Subaru Doc (Comp)

This doc will outline all Subaru Versions's feats. It includes anime and LN. This will cover Subaru's best and most notable feats. This will have spoilers for the LN.

Made by: Rblxpw and JPlights

FSIQ/G-factor+G-intel- Green

Manipulation/Deception- Red

Reasoning/Thinking- Yellow

Planning/Strategy/Tactics (general scheming)- Pink

EI/SI/AC- Blue

Miscellaneous- Purple

Arc 1-

In Arc 1, Subaru gets summoned into another world. Shortly after he gets summoned, we see him identify his surroundings and quickly reason out

Even after dying painfully to Elsa, Subaru manages to keep his composure (albeit slightly confused) as opposed to crying in painful anguish. Despite being in a bewildered state (likely due to the belief it was a dream), he is able to hold conversation with the Appa Merchant, even with the 'shock' of the death.

(Emotional Management, Perseverance, Composure,

Despite having only isekai'd one loop prior, upon meeting with the people in the loothouse, Subaru manages to seamlessly integrate in conversations with Rom and Felt (who by this point should still hold suspicion even bantering, keeping up high spirits.

(Social Integration, Social Skills, , , ,

Memory Snow (OVA)-

During the Memory Snow OVA, we see copious amounts of mayonnaise within the Roswaal Manor. Using his knowledge of the basic ingredients of mayonnaise, he would teach Rem how to make it. It is also likely he had to use associative thinking to identify ingredients within the Re:Zero world similar to his own, as we know that ingredients aren't the same between both worlds. (The creation/ideation of mayonnaise was actually first seen in Mayonnaise Scramble a short side story)

(Crystallized Intel, Knowledge, Knowledge Application, Memory, Learning Ability, Thinking)

Arc 2-

During arc 2 Subaru was able to pick up and learn Lugunica's writing system and write at a competent level in approximately 8 days. Naturally, he can read and write the Luganican language and retains all alphabetical information.

(Learning Ability, Fluid Intelligence, Crystallized Intelligence, VCI, G-factor)

During his 2nd last loop as he was able to understand the bond between Rem and Ram.

Arc 3-

During the loop where Subaru learned about the white whale's time's appearance he was chucked off ground dragons moving 60mph. Through fast moving debris and stressful conditions, his phone was only visible for a fraction of a second. He was able to remember this piece of knowledge for the negotiation.

(WMI, PSI, Observation, Memory)

He figured out Crusch's intentions to fight the white whale from an off hand comment Anastasia said to Subaru about how Crusch's actions were helpful for merchants. Along with him seeing increases in merchant traffic in Crusch's area and people being unconfident about Crusch winning the royal selection. With this Subaru deduced out Crusch was planning to fight the white whale and also figured out Crusch's immense need for this to happen because she would need to boost her image for the Royal selection. Subaru capitalized on his fact using the white whale hunt along with Anastasia joining in due to Subaru's intel on the white whale's position to bring them together making an alliance which would end up helping him stop the ordeal and save the village. For negotiations three requirements must be met

- Subaru must avoid triggering Crusch's divine protection
- He must give enough information without Crusch suspecting him to be a witch cultist
- Subaru must avoid triggering the penalty for revealing RBD

Normally this wouldn't be an issue but since Crusch had her divine protection of wind reading which allows her to tell when someone was lying it made it much harder. To counter this he told a partial truth, saying that he knew about the white whale from the metia. Since he technically no lie was detected and thus gained the trust of Crusch. This also made Crusch assume that Subaru's metia was meant for tracking mabeasts. Subaru also leveraged Crusch's desperation to secure the deal with her. To convince Anastasia he persuaded her by offering mining to the magic crystals in Ellior Forest. To tell Crusch about the ordeal he told her that he knew about it because there was a correlation between the witch cult and mabeast attacks which Subaru didn't 100% know for sure. This still allowed for Subaru to reveal info without suspicion of being a witch cultist and not triggering wind protection. With Crusch and Anastasia's help he was able to stop the ordeal.

(FRI, VCI, Crystallized Intelligence, Sophistry, Concealment, Direct manipulation, Logical Manipulation, Emotional Manipulation, Thinking, Deductive reasoning, Planning, Observation, Memory, Emotional Engagement, Emotional Management, Emotional Understanding, Emotional Perception, Social Skills, Social Awareness, Social Integration, Charisma, Self Regulation, Self Awareness, Persuasion, Negotiation)

Before the white whale fight Subaru was picking a ground dragon he recognized the ground dragon he had ridden a while back from many other very similar ground dragons. During the fight Subaru was able to keep a level head while being under extreme pressure. The white whale's screams were able to make experienced soldiers hesitate yet Subaru still managed to keep his cool. He used the penalty of RBD which causes extreme pain to bait the white whale. When 2 other white whales appeared, he guessed that the white whale clones didn't need to be killed and that only the 3rd one hovering above was needed to end the fight. This reasoning was based on the fact that Ricardo (one of the major battle figures), said "Hey, it's getting a lot lighter. The fact I didn't die proves that." (In reference to the White Whale's attacks. From this information, alongside Crusch's disbelief at the White Whale being a group Mabeast and the damage Wilhelm did to its left eye, Subaru reasoned out how the (previously) singular entity had now suddenly multiplied threefold. (It split up into three bodies)

What's more is that this was all done in the heat of a life/death situation, while attending to the wounded combatants on the field. Additionally he even figures out the reason behind the White Whale splitting and the trick behind it.

The first reason for the White Whale splitting was:

1. Before the splitting event occurred, the Night Banisher (a crucial component of the Subjugation) alongside the numerous magic artillery batteries weren't operable due to a mix of psychological damage from the White Whale's abilities and the actual damage of the first phase. (Alongside fog making it difficult to navigate)

2. Naturally, splitting itself (giving the illusion of multiplying) would worsen the psychological effects of the White Whale's (roar?) and cause panic and disarray. This is important because

(i) The White Whale had suffered immense damage, and wanted to recuperate its strength, using two body clones to fight the ground forces would allow such a thing to happen.

(ii) Due to the lack of coordination and psychological warfare, the troops weren't able to strategize or even think much, let alone notice the third whale floating up within the fog.

He also reasons that the body, highest up and furthest away from the battlefield must be the main body which has to be killed.

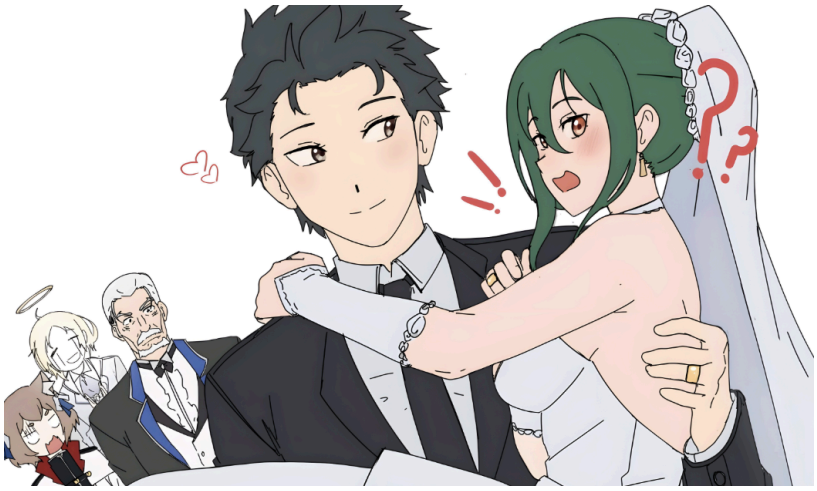

This meant the White Whale created a diversionary tactic to ~~crusch (get it, ok nvm that wasn't funny)~~ crush the spirits of the Subjugation force, continue attacking them, while also ensuring its survival through a combination of several tactics.

Subaru managed to see through using only his limited knowledge of the Re:Zero world and information given during battle, creating a logical conclusion from pieces of information all during the heat of battle. He then formulated an extremely risky, yet deceptive and effective tactic that would allow himself to get onto the White Whale and unleash the taboo.

Mana based attacks didn't do much damage, but physical force did. He had Rem launch him onto the white whale. Subaru knew that it would follow the stench of the witch. So when he got on top of it the stench of the witch was right in front of it making it go downward and allowing them to crush it with the tree. Due to past experiences with Mabeasts, Natsuki knew that the Whale would indubitably follow him (by being a mabeast) and allow him to execute his plan with near 100% certainty. This is because mabeasts are naturally attracted to the Witch's Scent, which Subaru can concentrate at will. (via Taboo)

It is to note that his Al Huma tactic both misdirects the attention and focus of both the Whale and the ground forces. This is because he concealed the fact that he was on the crystal without anybody noticing. The White Whale also isn't retarded, evidently so. Regardless, it is still somewhat animalistic (instinctual reaction to Taboo) although it can actually control itself from the residual Witch Scent..

He also kinda bags Crusch at the end so, more SI feats I guess?

God I love this ship

(Subaru when Julius)
Subaru gets some antifeats but that stems from the scene being mostly comedic

(Emotional Engagement, Emotional Management, Leadership, Perseverance, Composure, Mental Fortitude, Observation, Pain+Stress Tolerance, Self Regulation, Social Management, Deductive Reasoning, Abductive Reasoning, Thinking, Intuition, Improvisation, Counteraction, Tactics, Misdirection, Concealment, PSI, WMI, FRI, Crystallized Intelligence, Social Skills, Charisma)

Post Subjugation stuff-

Post Subjugation, Subaru talks with Crusch and it's revealed he actually pulled some of her heart strings (come on Barasu, you can do it my GOAT!). Additionally, the White Whale Subjugation was actually secondary to his plan to stop the Witch Cult Attack on the Mather's domain. This was intriguing to Crusch and implies he concealed the fact. Furthermore, he manages to (essentially) have the Crusch camp within an alliance so much so that even under times of conflict, even if they must settle things and be rivals within the Royal Selection, the Crusch camp will remain friendly and show favor to the Emilia camp, as a direct result of the debt incurred to Natsuki through the subjugation.

When Rem does try to confront Subaru/Felix as to why she can't come, she's visibly agitated and was under emotional distress. Where Felix wasn't able to quell this (with logic), Subaru was. He managed to manage Rem's emotional state to one of composure and hope, a near 180.

He also gives a brief breakdown of his plan to defeat the Witch's Cult (Sloth), and has prepared methods of evacuation for civilians in advance. He also had someone write a letter to give to the Roswaal Manor in order to prevent misunderstandings of the situation because the Emilia camp doesn't have information of the Alliance brokered between Natsuki and Crusch.

Wilhelm also states that, "We have never enjoyed such an advantage in a battle with the Witch's Cult." Stemming from the information provided by Natsuki, alongside his preparation for the battle.

He also reflects on the losses inflicted by the White Whale Subjugation and has a goal, that is to not let any allies die during the Witch Cult Raid. Furthermore, he reflects on his actions within the Royal Hall and makes up with Julius, showing a development in his self awareness.

(Social skills, Charisma, Leadership, Social integration, Social Management, Emotional Engagement, Social Management, Persuasion, Emotional Management, Planning, Concealment, Foresight, Thinking, Self Awareness, Information Gathering, Information Control)

Raid on Sloth-

Ragebait feats

Anyhow, the (first) raid on Sloth can be broken down rather easily.

Step 1: After finding the general location of the Witch Cultists (using past experiences), Subaru acts as bait to attract Witch Cultists. This is done due to the Witch's Miasma present on him which is like a bright beacon flaring up in the night sky. Subaru attributes it to finding “-a cockroach in the corner of a quiet room. Perfect cockroach bait.” He then immediately explains that he means to meet ‘their boss’ or Petelgeuse.

Step 2: He finds Petelgeuse and has a dialogue. His main goal was to stall out Petelgeuse and gain the element of surprise. Additionally, after gaining info on Petelgeuse, the ‘gospel’ and observing his reactions he infers that such a book is of incredible importance. The man he is with is mentally deranged and an obsessed lunatic likely prone to provocation.

Step 3: He then provokes Petelgeuse by saying he threw his ‘gospel’ out, and dodges his Unseen Hand. This frustrates Petelgeuse to an unimaginable degree while lowering his guard.

Step 4: He has Mimi and Tivey attack the entrance of the cave, collapsing it and the other Witch Cultists within the area. This reduces the amount of targets and variables within the fight, while also removing an escape option for Petelgeuse (which will be important later). This also kills one of Petelgeuse’s fingers. (Which will be explained soon)

Step 5: While Petelgeuse is rambling like a madman, Subaru interjects into his speech and engineers a state of confusion. This alongside the elimination of several of Petelgeuse's allies, the shock of his Authority being visible and Subaru’s seemingly unfaithful and loveless actions causes him to overlook the nail in the coffin.

Step 6: From behind, Wilhelm jumps down striking Petelgeuse, this is done at (essentially) the same time as step 5 and gives Wilhelm the element of surprise, operating from a covert location before being given ‘the signal’.

Now, Petelgeuse is dead (or at least the main body is). Despite this, Subaru asks for confirmation from Felix (the greatest healer in Luganica) and even checks again with Mimi using magic to essentially explode (possibly vaporize) the body.

(Planning, Strategy, Tactics, Counteraction, Emotional Manipulation, Direct Manipulation, FRI, Deductive Reasoning, Crystallized Intelligence)

What/Who are Petelgeuse’s fingers?

Petelgeuse’s fingers are subordinates of Petelgeuse. Petelgeuse is capable of transferring his ‘soul’ into them, acting as essentially another layer of immortality.

There are 10 fingers in total. However it is to be noted that we don’t know how much more special they are compared to a regular subordinate. We can assume they are more compatible with Sloth or some other X-factor that makes them distinguishable from standard Witch Cultists.

Note: It is possible there are downsides to inhibiting different bodies like a possible loss of some memories (as the possessed fingers are seen to be shocked when Subaru dodges the ‘Unseen Hand’ when Petelgeuse already knows he can see them)

Flower Illusion

While regrouping, the Mercenary forces are cast under an illusion. We see Subaru being affected by this and choked by one of the hallucinatory flowers.

However he quickly deduces that it is an illusion because (i). A flower like this couldn’t possibly exist within the world (you can interpret this as Subaru either using context clues within the illusion or demonstrating some high level of knowledge over Floriculture)

(ii). Patrasche, who was an incredibly loyal ally and Subaru’s personal ground dragon would never leave him to die. He knows this because of Patrasche’s pridefulness and dedication to him.

We see that Julius has also broken out of the spell. He then uses his lesser spirit (In and Nes) to break everyone else out. He uses Subaru as a medium for this spellbreak, however he miscalculates Subaru’s affinity putting him through a state of complete overwhelming disarray due to how many people’s minds he’s going over and hearing. Despite this, Subaru manages to push through and does so due to his and (Julius’s goal) of bringing everyone back.

(Emotional Management, Emotional Engagement, Mental Fortitude, Perseverance, Pain/Stress Tolerance, Deductive Reasoning, FRI, Crystallized Intelligence, Thinking)

Arc 4-

During arc 4 Subaru figures out that Roswaal's gospel was faulty from Otto not being mentioned within the text.

Arc 5-

Subaru induced Regulus's ability with little knowledge of his witch factor and found a way to beat him. Subaru was able to figure out that his ability was able to stop time around him by how objects and attacks affected regulus. Water wasn't able to drown him or even get him wet. Ice didn't seem to hurt him and there were no shards on him. He seemingly didn't need to breathe and he never aged over a long period of time. Emilia also noted that Regulus seemed to feel like "nothing" or something to that effect. Subaru noticed him seemingly being unchanging. This led Subaru to believe that his ability was to make time around him still. If he was at a still moment in time breathing and aging wouldn't be needed.

This wasn't the only part though. Regulus's name is that of a star in real life which is known to be entirely unchanging no matter the time. He also knew that Bettleguese's name was el jawsaa in Arabic otherwise known as the hand of Gemini. Subaru figured that the stars must have some connection to the archbishop's authority. Regulus is a constellation in which part of Leo. The constellation Leo refers to the Nemean lion which in Greek mythology was a beast known to have indestructible skin. With all of this he was able to figure out how his ability functioned.

To figure out his weakness he first deconstructed his name. Translated to arabic qalb al Asad in Arabic or lion heart. Subaru assumed that his ability had something to do with his heart. The star regulus also means little king so Subaru figured out that he was a ruler of some sort.

Arc 6-

Subaru figured out by Anastasia's behavior that it wasn't her but the artificial spirit Eridna that had control of Anastasia's body. For reference one of if not her closest companion Julius wasn't able to figure this out.

Arc 7-

Subaru needed to carry out a bloodless siege. There was a general who was called a womanizer (important in a bit). He also figured out about this general that he really disliked taking risks. This deduction was made after Subaru had seen that he had his soldier burnt down a forest due to there being a possibility of having a mabeast in it. This is where the womanizer part comes into play. He crossed dressed as a woman along with 2 other people who were also joined by 2 women making a travel entertainment troupe to get into the city. Subaru predicted that they would be invited by the general to perform for him and his men due to the fact that his soldier would be under stress due to encampment wiping. They got the general drunk, stealing the sword as a part of the "performance" and using it to take him hostage. Subaru also predicted that the general would have his soldiers stand down due to his hate for risks conjoined with the fact that a dancer from the group being one of the emperors made the general even less likely to fight back against them. The plan/strategy had played out as they wanted it to with the predictions being correct.

Crossdressing stuff happens (haven't read Arc 7)

(Deception)

Pride lF

Crusch had died and had her name eaten so no one remembered her which left Felix mentally broken. Pride IF Subaru used this to make him a very loyal ally, practically replacing Crusch. With Felix as an ally he had him go out with Julius for a drink. Knowing that Julius would want to reunite with his once fellow knight he would trust him. Then they poisoned Julius's drink, taking him out for good.

Greed if

In greed if Subaru goes through what is described as "Agony, terror, turbidity, ruin, hatred, madness.
Exhausted, shaken, twisted, corrupted, contorted, decayed, anguished; a heart smashed to pieces," for over 100 million loops yet still being able to push forward and manage his emotions and expressions.

(Emotional Management, Emotional Engagement, Determination, Perseverance, Mental Fortitude, Stress Tolerance)

When felt had gone missing, Reinhard was brought to the Emilia camp. Subaru had guilt tripped him, abusing his sense of duty to bring Reinhard to their side.

(Emotional manipulation, Gaslighting)

Subaru was able to free the sanctuary by isolating and setting the villagers against Garfiel stopping him from interfering with the liberation of the sanctuary. As Garfiel got angry about this he used Reinhard as an outlet for angry which kept Garfiel from outright attacking Subaru

(