Plan analysis

Planning preparations

Its unknown when this plan was set into action but it was from all we know set up at the 5th of February 2022 or before (https://youtu.be/d_aROgYQ_k4?si=yU-oqwqtRmJHFC6k). This means that in order to make the plan work he had to intentionally grip the audience into believing him to be an unlikable idiot while still being charming/intresting/entertaining enough for them to follow him to see his final move by understanding that his audience would continue to watch as long as he played the character that he made knew they would identify as a mere character. This would in turnt get them to wonder about the real Nick since hes only known as his character, he took advantage of this by occasionally engaging with that idea by sometimes breaking character to divert attention towards himself to assure the succes of his plan.

Setting the plan into action

To execute the plan he would need to lose weight for about 2 years which would logically mean that he needed to quit his mukbang videos which would mean that the viewer would lose intrest in him. To counter that possibility he decided to take a few actions into account to assure that his plan wouldn't get exposed

- Pre record 2 years worth of content in order to keep the reality that he's living as usual alive

- Shave off his hair in order to prevent people from knowing who he is by looks alone if he ever meets up with a fan in public

Keeping this in mind he focused on losing around 250lbs of weight for 2 years while going completely under the radar before uploading until he released a video called ”Two steps ahead” on the 7th September of 2024 proving that he fooled the entire internet into consuming him for well over 2 and a half years with it potentially being almost a decade with the highest end interpretation
