Hax:

(POH) 3 layers of Transduality/Nonduality (Type 2 on CSAP, Nature Type 1, Aspect Type 2 on VSBW)

Primordials are “quintessial abstractions of nature”, and this is shown to be literal in the scans below. “Quintessial abstractions” literally means perfect concepts, or platonic concepts.

More evidence for these being Platonic is the fact that they existed before reality

Hope, which is the strongest concept in God of War grants all strength to beings

Titans scale above the primordials, Gods scale above them and Kratos scales above all of them

Granting him these hax

Reality Warping in PoH

Immunity to all hax bound by duality/applying duality

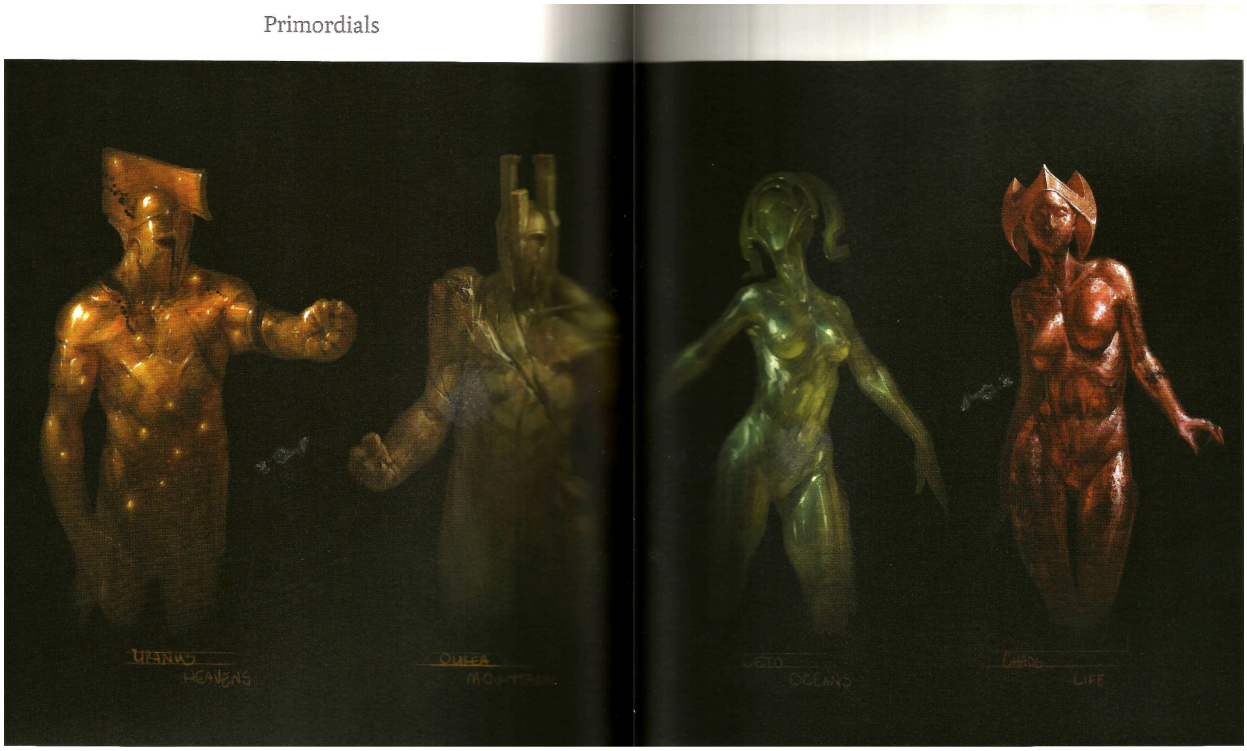

Examples:
Law manipulation
All Concept manipulation
Existence Erasure of any kind
Mathematics/Physics manipulation

Reality warping and subjective reality
Casuality Manipulation and many many more

Layer chain:

Primordials<Titans<Gods
Based on these scans, these hax and resistances work on a 1-A level (on CSAP) and don't have a specific tier on VSBW. But it's subjective to scale Kratos to 1-A by himself.

Forms are superior to dualities

PoH is conceptually beyond the Great Evils and the Primordials

Soul Manip, Conceptual Power Nullification, Mind and Memory Manipulation (applies to fear and PoH)

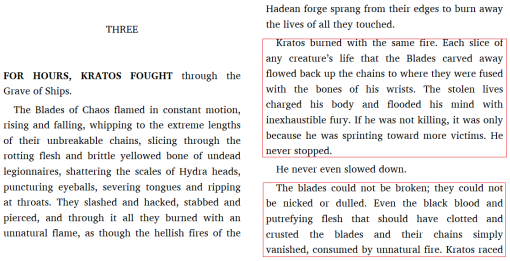

Fear can be used for nullifying powers as seen when Fear zeus strips kratos of his magic and powers. Great evils and Hope affects the being at a spiritual level, effecting them upto their soul. Gods derive their power from their godhead which is the same as life-force which is also the same as soul, Godheads are abstractions that span over all of their forms, when kratos became the god of war he intrinsically gained knowledge over every war through out all of space-time and every form of war, Soul contains someone's concept and mind, being subject to its destruction intrinsically makes you lose all of your memories

petrification: can petrify opponents

Also shown here
[Scan]

5 layers of Life Force Absorption: Blades of Olympus/Chaos can drain the life out of you

THREE

FOR HOURS, KRATOS FOUGHT through the Grave of Ships.

The Blades of Chaos flamed in constant motion, rising and falling, whipping to the extreme lengths of their unbreakable chains, slicing through the rotting flesh and brittle yellowed bone of undead legionnaires, shattering the scales of Hydra heads, puncturing eyeballs, severing tongues and ripping at throats. They slashed and hacked, stabbed and pierced, and through it all they burned with an unnatural flame, as though the hellish fires of the Hadean forge sprang from their edges to burn away the lives of all they touched.

Kratos burned with the same fire. Each slice of any creature's life that the Blades carved away flowed back up the chains to where they were fused with the bones of his wrists. The stolen lives charged his body and flooded his mind with inexhaustible fury. If he was not killing, it was only because he was sprinting toward more victims. He never stopped.

He never even slowed down.

The blades could not be broken; they could not be nicked or dulled. Even the black blood and putrefying flesh that should have clotted and crusted the blades and their chains simply vanished, consumed by unnatural fire. Kratos raced

The God of War ran to the blade and tried to pull it free. It resisted his efforts, but he felt a pulsation in the blade, a growing sensation in his gut. He gripped the hilt with both hands and heaved. The Blade of Olympus remained stuck in the stone where Zeus had hurled it, but Kratos began to experience a curious weakness.

He released the hilt and stared at the blade. "Truly, do I need your help, Zeus? What will this do to me?" The sound of battle, of the Spartans being repulsed, of his brothers-in-arms being killed, decided him. Pushing his doubts aside, Kratos once more took the blade in hand.

Dizziness assailed him but nothing more. To draw the blade from the stone, he had to willingly surrender his power. As alien as the concept of surrender was to him, he knew it was necessary. Kratos closed his eyes, gripped the blade, and willed away his power.

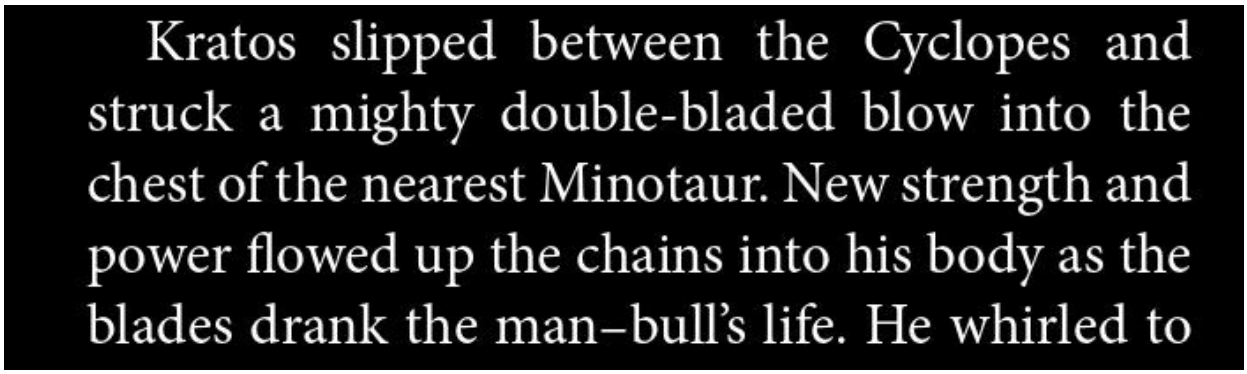

The sword began to draw out his godhood.

The world spun, and he felt his belly knot violently. He would have puked had there been anything in his stomach. His muscles quaked, and weakness seized him.

His strength was now that of the Kratos of old, the Kratos who had been Ares' lackey—but also the Kratos who had slain a god.

The Blade of Olympus slid free from its stone sheath, all of Kratos' godly powers now residing within it. He lifted the sword and stared at it. He felt the power within quiver. That had been his power, and now he had given it to this weapon. The ponderous blade swung easily in his grip. Almost naturally.

Kratos spared not an instant's thought for these unfortunates. He wasn't here to save the civilians—and the Blades of Chaos could drink innocent lives as easily as those of opponents. The surge in his strength from each murder let him run ever faster, until he might have been wearing the winged sandals of Hermes himself.

Along with his raw strength

shown here and here

Souls of Hades does the same shown

here

Can upgrade his Levitation axe with an axe that absorbs life on contact

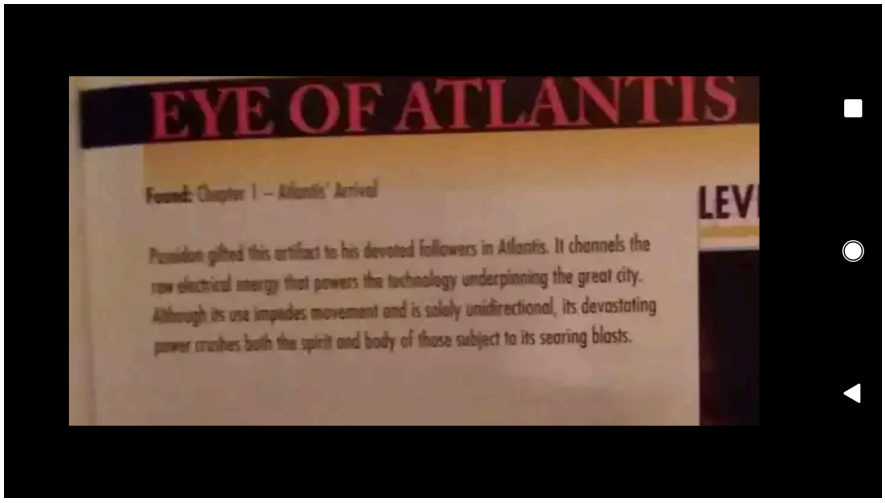

scan

Layer chain

Blade of Olympus>Blades of Chaos>Leviathan Axe with Oblivion Stone>Souls of Hades>Bare hands

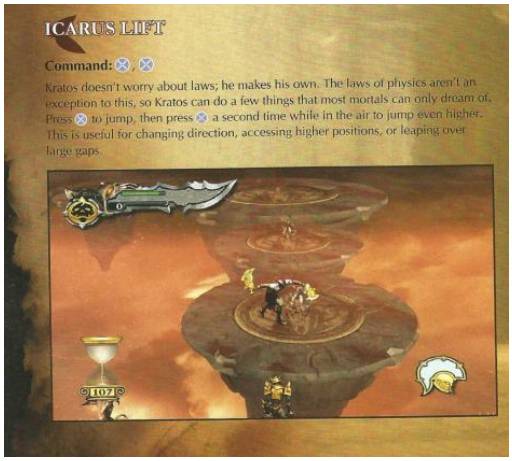

Soul Destruction, Matter manipulation, and Electricity manipulation:
Eye of Atlantis can crush both body and Soul and uses electricity

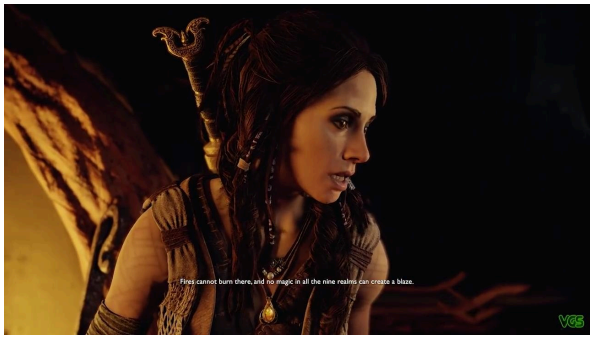

also can evaporate his opponents

[scan]

Law manipulation: is said to create his own law

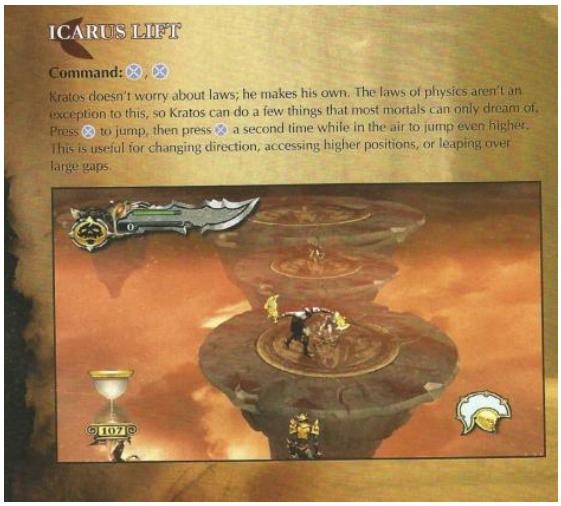

In Helheim, it's said no flame can exist

Yet Kratos was able to create flames there

(POSSIBLE) Physics manipulation: also said to manipulate physics

Conceptual manipulation type 1 and 3: defeated Thanatos, the primordial god of death

scan

another scan

Killed Fear Zeus: God of War 3 Remastered (PS5) - Kratos Vs. Zeus Boss Fight & Ending …

Also defeated Chronos

scan

Who embodies Time

All the Primordials are equal to each other and Cronos created time:

This tells us that the Primordials all had their strengths and weaknesses and that there was no clear hierarchy with them, seeing that if one was clearly more powerful than the others they might all still be alive under that one's rule. So this means Helios being able to make Nyx retreat is no less impressive a feat than if he made Uranus himself retreat. Also, according to this time only came about after Cronos came into existence. So yeah, GoW Cronos seems to have filled the role as both leader of the Titans and the role of a time deity also, since the Steeds of Time belonged to him.

Blades of Chaos also comes from the Chaos realm

> "And how long have you known Ares's ambition? How long have you been planning your brother's death using Kratos as your instrument of destruction?"
>
> Again, Athena told the simple truth. "Since the day that my brother tricked Kratos and drove him into my village temple in his blood frenzy. It was then I knew that Ares's insanity had no limits, that his overweening ambition knew no bounds. What do you think he was planning for Kratos? Why give his mortal subject near-Olympian strength and toughness? Why would he affix the Blades of Chaos to Kratos's wrists? Chaos—the primordial realm, conquered and brought to order by your grandfather Ouranos?"
>
> She drew herself up to her full height and turned to her father. "Kratos was always meant to be the weapon that killed a god. This truth names the coldest dread my heart has ever known: The god that was to be Kratos's victim was you, Father. Ares was grooming Kratos for the same task I am, and for the same reason: to slay a god but to avoid Gaia's immortal curse on any who shed their family's blood. Father, you must help Kratos! He is not the true hope of Athens—he is the hope of Olympus itself! My lord father, I have seen this future in my darkest nightmares. If Kratos falls, so falls Olympus."
>
> Breathless and nearly in tears, the goddess of foresight and clever stratagems had left to her only truth and love. "Father, please."

Said fires are forged from Tartarus and Chaos

"And how long have you known Ares's ambition? How long have you been planning your brother's death using Kratos as your instrument of destruction?"

Again, Athena told the simple truth. "Since the day that my brother tricked Kratos and drove him into my village temple in his blood frenzy. It was then I knew that Ares's insanity had no limits, that his overweening ambition knew no bounds. What do you think he was planning for Kratos? Why give his mortal subject near-Olympian strength and toughness? Why would he affix the Blades of Chaos to Kratos's wrists? Chaos—the primordial realm, conquered and brought to order by your grandfather Ouranos?"

She drew herself up to her full height and turned to her father. "Kratos was always meant to be the weapon that killed a god. This truth names the coldest dread my heart has ever known: The god that was to be Kratos's victim was you, Father. Ares was grooming Kratos for the same task I am, and for the same reason: to slay a god but to avoid Gaia's immortal curse on any who shed their family's blood. Father, you must help Kratos! He is not the true hope of Athens—he is the hope of Olympus itself! My lord father, I have seen this future in my darkest nightmares. If Kratos falls, so falls Olympus."

Breathless and nearly in tears, the goddess of foresight and clever stratagems had left to her only truth and love. "Father, please."

"My edict stands. One god may not kill another."

Also scales to Zeus. Punched fear out of Zeus himself.

Void manipulation/Existence Erasure: can summon a void with Scourge of Erinys to attack his enemies
[scan]

Immortality type 1:

Attack reflection: can reflect attacks with The Golden fleece

Sun Shield

Scan

And guardian Shield

scan

Soul manipulation

Kratos can rip souls apart: here, here (proof that they are souls)

Statistics Amplification: can get stronger through rage

scan

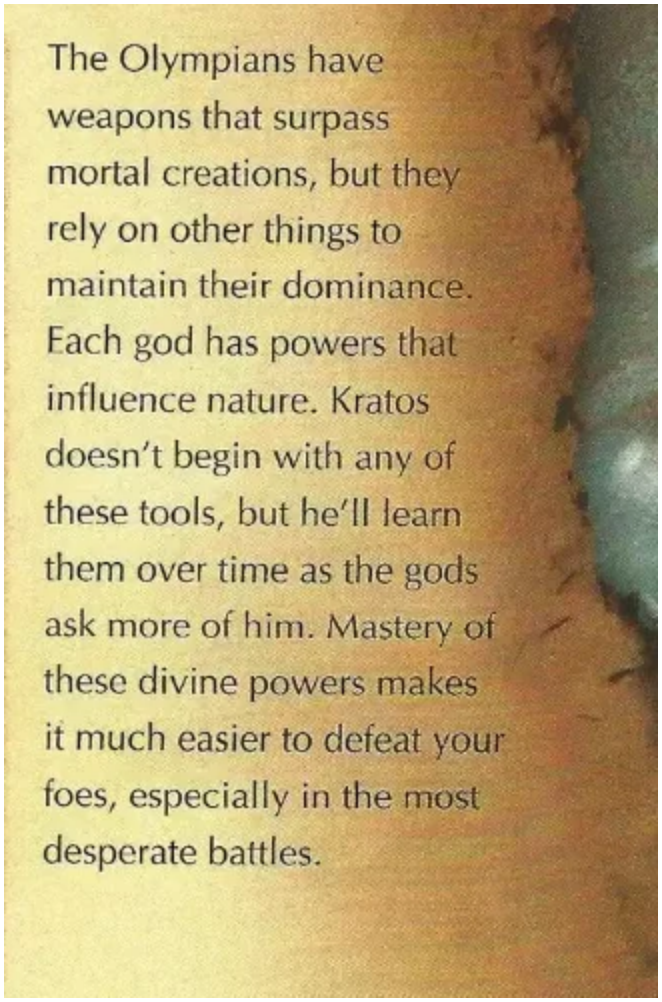

Underwater breathing type 3: Via Poseidon's Magic and Trident

Abstract Existence: Type 1 and 2

Gods shape nature

Conceptual Absorption, Abstract Existence Type 1 and Death Manipulation: absorbed the concept of Death and the replacement for Thanatos

scan

Transmutation, Power Nullification and Soul Manipulation:

has the power to summon the Arm of Hades

scan

which can strip people magic and nullify magical weapons

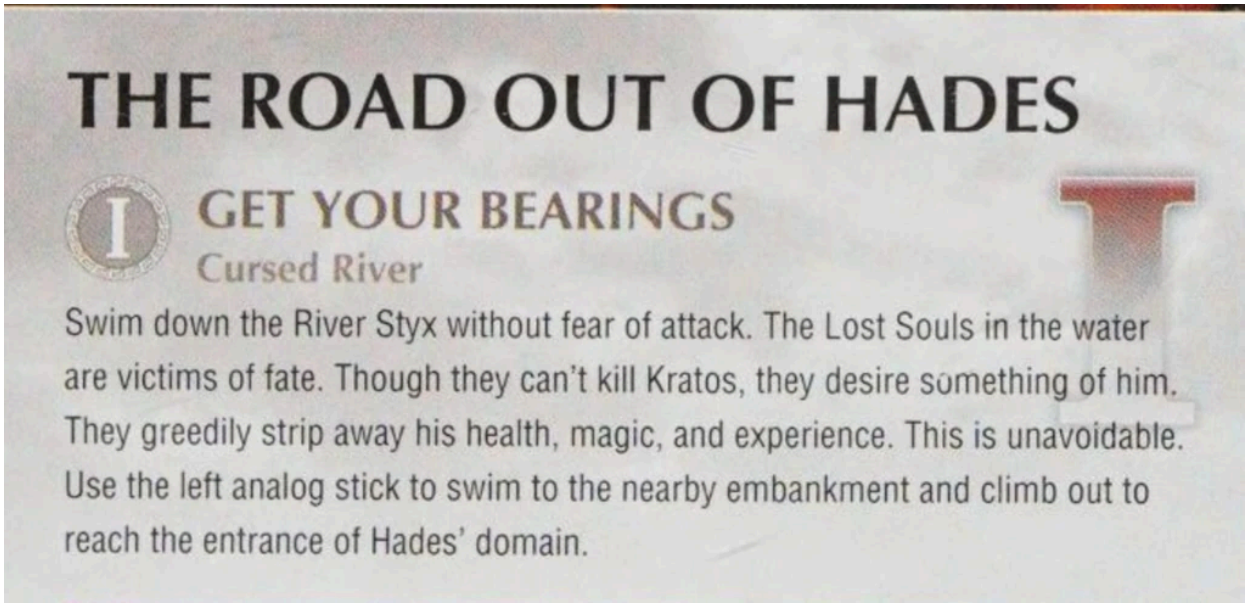

scan

also has the power to transform alive people into mindless warriors

scan and can also make them the fragility souls of the damned

15 Layers of Power Nullification

Arms of Hades
Styx/Lost Souls (became resistant to this after absorbing hades' soul due to how domains work in GoW)
GoW 2 Zeus
Zeus (again)
Ares
Odin
Fear Zeus
Cronos
Atlas
Innate
Blades of Chaos
Sirens
Eyes of Truth power null scan is further down

Lost souls scan

"Now there is no hope."

No hope in this world—but in the next, within the bounds of the mighty Styx that marks the borders of Hades, runs the river Lethe. A draft of that dark water, it is said, erases the memory of the existence a shade

Lethe scan

Layer chain:

Blade of Olympus>Fear Zeus>Zeus>River Styx (better statements)>River Leath>Soul of Hades>Ares>Odin's spell>Atlas' Quake>Cronos' Rage>Blades of Chaos (power null works at this level)>Innate>Sirens

The Blade of Olympus has been proven to be superior to all of these by scaling above the blades of exile, which was capable of killing Fear Zeus.

Kratos growled and shoved Athena to the side to finish the killing he had begun. Zeus would die!

Kratos lunged, but Zeus had already begun his retreat, his feet leaving the ground and his body soaring high into the clouds. But Kratos' blade did not lack a target. The Blade of Olympus ran Athena through.

"Athena, no!" The blade began draining her of her godly power. "Why do you sacrifice yourself?"

"To save Olympus."

"I do not think to destroy Olympus. Only Zeus!"

She reached up, her hand gentle as she rested it on his shoulder, then his cheek.

"Zeus is Olympus." She coughed up blood and sagged. Kratos cradled her as he guided her gently to the ground.

"He brought this to himself."

"He did it because of fear, Kratos, a fear felt by his father, Cronos. A fear that brought the Great War, a fear that drove Zeus to kill you … his own son."

Her fingers slipped across Kratos' cheek and then away, limp as death approached.

"His son?"

"Just as Zeus was compelled to destroy his father, Cronos, you are compelled to do the same. No son should destroy his own father."

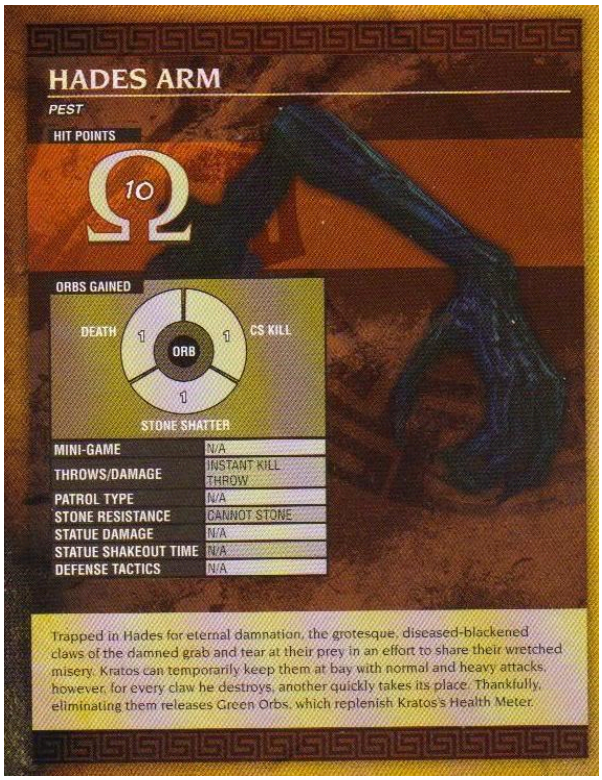

God of War 2 Remastered (PS5) - Colossus of Rhodes Boss Fight (4K 60FPS)

[Made Zeus Mortal]

Thus qualifying for 15 layers of power null

Power null explanation/layer explanation:

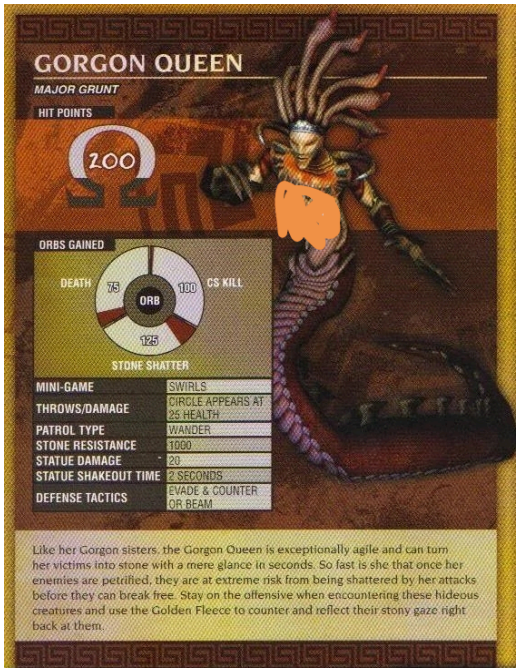

[Here]

Homing attack: via Leviathan Axe

[scan]

Resistance Negation: can Deflect the Gorgon queen's Petrification and petrify her

Who resists Petrification

Acasuality type 1 and 4 (5 if you use CSAP; first scan in doc): unaffected by changes to his past

[type 1]

Type 4

Kratos mounts the long, long stair. Now he can see at the top a throne of glistening jet: deadly gleaming black, befitting the god he is to become.

With each step, the sights and sounds of battle rush in upon him, from all across the world and throughout all eternity, for time and place are different for the gods. He fears for an instant—or for a millennium—that his nightmares return to rape his mind, but he does not recognize the soldiers he sees. They wear metal armor and march in phalanx; cavalry and chariots support their swordsmen, pike men, and archers. "Cross the Rubicon," a general bellows in a strange and foreign tongue, but Kratos understands.

At the next step, again he gasps. Curious armor here replaces the more-familiar design. Rushing past him are men with Asiatic eyes, shouting in a language he does not recognize, though again he understands—Sekigahara. "For the shogun!" The names spring up unbidden and mean nothing to him, but as foreign as their aspects and armor are, the carnage they wreak is all too familiar. Thousands lie dead on all sides, although he is still on the stairs to his throne.

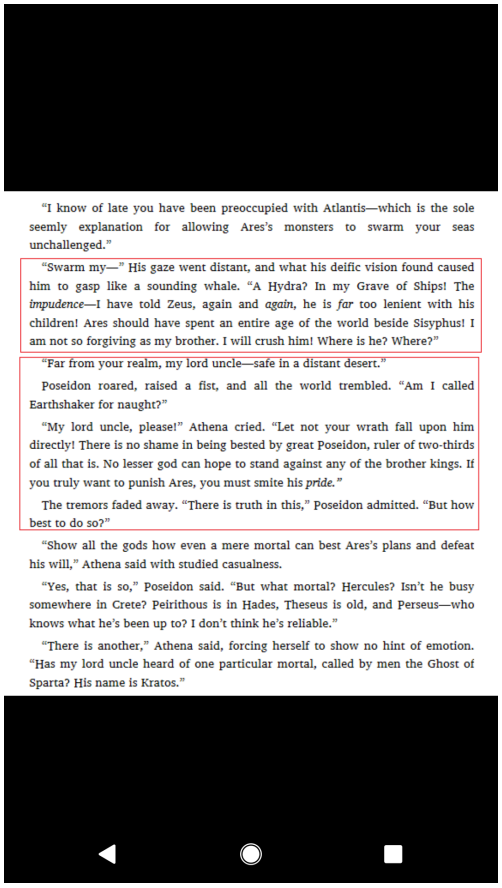

At the next step he finds himself almost flinching, as a huge bird with stiff metal wings and a spinning wheel in front dives down on him. Sudetenland. Huge explosions rock him as the machine—not a bird but a flying machine, a Stuka, another unfamiliar word that he somehow understands—pulls out of a dive and roars away into the dirty gray sky. And just above, a brilliant glare has him squinting and shading his eyes, but he knows somehow that this light cannot harm him. Nothing can harm him. The light comes from a vast cloud curling upward from a burning city, burgeoning as it lifts into an astonishing shape, like a blazing white mushroom larger than Athens itself.

He looks in another direction, and there before him unfold wooded hills where the rivers run red with blood. Antietam? What language might this be?

These people, these places, come to him with every step. Waterloo. Agincourt. Khyber Pass. Gallipoli. Xilang-fu. Roncesvalles. Stalingrad and the Bulge and Normandy. The chaos of war rages around him, an endless looping chain of stunning victories and horrific defeats.

When he reaches the throne, he pauses for a moment and looks back down from whence he came. Spread before him is all of Greece, all the Mediterranean, Africa, Europe, Asia, and the strange lands on the far side of the world. Anywhere that battles rage—anywhere war will ever be fought—this is his kingdom. But among it all, his kingdom, the quarter that means most to him, will be the scene of battles that will tear the world asunder.

Enhanced senses: via being a God

"I know of late you have been preoccupied with Atlantis—which is the sole seemly explanation for allowing Ares's monsters to swarm your seas unchallenged."

"Swarm my—" His gaze went distant, and what his deific vision found caused him to gasp like a sounding whale. "A Hydra? In my Grave of Ships! The impudence—I have told Zeus, again and again, he is far too lenient with his children! Ares should have spent an entire age of the world beside Sisyphus! I am not so forgiving as my brother. I will crush him! Where is he? Where?"

"Far from your realm, my lord uncle—safe in a distant desert."

Poseidon roared, raised a fist, and all the world trembled. "Am I called Earthshaker for naught?"

"My lord uncle, please!" Athena cried. "Let not your wrath fall upon him directly! There is no shame in being bested by great Poseidon, ruler of two-thirds of all that is. No lesser god can hope to stand against any of the brother kings. If you truly want to punish Ares, you must smite his pride."

The tremors faded away. "There is truth in this," Poseidon admitted. "But how best to do so?"

"Show all the gods how even a mere mortal can best Ares's plans and defeat his will," Athena said with studied casualness.

"Yes, that is so," Poseidon said. "But what mortal? Hercules? Isn't he busy somewhere in Crete? Peirithous is in Hades, Theseus is old, and Perseus—who knows what he's been up to? I don't think he's reliable."

"There is another," Athena said, forcing herself to show no hint of emotion. "Has my lord uncle heard of one particular mortal, called by men the Ghost of Sparta? His name is Kratos."

Portal creation: After obtaining the soul of Hades, Kratos can create Portals

scan

Ice Manipulation: Ice of Poseidon can damage or freeze enemies

scan

Also has the leviathan axe, which can freeze enemies and certain objects

scan

Duplication and Teleportation: via the oath stone of Orkos

scan

which creates a clone of Kratos.

Also has teleportation

scan

Hellfire Manipulation: via blades of Chaos which are shown to have fire around them

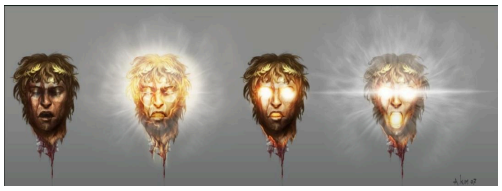

scan

Light manipulation, Intangibility, and invisibility negation: can make invisible, intangible Chests normal chests

scan

and Light of Helios also produces light and even Helios himself is described as the God of Sun

Head of Helios can nullify Siren intangibility

[scan]

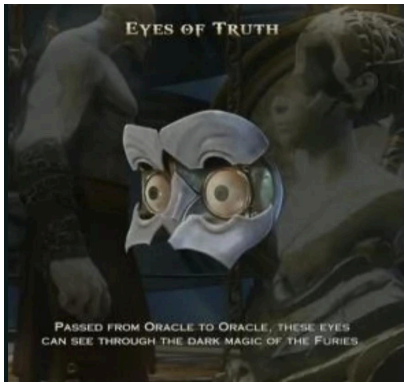

Earth manipulation: the Atlas Quake

[scan]

Is described as the power of the Earth

Magic negation, Magic null, and Illusions negation: Kratos can see through Dark magic

Which allows him to break any Dark magic barrier, illusion, or spell
scan

Immortality type 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 8 : even though he is killed

scan

he can get out of Hades realm

scan

and did more than once

scan

Kratos can survive fatal wounds

Type 8

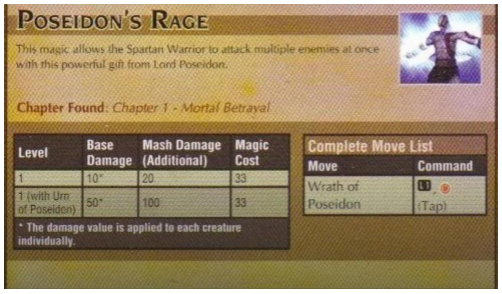

WoG

Electricity manipulation: can amp the Blades of Chaos with Zeus's lightning to electrify opponents

[scan]

Can also use Poseidon's rage to Summon lightning

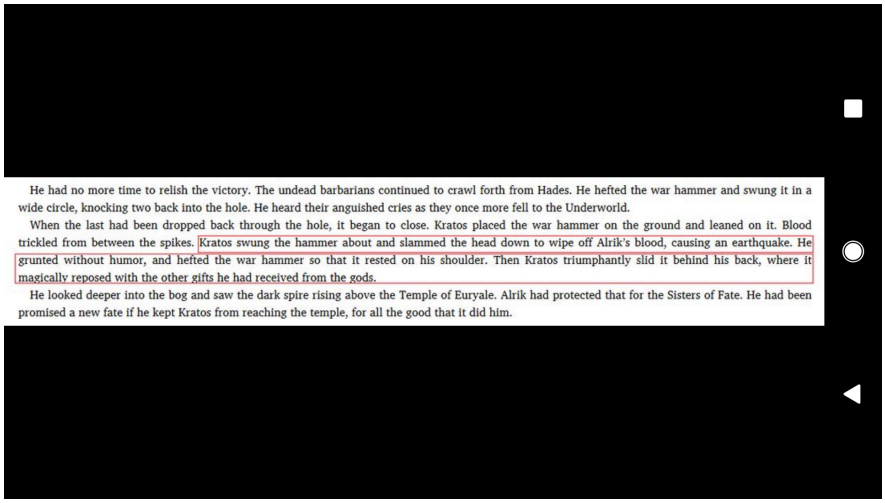

here's how kratos uses poseidon rage in game

[scan]

can use zeus fury to summon lighting bolts

[scan]

Dimensional storage: Kratos stores all weapons and magic he gets throughout his games

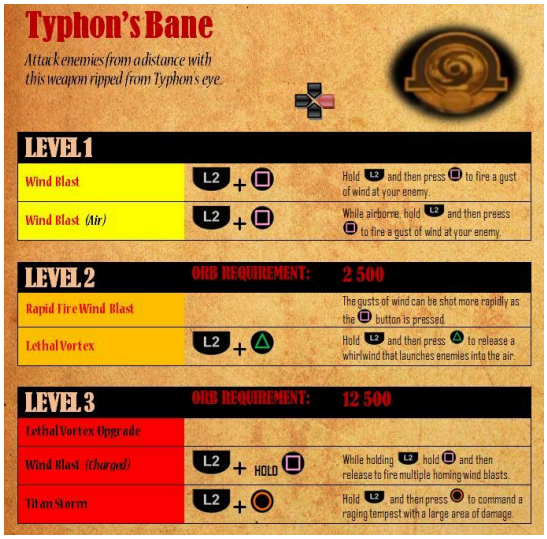

He had no more time to relish the victory. The undead barbarians continued to crawl forth from Hades. He hefted the war hammer and swung it in a wide circle, knocking two back into the hole. He heard their anguished cries as they once more fell to the Underworld.

When the last had been dropped back through the hole, it began to close. Kratos placed the war hammer on the ground and leaned on it. Blood trickled from between the spikes. Kratos swung the hammer about and slammed the head down to wipe off Alrik's blood, causing an earthquake. He grunted without humor, and hefted the war hammer so that it rested on his shoulder. Then Kratos triumphantly slid it behind his back, where it magically reposed with the other gifts he had received from the gods.

He looked deeper into the bog and saw the dark spire rising above the Temple of Euryale. Alrik had protected that for the Sisters of Fate. He had been promised a new fate if he kept Kratos from reaching the temple, for all the good that it did him.

Air manipulation: Via Typhon's Bane

Gameplay of Typhon's Bane

[scan]

Accelerated development: Kratos grows stronger and faster

Kratos recognized the danger he faced now. The essence that the eagle had drained from him had been fully transferred to the metal colossus. With every passing moment, the giant statue became stronger, faster, more capable.

"You will not defeat me this easily, Athena," he said, determination hardening within his breast. "Taking my power will not succeed. I am the God of War!"

Olympians in general grow stronger overtime and through combat

GoW 1 scan

Reactive Evolution:

Overpowered the Sisters of Fate cutting off his Thread of Fate without even noticing or feeling its effects which should have crippled and killed him instantly, instead he developed his own will to resist the Sisters' control over his fate and rendered his Thread uninteractible to the Sisters, enabling him to finally kill the Sisters once and for all.

Overpowered Castor and Pollux's Amulet of Uroboros multiple times as per WoG, where initially he was severely affected by said powers as again confirmed by WoG twice, but by the end of the fight, Kratos completely ignored and overpowered the amulet's effects and proceeded to brutalize Castor and Pollux. Even as a depowered Demigod, during the events of GoW2, he was slowly gaining resistance to the powers of the Sisters of Fate because of his willpower, causing the Sisters to detect irregularities within his Thread of Fate, and by the time he had killed the Dark Rider and Alrik, the Sisters had completely lost all control over Kratos' Thread of Fate, as his Thread had become slack and unresponsive to their actions, no longer being able to make him lose

Madness Manipulation: can summon Sirens

scan

Whose song's can drive people insane

Time manipulation: via the Amulet of Kvasir

And via the Hilt of Hofud

Amulet of Uroboros:
Time Manipulation, Time Stop, Causality Manipulation, Age Manipulation, Telekinesis, Statistics Reduction, Retrocognition, Precognition and Clairvoyance (Can slow down, freeze and rewind time, as well as de-age or age both enemies or objects considerably with the Amulet of Uroborus. Is able to shape time itself. Can also use the Amulet of Uroboros to levitate enemies in the air as well as lower their defenses. The Amulet of Uroboros is superior in potency to the Gems of Uroboros, which has the same Life Cycle powers as the Amulet itself at a weaker scale, and can foresee both the past and the future, and reveal enemy weaknesses. The Amulet of Uroboros can restore objects back to their previous state and undo the causes of their destruction as if it never happened to begin with, or even freeze them during the cause-undoing phase)

Self Healing, Statistic Amplification, Spatial Manipulation, Speed Reduction, Damage Boost, Status Effect Inducement, Forcefield Creation, Aura and Blessed: Kratos can use all these hax when he wants or passively outside of speed reduction via talismans

Scan

Can heal via Valour

Immortality type 8: Stated unable to die twice
scan

Due to the fact he can't die as long as hope exists

Vaporization: with the Soul of Hades, he can vaporize enemies

Likely 2 Layered Plot manipulation via scaling above the plot holding Norns, 3 layers of Existence Erasure, Energy Manipulation, Energy Projection, Electricity Manipulation, Aura, Explosion Inducement, Crystal Manipulation, Transmutation, Soul Manipulation, Mind Manipulation, Memory Manipulation, Vector Manipulation, Probability Manipulation, Conceptual Manipulation (All types), Non-Physical Interaction, Fate Manipulation, Causality Manipulation, Probability Manipulation, Life Manipulation, Death Manipulation, Biological Manipulation, Sleep

Manipulation, Age Manipulation and Disease Manipulation with the Spear of Destiny, as it has all of the abilities of the Sisters of Fate.

The rest are layered at least 2 times if not 3 or 4 (biological manipulation, time manipulation, soul manipulation and everything that comes with a soul. Memories, concepts etc)

Time manipulation layers:

Sisters of Fate (Fate can do and undo anything. Scroll down for scans)>Cronos (scan)>Amulet of Ouroboros>Bare hands (realm tears)

Conceptual manipulation layers (scans in resistance section)

2 layers of type 2

Sisters of Fate>Garm (with Spear of Destiny)

4 layers of type 1

Primordials<Zeus<Athena (hope is stronger than fear)<Yggdrasil

5 layers of type 3

Primordials<Thor (Norse weapons have worse hax than Greek weapons)<GoW 1
Ares/Hades<Poseidon<Zeus

Last two are both in base

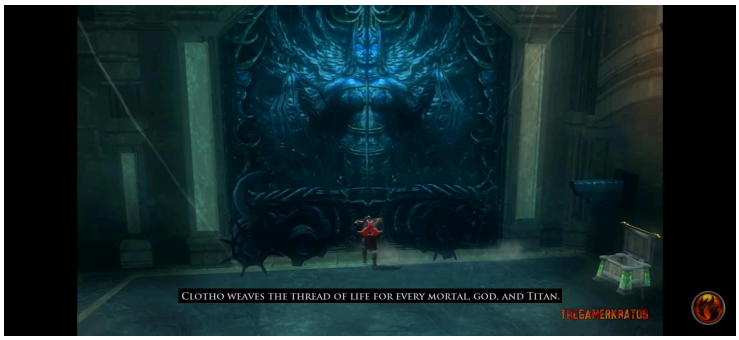

Along with Thanatos calling Kratos a “pawn” in a “game” and saying that the Sisters “make it so” supporting the fact that the SoF have plot manipulation.

Scan

Fate can undo everything

Clotho: It is through my threads that all life is born.
THEGAMERKRATOS

Clotho weaves the thread of life for every mortal, god, and Titan.
THEGAMERKRATOS

(Scroll down to resistances for the hax that you haven't seen scans for yet)

He remembered how the Warrior of Destiny had fallen and how he, Kratos, had retrieved the Warrior's weapon. The Warrior had been sent by the Fates. His weapon had to belong to their arsenal.

Kratos drew forth the Spear of Destiny and held it high over his head. Before it had shone with an inner blue-white light. No longer. Every color and hue he had ever imagined flared within the crystalline spear now. Gripping its shaft, he swung it around and drew its spearhead against an arm-thick cable of woven fates.

The threads severed cleanly, easily. The ends whipped about like things alive. Kratos heard cries that rose, filled the entire Loom Chamber. He could not tell if they were of joy or fear, sorrow or release. No longer were these souls bound to a destiny the Sisters of Fate had decreed.

He began cutting the threads, using the Spear of Destiny. With every thread he cut, the crystal spear glowed brighter and more colorful.

Wantonly slashing now, every thread he found was cut. The sounds from those attached to the far end of the threads rose in his ears, like a wave breaking against a gentle shore. The faster he chopped, the louder the sound, until a full-blown storm might be smashing against an unseen rocky point.

When he cut one bundle of threads, he felt suddenly weak and a sound like those he heard escaped his lips. Kratos grabbed at one thread of the purest ebony and held it. His heart threatened to explode.

This was his destiny. He held it in his own hands.

With a snap as if he lashed out with a whip, he sent the black thread that was his now severed fate into the mirror.

Kratos cried out as it felt as if he were being ripped apart, every muscle, every bone, every nerve destroyed.

Holy Light Projection: with the light of dawn which he can use to negate a demon's/demonic creature's durability

scan

Conceptual Resistence Negation: Kratos overcame his own resistance to conceptual manipulation resistance Negation by stabbing himself, releasing hope itself to humanity

scan

Psychometry and Weapon Mastery: Every time he gains a weapon he is shown to master it quickly

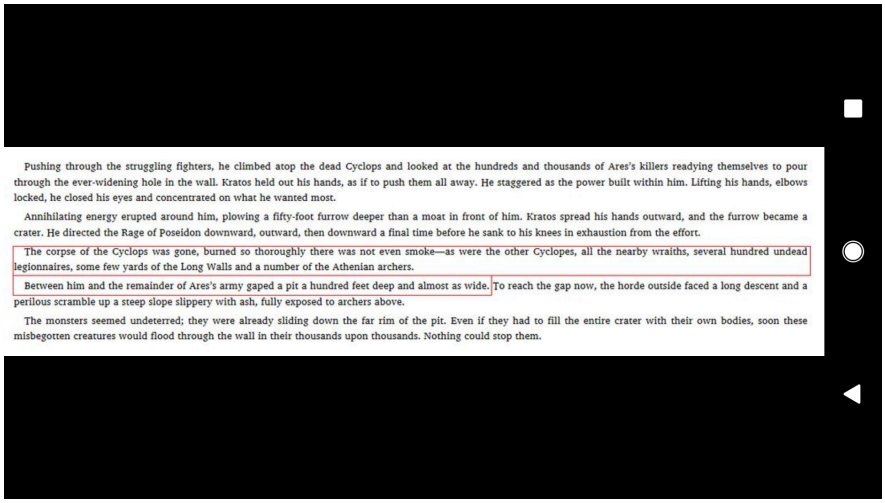

> Kratos pried the bow loose from the corpse's clutches and dislodged the quiver with a dozen arrows still in it. While he preferred the Blades of Chaos or his own bare fists, Kratos was a master of all weapons. He tested the draw on the bow and let the string twang without sending an arrow on its way. The archer had been a strong man, and this weapon might prove useful.

More for Ice and Air Manipulation: via boreas icestorm

scan
S
Time Travel, and more for Time Manipulation: after he defeated the Sisters of Fate, it's stated he has the ability to control time itself and time travelled to the Great War

scan

Deconstruction: Via Poseidon's Rage which burned a Cyclops to the point that not even Ashes remained Pushing through the struggling fighters, he climbed atop the dead Cyclops and looked at the hundreds and thousands of Ares's killers readying themselves to pour through the ever-widening hole in the wall. Kratos held out his hands, as if to push them all away. He staggered as the power built within him. Lifting his hands, elbows locked, he closed his eyes and concentrated on what he wanted most.

Annihilating energy erupted around him, plowing a fifty-foot furrow deeper than a moat in front of him. Kratos spread his hands outward, and the furrow became a crater. He directed the Rage of Poseidon downward, outward, then downward a final time before he sank to his knees in exhaustion from the effort.

The corpse of the Cyclops was gone, burned so thoroughly there was not even smoke—as were the other Cyclopes, all the nearby wraiths, several hundred undead legionnaires, some few yards of the Long Walls and a number of the Athenian archers.

Between him and the remainder of Ares's army gaped a pit a hundred feet deep and almost as wide. To reach the gap now, the horde outside faced a long descent and a perilous scramble up a steep slope slippery with ash, fully exposed to archers above.

The monsters seemed undeterred; they were already sliding down the far rim of the pit. Even if they had to fill the entire crater with their own bodies, soon these misbegotten creatures would flood through the wall in their thousands upon thousands. Nothing could stop them.

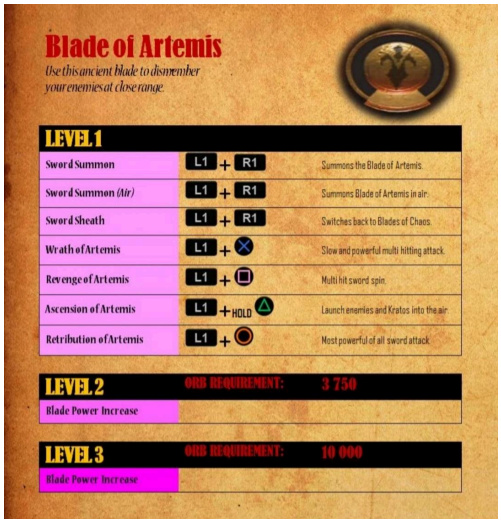

Acid Manipulation: can summon chimera soul

scan

who's tail can spit acid

[scan]

Summoning: can summon weapons like blade of Artemis

can also summon beings like efreet

[Scan]

the army of hades

[scan]

can summon the power of the wind god boreas

[scan]

[another scan]

can summon the souls the enemies he killed in his quest

[Scan]

and can summon the army of sparta

[scan]

Tornado Manipulation: has the power to create tornados

scan

Electricity Manipulation: can use Cronos's rage to attack multiple people at once with his electricity 8:48

Scan

Flight: via The Wings of Icarus

Size Manipulation: when he fought Ares he grow in size

Scan

and also shown to grow very large in size at the start of GoW 2

scan

Poison Manipulation: can summon chimera soul

scan

which can spit poison

scan

Conceptual Soul Manipulation with Claws of Hades (possibly in base): can take Cronos's soul 1:36

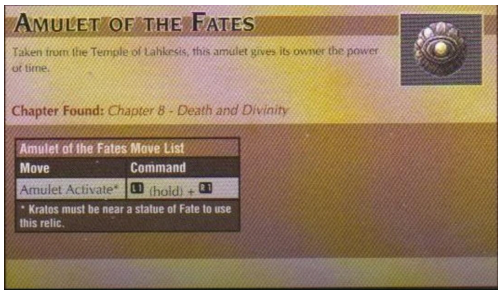

scan

the same being who embodies time as shown earlier

Sealing:

shown here

More for Time Manipulation: has the amulet of fates which have the power to manipulate time

BFR: (God of War self and Blade of Olympus) Replaced Ares who could do this.

3 layered BFR with BoO

first layer

Ares (second layer)

last layer

Power mimicry: after Killing Thera with his blades, he gains her fire ability

scan

After he killed someone with Efreet, he can use their powers as well

scan

Astral Projection: Would scale to ares who also talked with Kratos through flames

scan (only GoW self)

Danger sensing: can sense Imminent danger

Also grants Instinctive Reaction: via shutting his brain he can react purely on instinct

The surrounding trees thinned to wide expanses of thatchy grass when they reached the peak. Kratos' sense for imminent danger flooded his brain. Something was close.
"Caution, boy. If the nephew found us, the uncle cannot be far behind," Kratos said.

Summoning: Has the head of Danaus which can summon animals

Death Manipulation: became the embodiment of Death

scan

Fire Manipulation: Using Charon Wrath, he can blast green fire at multiple enemies .

scan

Regeneration: High-Godly and High-Godly negation: Kratos in his fight with Zeus where Zeus tricks him into giving up his powers, he gets stabbed and gets sent to Hades, there we see him regenerate from the wound.

scan,

However, this is not just physical regeneration. As it is the soul that is sent to Hades, as shown by Kratos' first visit where he doesn't have his abdomen wound from the pillar thrown by Hades. The novel notes this as well.

scan

It is also directly stated that his cursed soul was cast into Hades. In the God of War II novel, one of the Sisters of Fates mentions that Kratos had “robbed Hades of his soul twice”.

In other words, regenerating it, which is Mid-Godly due to GoW souls holding concepts.

Note that the Sisters of Fate scale above the River Leath which erases the memory of a soul’s existence. (Scroll below to his resistances for scan)

In other words, the history of an individual, qualifying for High Godly.

Lahkesis seared Kratos’ Soul

Kratos half turned to Lahkesis, who said, “I am through playing games with you, Kratos. This power was never meant for a mortal like you.”

Lahkesis raised her staff. It had been eye searing before. Now it seared Kratos’ very soul.

And regenerated from this very easily

Kratos has also tanked hits from the Spear of Destiny

“What is his weapon?” Although the axe blade gleamed sharp and deadly in the sunlight, Kratos instinctively knew the real weapon was the short spear thrust into the warrior’s belt. It had the aura of power, deadly power, about it.

“The Spear of Destiny,” Gaia said. “Fear it, Kratos. Do not let it touch you!”

“He cannot stop me!”

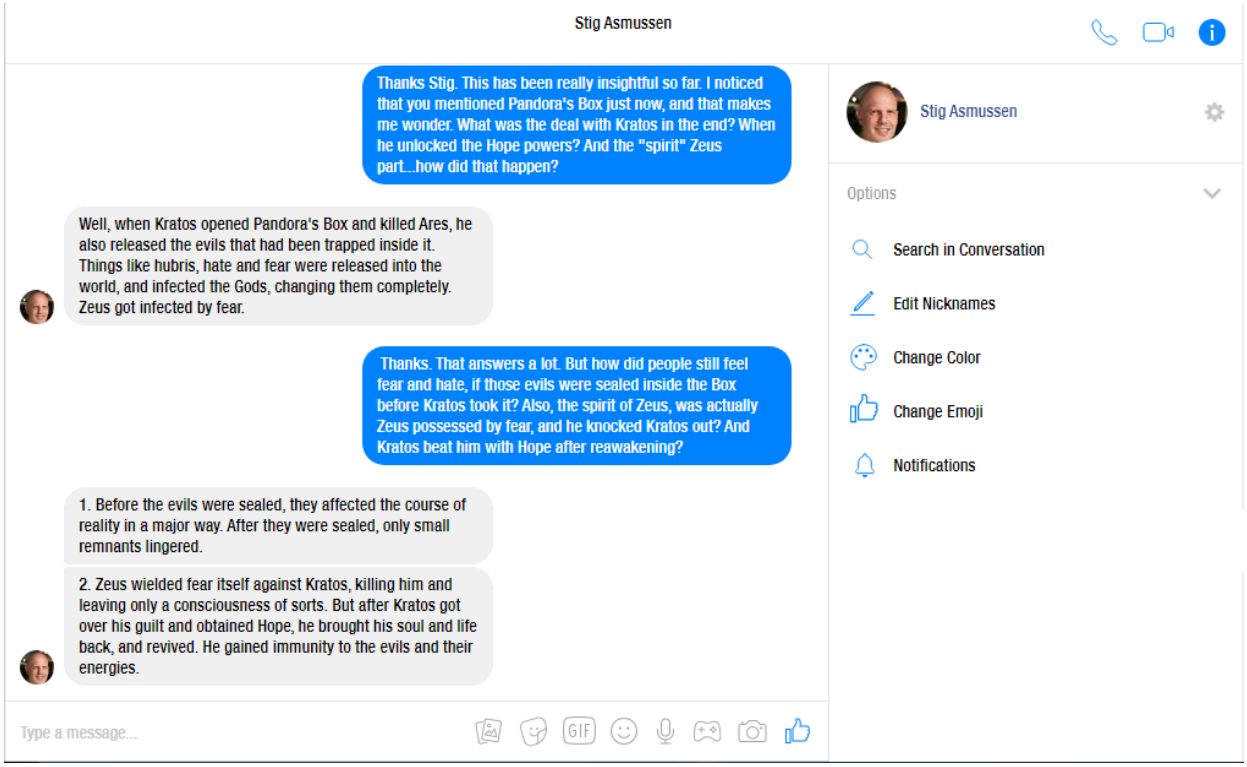

“He is a more dangerous foe than you realize, Kratos. The Warrior of Destiny would prevent you from reaching the island and the palaces of the Sisters of Fate. You do not want to fall to him or your shade is forfeit for all eternity!”

Which destroys souls

Souls contain concepts of a being

Kratos can rip souls apart: here, here (proof that they are souls)

Fear Zeus conceptually erased Kratos' soul

and he came back with Hope

This would grant Kratos high-godly regen and high-godly neg due to scaling above everyone else in Greece/Killing Zeus who has similar regen to him.

Immortality negation: Types 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9; Able to kill Undead Legionnaires which can survive fatal wounds, as well as being able to kill resurrecting cursed Legionnaires and undead Cursed Remains, His Norse self, who is effectively his Demigod self with god-level strength, is able to kill Hel Creatures that can resurrect, and being able to kill parasites and remove the possession-like immortality from their hosts easily

Capable of destroying the world tree (via scaling to Ragnarok as he supplied its power, shook the WT to its very roots, capable of erasing all of existence and Thor who splintered it) which contains death and life and has an independent true form.

Killed Gaia, Who has an independent true form.

Can neg type 8 due to killing gods that depend on prayers for survival.

PoH:

Abstract Existence (Type 2; Gained Hope itself, and is unable to die as long as Hope exists) Advanced Non-Physical Interaction (Can harm Fear Zeus with Hope. Terrified Athena and was capable of striking her down, the latter of whom had ascended to a higher plane of existence that granted her power and a level of existence beyond everyone else)
Conceptual Invulnerability (Type 1. 2 and 3 After Kratos unlocked Hope, he became unaffected by the energies and the effects of Fear Zeus, who is the very concept of Fear itself. Athena confirms verbally that what Kratos wields could never be destroyed by Fear Zeus)

5 layers of Reality Warping and subjective reality: (See below for chain)

Resistance to

Sealing:

scales above these guys

Athena also couldn't take hope back from him.

2 layered (3 with PoH) resistance negation

Scales above Zeus and Fires of Olympus

FoO resistance negation shown

Here

Zeus resistance negation shown

Here

(PoH)

Resistance Negation: with the power of hope he can withstand the flames of Olympus,which can kill him despite his death manipulation resistance

scan

These do layer onto each other due to Kratos being able to resist Zeus' negation properties in GoW 2.

Showing that Zeus' current RE is stronger than his past and thus layers onto itself (Zeus' reactive evolution)

At the end of the game. Kratos is able to resist Zeus' lightning again.

PoH obviously scales above this.

Layer chain

PoH>Zeus>FoO Zeus

2/3 Layered Death manipulation: survived EE from River Styx and survived having sex with Zora and Lora and survived the Siren's shrieks

Once, on a battlefield outside Sparta, he had come across two Sirens and had ordered his men to fill them full of arrows. The Sirens had been dining on the dead of both sides, greedily gobbling up human flesh and smearing the blood all over themselves. Their death cries had cost him three expert archers. As the Sirens had died, they screeched at such a pitch that the men's heads exploded. Kratos had ordered the Sirens' carcasses to be carved into pieces so small that even crows would ignore them and then be flung to the four winds, so that the monsters' shades would wander forever restless upon the earth.

"We are your willing slaves, Captain Kratos," one of them said.
The other added, "So long as you can keep us satisfied."
"The captain had concubines in this cabin—" Kratos began. "Oh, yes, he kept girls of his own," a twin said, a little sadly. "He never touched us."
"Never?"
The other sighed. "He wasn't man enough. After two or three of the crew died, he locked us away."
"They … died?" Kratos couldn't quite make sense of this. "So the captain locked you up? They died doing … what?"
"Us," one said brightly.
The other contributed a perky nod. "He wanted to keep his crew safe. From us. We have been very lonely."
Kratos said slowly, "I see."
"And we're so happy to have met you … and that you didn't die. Really."
"Likewise," Kratos said. He reflected that this trip to Athens might be more interesting than he had anticipated.
The twin on his left stroked the bulge of muscle at his shoulder. "Are you a—"
"—king, Master Kratos?" finished the twin on his right side.
"I am only a soldier," he said.
"A great soldier," said one.
"A champion," agreed the other.
"I have been given a quest by the gods."
"That sounds—"
"—dangerous," the twins said.
"We sail for Athens. There I will set you free."
"We don't want to be free. We want to be your slaves."
"Forever," said the other. "Or at least until you die. You're very strong, master."
"And so large."
Kratos found himself without anything to say.

Layer chain

Styx>Zora and Lora>Sirens

Conceptual Manipulation Type 1, 2 and 3:Via Thanatos and survived attacks from fear Zeus who is the embodiment of the concept of fear

scan

and from people who can interact with Chronos and Thanatos as well as Deimos and Hades

type 2 here (resistance)

Type 3 scan is in the regen section

Fire manipulation: unaffected by Hades's fire

Poison and Acid Manipulation: overpowered the effects of the manticore potion

scan

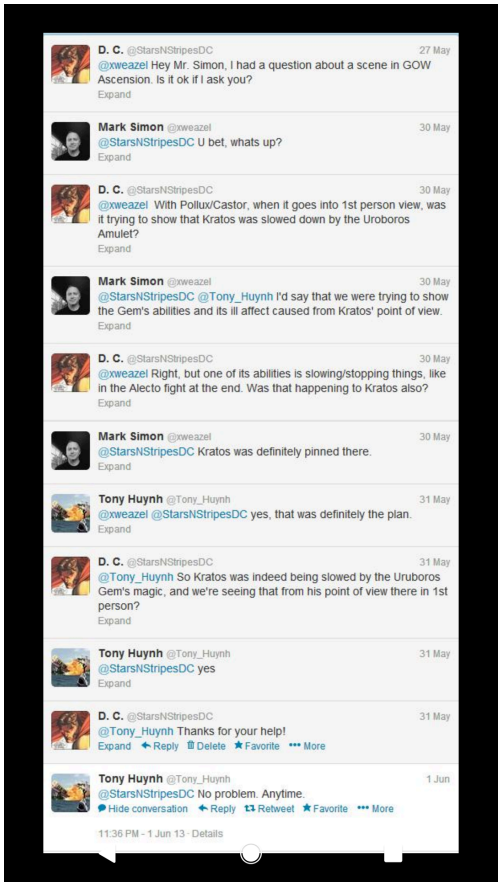

Age and Time Manipulation: ovepowered the effects of the Amulet of Uroborus

scan

several times

another scan

even confirmed by the wog

Petrification: broke out of Gorgon petrification

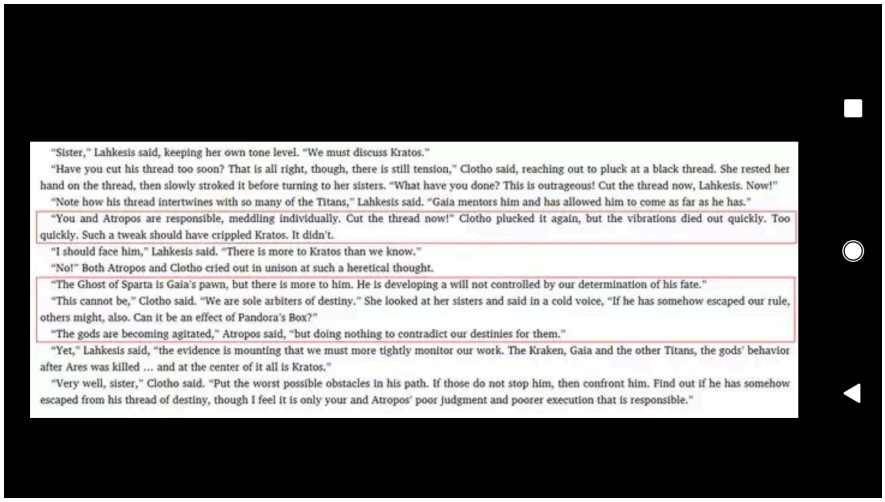

[scan]

2 (maybe 3) Layered Electricity Manipulation: powered through sirens electricity

[scan]

Layer Chain

Thor>=Zeus>Sirens
Fate Manipulation, Plot Manipulation and Acasuality Type 1 and 4 (5 if you use CSAP)
Negation: thanks to Pandora's Box sisters of fate were unable to change kratos destiny

Sisters of Fate control everything in Greek Saga:

Here, Here, Here and here

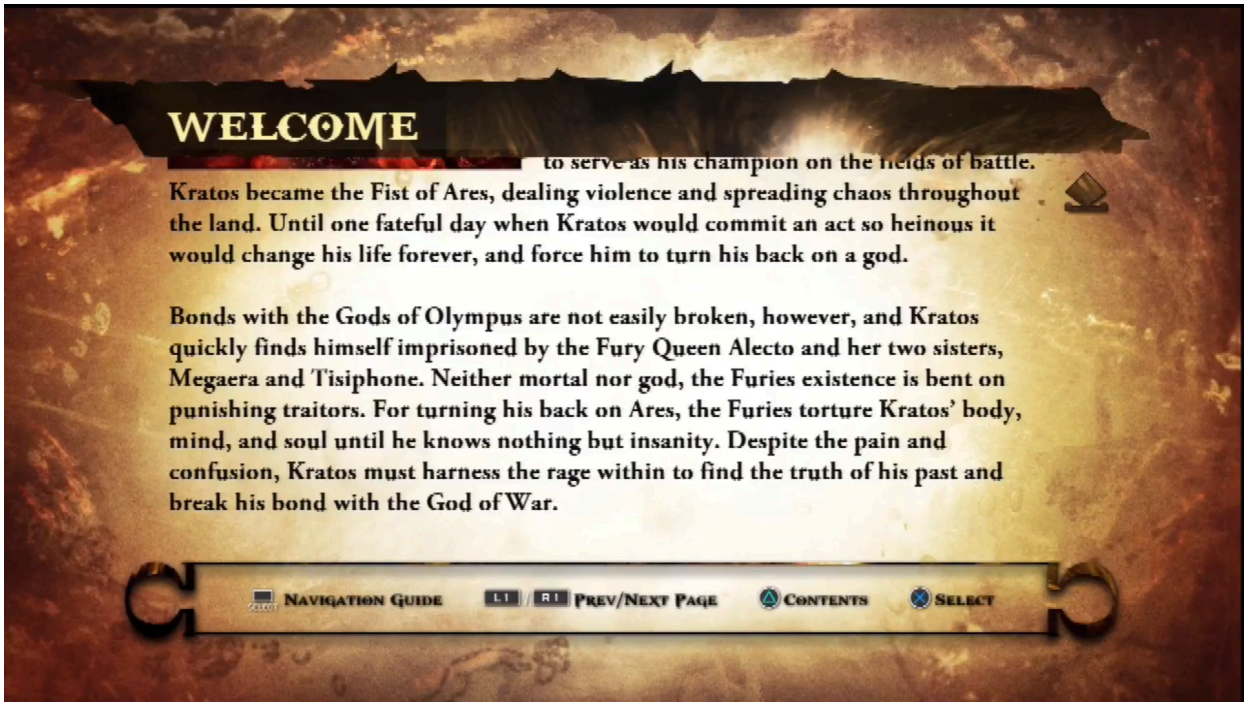

This includes the plot of the game as the Norns, who are weaker than the Sisters of Fate, have definitive control over it.

Shown here

Killed multiple primordials who have type 5 acausality (CSAP)

Mind manipulation:

explanation

Alfheim scan

At least 3 layers of MM, likely more

Styx>Light of Alfheim>Furies

Conceptual Fear Manipulation, Possession and Mind Manipulation: easily resisted and ignored the effects the fear Zeus

scan

who was using his fear to posses Kratos and was fucking with his mind

scan

Madness Manipulation (all types): Resisted the Siren's song who can drive people to Madness

Type 1

Type 2

Type 3

Fear Manipulation:

scan

Layered Transmutation, Soul Manipulation, and 15 layers of Power Nullification:

resisted the Hands of Hades and the Blade of Olympus multiple times which can transmute people into lost souls and strip off their power

4 layers of Illusion Creation, Perception Manipulation and Reality Warping: He negated the Furries's illusions

scan

which warps the victim's senses

scan

and distort the area around them

scan

And warp reality

Scan (confirmation below)

SSM: The process of concept art here at Sony Santa Monica really defines the vision and characters of our games quite literally. Specifically with Tisiphone (the Mental Fury and one of the main protagonists in God of War: Ascension), explain the story how you were approached to design her, and the initial challenges.

ER: Our vision of the franchise has revolved around two words that have been beaten into our minds, "epic" and "brutality". Applying that to specific characters can be challenging. Tisiphone was designed with the idea that her illusions could become real life threats as well as being the ultimate mind-* for Kratos. She was difficult because she needed to create environmental illusions as well as act as a mini-boss that could physically harm Kratos in a major way. The bridge we created to marry these two ideas was her Daemon illusion would accomplish both goals. Initially she was going to have bladed wings or possibly use sound to form attacks. There were tons of directions she was going to go, but we chose a route that was much easier to accomplish in the given time frame.

He doesn't need the Eyes of Truth for this btw

Olympians cannot be deceived by illusions

God of War 3 Remastered (PS5) - Kratos Vs. Helios Boss Fight (4K 60FPS)

God of War 3 Remastered (PS5) - Gameplay Walkthrough FULL GAME (4K 60FPS) No C…

Ares made a pocket dimension

That he has full control over

Granting him reality-warping

Layer chain:

Olympian Perception>Ares>Eyes of Truth>Base

Power Absorption:

Shown here

4 (possibly 5) layers of Existence Erasure

Shown here, here, here (EE proof), here (with Unity Stone) and here (proof it's a void, proof of EE)

Void manipulation also contains EE has left behind, leaving the spirit to wander forever, without name, without home …

Without past.

This dream drives him forward in one final, fatal step, which topples him into clouds that shred around him as he falls. The sea-chewed rocks below materialize, gaining solidity along with size, racing upward to crush his life.

"Now there is no hope."

No hope in this world—but in the next, within the bounds of the mighty Styx that marks the borders of Hades, runs the river Lethe. A draft of that dark water, it is said, erases the memory of the existence a shade

Death+History erasure of your existence=EE

(Shade means soul btw)

Layer Chain:

SoF>River Styx>Light of Alfheim>Realm Tears>Erinys

3 Layered BFR and Power Mimicry: Ares (1st layer because he is lower in the Greek hierarchy than Zeus), Zeus (2nd Layer, his BFR affected the Titans) and Thor (3rd layer, his BFR affected Yggdrasil which scales above everything mentioned)

Ares

Zeus

Thor

Sleep Manipulation: should be able to resist hades power to put someone to a sleep that lasted several days

Power Nullification and Absorbtion: after killing himself and releasing the hope in the world he was still able to come back to life,should be to resist Zeus's abilities that can do this

Law Manipulation:

Resisted and killed the Furies who is the law embodied

Furies, or more aptly the Erinyes in Greek Mythology, as our primary antagonists. We had to bend them to fit our story a little bit, but they act as a group of bounty hunters and torturers for the Gods. They are the keepers of Oaths and punishers of those that would foolishly renege on a contract. They are older than Zeus and the Titans, and are a force unto themselves. In a very real sense, they are "law" incarnate.

6 layers of Precognition and Clairvoyance:

Zeus was able to predict when he was going to die before he got the pandora box

scan

another scan

yet, Kratos was still unpredictable to him with the power of hope

scan

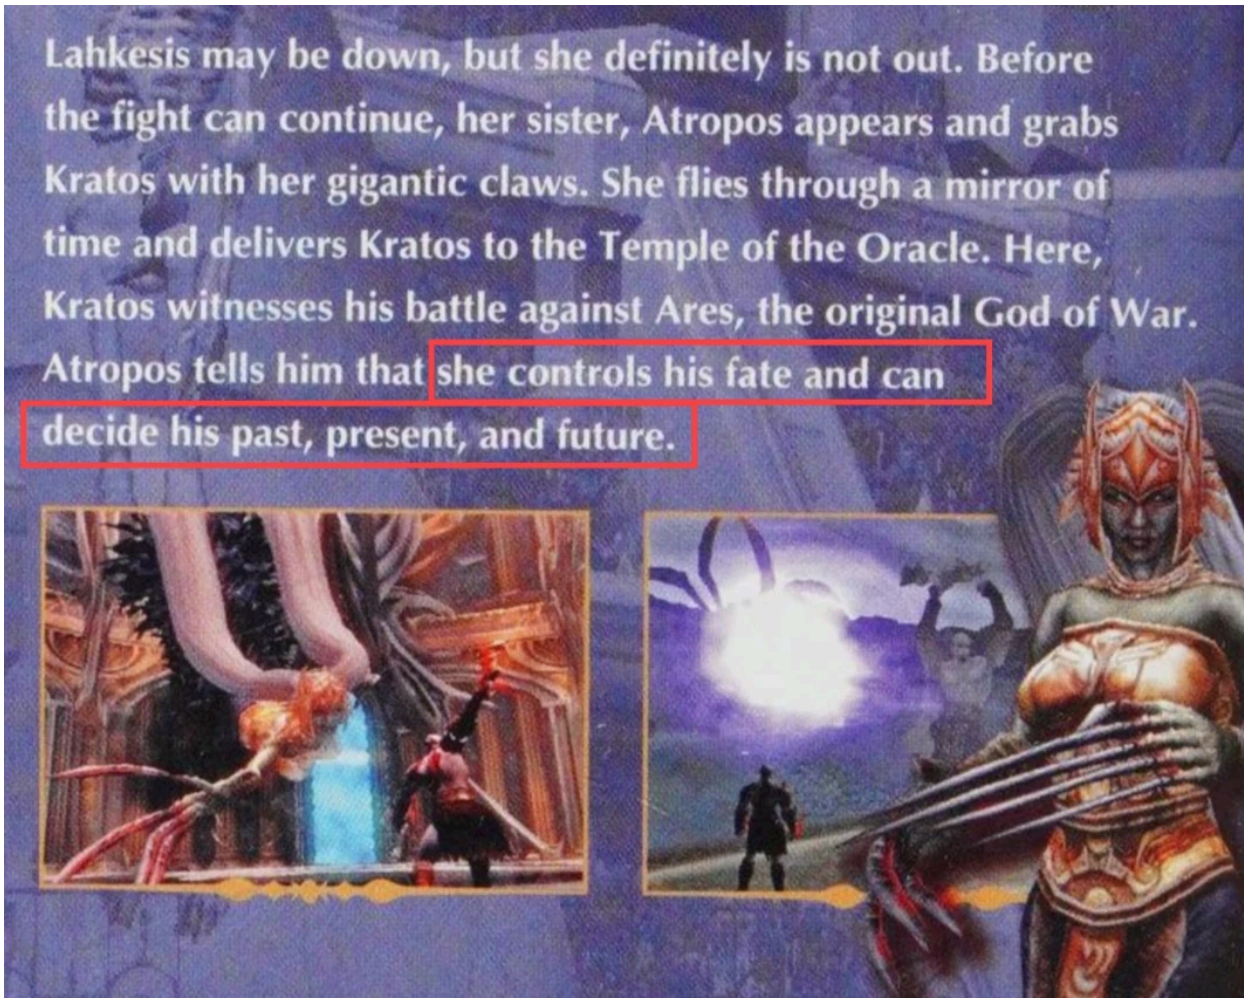

The judges of hades are unable to read Kratos heart

scan

despite being stated able to do that

Scan

Resisted the Precog of the Sisters of Fate:

Athena didn't expect him to kill her when she was the God of Foresight

No struggle. No scream. No cry for help. He plunged head-first toward his death on the rocks below, and on his face was only calm.

"You didn't see this coming?" Hermes smirked. "Aren't you supposed to be the Goddess of Foresight?"

When she turned her level stare upon him, he smothered that smirk with a cough. "When next we meet," she said, low and deadly, "I will share what I foresee for you."

"I, uh . . . was only teasing." He swallowed hard. "Only teasing . . ."

Grew to resist and nullify Heimdalls precog

Layer chain

Sisters of Fate>Zeus>Heimdall(better feats)>Athena>Judges of Hades>Amulet of Oroboros

Soul Destruction and Deconstruction: as shown earlier, Kratos' weapons he gained from Poseidon can destroy the soul and kill them to the point not even the smoke remains yet he is still unable to kill Kratos

scan

2 layered Void Manipulation: resisted Erinys's power

scan

Along with Realm Tears (already have seen scans)

Layer Chain

Realm tears>Erinys

2 layered Corruption Type 1 and 2: Unaffected by the trial gates which can corrupt anyone who touches it in a monster

Type 1

Type 2 shown here

More than his dark visage, Athena felt a different presence in her uncle that had not been common in Olympus prior to Kratos ascending the throne of the God of War. There was a blackness to the very air that corrupted anything it touched. Where once Olympus had been a place of great joy and beauty, now it held only anger, fear, and a growing darkness.

And

Reaver

Class: Grunt

These were just normal human Reavers once, but they look like they've been corrupted by seiðr magic. When did this start happening?

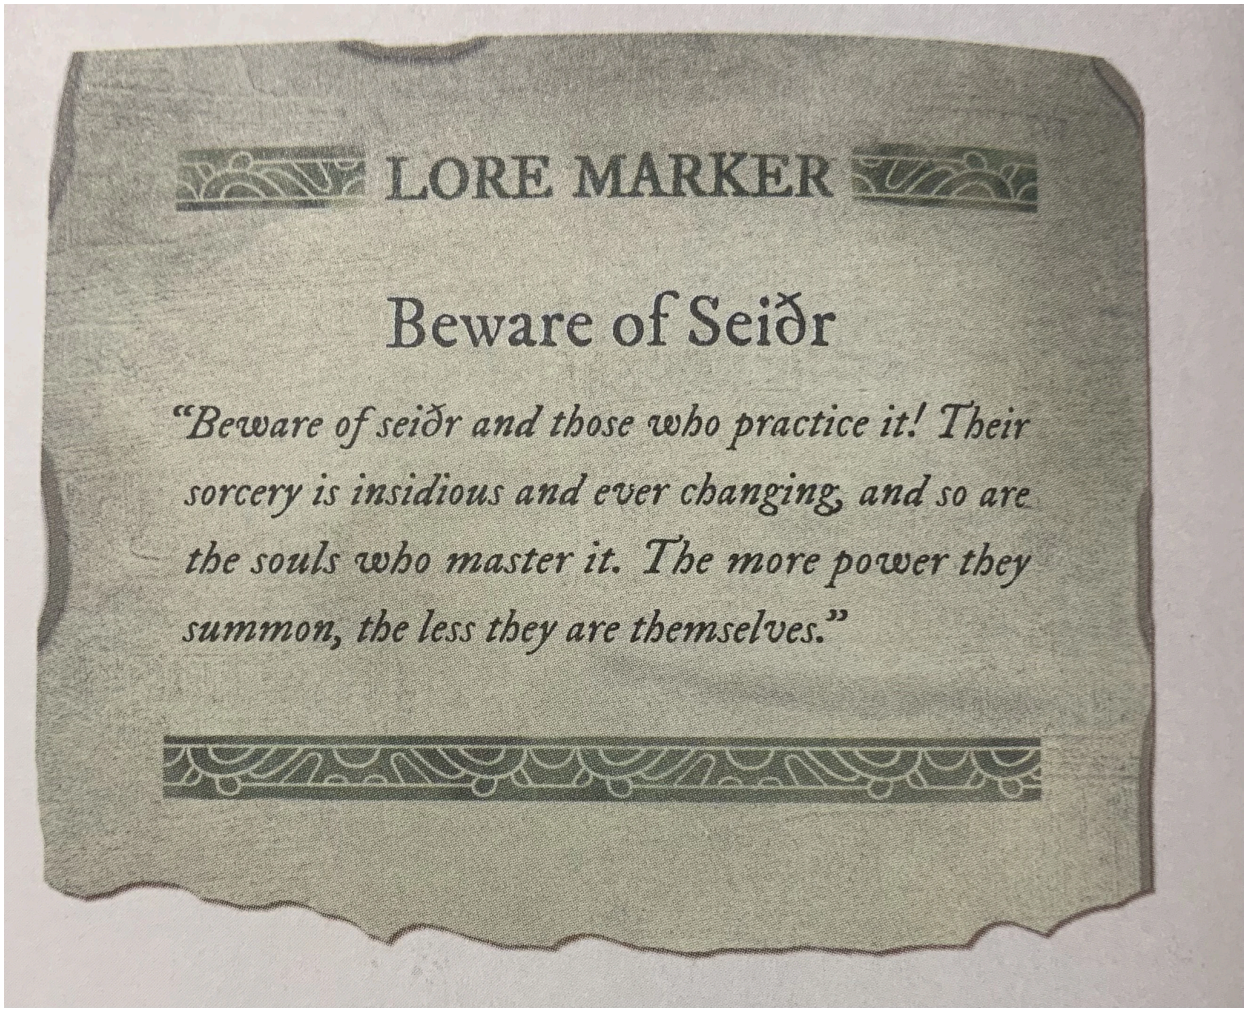

Seiðr Reavers are able to heal, so if we start attacking one, we should try to finish the job quickly. When they die, they detonate in a poison cloud. If we're too close, we should try to dodge away.

MORE NOTES:

Reavers aren't much of a match against Leviathan, but when their health is low, they raise their arms to conjure up healing seiðr magic. You have to keep hitting the same guy until he's dead. Some Reavers carry shields too, making them tougher to kill, but Father can knock them backward with his own shield or throw his axe at their legs to knock them to the ground.

Strengths	Nothing special
Weaknesses	Weak against frost and Father's rage

and

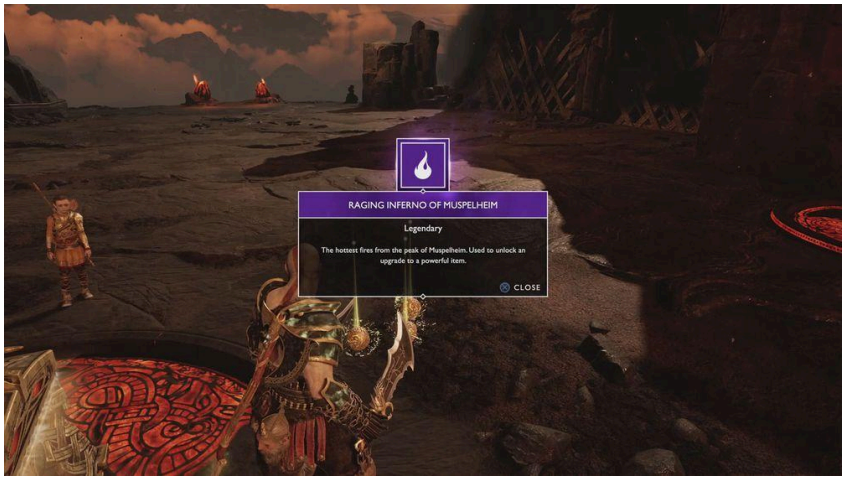

Layer chain

Seidr Magic>Trail gates

Curse and Life Manipulation: Utilizes Hades's Helmet which grants resistances to these abilities

explanation

Extreme Heat and Cold: can survive holding this physically without any damage and can survive in Helheim

scan

Atreus stated that trying to read Kratos's mind was like "banging on a Traveller Champion's shield".

Heimdall, who was renowned for never being hit in combat, was eventually unable to read and foresee Kratos's future attacks or his intentions to use the Draupnir explosively against him, eventually getting grabbed and then punched in the face as a result, ultimately no longer being able to read his mind, confirming that he could no longer read his mind.

Resistance Negation on a Conceptual Level: Could overcome Fear Zeus' Conceptual Manipulation, the same Zeus who overcame Kratos' resistance to conceptual Manipulation previously who can survive attacks from Thanatos