Debunking document that was made by: WAI and Limbo

I noticed one strange thing about people, not only in the SCD fandom but in all of them, they try to pull out some unknown character, their own character, and put it at the top of the hierarchy in the rating, even if it is not relevant there at all. I'm not quite sure what this desire has to do with, is it a craving for attention? Fame? Or what? But one thing I know for sure is that everyone naturally wants this kind of attention, they want to see people's impressions and reactions, but when a person starts to deliberately lie about it and spread this lie, turning it into truth in the minds of the masses - this is already a problem. Today I will try to criticize and one can even dare to say - to expose fanatics.

Part 1 - CPI

The so-called "Life recalling" given in the first part of the document has a bunch of problems at its core. I'll give a few reasons why it can't be of any advantage in intellectual comparisons with other characters within SCD.

The effect you see is commonly referred to by the term "Life Recall" and it is capable of ANY person who has experienced a near-death experience, many people who are not superhumanly intelligent experience it. Here is an article about this phenomenon and who experiences it and when

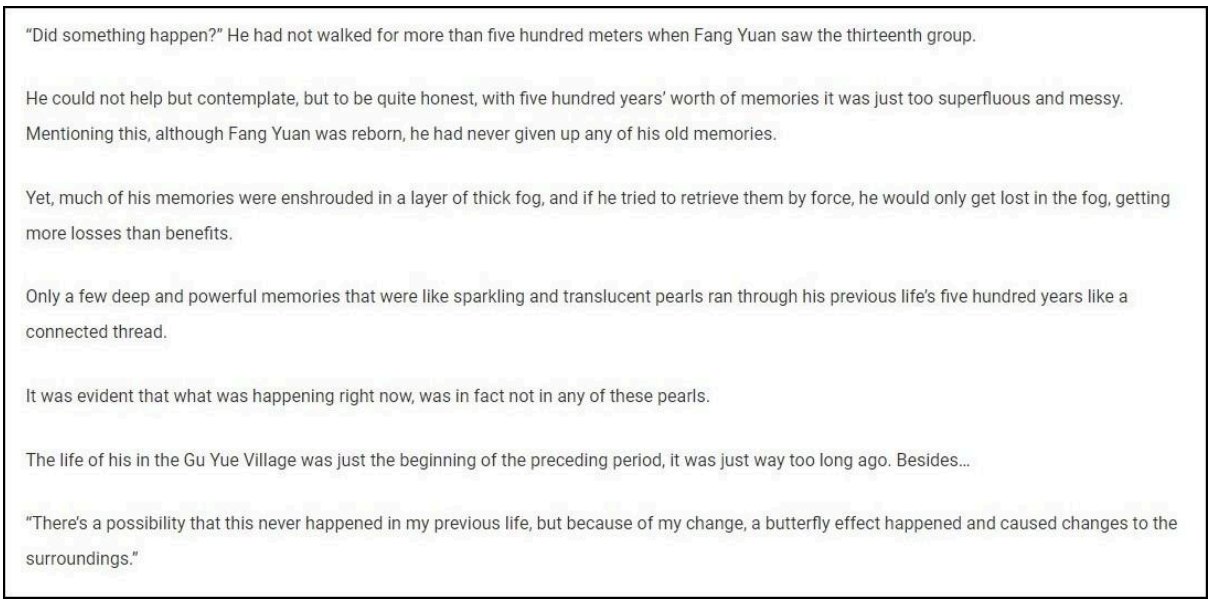

To reinforce the fact of the inaccessibility of this ability to recall his actions outside of near-death experiences I will cite the fact that Fang Yuan does not remember much of his 500 year life at all.

> In his memory, it should be at this counter in this particular rock gambling den.
> But it had been 500 years, it's been too long. Many things were vague to him already, especially when 500 years of memory was a huge capacity, so to be honest Fang Yuan could not remember distinctly.
> He could only vaguely recall, that during this year on the first night the caravan arrived, a lucky bird spent ten primeval stones to buy a fossil with purple gold lustre.

Chapter 40

And as much as the author of the document tried to make it look like Fang Yuuan remembered the smallest details from his previous life, but it's not only that it's not written there, that is, it was invented by the author himself, so in addition to this he is not that he is not able to remember "complex strategies and plans of his previous life" that were described in the document we are reviewing, he can only remember the brightest moments of his life, such as the Wolf Tide, and the rest of his life for him - like a fog and he can not remember them no matter how much he tries. So it's probably just an illusion where he remembered the brightest facts from his previous life.

"Did something happen?" He had not walked for more than five hundred meters when Fang Yuan saw the thirteenth group.

He could not help but contemplate, but to be quite honest, with five hundred years' worth of memories it was just too superfluous and messy. Mentioning this, although Fang Yuan was reborn, he had never given up any of his old memories.

Yet, much of his memories were enshrouded in a layer of thick fog, and if he tried to retrieve them by force, he would only get lost in the fog, getting more losses than benefits.

Only a few deep and powerful memories that were like sparkling and translucent pearls ran through his previous life's five hundred years like a connected thread.

It was evident that what was happening right now, was in fact not in any of these pearls.

The life of his in the Gu Yue Village was just the beginning of the preceding period, it was just way too long ago. Besides...

"There's a possibility that this never happened in my previous life, but because of my change, a butterfly effect happened and caused changes to the surroundings."

Chapter 93

I'm also amused by the fact that the author wrote that the following chapters specify that he remembers most of this life, although it says the exact opposite....

This is also reflected in Fang Yuuan's inability to instantly memorise a map, with his incredible intelligence, Fang Yuan shouldn't have any problems at all, but as we can see, it's impossible for him.

He opened the beast skin map and started to memorise it, using his fingers to draw on the traces on the map to aid in his memorization.

Ever since he had obtained the map, he had been doing this everyday.

Fang Yuan did not have a storage type Gu, he could not bring the beast skin map with him everywhere. Carrying a bamboo tube on him while battling is inconvenient too. Thus, Fang Yuan put in some effort and was prepared to stuff the entire beast skin map's content into his head.

Some things, even if troublesome, had to be done. In a person's life, those who did not actively resolve problems due to fearing trouble, would always face a dangerous predicament at the end. Fang Yuan understood this logic from his previous life.

"When one is young, their memory sure is good. I have already memorised more than half of this map. If I was old, I would probably forget the content while memorising this. Hehehe... of course if I had a Bookworm, I would feed this map to it, and from then on, as long as I do not lose the Bookworm, I will be able to recall this map clearly forever."

To find out the limits of Fang Yuuan's CPI let's read a little further from Chapter 1, which our document author focused on.

Only now did Fang Yuan let out a mouthful of turbid air, his heart relieved.

You might think that this process looks simple. It is not.

First, the consciousness merging needed multitasking.

Drawing a circle with one hand and a square with another is called dual tasking. A lot of people cannot even do this, let alone the highly difficult multi-tasking.

One can only achieve multi-tasking after years of hard cultivation, suffering through countless defeats and setbacks, and even then one would still need some talent.

Fang Yuan could do this so proficiently because of his five hundred years of deep experience; not a hint of his experience was fake or forged.

Chapter 99

As you can see, it is already difficult for Fang Yuan to do two things at the same time, drawing a circle with one hand and a square with the other is so to speak already up the challenge for a person who has "Intelligence beyond limits"

It's a hyperbola ofc. Fang can do even the third thing. thanks to 500 years experience. Well thanks to this point we find out that

Fang Yuuan's CPI level is about the same as Light's, although Light did a lot of things without much labour, so I think he wins here, although he didn't live 500 years, he could do it at 16.

Part 2 - FRI

In this part, I don't know where the author got the idea that Fang Yuuan COULD have improved the Cicada with his knowledge, because it's not written anywhere, and okay the author would have pointed to the chapter where it's written, it would have been easier. So I will point out that this Gu was ranked in the top 10 mystical Gu, meaning she was common knowledge, hence her recipe. The author of the document didn't give us an indication where it says that Fang Yuuan himself came up with any of this stuff.

"Gu Yue Village, this is 500 years ago?! Looks like the Spring Autumn Cicada really worked..." Fang Yuan quietly gazed, standing by the window, letting the rain from the wind hit his body.

The use of the Spring Autumn Cicada is to reverse time. In the Ten Big Mystical Gu rankings, the Spring Autumn Cicada managed to be ranked seven, naturally it was no mere creature.

Chapter 1

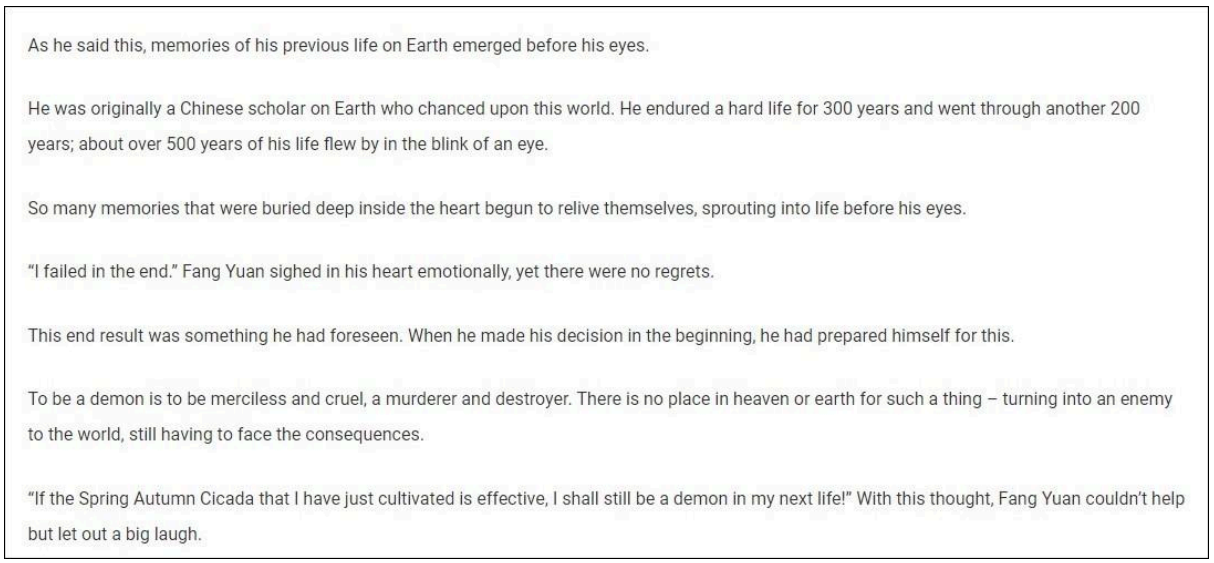

And if the author means that he did the recipe right, then that's a feat..... Then no. Every normal Gu Master can do that, especially rank 6, it's not a feat at all

Part 3 - GAI

Again the author does not point out evidence that Fang Yuuan knew any languages. Okay... Let's put that aside and think about it, isn't 500 years of life enough time for any human being to gain a great deal of knowledge? So if so, what's so special about Fang Yuuan's VCI? Anyone can do it.

The following argument and excuses about how he wrote poetry at the age of 0 while he was in his mother's womb don't stand up to any criticism at all. They are justifying that FY even in his first life in the Gu world could write poems and speak, and I think this is an attempted outright lie. And it's a most inept one, because at the beginning of their document they wrote "his time before transmigrating into the Gu World"

And that's really true. Fang Yuuan was a student from Earth before he first came to the Gu World, meaning it's not surprising that as an adult/adolescent he could realize and speak at the earliest opportunity

As he said this, memories of his previous life on Earth emerged before his eyes.

He was originally a Chinese scholar on Earth who chanced upon this world. He endured a hard life for 300 years and went through another 200 years; about over 500 years of his life flew by in the blink of an eye.

So many memories that were buried deep inside the heart begun to relive themselves, sprouting into life before his eyes.

"I failed in the end." Fang Yuan sighed in his heart emotionally, yet there were no regrets.

This end result was something he had foreseen. When he made his decision in the beginning, he had prepared himself for this.

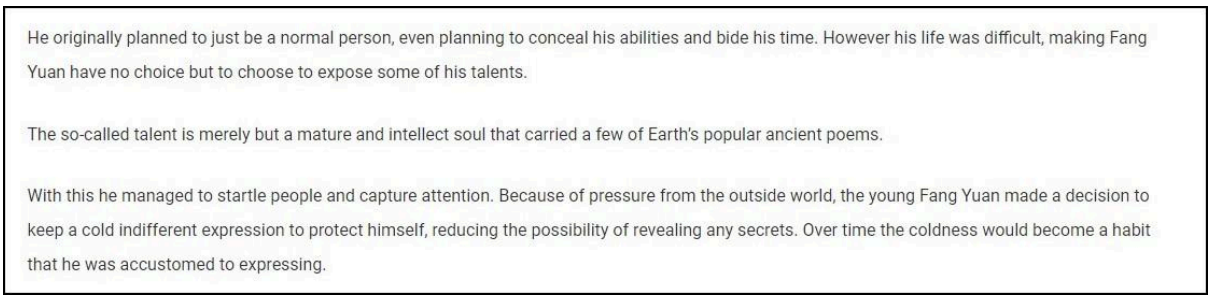

To be a demon is to be merciless and cruel, a murderer and destroyer. There is no place in heaven or earth for such a thing – turning into an enemy to the world, still having to face the consequences.

"If the Spring Autumn Cicada that I have just cultivated is effective, I shall still be a demon in my next life!" With this thought, Fang Yuan couldn't help but let out a big laugh.

Chapter 1

The authors of the document could not have been unaware of this, as it is written in the first chapter.

And these poems were not even invented by him, he simply rewrote those poems that were popular in the Earth

Chapter 2

Conclusion

Fang Yuan - Light's victim in FSIQ.
See you soon, look forward to my next critique of Fang Yuan.
Not just Fang Yuan, but other highly overrated characters like Hannibal Lecter or Patrick Jane.

You can write your comments on the document if you like.
