I am from Russia and my friend planned most of the moments of the last 5-4 months of school.

In the 9th grade, after the new year, there was still time to study until the end of May and take exams. During all this time, he 1) Set up our classmate, which caused her mother to take her away and transfer her to another school 2) He manipulated the teacher and made it so that at the graduation dance there were couples who didn't like each other, which resulted in rehearsals being delayed and the ball being a failure 3) He planned and set up a guy who irritated him with his very appearance at school, without receiving punishment for this when the guy pointed at him in the Principal's office 4) He staged his capture in the toilet smoking in order to go to the head teacher's office and take back his 2 REAL e-cigarettes that had been taken away from him before and another one of his acquaintances at his request 5) According to him, he foresaw most of the problems on the exam (60-80% according to him) and passed all the exams by goofing off the whole year and not preparing for 4s and 5s. 6) A couple of days before the end of school and exams, he hooked up two guys between himself as a result of which one of them broke an arm or a leg (I don't remember)
I will explain how and why he did each of the cases (ABSOLUTELY EVERYTHING I TELL FURTHER WILL BE AN APPROXIMATE RETELLING OF HIS WORDS, believe it or not, but what I told you really happened)

1) He set up one of the BEST students in our class (I would say 3-4 place in academic performance) with HQD and alcohol. This sounds crazy, I understand, but I personally remember how her mother came to school and sorted things out with the teacher and the principal and even recorded voice messages from her phone in our class chat. The girls often hung out in the lab of our technology room during breaks because our teacher trusted them, he found alcohol there which they drank and even mugs in a telegram with this evidence where our classmate was, he deliberately bought and planted HQD on them by letting them smoke, almost at the same second as she was blowing out steam our teacher came in and saw them all, according to him he took a piece of cloth from her desk and knew in advance when she would come and added to this his divine luck and cold calculation (we will talk about luck later) Immediately after his they were thrown out of the lab and their parents were called, he made an excuse saying that he came to them to copy their homework and this was confirmed by another guy and girl who were there (he really went there only to check that she would smoke and ask for her homework) and because of this they did not touch him. By the way, if you didn't understand, he literally planted HQD, the video mug showed the HQD that he bought and put in a prominent place so that she could smoke it

2) I don't know for sure, but he told me this right after he started acting. Our students were going to choose their own pair, but he was talking nonsense in a dialogue with our teacher (even before the first moment with HQD), as a result, the teacher chose pairs because she thought that nothing was going well with us and chose EXACTLY those pairs that he suggested, as a result, the performance at the last bell failed

3) He had already started spreading rumors that he was spying on boys and girls in the toilet, which resulted in him kicking, pushing and humiliating him. When the rumor spread so much that the whole school knew about it, he started hitting him in the legs and knocking him down until he hit his head, started crying and went to the head teacher. That same day, he went to the Principal's office where that guy was. The Principal and the Head Teacher, a guy whose name was, let's say, Dima, confirmed that he was the one who had bullied and beaten him. When asked why he did it, he replied, "This freak is spying on boys and girls in the toilet on the 2nd floor (where the elementary school was), he was spying on my sister, he should thank me that he can still walk." Obviously, this was not true and he denied it, to which my friend replied, "Everyone knows this, ask anyone, if you want, call my sister, she will prove it." They brought his sister and she confirmed it and cried (2nd grade at the time), and you know what's the worst thing? that Dima really did go to both the men's and women's restrooms, but he only did it when guys were smoking in the men's, this monster set up his sister and told Dima to go to the women's restroom for 150 rubles and look into the booth in the middle WHERE HIS SISTER WAS SITTING, this is madness. After that, he started spreading rumors and pushing Dima every time he saw him

4) In our school, boys from grades 7-11 smoked electronic cigarettes in the toilet, they obviously knew about it and caught them, our head teacher had a box with their electronic cigarettes. Let's remember the first case that happened after the New Year in mid-to-late January, in the lab he found a hidden Bottle and an Electronic Cigarette that barely worked, as a result he bought an analogue and planted it, but he kept the non-working version. In general, he went to the toilet to pretend that he was smoking on the 3rd floor, as he said, "We have 4 cleaners, one always cleans the 1st floor at the entrance, and the others take turns, the other 2 allowed it and they didn't care, but one didn't, and she always blew it and reported on us, I found out when they worked and that today was her day, I even made sure of it when she was cleaning the 2nd floor during recess, the next one was the 3rd and I went there, because she had to know me and see me walking past her with HQD, that's what happened." Yes, that's what happened. She immediately went to the head teacher who was on the 3rd floor and they almost immediately went into the toilet where he was with a cigarette, she took him to her office because they had already taken them from him 3 times and given them back once, and now they were going to take them away for the 4th time and call his mother, she took and put his cigarette in the box with the others, he objected and said that it was a dummy and not real, and he proved it because beforehand he completely took out all the contents of the cigarette and put a small battery inside for weight, he opened the HQD and showed it to her, to which she scolded him and told him to just throw it in the box and leave her, he did so, only he took 3 more electronic cigarettes with him, I swear I don’t know how he did it, but he came back with two of his cigarettes that were taken from him, and said that he did it when she turned away xD

5) I don’t know what to say, he told me this when we met after the math exam, he ran away it's a calculation and luck, calculation because I made a conclusion from real exams of previous years which we trained on

6) since at our school in the toilets during the break guys smoked in quite a lot, he asked for a smoke from one shady guy who was quite hot-tempered, he gave it to him and as usual his electronic cigarette went "in circles" among people, but after he smoked he did not give it to anyone. The owner did not find his cigarette and at the next break he came to my friend quite angry, demanding an explanation. He said "I gave it to name I don't know anything else. Ask him". They went together to name and he claimed that no one gave him anything, then my friend demanded to open the briefcase and he could do the same and began to take off the backpack. that guy did the same, only in the side pocket as soon as he turned the other side you could see the cigarette of that guy, which my friend planted on him when he was making his way past people on the way out. one challenged the other to a fight after school, but everything was resolved earlier. name came to the bully and started making excuses, I don't know what happened there, but as a result, one of them got a fracture. As I remember yesterday, my teacher mentioned this incident in an additional math class, I was shocked

I have nothing more to add, if you are interested, ask questions
