen. But that didn't matter, after all, that wasn't the objective of her plan. Amelia then took advantage of the fact that she was hidden and threw a bucket of dirty water at the group leader and fled the scene. With the cold weather that day and also the dirty water that fell on the leader of class 2-D, she would definitely get sick and wouldn't be able to continue in the exam. Just as Amelia predicted, the leader gave up on the exam and condemned the entire class 2-D. Right after explaining this, Amelia asked class 3-C, including Emma, to go with her to analyze the place closely. When they got there, Amelia had left a trap prepared and when the students of class 3-C fell into it, they were trapped in a hole, except for Emma, since Amelia had pulled her by the wrist towards her. herself, thus preventing her from falling into the trap as well, Amelia then said that class 3-C including Emma were working for Ryan to sabotage her and that they had delivered their water jugs to class 3-A (Ryan's class), she already knew this because Emma had warned her that Ryan was blackmailing her saying that he would spread false rumors about her to the school this occurred before the moment when Ryan began to observe the two, Amelia then began to feel a bad feeling or once again intuition and told Emma that they should pretend to be each other to deceive Ryan, this was a lie because Amelia had seen Ryan's feet for a few moments and knew he was there, so she gave false information that she had a plan in which she would pretend to be Emma and the real Emma would pretend to be Amelia to deceive Ryan but this was just a lie that she said to deceive him and make him think that this was her plan when in fact her plan to defeat him was another, the members of class 3-C continued to lie saying that they were not working to Ryan but after a while they admitted their betrayal, However, Amelia could not simply allow Class 3-C to give up on the challenge since that would harm Emma as well, so she freed all the students from the hole and said that it was best if they did not try anything suspicious, after that Amelia and Class 3-C returned to the place where Class 3-B was waiting for them, Amelia told the rest of the class what had happened and that the members of Class 3-C could still be useful to them and Amelia could guarantee that they would not do anything else after all the alliance between the two classes could be undone at any time and Class 3-B could easily expel the students of Class 3-C from the water fountain if they wanted and for the students of Class 3-C it was more than obvious that without Class 3-B their class would have no chance of winning, in the end they would have to do as they were ordered to prevent the alliance from being undone, they went with Amelia to the place where the water fountain was, Amelia had also taken with her the water jugs that the students of class 2-D were using to drink and so they had 14 liters of water at their disposal + a place where they could get more water, to ensure that class 3-C wouldn't do anything new. Amelia bought with points, a chain that they used to separate class 3-C from class 3-B and in addition, class 3-B would take care of all the resources of both classes and would grant an amount of at most 200 milliliters to each student of class 3-C per day and even if they asked for more they would be ignored, class 3-C would still receive resources from class 3-B, but direct contact with them was completely out of the question and so the day passed but this time all the students could finally rest since if someone stole the water jugs they could still spend points to buy an empty water jug and use the water source they had in their possession to fill it.

4th day of the island survival exam:

Amelia wakes up in the morning hearing loud noises of a fight taking place in the place, she leaves the tent she had bought for each of the alliance members using exam points and comes across class 3-B arguing about something with class 1-D, she approaches and asks in a nice and friendly way what was going on, everyone looks at Amelia and explains the situation, basically class 1-D had arrived at the place to make a "partnership" with the MVP, however thanks to the various previous events, the fact that Amelia had revealed to everyone that Ryan planned to make class 3-B lose the exam and that to do so he was blackmailing the other classes, the members of Amelia's class 3-B were not trusting the words of class 1-D and suspected that they were also cooperating with Ryan to make them lose the exam, but the members of class 1-D strongly deny this, Amelia finds this strange, after all if they really weren't working with Ryan to get in the way of the MVP, they would have already given up to help them to this point, why are they so eager to make an alliance? Amelia can't stop thinking about it, she takes a deep breath, looks at class 1-D and says that she accepts to make an alliance with them, upon hearing this class 3-B gets confused and asks her why she accepted the alliance even with so many risks, she says that there is nothing to worry about and that if class 1-D did something, she would get rid of them on her own, now with the alliance between the classes being established, Amelia plans to use class 1-D to her advantage by using them as spies for the other classes, but before that, there is something that has been bothering Amelia about class 1-D, she then looks at them and asks "where is the class that made an alliance with you?", when asking this the face of the leader of class 1-D went completely pale, but that only lasted a few seconds, he then says that they decided not to make an alliance with any class, which is consistent with the personality of the class members 1-D, most of the people in this class are adventurous people who like to do things in the most difficult way possible so they can brag to other people, but still Amelia feels a strange feeling about all of this, but she prefers to maintain a sense of trust between both classes, Amelia then makes a request to class 1-D, that they keep an eye on the other classes, which the leader accepts without any problems, Amelia then passes the contact of her tablet to the leader's tablet so that they can contact each other, they then head towards the forest until they can no longer be seen by MVP, a few hours pass and Amelia returns to the MVP base, after hunting animals to eat them, however when she arrives at the place, there is no one around, all the members of MVP had left the place leaving Amelia there alone, she then looks at the map on her tablet where she finds Emma's location, she then runs to the place, when she arrives there, she sees her sister completely bloody, but the blood was not hers, but from a student of the class. 1-D, the other MVP members were surrounding her and questioning her about why she did this, Emma reveals that she had been called to that place by one of the boys from class 1-D who wanted to confess to her, but in fact this was a trap and another student from the same class began to attack Emma with the clear intention of killing, she easily dodges the blows and defeats the boy who advanced on her, upon hearing this Amelia maintains a calm face as always, she laughs at the situation and calms everyone down saying that she had a plan. Some time passes and Amelia heads towards the base of class 1-D. The class leader is warned about this by one of the spies he left to observe the place and sets a meeting point where he and Amelia should meet. The place was completely clean and without trees, meaning there was no place for her to hide. After a while, Amelia arrives at the place wearing a long cloak that covered her entire body, leaving only part of her face exposed. Judging by her face, that person was definitely Amelia Elliot Wilson. The leader of class 1-D starts the conversation by asking in a friendly way why Amelia was there. She responds by telling him not to play dumb. She tells him what happened to Emma and says she thinks this whole situation was caused by him. The leader makes a serious expression and says that maybe it was his doing, but there was no proof of that or any kind of strategy or solution that could help her avoid defeat. Amelia laughs and says, "I don't think so." She then takes off the cloak that covered her body, showing that in fact a person with a uniform full of blood, the person who was there was Emma and not Amelia. The leader was extremely confused and questioned his spy about it. He had said that Amelia was going to the place, so why was her twin sister there? After a while he receives an answer, which is a photo of Amelia next to the teacher's ship holding a cell phone with something written on it. On that cell phone was the personal information that Ryan used to blackmail the leader of class 1-D. In addition, Amelia, who was using the spy's tablet, says that she could get rid of him at any moment. Emma, who was still at the place, says that if the leader gives her the tablet containing the video about the breaking of the rules that she committed, she would ask Amelia to keep his personal information a secret. The leader thinks for a moment and gives the tablet to Emma, but he is taken by surprise when she breaks it in front of him. The leader then advances on her to induce her to commit violence against him, thus breaking the rules once again. He makes an effort to do this before the teachers arrive (when a tablet is destroyed, a signal is given). sent to the teachers' tablet who go to the place where the tablet broke to investigate), but Emma easily dodges his advances without attacking him back, she then runs away from the place, but something unexpected happens, she falls into a hole that the leader of class 1-D had prepared, he had already predicted that something like this would happen and left a trap prepared, he then approaches the hole to look, but is caught by Emma who was holding on to the rocks and climbing the hole, he is then pulled into the trap where he hits his head and passes out, luckily he doesn't die, but he is quite injured, Emma changes her uniform, which was still bloody, with the leader's uniform, climbs out of the hole once more and leaves. She was wearing gloves the whole time, so her fingerprints didn't end up in the leader's uniform or at the student who tried to attack her. In the end, Class 1-D is eliminated thanks to the leader's injuries and, along with Class 1-D, Class 3-D is also eliminated because they were part of the same alliance as Class 1-D. Emma heads towards the MVP base where she finds Amelia drinking coconut water. She (Amelia) never went to the teachers' ship. That photo that the leader of Class 1-D received was a photo fabricated by Amelia. That was merely a photo she took on the first day of the exam to test the tablets' functions. She just edited the image, leaving everything overnight and placing a cell phone in her hand containing the class 1-D leader's personal information. She never left the MVP base. The class 1-D leader's personal information was that he had accidentally killed her mother. and that this caused a strong psychopathy and insanity in him, while resting in her tent, Amelia remembers a moment before the exam began, she was talking to Emma about something, when she saw Ryan's foot across the hall, Amelia then thinks quickly and proposes to Emma that they both switch places with each other, she says this to deceive Ryan, she never intended to actually switch places with her sister, she deliberately gave this false information to deceive Ryan, she thinks a little more and thinks about the possibility that he had already predicted this and that he placed his foot for Amelia to see on purpose, to deceive her (which is true), tired she closes her eyes and goes to sleep.

5th day of the island survival exam (this will definitely be the second longest day):

The MVP group wakes up at 9:00, they all drink a lot of water and eat a lot, after resting a little the students from Amelia's group decided to take advantage of the fact that the exam was almost over and that they had a good amount of resources and decided to enjoy the beach that they had used as a base in the first days of the exam, none of the students opposed this idea and they all went to the beach to enjoy the last days in that place, the students from Amelia's class then went to the beach without the students from class 3-C after all they were still not trustworthy and stayed there for hours, at 12:30 they returned to their base and realized that the students from class 3-C had surpassed their side of the base and entered the side of class 3-B, after noticing this the students from class 3-B started a fight that was quickly stopped by Amelia before anyone got hurt, Amelia reminded them that violence It was strictly forbidden and could result in the elimination of both classes. After calming everyone in her class, Amelia noticed that Class 3-C was restless and afraid of something. In a threatening tone, Amelia asked what happened to them. Then the leader of Class 3-C, Hector, explained to Amelia that one of their members had gotten into a fight with a student from Class 2-A. The students from Class 2-A had taken pictures and recorded videos of what had happened, and that Class 3-C could be eliminated at any moment. After hearing this, Amelia remained calm as always and imagined that this could be Ryan's plan to exterminate her once and for all. The students from Class 3-B, upon hearing this, started a fight with Class 3-C again and decided that they would no longer cooperate with them and would expel them from their base. The students from Class 3-C said nothing and just stared at the ground. Amelia then shouted for all the members of Class 3-B to shut up, she made it clear that as leader only she had the authority to decide who enters or leaves their base and whether they liked it or not, class 3-B could not make such a decision without her permission, before the various members of class 3-B began to complain about Amelia's arrogant and rude attitude, she stated all the advantages that MVP would have if class

3-C continued with them, in addition she made it clear that if class 3-C was expelled both classes 3-C and 3-B would be easy targets for the other classes, after hearing this the students of class 3-B fell silent to hear what she had to say, after all this Amelia said that she had a plan to deal with the situation and that class 3-B would grant her 3 hours, If she was able to solve everything before 3 o'clock then Class 3-C would stay, however if she was not able to fulfill what she promised Class 3-C would be expelled, all the members of her class accepted the proposal and used the times on the tablet to count the hours, after that Amelia used the exam points to find the location of Class 2-A and ran towards them, after walking a lot Amelia finally arrived at their base and hid behind the trees, she heard a conversation between them saying that they didn't need to rush to expel Class 3-C, after all there was nothing they could do while they had that, after saying this the leader of Class 2-A raised with his hands the camera used to record everything however Amelia knew that that camera was a fake and that the recordings of what happened were not there, Class 2-A was known for having several genius students, so it wouldn't make sense for them to commit such a stupid action as leaving the camera that was the only resource they had to increase their chances of victory in a place where anyone could see and steal and that they probably already knew she was there probably because they had hacked the tablets of class 3-B to find out the location of her tablet, Amelia decided to distance herself from the place and then decided that she should use the exam points once again to buy a remote-controlled lizard robot that walked on the walls, she used the robot to observe the base of class 2-A without them noticing after all if they saw the robot, which had a high chance of not happening because it was perfectly camouflaged among the grass they wouldn't give it much importance after all it was just a lizard in a forest, Amelia observed the place from all angles and finally found the location of the real camera on the tablet of the leader of class 2-A that was in the possession of a student who was walking towards the teachers' boat probably to report the student of class 3-C who had attacked another student of class 2-A she immediately noticed that the rest of class 2-A was only there to distract her, after noticing this Amelia quickly ran towards the local, upon noticing that Amelia was heading towards the student with the camera, the other members of class 2-A ran after her to stop Amelia from doing anything, Amelia ran for several minutes and thanks to her speed she reached the other side of the island and stole the student's camera before she even realized, after that a fight began between the two in which Amelia only focused on dodging the blows of the girl from class 2-A, the fight lasted about 15 seconds and after some time the leader of class 2-A had arrived, he was a strong and athletic man who was able to run so fast that the human eye was almost unable to see his movements, After his arrival, the fight became a 2VS1 between the girl and the leader of class 2-A and Amelia, who was completely focused on dodging the attacks. Amelia then decided to end it all before the rest of the 20 students of class 2-A arrived and she was forced to fight seriously. Amelia then picked up dirt from the ground and threw it at the eyes of the leader of class 2-A. She did this while he was in the middle of an attack and while his fist was going towards her, she grabbed the student from class 2-A and placed her in front of her to use her as a human shield. The leader of class 2-A continued to beat the one he believed to be Amelia without realizing that the person he was hitting was not Amelia. Amelia then quickly deleted the photo and video of the fight between class 3-C and 2-A and, using the tablet of the leader of class 2-A, took a photo of the leader of class 2-A beating the girl from his class to report the class. 2-A and left the tablet on the ground, after that she broke the tablet of the girl from class

2-A, thus causing a signal to be sent to the tablet of the teachers who went to the island and expelled class 2-A from the exam, with only 16 minutes left until the end of the challenge, Amelia ran for 700 meters until she reached the base of her class and when she got there the announcement of the expulsion of class 2-A from the exam was announced to everyone and then the students of class 3-C celebrated and thanked Amelia for having saved them, the MVP group became alert when they heard noises coming from the bushes and the person who had come out of there was Ryan Heinrich who came to congratulate Amelia for surviving until the present moment and overcoming each challenge that appeared in front of her, but he stated that her group would not last long, Amelia then with a mocking face questioned Ryan about why he was so confident in his victory when he had just lost class 2-A from his alliance, Ryan was quiet for a while and asked Amelia, “Did you really believe that those guys were members of my alliance?” After hearing this, Amelia was speechless to express Ryan's actions and simply said that he was indeed an opponent to be feared and that he was worthy of her time. Ryan accepted the compliment but said that he could not say the same about Amelia. He said this to hurt her pride as a Genius and said that he was very disappointed with her performance in the exam. Ryan also stated that he expected her to do something incredible and unexpected, but that in the end, all of her actions up until this point had already been predicted by him and that Amelia was walking towards the trap he had prepared, the trap that would decide the outcome of the confrontation between the two of them. After hearing this, Amelia became tense, wondering what he was planning. He also said that he knew that her plan to pretend to be Emma was a lie and that he had purposely placed his feet further forward so that she would notice his presence (confirming Emma's suspicions at the end of day 4). There it is, the reason why he was the 2nd vice leader of Red9. His ability to predict actions was completely insane, like he was some kind of prophet. After hearing all of this, anyone would be afraid and frightened about what could happen. but different from what Ryan expected, Amelia laughed at his provocations and said that not even if cows flew he would be able to beat her and stated that he was deluding himself into thinking that he could defeat her, after hearing this Ryan became completely furious but his face didn't even flinched, his facial expressions didn't showed any signs of anger or wrath, he then said that Amelia's arrogance knew no limits and that he would not limit himself to just defeating her in this exam but also stated that he would kill her when he had the chance, he also stated that there was nothing she could do to avoid this, he had also bought and used an E.M.P bomb before starting his conversation with the MVP, He did this to temporarily black out the tablets and prevent the MVP students from using his threat to expel him from school. After saying all this, he left. The MVP members were tense for a while, but soon after that they calmed down and went to eat a little and drink a lot of water. After all this, they began to think of strategies to avoid being eliminated. During the MVP conversation, it was announced on the students' tablets that almost all the other classes had been eliminated, leaving only two excluding them. They then decided that it was finally time for the MVP students to start attacking and make other alliances be eliminated to prevent future attacks. At that point, it was obvious that all the alliances were being forced by Ryan to confront them and that they should prepare for every possibility. However, during the conversation between them, Amelia's group heard a scream and ran over there and saw that it was a student who was using an improvised knife upside down and was attacking the other students nearby. Amelia instantly realized what she would do next and threw a rock. in her hand to throw the knife away and with a chokehold she knocked her out, the girl in question was a student from class 3-C who was going to stab herself with the knife that Emma's group had used to hunt at the beginning of the 4th day and would use the knife as proof that Emma had stabbed her, thus causing her to be eliminated from the exam, but this was strange because she would be attacking members of her own class and why would she go so far as to stab herself just to get Emma expelled from the exam, Amelia realized this by the fact that the girl was holding the knife upside down and because the knife had a little blood even though the girl hadn't hit anyone, in addition there were some feathers from the turkey that Emma's group had captured on the knife, Amelia observed this even while the girl was moving the knife from side to side, until she realized that the victim was drowning in her own saliva and after being saved by Amelia the victim opened her eyes, after looking into the girl's eyes Amelia understood What was happening? The girl's pupils were shaped like a red triquetra. That was one of the special abilities granted by the clone Amelia to the vice leaders of Red9. Ryan's power was the vision of the god of death, which just by looking at a person he could manipulate when, how and where they would die, and he was also able to acquire information about his victim just by looking at them. Amelia deduced that Ryan manipulated the girl's death to make her try to expel Emma, and if she failed she would die with her own saliva, which didn't happen thanks to Amelia. After that, Amelia discovered Ryan's power, which could give her an advantage. After that, the girl returned to normal and apologized to the rest of the students, who accepted her apologies without blinking. That was the surprise that Ryan had prepared for Amelia, and now the next day the real battle between the two would happen.

6th day of the island survival exam (Day of the final confrontation between Amelia and Ryan Heinrich):

The MVP members woke up and as always they drank and ate only what was necessary, the student who tried to kill the members of class 3-C was taken back home, but since it was an event that was not under the control of the MVP alliance they were not eliminated, that was the day Ryan would do his final trick, Amelia then decided to spend some of her points on security cameras that they placed near their base, at 2:00 pm Amelia received a message from Ryan telling her and her sister to go to the beach and so she did, the message was composed of four different languages, these languages being Russian, Japanese, German and French, he did this to ensure that no one other than Amelia or Emma understood what was written, she called Emma and warned her about the message and they went to the place, there was Ryan and the leader of class 1-A, at that moment it was more than clear that the class that Ryan had made an alliance with was Class 1-A, Ryan started talking asking Amelia how her time on the exam was, Amelia not understanding anything, said it was shit and Ryan starts laughing after saying that he thought the same, Emma interrupts the conversation ordering him to get straight to the point and that he definitely hadn't called them there just to make small talk, seeing this Ryan got a serious face and said that he wanted to challenge Amelia to a friendly game of chess in which Amelia accepted, the challenge occurred and Emma stood next to the leader of Class 1-A watching the confrontation between the two, the confrontation between the two continued for quite some time, the fight between the two was fierce and anyone who didn't know the context of that confrontation would think it was a match between 2 professional players, when in fact neither Amelia nor Ryan had played chess more than once in their lives, they just watched several chess matches and just by watching they were already able to learn and execute all the best strategies imaginable, that was a confrontation between 2 Geniuses who were superior to anyone who faced them, during the confrontation they were able of simulating and predicting tens of millions of different movements per second inside her mind, after a long time of confrontation between the two Amelia came out victorious, when she looked at his face Ryan remained calm, but he was not able to hide one of his veins that had jumped out thanks to his anger at having been defeated once again by Amelia, after noticing this she asks why Ryan was so angry and said that she thought he was more mature than that, these provocations were intended to explore Ryan's personality and try to find an opening in his facade of a good boy, after realizing what she was trying to do, Ryan put on a serious face to prevent Amelia from reading his emotions and told Amelia not to think too highly of herself and said that this was just the beginning, Amelia then said that nothing he did would be enough to defeat her and stated that any effort was useless, after hearing this Ryan smiles and says "that's what we'll see" as he heads towards the forest back to his base, Amelia and Emma did the same, returning to their base they were surrounded by the other members of the MVP who wanted to know where they went and what they were doing without telling them, Amelia then explained everything that happened and her confrontation between her and Ryan, after clarifying everything the students decided to explore the island a little more, but when they were about to enter the island, all the students received a message on their tablets saying that a special event would take place to celebrate the last day at that location and asked all the students who had not yet been eliminated to gather in the center of the island at 00:00, and on all the students' tablets a marker appeared showing the place where the event would take place, so they waited and when the scheduled time arrived they all went there immediately, the event was a confrontation between the only two remaining alliances to decide who would be the champion alliance, the event consisted of 2 mind games and the winning students would receive 1000 exam points that they could use to buy whatever they wanted and take the purchased items home, the alliance of class 1-A + 3-A chose Ryan and Alice as leaders of class 1-A and 3-A, while the MVP alliance chose Amelia and Emma who was only chosen by appeals from Amelia, the first challenge would be Emma against Alice and the second Amelia against Ryan, at that moment Ryan was confused why she would choose Emma to help her, he thought about it for a bit but decided that it was irrelevant and that he shouldn't worry about it.

The first game will be a detective game between Emma and Alice that will take place inside a virtual reality machine that does not have a memory-altering function. Both of them enter the game and begin the final challenge. Emma (who kept her memories this time) opens her eyes and finds herself in an old mansion. She drinks some tea while talking to the mansion's butlers and maids, who do not have names, instead they use numbers as a form of identification. After a while, she hears a scream coming from the upper floors and runs towards the place. When she gets there, Emma finds a dead body and a woman passed out near the body. The woman wakes up and seems confused. Upon noticing this, Emma understands almost immediately that she was being used as a scapegoat. When the other people arrive at the place, the woman that Emma found near the body quickly becomes the main suspect for the murder. Ignoring all this, Emma approaches the body and observes the surroundings.

P1: There is a phrase written in blood on the wall of the room. Who's laughing now? P2: The victim was stabbed 32 times with a sharp object, most likely a knife.

C1: When observing this, it becomes more than clear that the killer in this case has something personal against the victim.

P3: On the victim's chest, a sketch of the image of a snake was drawn with a knife next to a drawing of a broken heart.

C2: In many countries and places, betrayal is mainly symbolized by the image of a snake. The heart and the snake together can symbolize a betrayal in love. Perhaps the killer killed the victim because of a betrayal in love.

C3: Bright Future High School really likes to put subtle clues like these in their events. Bright Future has a high insistence on testing the intellectual abilities of its students, so it makes sense that they would put this clue, which makes it reliable since they don't usually put false evidence in events and they definitely wouldn't make a case impossible to solve.

P4: In the victim's hand is a torn white cloth like those used by the mansion's butlers.

C4: It is highly likely that one of the butlers is the killer, but there is also the possibility that the killer is trying to place the blame on someone else.

P5: Of all the butlers who were present at the scene, the only one who was not wearing a white cloth around his neck was butler number 17.

C5: Butler number 17 was with Emma and the other butlers and maids in the living room when the crime occurred and was there for 1 hour according to the other servants, which makes the idea of him being the killer impossible.

P6: The victim had his head turned to the left and in that direction there was only a regular wall, however the victim's face suggested that he saw something in that direction.

P7: Emma approaches the wall and discovers a secret passage that leads to the mansion's owner's room.

Final conclusion: The killer must be one of the owners of the mansion since only they could possibly know about the secret passage, someone who suffered a love betrayal in which the victim was involved and someone with knowledge about symbology.

Emma remembers that the owner of the mansion was in the living room with her 15 seconds before the murder and he went to another location where she was not able to see where, the owner of the mansion would never have been able to climb to the second floor where the body was found, stab the victim 32 times and escape through the secret passage in a mere 34 seconds which was the time the screams were heard 15s and the time it took for Emma to reach the second floor 19s, so only the son of the owner of the mansion can be the killer, upon discovering this Emma reveals 38 seconds after the start of her investigation the identity of the killer and easily wins the game in a mere 1 minute and a half. Both Amelia and Ryan were able to figure out the killer's identity before Emma revealed it to everyone. They figured out what the snake and the heart symbolized and also correctly deduced the killer's identity before Emma revealed it, with Emma deducing the killer's identity in 23 seconds, Amelia in 19 seconds and Ryan in 34 seconds, 4 seconds before Emma pointed out the killer's identity, showing that even Ryan was not able to compete with both of them in deduction, but that he is not far behind in comparison to them.

After the game between Emma (Amelia) and Alice ended, it was Ryan and Amelia's (Emma) turn. Ryan was quite surprised, but kept his apathetic face. He then looked at Amelia and said that it was now their turn and then they went to start the game. Unlike Emma and Alice's game, their game was a poker game, only it was not just any poker but a special poker organized by the school and the rules were as follows.

- The game would only have three rounds and the student with the best hand would win the game and receive the grand special prize decided by the teachers.

- The function of the joker card was changed and now if you have the joker card in your possession, you can steal your opponent's cards. However, this was a double-edged sword, after all, the player with the joker card could have the bad luck of stealing a deck lower than the one he had before using the joker's ability and thus lose the game.

- The two students could exchange the cards in their hands for a random card decided by a special machine made for the exam.

After hearing the rules, the two students began the game. They watched as the man who shuffled the cards moved his hands in a Riffle shuffle at an insane speed. After about 10 seconds, he placed the cards inside a machine that organized them and gave them randomly to the two students. In the first game, Amelia got a three of a kind and Ryan got a two of a kind. Ryan noticed this and decided to swap 3 cards and was lucky enough to get an entire hand with the same cards. He quickly forced a face of disappointment to prevent Amelia from reading his thoughts. Meanwhile, Amelia had swapped an entire hand, that is, 5 cards. Ryan thought she was crazy after all, that was a very risky move. After the two students confirmed that they were ready, Amelia and Ryan showed their cards. Ryan couldn't believe his eyes. Amelia had a joker card in her deck and the rest of her hand was horrible. Thanks to the joker, Amelia and Ryan's cards were swapped and Amelia won the game. Ryan began to wonder how she knew he had a good hand. and that's when he realized that she probably found it strange that his face went from a smiling face to a face of someone disappointed and deduced that he was probably faking his emotions and that he had a good hand in hand and honestly even if he currently had a bad card, even if he had done it to deceive her and that he had predicted that she would draw the joker, the deck of cards that Amélia had in her hands was the worst hand she could have gotten and it was impossible for him to get a worse hand than hers and the chances of getting a hand equivalent to hers were very low.

After that the second round began and Ryan got an extremely strong hand with a three of a kind and 2 other equal cards, that is, a 2 of a kind. He believed that Amelia could not get the joker card twice in a row, after all it was a 1 in 36 chance of her getting the same card again. Amelia, unlike the last round, only changed 3 of her 5 cards. After the two students were fully prepared, they showed their hands and to Ryan's surprise, Amelia had gotten the joker once again and also like in the previous round she had a terrible hand. Amelia had won another round. When Ryan analyzed the situation, he deduced that she knew the position of the joker among the cards somehow. He then decided that in the round that would occur after that, Ryan would try to find out how Amelia knew the location of the joker by analyzing all the possible possibilities. At that moment Amelia's victory had already been decided, after all she had won 2 rounds in a row and even if Ryan won the third he would still lose the challenge for having lost most of them. of the rounds, but he couldn't tolerate the possibility of being humiliated like that.

In the third Round Ryan paid extra attention to the man who organizes and shuffles the cards, he noticed that the card box he used was always the same, he also noticed a pattern in the machine and noticed that most of the even numbered cards were located higher up where they were stored and most of the odd numbered cards were in the lower parts, the joker card was most likely found at the bottom of the deck that was in the hands of the man who shuffles the cards and following the logic of even and odd numbers and that to organize the cards the machine executed the process of shuffling all the cards exactly 4 times in a row, thanks to Ryan's previous observations, in addition there was the fact that the cards were shuffled differently depending on whether the order they are in is odd or even, each card was changed in a specific order that was 4 times, in addition the machine added the joker card in a specific pattern that caused the position of the card to always change within the machine, after remembering the previous rounds, the organization of the cards of both players and his previous observations he was able to deduce that the machine skipped 7 cards to finally place the joker card and in each round the joker card was placed 7 layers below the other cards and when it reached the bottom the card would be placed on top and after that the card would go down further and further below the other cards and this process would continue for a total of 4 times, after analyzing all these factors Ryan without any difficulty shuffled in his mind all 36 cards 4 times and making the joker card skip 7 cards each time and thus discovered the location of the joker card effectively, he then decided to put his theory into practice and changed his entire hand, just as expected he had taken the Joker card, Ryan had only a combo of two of a kind that is 2 equal cards, that is, a very weak hand and according to his calculations it was impossible for Amelia to get a deck inferior to his. After preparing themselves, Amelia and Ryan showed their cards. After observing her card, Ryan was completely incredulous with the result. Amelia had a hand without any combos. However, according to Ryan's predictions, this should be impossible. Amelia then, with a smile on her face, revealed that in fact the machine did not do the shuffling process 4 times, but 4.5 times. In other words, if the machine did that process twice, the machine would have shuffled the cards 9 times and not 8 as Ryan's theory suggested. Amelia said that because the difference was minimal, he probably wouldn't notice and stated that she only noticed this because she had thought of the strategy of discovering the location of the joker card since the beginning of the game, but as the game continued, she noticed that the joker card was in a different position than she had initially predicted, and that this could only be possible if the number of times the machine shuffles the cards was not 4 but rather 4.5 this was the only plausible reason that could have caused such a result, Amelia stated that if he had adopted the same strategy as her and noticed all the signs about how the machine worked from the beginning of the game he would definitely come to the same conclusion as her, after saying this Ryan said he couldn't believe he had been defeated by Amelia once again, after hearing this Amelia said that the truth was much crueler than that, the person who was in front of him and who he believed to be Amelia had revealed herself to be Emma, Amelia who pretended to be Emma and who faced Alice approached Ryan and then asked him how he felt knowing that she never considered him a threat or a challenge and asked how it felt to have lost so easily to Emma, Ryan after thinking a little noticed everything about what Amelia had done, after Amelia noticed Ryan's intentions at the beginning of the unexpected betrayal she decided to call Emma to the women's bathroom and there they used industrial products to change their hair and the smallest details of their appearance to confuse him, Amelia used an electricity conducting mechanism to electrocute Emma's brain and make her real personality come back and asked Emma to pretend to be Amelia, from the beginning Ryan was fighting Emma and even so he was defeated, it was Emma disguised as Amelia who noticed Ryan's presence while she was talking to Emma who was actually Amelia in disguise, it was Emma who defeated him at chess, it was Emma who survived and led class 3-B for all 6 days on that island and it was Emma who exonerated Raymond, he just got the chronological order of the facts wrong, Amelia already knew about Ryan's plans thanks to the Amelia clone and had already switched with Emma before even going to school, Amelia then reminded Ryan of when he had said that he had predicted all her actions up to that moment and she said that in fact it was she who had already completely predicted in her mind the entire confrontation between Emma and Ryan, not only Amelia but Emma was also able to predict all his actions with ease, all the actions of both of them, all the methods they would both use and how he planned defeat her, from the beginning Ryan was never a challenge for Emma and Amelia, Ryan wondered if he was not capable of beating Emma what chance he would have against Amelia and the answer immediately came to his mind, none (he had no idea of Emma's real capabilities and wrongly thought she was inferior to Amelia), after listening to Amelia's entire monologue, Ryan was being completely taken by anger but completely hid his intentions with a smile just like he always does, Emma approached him and said "be proud of yourself, you are different from them, you are not just a number", Even after realizing that all his efforts were in vain and that he had been humiliated by Amelia and Emma, he went towards the cruise without saying anything so that both classes 3-B, 3-C, 3-A and 1-A could return to school. The MVP group had as enemies almost all the alliances that participated in the exam and thanks to Emma, they won, during all of the events that occurred on the survival island exam, Emma acted perfectly like Amélia, copying the way she walk, her voice, her personality, her appearance(which honestly wasn't hard since they are twins) and her facial expressions easily.

- Amelia used a special product to make her hair grow quickly and cut her hair so that it looked exactly like Emma's, while Emma cut her hair slightly and did this several times so that it looked exactly like Amelia's, even if the difference was just a few millimeters, the 2nd vice leader of Red9, Ryan would definitely notice, so they had to make sure that Ryan didn't notice their plan.

- Emma, like Amelia, was always a genius, however, her childhood trauma held back her genius abilities and created a false persona of a kind and caring person to protect her fragile mind and thus prevent Emma from completely losing her sanity due to this trauma (at least that's what Amelia believed).

- Emma was never helped by Amelia during the survival exam on the island and all the feats performed there were done on her own merit and she did everything alone, Amelia would only interfere if the situation became critical or unfavorable for her, besides that Ryan was never a threat to Emma, she could have easily won against him and eliminated him from the event, but because Ryan had not one, but many advantages over her, defeating him became a more complicated task than Emma originally imagined.

After arriving back at school, Emma and Amelia talked a little about what had just happened and decided to pack their things to go home. Amelia told Emma to go ahead and wait for her at the school gate and said that she had something she needed to do. Emma, looking at Amelia, thought she was going to go after Ryan so she could get rid of him for good. Emma nonchalantly went to the school gate as planned and waited for several minutes, but Amelia didn't arrive. Emma then went after Amelia and found her in the hallway of the classroom. Emma asked her why she was taking so long and Amelia said that Emma had probably already figured out why. After that, the two girls heard screaming noises coming from the classroom where Amelia came from. Ryan came out of the door, enraged and with blood on his hands. Amelia told Emma and a friend of hers who had just arrived at the scene to run away, and so they did. However, Emma, when making sure she was far enough away from that place, watched the security cameras and noticed that Amelia was having difficulty dealing with the situation. Boy, upon seeing this, Emma told her friend to hit her and take her to Amelia, holding Emma by the hair. The girl, scared, refused, but Emma threatened her, saying that she could expose her biggest secrets if the girl didn't. With no choice, the girl hit Emma with all her strength until she passed out and, holding her by the hair, took her to Amelia. Upon seeing Emma injured and unconscious, Amelia deduced that the girl was with Ryan and quickly beat them both. Amelia beat the girl with all her strength to the point that she fell into a coma and Ryan was unconscious for days. Amelia then used all the remaining determination within her to stagger to the nearest hospital, which was 4 km away. Even though she had several broken bones and fell face down on the ground several times, she continued to get up and walk with Emma on her back. She did this until they finally arrived at the hospital, leaving both of them completely safe. Everything happened exactly as Emma planned.
