Machiya Feats (Unfinished)

Green- FSIQ, Intellect
Lime- Reasoning, Thinking, Leadership
Red- Manipulation, EQ, SQ
Orange -Deception, Info Control
Blue- Anticipation(A)/Prediction(P)
Rose- Strategy, Planning
Purple- Observation, Perception,
Info Gathering, Cold Reading
Cyan- miscellaneous
Pink- Anti Feats

Keep in mind this doc still has a mix of EI model and the old model
(Better Context Soon + fixing grammar 😭)

Feats

"Introduction to dead tube"

At the start of the manga we get shown to female mc, Mashiro Mai, known as one of the best looking girls in the school. She asked Machiya to record her to which Machiya from time to time controls himself and does not touch Mashiro while she's sleeping. Later on Mashiro ended up having Machiya record her and Machiya's bully having sex, to which Machiya had no reaction to the fact that his bully was having sex with one of the most beautiful girls at the school
(EIM)

•After the death of Machiya's bully, Mashiro had them both to meet up to where Machiya received 5 million yen from Mashiro and immediately thought that it was to keep him quiet due to him recording the death of His bully and Mashiro being the one that killed the bully
(Abductive)

Machiya claims Mashiro to be a kinky and perverted woman due to her calm nature infront of the camera, while she did things like pee and had sex in front of a camera, Machiya also said how no normal person would be so calm in those scenarios (Mashiro claimed that she was still a virgin and how the man didn't get it inside of her)
(EIP, EIU, Inductive, Cold Read)

"Sanagi Suicide Arc"

This Arc was about a Director the name of sanagi who ran the film club who was supposedly going to commit suicide in 5 days stated by mashiro the club went on a trip later on in which each friend was getting killed later on we figure out that Sanagi and her friends in the club where all in dead tube and that their motive was all because of the lack of reality in films and they saw Machiya as the perfect target due to him being "weak" this is how Machiya tackled this

•Machiya showed a clip from his camera and showed it to Mashiro. Sanagi was going to commit suicide but from the clip Machiya begged to differ. Machiya said that a person that was going kill themselves wouldn't be in so much joy as shown in the picture
(EIU, EIP, Abductive)

•Machiya after getting told Sanagi has a lover he started to think which one in the group could she be in love with.

- For Takabayashi both had completely different personalities, but was also Sanagi right hand man.
- Then Miyazawa a pretty looking dude and has already had feelings for Sanagi
- the other two Machiya crossed out mainly because of their geek behavior,

Machiya then noticed that someone from the friend group has gone missing that person being Hickuchi

•After finding Hickuchi's body dead, Machiya ends up recording to which Sanagi stops him she was also crying at the time,
Machiya's understanding of Sanagi was a group leader that wouldn't be crying infront of everyone, Machiya most likely got this conclusion due to her heroics when saving him from his bullies, Sangi would also most likely hold in her tears for the sake of everyone.

-> Sanagi was crying
-> made up an understanding about her and the way she acts through prior experience
-> concluded how weird the reaction was when compared to his understanding of her (Social Awareness, EIU, EIP, Logical Rsn Perception, Crystallized Intel)

•Yet another two people ended up dying Machiya said this could be Mashiro's doing because last time Mashiro committed a crime she didn't get punished for it
(Abductive)

•Machiya thought up of a plan to catch Mashiro Mai that plan being to fake the death of sanagi using visual effects ect from the film club
(Planning, Creativity)

•Machiya had a feeling that something was wrong about this whole thing Machiya the rethinked his steps from when
What Mashiro said at the beginning
→ Me recording the director→ finding out the director has a lover → Higuchi who I thought was the lover was killed → the other two people getting killed → and now all the other members are have been kidnapped by Mashiro → one of those two is lying. Machiya at first believed Mashiro would be the only one capable of doing such things
(Intuition, Deductive, Inductive)

•Machiya noticed something was off about the picture shown by Sanagi, Machiya noticed that the photo was doctored to make it look as if Mashiro was the one to kidnap them Machiya also said that the picture of Mashiro was probably taken sometime during the recording. Machiya knew the picture was doctored due to the difference of focus and how even with a zoom in digital camera it still won't achieve that amount of focus. One photo with two different resolutions clearly means the photo was doctored. Machiya also managed to act against the people who have saved him from his bullies and the people that he's closest to, he did it in a way that made it seem like he was going with the plan of Killing Mashiro but in truth he was actually teaming up with Mashiro
(Observation,Abductive, WMI, PSI, Acting Skills, EIM)

Throughout this whole arc Machiya was getting played by Sanagi the reason Machiya figured out she was lying was thanks to that picture Sanagi sent and how easily Machiya was able to tell it was fabricated

The aftermath of the show showed Sanagi being the Culprit of the event, that event was shown at display in the film club where Mashiro explained the story to the people who wanted to know the stuff they filmed, she says “A director who loved old things, she was so beautiful that everyone would fall in love, however she had a terrible secret, she could only love women, so the director found someone who thought the same as her, her name was the maker, to which the girls killed everyone who opposed of them and lived on their own little world” Mashiro also states how the show was canceled due to the death of an Actress”

Machiya begins having questions about what's going on,
First how after everything that went on not a single word was spoken about it that day.
→
Second, How the police arrived before everyone else yet the evidence was still managed to get cleaned up
→
After that came the incident that Mashiro told some of the people, Machiya then claims that the Maker should be him, and how her story followed a cliche path one where the “maker” of Mashiro story, Yamada dies together with Sanagi, even though Yamada was used during Sanagi plan and was pushed off the building in order to add more realism into Sanagi fake death.
→
Machiya then talks about the mass murder and how not a single mass media came to their school to investigate how the many of people from that school died
→
Lastly was the amount of people that didn't even know that certain event happened, their lack of knowledge was shown when they continued the festival as if nothing happened
→
This would lead Machiya to have confusion about the things that are going on (Deductive, Abstract Thnk, Fluid Intel)

Before going to Mashiro house, Machiya knew what he said was weird and how he couldn't risk bringing his family into it.
Now Machiya making his way toward Mashiro house, was going in with The goal of figuring out whether Mashiro was using his like Sanagi or something else, as even though she's a completely unpredictable psycho he still acknowledges the fact that Mashiro during the film club incident helped him, and how she did somewhat protect him.

While in Mashiro house and learning about the rules, Machiya realized how it stated that the person that gets number 1 gets a 10,000,000 yen reward, which means that the money Mashiro gave him while filming the death of His bully came from that 10,000,000 yen reward, and that Mashiro just split the money in half between him and herself

While getting told the crimes that were filmed in the duration of the film club video Machiya managed to connect them to their events

1. Breaking and entering → Entering the school when it was closed
2. Public indecency → Raped Saki
3. Attempted Murder → Attempted murder on Mashiro
4. Seven counts of murder → The people Sanagi killed for her little plan in adding realism to her films

(Observation, Metacognition, Inductive, WMI)

"Homeroom Teacher"

Next DT game starts as the target for this dt game was Machiya's Homeroom Teacher, slowly people begin doing extremer and extremer challenges to the point where it in dangers Eno(Teacher). Although things aren't the way it seems with Eno.

•After seeing that there teacher was the next target Machiya thought about the possibility of the students being a dead tube participants, If they were dead tube participants they would have to have a camera but everything has a built in camera as well as mini cameras
(Inductive)

•Machiya was shown a thumbnail of Hanae's newest video Machiya came up with the possible charges if this video was to get last place those charges were 10,000 roses planted into the teachers room if each rose was 500 yen then 5,000,000 yen would be her punishment and that's ignoring Hanae probably broke into the house in order to record the video meaning that to becomes a punishment if those 5,000,000 yen were to be given through irregular methods she can go to prison
(Abductive, PSI, WMI, Observation, Abstract Thnk)

•Machiya caught Hanea exiting out of the staffs bathroom with a laptop on her hands, Machiya came to the conclusion that Hanae was filming something in the bathroom
(Abductive, Observation, Abstract Thnk)

•After seeing the video Hanae posted Machiya knew that the opposition would probably go bigger this time ultimately leading up to a battle that would get worse and worse Machiya knows that if things continue the way they are then it'll ultimately lead to the death of His teacher due to the fact that the videos keep on getting extremer and extremer
(Prediction, Abductive, Abstract Thnk)

•Machiya's plan was based around the plan they did with the director by first giving Eno(his teacher) a stun gun since today is the last day of the dead tube trend she's most likely going to get assaulted, Machiya also knew that she was going to refuse so Machiya begged her to keep it as a precaution. Machiya's plan was to have Hanae secretly record the whole situation people think that it will be the guys getting the last laugh but in truth it will end with Eno getting the last laugh
(Planning, Prediction, Crystallized Intel)

•Machiya told Mashiro to stay back during this whole thing because Machiya had a suspicion that Eno had a hidden face due to her oddly calm and nice behavior when her life is on the line, keep in mind that the scenery is set in deadtube which further pushes Machiya into questioning if someone as nice as her exists Machiya thought about this after what sensei said about believing in her students He figured out that the thing that would drive her would be sex as Machiya knew something was up with her and her niceness and the fact that deadtube is known for having sex involved
(Foresight, EIP, Abductive, Abstract Thnk, Observation)

"Perfect Suicide"

Dead tube newest game just came up and it involves suicide, pretty simple right?
Well it is except nobody will like a simple suicide, you have to build emotion and enjoyment along the way, The person Machiya is making this video with is Furui a 17 year old committing suicide he's also someone who isn't afraid of dying, with everything set and ready it's time for Machiya to make the perfect Suicide Video

•Machiya understands the point of these suicide videos that main point being for self-comfort basically putting their worries aside and just ending it all, basically targeting weak minded people
(EIU, Social awareness, VCI, Abstract, Inductive)

•Later Mashiro ended up finding someone willing to commit suicide to which she brought to Machiya in order to commence their suicide video.
Machiya had planned out how Furui would die first Machiya used Saki's greed and how she'll do anything for a bit of cash to his advantage Machiya bought Saki.
By buying Saki Machiya made her do whatever Furui wanted.
-The first thing they did was have sex.

-Next Machiya had Mashiro beat up all of Furui's bullies and make them their errand boys.

-After that Furui would be given 1 million yen everyday

-At the end though it was time for Furui's death Machiya made an explosive collar to put on Furui.

-At first Furui didn't care he didn't change his opinion until he saw Saki Crying when Furui realized that someone might actually like him even so at the end of the day Furui ended up dying.

(Planning, EIM, VSI(?), EIU, EIF,
Emotional Manip, Indirect Manip,
Logical Manip, Leadership Skills, Misdirection, Setting up traps)

"Rascal Arc"

An Arc in which multiple dead tubers are set in an island there staying in the island for a total of 5 days and 4 nights with there primary goal is to film a certain target there also rewarding all members who film this target

•After hearing the rules and how simple and easy everything sounded everyone believed that this time it'll be easier, everyone except Machiya calling out the fact that he doesn't believe dead tube would be that naive
(EIU, Perception, Intuition, Abductive)

•Machiya ended up asking NishiJima why he participates in dead tube since dead tube and his kindness wouldn't go well together
(EIU, Observation, Inductive)

•Machiya decided to skip the opportunity to tell the rest something important as Machiya didn't believe that the time was right. That was after seeing the memory card that Noumi had before Eguchi got killed, Machiya was forced to let out why he kept his camera as he needed to use it in order to play the memory card that wasn't damaged unlike the camera Noumi had his reason for keeping the camera hidden was being that he believed they were going on a false premise everyone believing that the Rascal is an outsider but the truth being that the Rascal is amongst one of them the reason Machiya was keeping this hidden was because it would ultimately make everyone suspicious of each other
(Deductive, Abstract Thnk, EIU, Leadership Skills, Social Awareness)

•Machiya stopped everyone from making a conclusion in such a short amount of time main reason for this was how Yuusake compared there situation to a Mystery movie if that was the case Machiya brought up that a bunch of simple reasonings would end with a bad conclusion
(Inductive)

•Machiya during the first death realized something in everyone's expressions that being how everyone was oddly calm except for Eguchi and Saitsu who had normal reactions with this Machiya induced that this isn't truly their first time participating in dead tube
(EIP, Inductive, Observation, Cold Reading)

•While getting asked why he thinks many people are suspicious Machiya told them how Akari is interested in the money yet showed no interest to his camera Machiya also realized Jouen acting suspiciously and is probably hiding info. Noumi didn't get killed by the Rascal even though she witnessed someone die and how it could have something to do with the murderer
(Perception, Inductive, EIP, Observation, Cold Reading)

•Machiya noticed that the little girl was not mad but instead afraid due to the environment she was in (EIU)

Machiya at first believed that the Rascals Killing patterns revolved around the people who are the weakest/can't defend themselves would be spared.

Another possibility could be that the Rascal doesn't kill children, yet that could be easily dismissed as during that time they believed that the Rascal was responsible for the “death” of Noumi

•After seeing the Rascal being Nomi, Machiya new something was up since the Rascal and Nomi had nothing alike saying stuff like even if she was alive in her current condition it was unlikely that she would be able to walk and there were multiple times in which Nomi and the Rascal were both present in the same place Machiya came to the conclusion that someone was trying to frame Noumi that person being Jouen. Later on with some help from Yuusake Machiya figured out that in the 10 minutes they were away from the room it would be unlikely for the Rascal to sew someone up in just 10 minutes meaning Jouen was also the one to sew Nomi
(Deductive, Inductive, Observation, Abstract Thnk)

Machiya was then set on a 3 minute timer to find out the identity of the Rascal, as well as coming up with completely new connections in order to correct their misconceptions. Machiya was editing all the footage in his mind in order to make a good film that would fit the stuff that was going on.

To better Explain Machiya would recall and visualize every event from the island in order to further his deductions, this would fit the reason as to why Mashiro said “Editing all that he’s witnessed in his mind and turning it into a film”

-through the events that occurred it would be impossible to deduce the rascals identity it was all put in a sense that made it seem like it was a thriller film, but going by that logic it'll be impossible to find out the Rascal since the story was instead crafted based on Horror flicks which is why to solve this case Machiya had to approach it in a different way
Rascals Approach- Horror approach
Events and scenery- Thriller approach

By comparing their current situation to the ones of horror flicks they seem to have many similarities. First everytime the Rascal attacked it was while someone was having sex.

-The first person to die in horror movies are always the young bloods which was nishijima in their case that's how the murderer always makes his appearance

-The rascal's goal isn't to kill for vengeance, instead is the fact that he doesn't kill virgins, the reason for Noumi not dying was because they were having anal.

Let's see when Machiya and Hanae had their “sex”

Rascal Interrupts them when they are about to have sex
→
Rascal aims for Hanae rather than Machiya
→
Hanae told Machiya how she lost her virginity
→
Hanae is not a virgin, while Machiya is

Mashiro a virgin and Saki a non virgin entered the room
→
Mashiro attacks Rascal which forces the Rascal to leave rather than killing Hanae or Saki since they fought back rather than fear him

Now with Ishizaki death
Rascal kills Ishizaki once he lost his virginity
→
Rascal takes the little girl, but didn't do anything to her
→
Saki and Hanae was about to fight back (Two non virgins)
→
Rascal decided to leave since they fought back and didn't fear him
→
This had similarities to Hanae and Machiya's “sex” since the Rascal didn’t bother killing them once they fought back

Now Agari death
Lost her virginity to Ishizaki
→
Later on while on the back of Hanae she got killed

Let's take steps to validate, Machiya's reasoning in believing Eguchi and Zaitsu are non virgins

Their actions towards Saki and trying to hit on her
→
Wanting to touch Saki breasts and get a feel for them. As well as threatening to rape
→
When Saki says that I'm his boyfriend Eguchi and Zaitsu both pressure machiya into trying to let him share Saki with them
→
All of these could have made Machiya believe both of them were non virgins, since they were so obsessed with sex

the death of Noumi and Jouens' reveal

Jouen realizes the possibility of Noumi not being a virgin based on the video of eguchi and her having sex which would mean "taking" her virginity
→
Machiya Notices how Noumi kept on claiming that she's yet to lose her virginity even after that whole video came out
→
Jouen starts threatening her which ultimately resulted in Noumi "confessing" Which Machiya doesn't really believe in
→
During their sex video Noumi was able to survive the Rascals attacks because throughout her whole life all she's been having is anal, meaning she still kept her word true to Jouen

-Then when asked about the multiple Rascals and if they were also a part of the typical horror flicks, Machiya denied it saying that that's one of the reasons the story became convoluted. The rascal wasn't supposed to get caught during that time that they(Machiya and his friends) caught him, instead two people messed up the Rascals plans.

-Those two people were jouen and Mashiro.
First with Jouen and how he used the rascals costume in order to cover up Noumi after he gave her the stitches, although once nomi regained conscious she walked around to then later on get killed by Akari,
Machiya's reasoning for this was the fact that they didn't pay much attention to the way Nomi could've gotten there.

Everyone except for Agari was downstairs

→
The possibility of Noumi walking wasn't put to questioning, instead they went for more of a who framed Noumi back when she died
→
Agari was a possibility, however she and the rascal had been seen in the same place a couple of times
→
Jouen claiming Noumi was a slut and therefore stitching up Noumi

-Although Noumi did have stitches between her thighs and legs, those could possibly snap once standing up. She could also be numb to the pain

Then Mashiro she was also someone who wore the costume, this can be proven by the many of different traits each one had Mashiro costume and the rascals

- Tail and no Tail.
- Blood marks and no Blood marks
- And different weapon choices

In the end both Jouen and Mashiro fucked around with the Rascals suit, which threw off the real Rascal

Machiya then managed to place the Rascal and Mashiro in their exact position based on his observations about their differences

Mashiro attacked Hanae in order to get revenge for sleeping with Machiya
→
At that time Mashiro got into a scrap with ishizaki forcing her to make an exit to outside the house, making her current location being outside
→
also meaning the person they met outside could’ve been Mashiro

Then the events that went on outside was the fact that the one who “attacked” Zaitsu was Mashiro meaning the Rascal could’ve been somewhere else
→
-Machiya called out the fact that Ishizaki was never aware of the Rascal even though he had security measures for it
→
The Rascal could've been near the house or inside the house, therefore the security alarms won't go off
→
After first killing Ishizaki, the Rascal goes outside to then kill Zaitsu ordering their deaths to Ishizaki first then Zaitsu (Let's keep in mind that Zaitsu was already properly shocked by Mashiro. He'd then think that he's fine just for the true Rascal to find him and finish him off)

Machiya revealed the fact that he believed Mashiro didn't actually kill Zaitsu his reasoning for this goes back to the time that they ventured into the forest in order to record some footage

-Machiya while outside encounters the Rascal who's actually just Mashiro in a disguise,

Machiya saw how the first thing Mashiro did was grab the phone of Zaitsu
→
The forest was extremely dark and Machiya and the rest had to use the lights on their camera/phone to navigate
→
Mashiro has troubles with navigating and lacks vision of her surroundings
→
Mashiro then finds a sudden light, she walks over to it in attempt to figure out where the source is coming from
→
Machiya Notices how Mashiro didn't attack Zaitsu, that was till Zaitsu decided to hit her first
→
Zaitsu's dead body was only found in the morning easily allowing the possibility of the true Rascal to come over earlier with clear vision and killing Zaitsu
(These Deductions were all made during his final Deduction rather than the current time he experienced it)

-Finally after making everything clear the only thing left was going by the book that was Knox 10 commandments of Deduction.
(In this part it would go through the main steps as some are “No supernatural agencies” which can easily be cleared) (One last thing is that some of the steps would be placed under “Rascal had it under control” and “Rascal didn’t account for” this would give better validity towards Machiya first theory of the Rascal approach being horror and the game being thriller.)

Rule N.1: The criminal must be mentioned early in the story, but we must not be allowed to follow their thoughts
→
NishiJima being introduced at the start, plus died at the start hence we barely got to hear any of his thoughts outside the beginning
→
Rule N.3, 4: No more than 1 secret room and No poison must be allowed
→
Rascal was in control of that by only allowing the current room where the little girl was hiding to be counted as a secret room
→
No poison was made sure by the Rascals as he made sure that he kept his killing to only be by weapon
→

Rule N.6: No accidents must help the Detective out
→
The rule was broken here due to the fact that Jouen and Mashiro messed around with the Hidden Rascal costumes
→
This ended up falling into something the Rascal wasn't expecting, so this rule falls under the “Wasn't in the Rascal Control”
→
With that Rule and his connection with the sceneries and Rascal movement, it gives Machiya more than enough evidence to insure that the Rascal is a solo man who wasn't getting help from the creators of the game in short the Rascal wasn't following what the story set in place(Thriller) and instead followed his own criteria(Horror) that ended up being broken due to something he didn't account for
→
Rule N.10: The existence of Twin brothers
→
this one is simple as NishiJima mentioned a twin brother that he had during the beginning of the arc, also the fact that Machiya noticed a mole on NishiJima when he was alive, but none on NishiJima's decapitated head

https://www.writingclasses.com/toolbox/tips-masters/ronald-knox-10-commandments-of-detective-fiction

---

-At the end NishiJima said that he wants to end this horror film what he meant by that nobody knew except Machiya, Machiya knew what he meant that being a survival girl basically using the girl as a captive making him have leverage over them
(Deductive, CPI, EIU, EIP, Observation, VSI, VCI, Abstract Thnk, Crystallized Intel, Inductive, Abductive, Foresight)

•Machiya was told the number of money they gained from there Machiya knew something was up, something with the number of participants if nishijima had a twin then that means 14 people in total even though there was supposed to be 13 only meaning someone was already in that island before the game, Machiya then realized that the Rascal doesn't have to be someone in the costume. Machiya then said that there is a possibility that the girl is still alive since in some horror movies the killer doesn't die
(Abstract Thnk, Deductive)

"15 Seconds Arc"

•Machiya after hearing Kana's teachers name knew exactly what was going on Machiya knew George(kana teacher) put something on the cake he ate in order to make him sleep for three days straight giving it enough time for his father to get killed Machiya also remembered the time both George and him first met and how George told him that he couldn't wait for his next masterpiece Machiya then came to the conclusion that the one that planned all of this was none other than George (Abductive, Abstract Thnk)

"Machiya's Sister ends up getting raped and killed, this will give boost to Machiya's EQE later on in this doc"

•Machiya knows that whatever happens at least if he has the camera in his hands then he can't get killed that's why he puts himself in the middle of Mashiro and the crazy lady's way

•Machiya was given the option for a transaction the lady gets Mashiro while he gets all the hostages although Machiya immediately declined that offer since he already knows the type of person that lady is she isn't the type to let go of her own enjoyment
For Machiya's plan to kill this lady was by using a door as their shield by doing so even though the lady had a gun she couldn't risk shooting without knowing who was the one standing in front of the door.
This connects to Machiya's profile of the lady as she wouldn't risk putting herself in danger by not following the rules and possibly killing the person she wasn't meant to (Machiya).
With this they then managed to give courage to the hostages and make them fight back since the lady did say she hasn't failed to kill a single person this meant it was either wait there and die or fight dying they choose the latter giving enough time for them to close the gap and surprise the lady.
(Perception/Cold read, EIP, EIU, EIF, Strategy, Abstract Thnk, Foresight, Abductive)

Note: To clear up some common misconception as Machiya has gotten attacked by someone even though he has this whole "Invincibility" when having a camera, this wouldn't be the case here though as Machiya's Cold read on her would signify that she'd rather ruin other people's fun rather than her own meaning that by shooting the wrong person (aka Machiya) She'd ultimately receive severe punishments quite possibly death

Machiya found George's place through simple Deduction
George made a public broadcast during his entrance of Machiya as well as stating the rules and a bunch of other stuff
→
During the introduction of George it was shown as someone who has an interest in Machiya, due to this he's likely to stay put and watch the genius that Machiya can show

Once catching up to Goerge Machiya decided it'll be best to give him a test of his own medicine by doing something similar to the watermelon video and make it his own thing by riling up everyone that has been affected by George and make them help Machiya film his video
(Abductive, EIU, Planning)

"Justice man arc"

Machiya figured out how premium member is Deadtubes management pivot and how it could be connected to the VIP
(Abstract Thnk)

Machiya predicted that their next target would be the Manager since he's the one that managed to get into first place
(Prediction)

•Machiya understood why people watched the manager's videos. The reason for that was because people didn't necessarily care about the facts. Instead, what they wanted was something they could easily accept. What the diligent manager is doing is giving the stories and beliefs the people want.
What the viewer wants is someone that can fulfill those desires those people weren't considered to be in a white or black are, but instead a gray area
(Perception, EIU, VCI, Inductive, Observation, Social Awareness, EIP)

•in order to check if the manager was truly justice or just a man with another hidden face.
Before that Machiya revealed the way they can defeat Justice man that way was by using his weakness, his weakness is being too focused on being the number 1 hero
(this wasn't true Machiya made that up in order to keep his friends out of it).
he(Machiya) made Saki use her body in order to check if the manager was justice by offering her money something that Saki would do anything for,
after they meet they realized that the manager was truly a nice guy since he didn't succumb to his desires, even so in order to get rid of the person in first place Machiya decided it would be best to edit the video to make it seem like Saki was the one getting raped.
(During that seen we could also see Machiya editing a video about Justice man and her sister when they were younger(this would make more sense later on))
(Planning, Leadership, Logical Manip, Indirect Manip, Misdirection, EIM)

Machiya also after the death of His sister started to have this whole “I'll do anything to win” Phase due to not being able to save his sister

Saki refused the proposal of throwing shade toward someone that felt genuine even after Machiya offered her money, due to her refusal Machiya made the conclusion that Saki has fallen for the Manager

Machiya decided to not make the edit, though that wouldn't bother him as he knew that someone else would be doing the same as him, that someone being justiceman sister
(Abstract Thnk, EIP, EIU, EIE, EIR, Inductive, Prediction)

Ultimately Machiya's Prediction came true the only thing he didn't expect was how badly Saki would end up, Machiya after seeing all of this play out decided to keep his anger into play by making everyone involved with the video to die, including the viewers who were laughing
Machiya first started off by killing those viewers in order to paint themselves further into being villains, at the end their primary goal wasn't to just kill these people, but to also lure out justice man into fighting them
Calling out the fans and how they could be endangered ultimately let them to all freak out wishing that Justice would bring them down.
Machiya also had Mashiro declare that she's justiceman enemy and saying how she isn't justice
This got justice man to immediately have to accept the battle as delaying it any further could cause a problem with his fans and their thoughts on justice man
Machiya then most likely had Mashiro rile up justice man to further push him to accept the fight, by having Mashiro use her methods in order to humiliate justice man in front of his audience
Last part of the preparation was to set up a date for the battle of Mashiro and Justice man, but as well as luring over the people who laughed at the manager by setting up a trap for the fans
The deal was simple Mashiro claimed that she wouldn't be recording the battle between the two, leaving the fans with the chance to be unable to watch the fight unless they decide to visit the battle directly and for themselves to record the battle
The battle itself has been long awaited as the viewers also agree with that fact. This would open up the opportunity for the viewers to earn big amounts of cash, from this over 2,000 people ended up showing up to the area
This trap was able to work not only for the plan Machiya set up for them, but also the fact that Machiya knew how the reactions of the fans would end up being, by claiming that he wouldn't record giving the opportunity to what he believed would be a perfect deal for the fans
(Planning, EIU, EIF, EIM, EIE, EIP
Setting up traps, Indirect Manip,
Emotional Manip, Misdirection, Perception/Coldread, Abstract Thnk, Foresight, Abductive)

Once everyone showed up to the area Mashiro lured the people in by claiming how the person with the greatest view will ultimately get the most views, this brought in everyone who was waiting outside.
At the start of the fight Mashiro was on the losing end, even so that was also a part of the plan as Mashiro is always trying better when Machiya is there recording, so it is possible that Machiya wasn't recording at that time on purpose.
Once this was set Machiya decided to reveal a little game of his for the people who were recording, the game was a betting game, if they betted on the correct winner then they survive and get their money for their views of the fight, and if they lose then they'd die. At the end everyone voted for JM that was what Machiya expected as he later revealed JM background

Machiya revealed that he has done a background check on JM old village to which he made a video about the original rumors/how people believe the story went, the story main premise was how the villages shrine was burnt and how a shady dude ended up being accused of such thing, at the end the shady dude died and people were glad saying stuff like how justice was served

Mashiro later brought up the fact that JM has a burnt Scar, one that forced him to wear a mask constantly, they questioned whether that was really for the fact that he punished “evil” just this was enough to rise speculation and have people making their own conclusions.

Note: People believe that what they said was mainly just a regular saying of “what ifs” even so that isn't the case for 1 reason and that's the fact that the people were the one to make their own conclusions,

Machiya's theory of people come to play at that part as when he speculated the manager's videos he managed to figure out a “gray” area when it comes to people which is that the people on the gray area will only accept things that are easy and simple to understand

The following was Ten(JM sister) being pushed into a corner where she had to declare that the news are fake to which Saki and Macchon come into play as they both are the proof to Ten's misleading methods.

The way that Saki gave proof was by expressing herself and the things she went through due to Ten's actions as well as revealing a bit about her old self, which falls into another reason as to why Machiya decided to bring Saki along even though he's stated how he didn't want to get any of his friends involved

JM after that reveal wasn't able to fully recover till it was too late as people began losing fate and ultimately hitting Ten in order to switch sides

Lastly was the reveal of Justice and the understanding of how people only truly believe in justice when it's convenient towards them, another thing Machiya noticed during his analysis on the manager's video “People only accept things they want to hear” people began switching sides once given the chance to without the need of hitting Ten by doing so people began labeling JM as somewhat “evil” at the end as it was convenient for them.

Mashiro also managed to get JM to regret his decision on killing someone who had a conscious and actually believed in Justice, that person being the Manager

Machiya managed to predict everyone's movements and thinking process based on the people's view and opinions on things, at the end Mashiro forfeited which ultimately resulted with the people's life on the line

Machiya set bombs under the arena with a 3 minute timer, the only way to pass such a thing was to have 10 sacrifices to which nobody came to a conclusion. they also began begging JM to help out as yet again it was a beneficial opportunity for them, at the end though all the viewers died

(Planning, Info Gathering/control,
Misdirection, EIU, VCI, EIM, EIF, EIP, Gaslighting, Indirect Manip, Emotional Manip, LogicalManip, Perception, Foresight, Abductive)

Once everyone died Machiya noticed how JM saved his sister while others believed that he protected her because he believed in her. Machiya believed that he protected her in order to figure out something for himself, that something was whether everything was a lie or not (Perception, Abstract Thnk)

Machiya noticed how the village that they've visited lacked children, hence why he made the connection/Prediction that during Ten's youth they barely had any kids their age to play with
That's till a Yakuza from a completely different place decided to come into the village, giving a whole new change to Ten's boring life
With the peoples isolation toward the Yakuza it would give Ten the perfect opportunity to get to know him better, as well as gain overall knowledge and experience on things that she's yet to know
The knowledge that she lacked were those of adult play, though slowly she began to experience adult play as at a very young age both Ten and the Yakuza had a relationship of a man and a woman.
Machiya made this connection due to the already weird relationship that she had with JM a relationship of a man and a woman(Mostly just sex) even though those two were brother and sister.
Stating that the reason for the Yakuza departure from Ten was due to her curiosity as she was in a secluded village she lacked knowledge of other specific things.
Due to this the man left which caused Ten to feel betrayed and make her have a reaction that would result with Planning the Yakuza death.
Through setting fire to the building and having JM be in there as he'd have asked him to go there to help out with cleaning duties.
After giving JM burn scars on purpose, she offered him to wear the mask constantly,
Even though JM was having Suicidal thoughts the mask gave JM a whole new purpose to continue living.
His purpose was to serve Justice and to what he believed was a righteous act.
Because of this it resulted in JM trusting Ten this would ultimately make Ten have one of the strongest pawns.
As for Ten's final words, Machiya states how he thinks that JM was nothing more than just a pawn for her and how for normal people that pawns face would be revolting, making her brother wear a mask for all this time, but when he finally showed his face Ten changed and was disgusted by his face.
With this story it managed to get Saki to somewhat sympathize with JM even though she said how she absolutely despised him
Mashiro then reveals how the story was made up based on speculations, because none of the villagers wanted to talk with them.

- A big connecting the relationship between Ten and JM was JM and his sense of Justice, which is why it's possible for Ten to think up a plan to kill the Yakuza that “betrayed” her and also make JM a pawn by making him feel a sense of Justice

(Observation, EIU, Inductive, Abductive, VCI, WMI, VSI, Foresight, Crystalized Intel, Abstract Thnk, Perception, Info Gathering, Planning)

“Reality Show Games”

Context: After JM arc, Deadtube shut down and was nowhere to be seen, that was till a Virtual Deadtuber appeared on Machiya's phone. DT made its return with a Mock character by the name of Yomiko Machiya spoke up questioning the virtual deadtuber, to which Yomiko responded.

This ultimately leads Machiya to believe it's a live video

During a live stream of the first reality game, Machiya manages to empathize with Manabu(The guy that was used for the game) Machiya's first interaction with DT was similar to Manabu's
Machiya went back to his first time experiencing DT, during that time Machiya felt hopeless and didn't care about anything, that was all till something he didn't knew he desired came up, the overwhelming violence that came in the form of Mashiro
-Machiya experiencing the betrayal of his friends(figuring out Sanagi was deceiving him) → Manabu's childhood friends betrayal

-Machiya's after thoughts (Hopeless and Suicidal)
→
Manabu's actions before PLHG

-Machiya's sudden desire for violence
→
Manabu's actions for shooting up the school
(Inductive, Deductive, EIU, EIP, Crystallized Intel, Observation, Abstract Thnk, EIR)

Machiya later on gives his reasoning as to why he believes the PLHG (Playing Last Hope Game) will do well when it comes to bringing in people.
Machiya states how 20 thousand people commit suicide, with these 20 thousands they will be a side that chooses to escape and commit suicide or the other side which is despair and fights back.
Only thing is the fact that Machiya questions the first tactic as the way the new deatube is set up to be, it's likely it won't allow for the first option.
(EIU, EIP, Abductive, Social Awareness, Abstract Thnk, Fluid Intel)

The PLHG next target was Ishida, after hearing his story it was the audience goal to predict Ishida's target

1. His bullies during his Highschool days
2. The people who left him during his uni days
3. His convenient store manager that tried to preach
4. The publication magazine that rejected his work
5. Someone else

The second the answer choices were revealed, Machiya already knew who Ishida next target was going to be

After being questioned about what Yomiko's goal was, Machiya realized how all the videos could be related to him

1. First video showed Machiya's terrible school experience
2. Second video showed the stupidness and foolishness that Machiya once felt

Machiya then makes the connection to how Yomiko must be someone he knows, someone who understands him well.

Machiya managed to figure out Ishida's next target through a logical prosses as well as through managing to empathize with Ishida
Out of the 5 choices Machiya chose the 5th one and picked the guy that banned his account.
Machiya picked the guy that banned Ishida accounts because before getting ready to kill the guy who banned his account, he posted something on the message board it had something about Ishida getting ready to kill someone.
Although nobody thought he'd actually do it, and because of that reason he had no other option but to prove them wrong.
Machiya also realized how Ishida was never really loved in the community that he himself loves, he wanted the community that he loved to finally pay attention and acknowledge him.
At the end Ishida's actions and Machiya's feelings on the matter end up being the same
The man's reasons for justice just so happen to pain others like himself(Machiya) and Ishida, and how being overpowered can sometimes be a burden to some

Ishida's account deletion, Ishida's last hope was slammed right in front of him which would ultimately push him to killing himself, although once PLHG came into play it gave Ishida one last chance to kill the person that pushed him into having thoughts of killing himself
(Perception, EIU, EIE, Abductive, Foresight, CPI, Deductive, Abstract Thnk, Crystallized Intel)

After hearing the weaknesses of the people that are chasing Hanae, Machiya realized that most of their weaknesses connect them to those of zombies those weaknesses are as followed.

- The zombies have bad eyesight
- mainly rely on noise

Machiya during this time managed to pick up on some things,

1. The camera angles all seemed to follow Hanae perfectly and they also switch angles a couple of times.
2. The cold was getting to Hanae as it made it a struggle for her to keep her noise down

(Observation, Deductive)

Once Mahito came in as supposedly the new Machiya/CameraMan, Machiya made the connection to how with his prior experience when it came to scenarios similar to the ones

Mahito in he'd always be okay because the cameraman was always supposed to be nonexistent object.
Machiya has also further realized Yomiko's weirdly obsessive behavior towards him and their well knowledge regarding him(Machiya)
Machiya was able to figure out the fact that Mahito wasn't Yomiko as even though he is oddly obsessed with him, when Mahito was present, Yomiko was talking.
Reminder on the fact that Yomiko is basically a VTuber meaning that the devices have to recognize her movements ect so recording something doesn't work
Machiya also understood the possible consequences that could come from revealing info to Mahito, that outcome was

- Mahito understanding the rules of the zombies could result to betrayal by making as much noise as possible in order to get Hanae caught

Machiya also understands the current situation that they are in, Yomiko constantly claiming how everything means something, ultimately having Machiya in a state where he has to worry in falling into one of Yomiko's traps like deciding to follow Yomiko's tips by leading Hanae over to check the third floor bathrooms due to lack of info that he had.
Machiya makes connections to how this game is feeling more and more like a zombie game due to the hidden guns and other stuff they could possibly find, this ultimately makes Machiya feel the need to have Hanae keep searching.
This then leads to Hanae having to shoot down a zombie as well having her take action in shutting the zombie up before it begins bringing in attention, Hanae ended up meeting up with some other participants to which they've seemed to have caught a zombie that has told them that their end goal is just to catch Hanae. Putting Hanae in a bad position he(Machiya) tells Hanae to make up a fake name to which Hanae's weird pause brings suspicion leading the people to ask Mahito, someone who's heard Hanae's name during the time that she screamed for the zombies to come in get her, Machiya Notices how all of this is going the exact way that his sister died. Luckily for Machiya, Mahito decided to take the hit for her, claiming how he was Hanae
Machiya realized how this could turn bad as Mahito's attempt could turn up to all be in vain as Machiya noticed how Hanae's kind nature and her seeing all of the stuff that they are doing to Mahito would ultimately result in Hanae giving herself up.
Machiya makes connections to both the personality of Hanae and the one of his sister, viewing them as one of the same
For his sister's fate was the fact that her kindness and her wanting to protect her friends resulted in her being betrayed as for Hanae it was something that could happen If Hanae begins to feel sympathy for the things that are happening to Mahito, which is why Machiya revealed in depth what happened to her sister so in that way she could change Hanae's view
At the end Hanae showed how Machiya shouldn't connect her to his sister and ends up picking up courage to fight back and having those people side with her(I wouldn't count this as an anti feat as Machiya had well enough reason to make a connection between the two and Hanae's sudden reveal doesn't connect her to her past and instead falls more into sudden courage)
(Inductive, Crystallized Intel, EIU, WMI, Observation, Deductive, Leadership Skills, Abstract Thnk)

Machiya by this point begins to put points together

- One of his points was the way to beat the game would be to follow everything Yomiko set up
- Machiya also connected some of his observations, with the first one being the scenery of the place, the scenery being Kana school(Machiya sis)
- Yomiko wants me to be reliving all of my deadtube experiences
- Another of his observations relied on the certain thought process which Yomiko has, one that puts him to being similar to Machiya, also throughout this whole arc Yomiko has been connecting stuff to his past without a problem because they themselves are aware of Machiya's past, also their weird obsession to Machiya

The zombies ultimately ended up catching Hanae's new friends during this time Machiya noticed the weird behaviors with the Zombies

- The zombies weird form of talking
- The fact that the zombies weren't affected by the cold
  →
  The possibility that the zombies were given some type of drug that made them lose their sense of pain and cold

Machiya also noticed how them getting friends backfired resulting in them falling into Yomiko's trap yet again

During the appearance of JM and Rascal Machiya noticed a weird pause with Yomiko At first he believed that it could be that she was surprised by JM and Rascals entry, though Machiya understands Yomiko and knows that her reaction would end up being them laughing rather than that weird pause

Machiya now believes that something else must have happened during that time, something that surprised Yomiko

Here's where Machiya's Strategy comes into play, as while leading Hanae to safety Machiya was also telling Mashiro things to do, one of those things was to investigate his house as even though he wasn't sure he had to make sure it wasn't that specific person

Machiya began pushing for answers after Yomiko's weird pause, to which Yomiko slipped up just by saying the letter ‘I’ as throughout this whole time Yomiko has used the letter I in a feminine way, but once Machiya started putting pressure, Yomiko felt anxious and slipped up by saying the letter I in a more masculine way, telling Machiya that Yomiko is a guy

Machiya then begins to reveal everything he's been getting from in this game, he does this in order to show the fact that he has an understanding of Yomiko's plans, that way whenever he plays his fake deductions it would make it more believable

Machiya's fake inductions go based on his prior experience with George.

The place that Yomiko wants Machiya to relive in this game is Kana's school also known as the place she died

→

George was the mastermind of that game

→

George's location from where he watched it was the broadcasting room

→

Yomiko is in the broadcasting room
After revealing that information, Machiya paid close attention to Yomiko's response to which Machiya claims that he's right, not about his deductions but rather the fact that Yomiko isn't actually there
By diverting Yomiko's attention towards the school Machiya was able to sneak up to him and catch without Yomiko getting suspicious
Machiya called back to the 15 second video where his father was supposedly killed, he realized how the video suddenly ended right after he 'died' Machiya noticed how Kana never really saw her dead fathers body and was instead just deceived by the the Fabricated video as well as George
Yomiko's wierd pause had also overlapped with the time that Machiya asked Mashiro to go investigate the house, meaning Yomiko stopped talking due to the surprise that he got from Mashiro entering (Abstract Thnk, EIU, Cold Reading, Metacognition, Strategy, Inductive, Deductive, VSI, VCI, WMI, Misdirection, Fabrication, Bluffing, Observation)

Machiya claimed how he buyed enough time for them to escape based on the fact that he understands the people that he films, as Machiya saw the type of treaty both JM and Rascal had when they fought, a type of respect they had for eachother, so by Rascals love towards Hanae it would only be a matter of time before Rascal attempts to save Hanae and JM would help out because of their bonding
Machiya announced a game he wanted to play with his father, as a way to test if he truly did know his subjects, a game where he'd guess which way he was going to die. At the end the father chose that he'd die the same way Kana dies, Machiya tells his father that the Prediction was wrong. Machiya also managed to get a hold of his emotions as after hearing how everything his father's done was connected, he still didn't decide to let it get to his head and have his father die the same way he planned the murder of Kana and instead approached it a different way.
Machiya reveals that the way he plans to kill his dad is by using his own game that he set up, getting all the zombies motivated by offering up the drugs that his father used
Machiya then understood exactly what his father wanted, all the dad wanted was his death to be filmed, and beat both of his two other friends that helped create dead tube
For that reason Machiya claimed to choose not to record the death of His father, he did this as a way to deliver him a worse possible death than the one he gave his sister
At the end though Machiya did record his father's death.
(Strategy, EIU, EIP, EIM, Abductive, Abstract Thnk, Emotional Manip, Misdirection, Bluffing)

Due to the many similarities and way of thinking that his father and him showed during the PLHG, Machiya has come to understand that in the near future he could get a sudden urge to do the exact same things his father has done, and states how he wants to kill himself for that future not to happen
(EIU, Inductive, Abductive, EIE, EIR)

“DT Neo”

After the fall off DT Machiya claims to officially retire from filming anymore videos, that's till a sudden new version of DT comes into play with also some of the new years coming in one of them end up being Mahito the man from VT DTber and the man that wants Machiya to keep recording

Characters:
Mahito: A follower of Machiya's and has come to be inspired by Machiya
Eno: Main protagonist and is in love with Mahito
Moe: “Best friends” with Eno
Kochimoto: “In love” with Eno and broke up with Bachika for Eno
Bachika: Kochimoto ex and the person that was shown to be involved in dead tube

Machiya made his introduction into DT Neo quite late due to him being in a Coma, during this time he is introduced to Eno,
He noticed through her expression that she still had yet to figure out who the culprit of this whole thing is since the culprit tricked Eno by acting as if they are Machiya in order to get her into deadtube.
(EIP, Abductive, Observation, ColdRead)

Mashiro managed to knock down all of the evangelists that were there at the time, Machiya knows how the best way to gather info about this whole thing would be to ask some of the people that Mashiro managed to knock down

While talking to one of the people, Machiya managed to get some information as to how the culprit looks like

1. It had similar uniform to the ones of the girls meaning it's a student from Kyoutaku academy

Machiya then asked if it was male of female to which the lady responded with “Male probably”
Machiya catches onto the way the lady said it and questions her as to why she said “Probably”

2. The ladies reason for believing is male is due to the uniform were in form of male as well as their voice sounded like one of male

The second the lady said male was also the time that Eno expression changed, Machiya noticed how Eno expression got clouded the second the lady mentioned the culprit being male. Machiya wanted to know why this happened, but due to Eno's stuttering and hesitation, Machiya noticed how Eno is most likely suspicious of him since it's their first time meeting and all. Which is why at the end Machiya suggests that they meet up.
(Abductive, Info Gathering, EIP, ColdRead, Observation)

When introduced to Eno, Machiya reveals how he understands how it feels like to be in the spot she's in, not knowing who to trust and always being wary, he felt the same things and lost a lot of precious things because of that situation. Machiya reassures Eno that her situation is still not at that point, he also tells Eno how he'll help her in order for her to not end up in the same situation he was in Machiya mentioned how Eno wouldn't have to make that video since they've already captured Mashiro attacking all those evangelists, Eno then says how it won't work since it didn't come from her phone, therefore she cannot upload it. Machiya then says how it's probably a lie since if that rule was true then it would pose a contradiction.

Contradiction N1 is during yesterday's event Eno was going to record with a handheld camera rather than her own phone
→
Contradiction N2 would be Bachika and the fact that she uploaded Eno and her having sex even though she wasn't the one recording

From this Machiya picked up on 3 things
1. You can film from any device

2. The video you upload doesn't have to be from you're phone

3. The culprit, only going by what Eno said the 2 most suspicious would be Bachika and Kochimoto

Bachika is suspicious for the phone call that Eno overheard
→
Kochimoto is suspicious for always showing up and the right time
→
Also for having a camera ready when the two of them were about to have sex
→
as well as for his actions that were all just an act in order to make him look good
→
And lastly according to Saki his acting was suspicious
→
Adding what the one happy evangelists said about the culprit being male
→
would mean that the culprit is none other than Kochimoto

Eno later revealed how she didn't reveal some info to Machiya, Machiya questions Eno as to why she chose to keep it hidden. To which Hanae claims that it's because Eno is in love with Mahito, Machiya still somewhat lost as to why she'd keep it hidden for someone she loves (EIU)
(EIU, EIE, EIR, Inductive, Deductive, Crystallized Intel, WMI, Abstract Thnk)

With the new info on Mahito and Bachika meeting up, he believed the prime suspect would now be Mahito, even so Machiya did believe that what she seen was too good to be true

Machiya along side everyone else noticed how similar the events that happened are with the events that ate said under the deadtube Neo script that Mahito wrote
(Intuition, Inductive, Abstract Thnk, Deductive)

Stated by Mashiro, Machiya after experiencing everything with DT he developed a sense when it comes to danger
Machiya had a feeling that someone was bound to come to his room, which is why the second he let everyone leave he asked for a transfer.

The man ultimately killed himself which left Machiya quite surprised as he knew Mahito had an obsession with him and the person who came to visit him was wanting him to join back to deadtube

Machiya noticed a change in the guys voice, toward the end when he killed himself his tone of voice changed, and the fact that the guy told him to save his sister at the end
Machiya showed the face of the person who died, it was a person's head that nobody recognized except for Eno as her sudden change in expression would suggest that Eno knew something
When Eno revealed that the person in that video was Moe's brother Machiya figured out that when he said to save his sister he referred to Moe who was currently being held hostage
This also meant that his last words were genuine him wanting his sister saved his change in voice all showed signs of him genuinely wanting his sister to get saved
Although by breaking his act it would result in Moe having to get raped
(Intuition, Intuitive Prediction, Inductive, Abductive, Cold Reading, EIP, Perception)

Even after raping Moe Machiya still determined that he wouldn't return to deadtube nas it would just follow the script perfectly, this lead to Eno freaking out as her friend was in desperate need of help. Machiya told Eno that he won't be returning, but something that can do is make Eno a better cameraman that he is that way Mahito the possible culprit will change his objectives and target Eno rather than himself. Eno originally wasn't sure about this idea due to lack of experience behind the camera, so to make things easier Machiya sent Mashiro to help her out.
Machiya also states how Mashiro will listen to any word she says
Now both Eno and Mashiro went on their way, both talking about the feeling of love and how 1 has a more normal affection(Eno) while the other is abnormal(Mashiro) while on their talk Bachika ends up running into them to which she makes Eno follow along in order to “stop” Mahito, to which Mashiro tags along and Bachika says how she doesn't mind as that was apart of the plan. In the end Bachika ends up trapping Eno and Mashiro in a warehouse and claims how she's here to kill Mashiro.(More info as to why I think this could be a Foresight feat will be shown later on)
Bachika ends up hitting Mashiro a couple of times, Mashiro though doesn't fight back and rather only defends herself. Her reason for doing so was due to Machiya's mention on how Mashiro will follow every word Eno says, and since she hasn't given Mashiro the ability to go all out, Mashiro will instead not fight back till given the order.

Another part of this was seeing Eno's reaction to all of this. Mashiro told Eno how recording a video about herself killing one of his friends is bound to make him happy as his friend was killed by her(Mashiro) at the end Eno gave Mashiro the permission to attack Bachika yet she didn't record the video.
At the end Machiya comes out to claim how it was all a test to see how exactly Eno would react when put in a position where she can make Mahito happy.
Machiya from what he saw can conclude that based on her reactions and the fact that she never recorded would lead him to believe in Eno
Machiya also managed to clear up another thing, that other thing was Mahito script. If Machiya joined at that time when Moe got raped then it would've followed the script perfectly, though Machiya didn't and because of that he managed to predict the other possible circumstances that the culprit could take after he(Machiya) decided not to cooperate and join Deadtube this is also around the time that Machiya figured out how the protagonist would have constant surveillance 24/7 since she's the protagonist.
(Strategy, Planning, EIP, Foresight, Abductive, VCI, Abstract Thnk)

Machiya during that same scene where he tested Eno announced how he plans on battling DT Neo by making them follow exactly what his script says.
In this same time we manage to see how DT Neo have constant surveillance on Eno and at moments Machiya and his friends when they just finished meeting up with Eno.
Machiya ends up warning Eno not to watch the video he's gonna make as he plans to use Bachika, but not in a way that Eno would enjoy.
Machiya ends up filming a similar video to the ones of DT Neo always filmed when someone wouldn't listen or follow the instructions provided. In the video Machiya has Mashiro beat up Bachika.
Mashiro is constantly pushing for Bachika to give her answers yet none were giving, Mashiro then says “you're not saying anything, in a way that's a reply I expected” Mashiro then after beating them up threatens the other people who work in DT to quit or else they'll receive the same fate.
This video was made for the purpose of giving DT Neo the perfect opportunity to strike back at him(Machiya) by having someone(Moe) trying to persuade Eno to help her out as Machiya is equally messed up as Mahito. Machiya also ordered Eno to watch the video(Discretely)that way they'd have a proper dysfunction in their group and be able to put up a reasonable act into Eno's betrayal on Machiya and his friends.
With this comes the act of the betrayal, Eno meets up with Machiya and his friends to which they all play a specific role, Eno plays the protagonist who always on the side of Justice hence her betrayal on Machiya, Machiya plays the one who doesn't sympathize as much as Eno and would do anything to get back at DT Neo, Mashiro was the body guard of Machiya and would be the one to threaten Eno into not giving Machiya such dirty eyes, Hanae didn't have much to do aside from the fact to always look a bit shaken when Machiya talked.
During their meeting they all pulled their acts rather well, even with constant surveillance watching them. This would be an act that will make the mastermind further believe that Eno has now betrayed Machiya

Here's how the mastermind took all of this information that Machiya deliberately given

“Now with a perfect cast set in place, I can now have Eno choose between monster(Mashiro) or Friend(Moe)”

“Machiya was exactly how the rumors said, he's a pervert, to think that he'd torture Bachika just like that”

“He got an insane amount of views, although with that they also lost a good chunk of Eno's trust”

“That must be his weaknesses, he's a natural at destroying things, but as a result he can't protect anything”

“That's why even though they've destroyed many people, they also couldn't protect what was most important”

One last act was displayed, As Eno in her room all alone begins to get emotional, during this she comes out with what her possible outcome “Its all for the person I love”

The Mastermind interprets this as a boost in their chances of succeeding and even though they didn't expect her to say that. The fact that she says it ups the odds
(Planning, Strategy, EIU, Misdirection, Foresight, Logical Manip, Indirect Manip, Perception)

With Everything set everyone began making their way to a theater to which the final event will happen, Eno is left with 2 choices, choice number 1 is to figure out who the happy evangelists is if guessed incorrectly the bombs under their chairs will explode. Option 2 is to stab Mashiro and not risk getting exploded.
With this Eno begins her questioning, she first goes for Kochimoto then she moves onto Bachika whom she(Eno) says how it might be worth attacking Moe steps in and tells her not to do it, Moe reveals how it isn't Bachika. Eno then moves onto Mahito.
Moe nods in agreement that it is Mahito, even so she knows how Eno can't attack the person she forever loved, so rather than going for Mahito Eno decides to stop Mashiro and choose option 2.
The act continued for a bit as Eno figured out that Mahito wasn't actually the one that wrote the script, after a while Machiya decided to reveal himself as the true happy evangelists.
Eno states how the ending of the DT Neo script involved Mashiro getting “killed” to which Machiya says that it doesn't bother him as he found the perfect replacement, that replacement was Mahito.
With having Mahito as the perfect replacement, Machiya acknowledges Mahito contributions to the script. Machiya also knows how much Mahito likes him so by giving him the opportunity to work along side him, just the 2 of them it'll be hard for him to refuse.

Machiya then begins to throw away everyone else as he deemed them to just be victims that lacked acting skills, to which Mahito took Machiya's word to heart as he agrees which results in the reveal of the true Evangelists.
After seeing the possibility of losing Mahito the true Evangelists decide to reveal themselves
Moe tries to persuade Mahito to not leave them to which Machiya and Eno both counter by saying how Moe should be happy that someone like them an innocent normal person can be set free.
Moe finally reveals herself, Kochimoto and Bachika as the true happy evangelists as the thing that drove her to exposing herself was the jealousy that she felt.
With that Mashiro finally reveals how they faked her death and began attacking each and every single one of them.
Eno also stated how the script went exactly how Machiya wrote it, meaning Machiya knew it was those 3
(Strategy, Planning, Leadership, Inductive, EIU, EIF, Logical Manip,Emotional Manip, Indirect Manip, Misdirection)

One thing to take note of is Eno feelings, Eno herself admitted to not being a good actor, nonetheless the reason her act was so good was because she wanted to believe that her friends were innocent, it's likely that Machiya Empathized with her and his feelings when both were betrayed by their friends. From there Machiya managed to figure out the lengths of Eno "Act" and how well she could pull it off.

To get a better understanding let's compare both events

Machiya Acting: Machiya's acting involved following Mashiro's plan, by doing so he wanted to see what would happen after following the plan. He states how he never wanted to suspect anyone, but worse case scenario he'd hoped that Sanagi was the one used/lied to Eno Acting: Eno followed Machiya's plan. She herself understood that she was a bad actor however what made her performance so great was the fact that Eno believed in everyone till the very end. She never wanted to suspect her friends.

(EIU, EIE, EIR, Crystallized Intel)

Since I couldn't find a good moment to input it I'll just put it here. Machiya's coverage during this feat

Let's say Mahito was the mastermind and Machiya got it wrong (a 1/4 chance) (Eno doesn't count)

It wouldn't change a thing due to the way his strategy was set
Machiya didn't know that Mahito wasn't the script writer even so that wouldn't matter as the two things Machiya did know we're crucial

1 Their love for Mahito
2 They are all working "for" Mahito

Mahito has truly admired Machiya so when Machiya begins to make moves on Mahito "the supposed mastermind" it wouldn't change a thing as that's what Mahito wanted, some appreciation from Machiya

The people who would mind however is the rest of his crew they'd ultimately reveal themselves as working for Mahito, as Mahito the person they worked for due to their love would now leave them just like that

His way around the problem made it basically guaranteed that it was going to succeed

Now let's see how Machiya could've possibly figured out which one was that happy evangelists.

During his first deductions of the mastermind. Eno left an important part out that involved Mahito her reasoning was her love toward Mahito 1/4

Next was Bachika who Mashiro said has also fallen in love with Mahito that is 2/4 in that group

Kochimoto was overall just the most suspect. He'd always be there at the right time and doing stuff for the sake of ppl
3/4 kinda

Lastly was Moe got into contact with Eno trying to persuade her that Machiya was a worse of a person than Mahito, and that she should instead leave Machiya's side and side with her.

Moe was overall the one to try and persuade Eno to betray Machiya

Machiya was informed about all 4 of these incidents

One last important thing to mention is the thing that the evangelists commonly said which was “I'm the happy evangelists someone who keeps on loving” at first this would point towards Mahito and Machiya, but after what I mentioned before its known that they'd have the same thought process just for Mahito the man that all of this revolved around

At the end the common conclusion was the involvement of Mahito (Except Kochimoto(kinda))

Machiya overall figured out the overwhelming things that pointed to Mahito (Abstract Thnk, Strategy, Planning, Logical Rsn, Info Gathering, Crystallized Intel, Observation)

Machiya had suspicion that Moe and everyone else weren't the true mastermind. He compared them to the lunatics that he's been up against and notices how much weaker Moe was when compared to them

Machiya knew 2 options

1. She was truly a lunatic like his father
2. She was getting pushed by a lunatic

Option 2 was the one Machiya concluded with as he grew further suspicion through how big of scale the whole event was. The deadtube Neo app is an app that would require a huge amount of influence, something Machiya doubted they had (Logical Rsn, Crystallized Intel, Abstract Thnk, Perception)

In the end he threatened Moe to reveal info about the true mastermind to which the true mastermind themselves decided to leave Machiya with 2 small hints

1. Someone who knows you very well
2. Someone who you are yet to meet

At the end Machiya heard from the mastermind the essence of deadtube “Once people stop demanding than deadtube will just vanish” Machiya knew how hard it will be to make such events happen.

Through the dialogue of the mastermind and by seeing Machiya recording we can safely conclude that Machiya himself also acknowledges the constant contradictions in the human behavior as well as understanding more and more about himself and his desire to destroy DT

After all of that the building ended up exploding with everyone being outside Mahiro ends up asking Machiya if he truly believes it's over to which Machiya responded with

“Who knows, people know some things are bad such as wars, violence and bullying. Yet in the end Noone can stop those things from happening”

Machiya also claims that he believes his purpose for living is to destroy DT even if constant new ones keep on coming out
(EIU, Abstract Thnk, Self Regulation, Inductive, VCI, Perception)

“DeadTube House”

A group of participants are all set on a game which there's 2 traitors, their goal is to hinder the people's tasks and by getting them killed they get a total of 100,000,000 yen. On the other side of things however we have Machiya who has to observe from a far and guess who he believes the traitor is, he has 2 options. Option 1 skip and suffer from an electric chair while Mahito gets raped. Option 2 say who you believe it is, although if guessed wrong Mahito would die

Contestants
Fukumoto/Shigeru: “Expert of the dt games” Hoshiyomi partner (Traitor)
Hoshiyomi: Seer role and the strategist of their whole plan. (Traitor)
Skeleton Husband/Wife
Saigou
Macchan/Kaoru: The one who solved the case and followed similar thinking process to Machiya's

With the death of Shigeru he ended up leaving Macchon with 3 important information

1. The traitors objective. Macchon managed to figure out the meaning of this info, her interpretation was that not only was the traitors goal to hinder tasks, but to also get everyone pumped up and begin to recklessly kill people, meaning people who want to get others voted out without hard proof will also be suspicious
2. The result of every vote should be checked in order to figure out who could be the traitor
3. Hint number 3 will be revealed further on

-> Kaoru told Hoshiyomi to use her Seer ability on Dokuru to prove it's validity.
-> The next day, Hoshiyomi claimed Dokuru is innocent, with the added proof being that Dokuru was killed by the traitor.
-> The fact that Dokuru died the same night makes Hoshiyomi's claim invalid, it doesn't prove her ability is real. Inadvertently, this only makes her suspicious due to the timing of the death and the decision to use the Seer ability on Dokuru.

-> Dokuru was killed with a gun.
-> The only person who owned a gun in the entire mansion was Shigeru.
-> Shigeru claimed he was meeting up with his cooperator the night he died. Because Shigeru ended up dying after this event, the cooperator killed him and currently has ownership of the gun.
-> Hoshiyomi claimed she was the "cooperator" of Shigeru, this is 100% true as only Kaoru and the cooperator themselves were aware of the cooperator's existence.

Conclusion: Hoshiyomi murdered Shigeru, and targeted Dokuru with the gun to "prove" her Seer ability works to Kaoru. She is the traitor.
(Abductive, WMI, Observation, Abstract Thnk, PSI, Fluid Intel)

A new task has been announced, this task revolved around everyone being anonymous by wearing a Rascal mask in order to cover their identity. With the task starting ruckus happened in the first couple of seconds which resulted in a brawl, at the end someone ended up dying. During that time one wasn't able to check who the person died as the task was yet to finish.

-Due to the whole brawl it resulted with one person dying
->Instigator A was the name of the person who started all the ruckus

->Instigator A must have wanted to start the ruckus on purpose in order to get someone killed
->Instigator A is a traitor
->Instigator A must have wanted to kill someone in specific using the anonymity
->Hoshiyomi, someone who can see who's traitor or not must have been the target
->If Hoshiyomi is still alive then that means she might be the traitor

(Understanding of the rule) Hoshiyomi can't be the traitor due to the participants rule
->One has to apply with 3 or more people
->After that one must kill 1 of their people in order to join
->Other teams were in pairs of 2
->One should think that the traitors are a set
->Those who've partners are already dead can't possibly be the traitor
->Conclusion: Hoshiyomi name is clear as Shigeru her partner has already died
This is the best way to interpret this as when you take into account how Machiya figured out the same thing Karou did during the exact same time that those events occurred It would be logical to assume he followed a similar process to Karou, this process only follows things that involved Hoshiyomi as in later Feats we'd see how Machiya can make connections to him having further understanding of this event.
(Logical Rsn, Perception, Fluid Intel, Abstract Thnk, Crystallized Intel)

Here's where Machiya slowly begins to get an understanding of what's going on while Kauro is following the conclusion that the traitors are Saigou and his partner due to the 3 pair rules. Their choice of votes when they tried to get rid of little Rascal and their physical strength when they attacked her, made Kauro believe that the traitors are them.

Machiya on the other hand claims Kauro is wrong and states how Saigou wasn't the one who attacked her. How come?

-Machiya said how Sagou isn't the traitor
->His conclusion could be that it was little Rascal
->Machiya has seen how little Rascal fights and how much she can handle when up against JM during virtual DT
->Machiya during the whole Ruckus understands the Rascal strength and therefore wouldn't label her as Rascal C like Kaoru did
->Machiya came up with different conclusions regarding the previous event
->When Kaoru was attacked it represented a strength similar to the one little Rascal can make
->Conclusion: Saigou isn't the one who attacked Kaoru and Machiya made different conclusions to the previous event in attempts to find out who is Instigator A
(Observation, Logical Rsn, Fluid Intel, Crystallized Intel, Abstract Thnk, Perception, ColdRead, Foresight)

Now with all that Kaoru and Lady Dokuro ended up going into their room, now for how Machiya's separate game works it'd be wierd to assume that he can hear Kaoru as she reveals her deductions to Dokuro. The safest option is that Machiya had to state who the traitor was without hearing any info Kauro provided to Lady Dokuro

With the way the events were leading towards it made it seem as one of the people from Kaoru side is the traitor, Machiya most likely followed Kaoru similar thinking process as they both take steps back in order to figure out who the traitors were

-What if Fukumoto was wrong? What if one of his hints were wrong?
->Why did the deductions revolved around Fukumoto hints in the first place?
->It was most likely because he died, which gave them reason to revolve their deductions on his hints as Kaoru said “It was like his dying wish”
->The goal of a traitor is to let people die, Fukumoto hints have left to many wrong conclusions which resulted in death
->This then leads to questioning if Fukumoto himself was a traitor
->This will then bring up the conclusion that Fukumoto was betrayed by his traitor partner
->Overall farfetched, but things like that constantly happened on the “crewmate” side where an innocent will kill an innocent
->This would be similar to the act of throwing someone under the bus
->Fukumoto hints were constantly used as Misdirection
->Because Fukumoto tricks were constantly used then his partner would also know about Fukumoto tricks
->Conclusion: Hoshiyomi murdered Fukumoto her partner

A problem was the fact that Hoshiyomi died along side Fukumoto
->A perspective that could make Hoshiyomi being the traitor valid, is if Hoshiyomi is Lady Dokuro in disguise
->Both Hoshiyomi and Lady Dokuro kept their faces hidden, giving Hoshiyomi the opportunity to hide as Dokuro
->Lastly would be Fukumoto's gun as it would be used to kill Mr Dokuro and Saigou partner
->Conclusion: Just like the first feat said, Hoshiyomi took the only gun that was in the whole place(Fukumoto's) and used it to kill people
(Logical Rsn, Perception, Abstract Thnk, Crystallized Intel, WMI, PSI, EIU, Foresight)

“DT Coin”

Here are some context In order to understand this gamemode

- 1 DTC (DT Coin currency) is worth 10,000 yen, one has to pay 1% of the DTC value In order to watch that video
- Each Video has a holder, the Holder is someone who's bought the rights to that video
- The Uploader doesn't keep the rights to the video

While hearing the functions of DT Coin, during the Holder part Machiya questions the function of the relationship between Holder and Uploader as the uploader doesn't keep the rights to their video

Akitsu then explains her understanding through her job experience. She goes on to tell two things

- People who take long term but low risk gambles
- People who take short term and high risk gambles

Person who uploads the video is Short term while the Holder is the Long term

Through what Akitsu has currently said, Machiya Notices how Akitsu believes the uploader is the short term/high risk doesn't make much sense when put in the fact that the deposits don't put much risk into the creators way.

After that Akitsu then explains the resale feature, which in short is selling a video for a higher amount. This means if the original video costed 10 DTC and they sold it for 20 a profit of 10, both creator and holder will get an even split

Machiya managed to figure out how the people who believe are playing it smart and making smart choices, at the end they could end up being the biggest sitting ducks and how thanks to all of that the app would spread quickly.

After hearing how the creator most likely left that part ^ on purpose then it's likely that after some time some big event will happen that would eventually have everyone who's used the app to suffer from it
(Abstract Thnk, Inductive Rsn, Perception)

Once everything was settled, Machiya wanted to know more about the Holder side of things and see what it's like. In order to start this Akitsu showed Machiya 3 available videos to which he has to pick 1 that he believes would do best (Videos have a sample and a main, Machiya just watched the samples and from there decides which one is best)

Here is his line of thought process

-> Video N2 is the worst pick
-> N2 is a vulgar video that shows a man licking public things for the sake of a video
-> A video like that would go viral, but it's bound to fall off in a short amount of time and people will move on
-> DTC is more about Potential, meaning something that will fall off is the worst pick

-> Video N1 is also going to go viral, but will fall off
-> N1 is only focused on 1 group
-> N1 is mainly for Male audience and doesn't branch out much

-> Creators constantly make short gambles
-> N3 doesn't give a desire to gamble on
-> N3 creator is a mangaka
-> A manga is a story that needs structure, good structure will result with good order of events and execution of climaxes. This would also mean the desire/ability to make the story as captivating as possible
-> In short the climax of the story goes farther than the sample they were given
-> The Mangaka also reminds the watcher to watch the sample before the watching the main one.
-> Meaning a build up was needed before introducing the main video
-> Conclusion: N3 is the best option and best video to invest in.

After watching the video it ended with a cliffhanger further confirming Machiya's reason to believe that she's treating her video as a serialized manga
(Logical Rsn, Abstract Thnk, EIU, Foresight, Fluid Intel, Perception, PSI)

With the increase of the Mangaka videos and Machiya's constant investment on new upcoming videos, it resulted with multiple ripoffs which are doing well. The question that was asked was how come the ripoffs also became popular?

- Machiya answers by saying how half of the people don't know how to do well investments
- The 2nd half are the ones selling crappy ripoffs to the 1st half of the people, the ripoffs make a sort of delusion that has people believing what they are buying is not trash but instead some sort of treasure.

(Abstract Thnk, EIU)

Throughout the growth of the Mangakas videos many people began to grow interested in wanting to buy such work, since episode 2 Machiya has been working with the Mangaka in order to build up the video to hit a certain point.
Before that however Machiya noticed how the videos were faked and how it would make for the perfect opportunity to participate in some way with these videos as it's obvious they aren't taking it much seriously. Machiya knew they were faking it because of the placement of the camera, during the conversation with the editor (Male mc) Machiya noticed how it was made to seem like it was hidden, but in reality it was placed in a way that the editor would see it straight away. With a camera in front of him like that in a professional environment it's unlikely that the video was real.
Machiya builded up the story and made it progress longer. During the buildup we had a romance build up between both the FMC and Male Mc. We also had a final episode called “Despair”
During Machiya's time when it came to working with the Mangaka he purposely made the videos “bad” by having constant angle changes when it was just 2 people, wounds healing out of nowhere, sex scene switching from the Mangaka to Saki, and the cheesy acting everyone put on

The cheesy acting came on the final episode “Despair” which was hyped up so much it had people ready to buy it, once the teaser came out people couldn't wait and bought it, however the main video was watched and people would become utterly disappointed with all the acting and the overall ending. In short they got clickbaited.
Machiya came up with this plan through a theory he heard a while ago which was called “Beauty Contest Theory” the theory was simple. First everyone would vote on who they thought was prettiest, which everyone ended up picking their preference. Next everyone was told that the first place winner of that contest would be given money to not only them, but everyone else too. People began ignoring their preference and instead voted for whom they believed is most likely to win.
This was exactly shown in DTC as people began to see the growth and value of the Mangakas videos they were all fooled and didn't pay much attention to the quality of the videos.
(Planning, VSI, Misdirection, Logical Manip, Indirect Manip, EIU, VCI, Abductive Rsn, creativity, Abstract Thnk, foresight)

In the end the DT Coin currency went down, to the point where it was worth 1000 times less then it did before. From this fall Machiya managed to find out the one last thing that was left out.

In the end Machiya knew that the info that was left out was about the person whom was managing the value of DTC and where the money came from.

Machiya knew how DTC was bound to get binned and thanks to his experience of DT and the help of Akitsu managed to figure out that the value of money is only guaranteed when you're willing to fight for it.
“in the end there is nothing more valuable than that which cost nothing”
(Abstract Thnk, Deductive, Crystallized, EIU, EIP, VCI)

Lastly Machiya knew that something else was coming up next, DTC was just the first part. Just in case Machiya made his first move

His first move involved targeting one of the people who were struggling with the debt that they were gonna hold thanks to the fall of DTC, he had Akitsu make negotiations.

Akitsu would lend the people some money, while in return she'd get their phones as a sort of collateral.

(Rest of the plan is unclear as Machiya is yet to reveal it, i have my guesses, but i won't write them down as its useless and prob wrong)

“DT D-Job”

DT D-Job is simple it starts with Shinobu in the need of 10 million yen for the sake of Kisara, during this time he decides to DTC which ends up making him loose all the money that he had gained. A sudden call came which gave Shinobu the perfect opportunity to get 10 million, he accepts the offer without letting Kisara know which now leads us to the location of D-Job

Once everyone gathered for the D-Job they were made to open 3 lockers

- Locker 1 contained weapons
- Locker 2 had everyone go back and check locker 1 for a key which inside n2 was money
- Locker 3 had the body of Minano Ai.

While everyone thinks that she's still alive. Machiya noticed how her whole body was covered in makeup and how her body is also completely stiff, this lead Machiya to believe that Ai was dead.
(Observation, Abductive, Abstract, ColdRead)

People believed that they still had two options
1 participate. 2 Leave.
However that was never the case as Machiya noticed some things

-> When choosing the option to leave its not like we'd all go on with our normal lives and act like nothing happened
-> Due to the fact that most won't be able to live with themselves after seeing such thing and would likely go and tell someone about it. It's likely that D-job employer wouldn't take the risk in letting everyone leave
-> Rather than getting erased something worse could happen, during the search for the key(on the second locker) everyone was made to search around and touch the weapons leaving their fingerprints on the weapons
-> and the fact that Machiya was recording the whole time yet didn't bother them probably because they themselves are recording too.
-> if we chose to leave all of the evidence would go against us, the footage and fingerprints will be used as evidence.
-> in conclusion if you chose to participate and destroy the evidence or leave they'd all be implicated anyways
(Abstract, EIU, Deductive, Perception)

D-Job has a simple introduction as many people are accumulated to clean up one of DT dead bodies. The dead body of Minano Ai. The second they all start to think of something to do is when the Dt master decides to announce the death of Ai to all of her fans. With this it has now started a cat and mouse chase.