Warning: There is a possibility you can find some English errors on this doc, it was made on another language and I used a translator app to translate it, if you find any English errors please tell me in discord @Hypervenomextreme 2.0

Part 2 of the Amelia Elliott Wilson document.

—----------

The first game will be a detective game between Emma and Alice that will take place inside a virtual reality machine that does not have a memory-altering function. Both of them enter the game and begin the final challenge. Emma (who kept her memories this time) opens her eyes and finds herself in an old mansion. She drinks some tea while talking to the mansion's butlers and maids, who do not have names, instead they use numbers as a form of identification. After a while, she hears a scream coming from the upper floors and runs towards the place. When she gets there, Emma finds a dead body and a woman passed out near the body. The woman wakes up and seems confused. Upon noticing this, Emma understands almost immediately that she was being used as a scapegoat. When the other people arrive at the place, the woman that Emma found near the body quickly becomes the main suspect for the murder. Ignoring all this, Emma approaches the body and observes the surroundings.

P1: There is a phrase written in blood on the wall of the room. Who's laughing now?

P2: The victim was stabbed 32 times with a sharp object, most likely a knife.

C1: When observing this, it becomes more than clear that the killer in this case has something personal against the victim.

P3: On the victim's chest, a sketch of the image of a snake was drawn with a knife next to a drawing of a broken heart.

C2: In many countries and places, betrayal is mainly symbolized by the image of a snake. The heart and the snake together can symbolize a betrayal in love. Perhaps the killer killed the victim because of a betrayal in love.

C3: Bright Future High School really likes to put subtle clues like these in their events. Bright Future has a high insistence on testing the intellectual abilities of its students, so it makes sense that they would put this clue, which makes it reliable since they don't usually put false evidence in events and they definitely wouldn't make a case impossible to solve.

P4: In the victim's hand is a torn white cloth like those used by the mansion's butlers.

C4: It is highly likely that one of the butlers is the killer, but there is also the possibility that the killer is trying to place the blame on someone else.

P5: Of all the butlers who were present at the scene, the only one who was not wearing a white cloth around his neck was butler number 17.

C5: Butler number 17 was with Emma and the other butlers and maids in the living room when the crime occurred and was there for 1 hour according to the other servants, which makes the idea of him being the killer impossible.

P6: The victim had his head turned to the left and in that direction there was only a regular wall, however the victim's face suggested that he saw something in that direction.

P7: Emma approaches the wall and discovers a secret passage that leads to the mansion's owner's room.

Final conclusion: The killer must be one of the owners of the mansion since only they could possibly know about the secret passage, someone who suffered a love betrayal in which the victim was involved and someone with knowledge about symbology.

Emma remembers that the owner of the mansion was in the living room with her 15 seconds before the murder and he went to another location where she was not able to see where, the owner of the mansion would never have been able to climb to the second floor where the body was found, stab the victim 32 times and escape through the secret passage in a mere 34 seconds which was the time the screams were heard 15s and the time it took for Emma to reach the second floor 19s, so only the son of the owner of the mansion can be the killer, upon discovering this Emma reveals 38 seconds after the start of her investigation the identity of the killer and easily wins the game in a mere 1 minute and a half. Both Amelia and Ryan were able to figure out the killer's identity before Emma revealed it to everyone. They figured out what the snake and the heart symbolized and also correctly deduced the killer's identity before Emma revealed it, with Emma deducing the killer's identity in 23 seconds, Amelia in 19 seconds and Ryan in 34 seconds, 4 seconds before Emma pointed out the killer's identity, showing that even Ryan was not able to compete with both of them in deduction, but he is not too far behind in comparison to them. Amélia is disguised as Emma during the events of this exam, that's why I refer to Amélia as Emma here.

(Deductive reasoning, abstract reasoning, inductive reasoning, abductive reasoning, Logical reasoning, critical thinking, abstract thinking, Fast thinking, conceptual thinking)

After returning back in Los Angeles from the island survival exam (in Emma Elliot Wilson's document), Emma and Amelia prepare to go back home. Emma still maintained her original abilities even with her traumas, but prefers to keep her mental abilities a secret for now. Amelia then tells her to go ahead and says that she (Amelia) wanted to do something important first and that she would catch up later. After a while, Ryan receives a challenge invitation from Amelia to decide once and for all who was the best among them. Ryan was suspicious of the invitation that Amelia had sent through the tablets that the teachers had not yet collected back from the students, but he quickly calmed down and said that there was nothing she could do to compromise him or expel him from the school. Ryan then goes to the marked place which was the student council room of which he was a part. He waited there for a while until he heard the noise of the door opening, but to his surprise the people who had entered the place were the teachers and some students that Ryan had manipulated to harm the class. Amelia, including the girl he used the eyes of death on to try to expel Emma (Amelia in disguise) from the exam, he then asked what was going on and the science teacher approached him and said that he was being expelled from school for threatening and blackmailing the students, threatening the MVP students with death and inducing a girl to stab herself, Amelia had falsified evidence against him, Ryan knew that no matter what he did or said, the teachers would definitely not believe anything that came out of his mouth, facing the harsh reality he found himself in, he completely lost his composure and began attacking each of the teachers, he killed each of the students who were there and left the teachers in critical condition, after that he ran through the school looking for Amelia, after walking a lot he finally found her, upon seeing the blood on her clothes and hands, Amelia told Emma to run away with a friend of hers and they both went to the school exit while Amelia stayed to fight with Ryan, after a little idle talk the fight started with a Ryan's attack which Amelia dodged with some difficulty, the two exchanged punches with each other but Ryan was the first to take a hit, after realizing that he had been injured first by Amelia his anger increased even more and he entered a state of fury, his body began to produce a high amount of adrenaline, his punches and movements became faster, stronger and more unpredictable, Amelia attacked him whenever she had the chance but he always came back to attack her as if her blows were nothing, until Amelia took a blow from Ryan in her stomach, a blow that Amelia said she had felt as if his punch was going to go through her stomach and enter her body, Amelia wondered where he got that superhuman strength from and began to focus on dodging his blows that could only be described as being faster than the common human mind could process, Amelia dodges with difficulty one of Ryan's punches that approaches her ear and hears a tremendously loud noise caused by the force of Ryan's fists, the The noise was so loud that Amelia feared it might end up bursting her eardrums, This confrontation between the two continued until she was almost out of breath and her stamina was almost gone. Out of nowhere, a person entered the place where the fight was taking place and with his hand he was grabbing Emma's hair, who was unconscious and extremely injured. After seeing this, Amelia, overcome with rage, beat that person until she was unable to get up and with a single punch she cracked Ryan's skull and put him in a life or death situation. After that, Amelia carried Emma's unconscious body for 4KM on foot even with all her injuries. She could barely feel her legs, her ribs were fractured, her face and body were covered in bruises and mud because she always fell to the ground after walking a lot, but she always got up and kept walking. She broke the bones of 2 fingers on her hand while she was beating Ryan and was extremely tired, but even with all this she kept walking. Some children who were teasing and throwing stones at her were frightened by just a brief look from her. Even though she was injured, she defeated them. with ease several professional assassins who had been hired by Ryan (the assassins would only do something if he lost the confrontation against Amelia), she refused help from anyone who appeared in front of her, she walked and walked until she arrived at the hospital, her body then collapsed completely on the floor, she stayed 9 days in the hospital without waking up and after a long time she finally woke up, she bribed all the doctors present at the place to give the news to her father that she had become wheelchair-bound and that she would never be able to walk again, she then ordered some members of Red9 to kill them a few hours later, she sat in a wheelchair and went outside the room where her father was, who had gone there to visit her after seeing that she was well enough to go home and that the fact of being in a wheelchair did not affect her mentally, the hospital discharged her and Amelia was carried by her father in his arms, until they arrived in his car and returned back to his mansion.(Finally this arc ended and in a little while we will get to the Adult Amelia)

(Composure, determination, perseverance, fear inducement, persuasion, Fabrication, emotional engagement, emotional self regulation, stress management, mental fortitude, impulse management, concealment)

—----------

During the events of the great special exam, both Emma and Amélia engaged in a long battle of wits, one of the consequences for the loser of these battles was a execution, when the loser of the game died inside the virtual reality machine, they feel the same amount of pain a normal person would feel from the way they died, for example during the great special event, for example Emma's body was devoured by piranhas and she felt the same amount of pain if her body was really being devoured by piranhas, after the execution the loser was revived to continue the game, the great special event was composed of 3 games were this rule of same amount of pain worked and the total amount of deaths being 4, Amélia was executed not 1, not 2 but 3 times and Emma was executed only 1 time, in the first time Amélia was killed by hundreds of bullets hitting her body at almost the same time, in her second death, she was hanged and in her third death she was burned to death like a witch, in her first death she returned back to life and was just scared and breathing intensely, in her second death she was capable of maintaining her composure and in her third death she didn't showed any sign of fear or pain differently from Emma who died 1 time and also returned back to life in the virtual reality and she was just briefing intensely, Emma's death was being devoured by Piranhas.

(Emotional management, impulse management, composure, determination, stress management, perseverance, mental fortitude)

—----------

(Heavily inspired by the first main game of Your Turn to Die)

(Definitely her best strategy feat)

The ultimate challenge, the great special event:

At Bright Future School, an event takes place every year and now that Amelia was about to graduate, that would be her first time at that event and even though she couldn't move her legs, she decided to continue attending Bright Future School. Bright Future School is well-known for this specific event that trained several different aspects, both mental and physical. In that year's event, the aspects that would be trained would be things like manipulation, strategy, observation and speed of reasoning, that is, mental attributes. The event would be in virtual reality and a virtual reality machine would be used to temporarily remove the players' memories. After all, it wouldn't be any fun if they already knew that everything that happened there was merely a game and they wouldn't take the situation seriously. After that, some third-year students, including Emma and Amelia, went to the machine and entered the game. In that game, Amelia could move her body freely and was no longer in a wheelchair. Upon entering the game, Amelia and Emma decided to pretend to be each other to fool the strange group of students who were confused about what was happening. After that, they joined the group of students who were introducing themselves to each other and asking how they got to that place and if they knew where they were. The place where they were was completely closed and had only a few dim lights illuminating everything and several televisions hanging on the walls. Amelia introduced herself to the group as Emma and Emma introduced herself as Amelia. After a few minutes, the televisions on the walls turned on and on the screen there was a masked man who said he would explain the rules of the death game to all the students. The students were frightened when they heard the word “death game” and began to wonder what was going on. Both Emma and Amelia remained calm. The instructor of the death game, ignoring the students’ questions, began to explain the rules.

- Each of the students has a tablet in their hands and on this tablet there is a specific function called find cards that will reveal the location of the card (or the player's role) chosen for that specific player and will also reveal which player's card is, the cards represent the roles of the game and there are several of them, the students have a certain amount of time to find their cards and talk to each other, but revealing or talking about the roles to each other is not allowed and will result in death, after all the students have taken their cards (or roles) and the conversation time runs out they will have to go to the voting room, there they will have to decide among themselves who will be eliminated from the game and vote for that person.

- The participant card has nothing special, if the person with the sacrifice card receives the majority of votes, everyone will be killed except the user of the sacrifice card. In addition, the user of the sacrifice can choose one person to survive with him if he wishes, but if the sacrifice does not receive the majority of votes, he will die. The person with the savior card can confiscate and throw away the cards of other students, turning them into participants, but he does not know who has the sacrifice card, so he will have to guess by observing the facial expressions of the other players. In addition, there are special cards whose effects will only be mentioned at the end of the game.

- The game will have multiple rounds and will only end when there are only 2 players left. After the time for conversation between the students is over, they will go to the voting room where they will debate and discuss to decide who should be eliminated among the students.

After revealing the rules, the students' tablets rang and it was revealed to them the location of their cards and which card it was. Amelia stood at a certain distance from the other students so she could observe each one's facial expressions and noticed that one of the students, Ashley, had a minimal expression of fear for exactly 0.5 seconds, but quickly forced a calm expression. She then waited for the other students to go after their cards and approached Ashley. Amelia revealed that she knew that she (Ashley) was the user of the sacrifice card. She was surprised but quickly tried to play dumb, but Amelia pressed her more and more until she gave in. She (Amelia) said she would help her and sent a message from her tablet to Emma telling her not to take her card yet. Amelia told Ashley to go get her card and not let anyone see it. Upon seeing Ashley going after her card, she (Amelia) also went to take her card. Amelia's role will only be revealed at the end, after taking her card and being sure that Ashley took her card, Amelia joined Emma and told Ashley her plan, Ashley would ask one of the boys to go with her to get her card with the excuse that she was still confused and scared about the whole situation the students were in, Amelia placed her card which was a participant's card in the place where Ashley and the boy would go and ordered that when Ashley went to get Amelia's card, she should let the boy see the tip of her card in a way that didn't seem intentional (thus avoiding breaking the rules of not showing the cards to the other players) and see that it was blue, the boy would notice this and notice that the only blue card among those that were presented by the organizer of the death game was the participant's card, he would then incorrectly think that Ashley did not have the sacrifice card but rather the participant's card, Ashley was recording the moment she took the card and at the exact moment Ashley went to look at her card, Amelia ordered Emma to take her card, both Emma and Ashley looked at their cards in an almost perfect synchrony, after she took her card the organizers of the event announced on all the students tablets that all the participants had picked up their cards, this was to give the boy the impression that Ashley really hadn't picked up her card until now and that she was the last one to get her card, which would further reinforce the idea of her being a participant and not the sacrifice, because the announcement was played at the exact moment she looked at the card, the player that is with Ashley would genuinely think that she has the participant's card, after all if that wasn't her card and she had already taken her card before, nothing would happen if she looked because she already had a card in her hands, the announcement having played would make him think that Ashley didn't have a card until the present moment, after that Amelia would seduce one of the boys in the group when no one was looking and hid her own tablet in a strategic position to record a video of the two of them, Amelia would then cut the video leaving only a specific part of it to take it out of context and make it seem like she was harassed, at the time of voting Amelia would say that she was harassed and would use the video as evidence, but after a lot of pressure she would reveal that she was forced by Ashley to accuse the boy of harassment and would say that Ashley forced her to do it, causing all the students to turn against her and vote for her, the student who went with Ashley to get her card would testify that she had the participant's card and that the students should not be afraid to vote for her. Ashley would pretend to be scared to make everything more real and when everyone voted for her, Ashley would save Emma who she would thought to be Amélia. After all, they both changed their names to confuse the other students and so Amelia would sacrifice herself to save her sister, dying in the process. After a while, everything was going as planned, until Amelia started acting in a manic way. She seemed like a complete psychopath and said she was anxious to see them die. Ashley started getting nervous thinking that Emma (who was actually Amelia) would betray her. Until Amelia, in her state of madness, revealed to everyone her strategy to win and that Ashley was the sacrifice. Ashley was already nervous, fearing Amelia's betrayal, and now that she had actually been betrayed, she was unable to hold back her stress and nervousness, and reacted in an exaggerated way. She started cursing everyone who was there. Ashley advanced on Amelia and quickly tried to attack her, but she was knocked unconscious by a gunshot (fired by the event organizers) that shot syringes with sleeping pills. Amelia's crazy act was meant to cause fear and nervousness in Ashley on purpose so that she wouldn't be able to contain her emotions and make the game participants turn against her. After witnessing all of this, it was more than obvious to everyone that Ashley was really the sacrifice, that is, Amelia was definitely not the sacrifice and because of her previous comments, everyone voted for her, but before voting for her, Amelia made a long monologue making it clear how much she hated each of the students there to make them end up losing track of time and when the voting time was almost over they hurriedly voted for her without thinking twice, but in fact they fell into her plan and were easily manipulated by her. Amelia had in her hands the fool card (one of the special cards, Unlike normal cards, users of special cards can reveal their functions to other players) that allowed her to exchange cards with any student and after being used the fool card would be transformed into a normal participant card, but wasn't Amelia's card a participant card? Actually, no. While walking around the place, she found a box with images of the cards in the warehouse where they were staying and using adhesive tape that stuck on both sides that she also found in the warehouse, she placed the image of the participant card perfectly covering her real card which was the fool card. Amelia avoided showing her tablet, after all it was impossible to change the images on the tablet. If someone looked at her tablet they would realize that she didn't have the participant card but rather the fool card. Amelia then stole Ashley's sacrifice card and chose to take Emma with her, so she survived and won the death game with ease, causing the death of all the other students. Amelia was judged after leaving the chamber where the virtual reality machine was by several adults calling her crazy and psychopath. She ignores the adults' complaints and leaves the place hugging Emma. Even if someone suspected Amelia's crazy actions, the fact that she tried to kill everyone would make most of the students not think correctly and vote for her to get rid of her right away. Even if someone somehow convinced all the other students not to vote for Amelia, which would be unlikely to happen, she could use Emma's card to cause an instant defeat for everyone. Her sister had the mimic card, a special card that allows the player to copy another player's card. In other words, if Emma copied the sacrifice card, there would be two owners of sacrifice cards in the game, meaning at least 3 people would die in the end. Amelia had mentioned during her state of madness that Emma had cooperated with her to carry out her sacrifice strategy. If the students decided for some reason not to vote for Amelia, the best choice would be to vote for Emma, who had cooperated with her. Thanks to the short time remaining until voting time, the students wouldn't have time to think straight and would definitely vote for Emma, thus leaving her with no choice but to copy the mimic card. sacrifice, kill everyone and save Amelia, after all her sister could still be very useful for her strategies along with her ambitious future plans and she (Amelia) knew that. Amelia knew that it was a game or a simulation because there was strangely enough air and oxygen in that place even though it was completely closed and had no openings, air-generating machines, plants or doors. In order for there to be air in that place, the people who trapped them there would need to be able to teleport objects and gases like oxygen. The fact that the students were there made everything even stranger. How were they taken there if there were no doors or openings anywhere in that place? The only possible answer would be teleportation. However, even after Index's arrival, humanity is still unable to teleport due to lack of resources. When she observed this, she felt that something was wrong, that is, intuition. In addition, the objects in that place were very old compared to how futuristic that place seemed to be. She also came to this conclusion that the world she was in was a game when she observed the fact that the hallucinations she developed after the traffic accident that happened to her when she was 14 had no longer bothered her since she entered there (she saw hallucinations whenever she heard the sound of bells and coincidentally the noise the tablets made was like bells, but Amelia, even after hearing them more than once, didn't feel anything), Furthermore, Amelia did not plan to use the fool card to steal Ashley's sacrifice. Instead, she planned to take the savior card to confiscate the sacrifice card and throw it away, thus reducing the number of deaths to one person. In addition, she would also prolong the game, since Amelia admitted to having fun with the whole thing. However, after discovering the truth about virtual reality, she decided to make a not-so-radical impression on the students' parents and keep her real maniacal personality and mental capabilities a secret. Stealing the savior card and throwing the sacrifice away would be simple enough for Amelia. She did not want to take too many risks. She needed to continue maintaining her image as an exemplary student. So, a few minutes before the game's voting time, Amelia decided to adapt and change her strategy at the last minute. Furthermore, she only found out about Emma's mimic card while there was only 1 minute and 30 seconds left until the death game's voting time among the students. Once again, she had to change her strategy.

(FRI, Mass manipulation, Logical manipulation, individual manipulation, indirect manipulation, emotional manipulation, direct manipulation, seduction, all forms of strategy, adaptability, Misdirection, concealment, verbal deception, mass deception, acting skills, emotional engagement, emotional understanding, emotional Facilitation, emotional awareness, intuitive reasoning, deductive reasoning, Inductive reasoning, Logical reasoning, perception, observation, fear inducement, Fluid intelligence, interpersonal intelligence, creative intelligence, Fast thinking, critical thinking, Associative thinking, concrete thinking, Analytical thinking, Lateral thinking, abstract thinking, synthetic thinking, setting traps)

(If you are reading only for the feats, skip this part until the end and read only the part that is in “red”)

The true heir:

Several days after the events of the confrontation arc between Amelia and Ryan, and a few days after she graduated from school, it was revealed to the world that Ryan was the 2nd vice leader of Red9 and the fact that Amelia defeated him alone made her very famous, even more famous than she already was for being the daughter of a billionaire and for solving a case that even the police were having trouble solving, exactly as she had planned, Ryan was taken to a secret government base for questioning, there Ryan had completely lost all motivation to live, he realized that no matter what he did he would never reach the level of his rival, after spending a long time without saying anything Ryan finally said something when he noticed the presence of a government agent carrying a millimeter-thick and large camera in the place, he realized that the agent was probably planning to leak government information to the media about his situation, so after several days without saying anything he started talking, he explained that the only reason he had gone to that school was to confront Amelia and finally erase the inferiority complex he had developed at school, after hearing this an adult who had lost his brother who was killed by Ryan at Bright Future School questioned if that was the reason his brother had died for him, for such a stupid reason, after hearing this Ryan laughed and said yes, he also stated that he had never been a threat to Amelia, while his eyes glowed crimson red he claims that if one day he were asked if he felt as if he were facing an unattainable and invincible deity he would deny it with all his might, After that he used the Eyes of Death on himself and blew up his own head. The government agent carrying the camera sent the recordings of what happened to the media, as Ryan had already expected. If he couldn't defeat Amelia, then he wouldn't allow anyone to be capable of such a feat. For that, he decided to cooperate with her plans. Amelia became even more famous and influential. However, the unexpected happened: her father had been poisoned by Amelia herself. Using specific chemical materials, she created a virus never before seen by humanity and that would take at least 17 days to produce a cure, even with Index's help, due to the lack of resources. At that moment, Amelia's father's fate was already sealed. At the hospital, only Emma went to visit him. There, the father of both Emma and Amelia, Henry, said he was proud of both of them. He said that Emma should become more independent and not let others manipulate her. He stated that his only regret was not being able to change Amelia's cruel and opportunistic personality, and not being able to teach her. Emma to be herself and free herself from the chains that bound her to her childhood trauma, traumas that prevented her from moving on with her life. After saying all this, Henry began to feel that his time to die was coming and begged Emma to leave the room. He said that he would feel terrible if she had to watch him die, and so she did. She left the room and sat in the chair nearby. Emma thought about all her actions up until the present moment, from her birth to the present moment, and realized that she almost always ran away from her problems or depended on others to solve them, and decided that she would fulfill her father's expectations. Emma fully recovered from her trauma and decided that she would no longer accept Amelia's abuse in silence (since she was 15, Amelia had always sexually abused Emma, but because she was her own sister and because she was afraid of what she might do, she always kept quiet). She went to her mansion and met Amelia, there Emma stated that she could blackmail her sister and expose everything she had done to her, she (Amelia) was surprised and wondered what had happened to the Emma she knew and wondered if the one in front of her was really her sister. After hearing her threat, Amelia revealed to Emma that she had contaminated her father's tea and it was thanks to her that he was now dead. After hearing all this, Emma advanced towards Amelia and grabbed her clothes, but before she could do anything she was punched in the face and when she looked at Amelia, she was standing up. After that, she immediately noticed that her sister had lied to everyone when she said she had become wheelchair-bound. A fight between the two began and Amelia clearly had the upper hand, until a man came through the door and threw a rock at Amelia's face, which made her dizzy for a moment. That man was Joseph Harrison, Emma's boyfriend, and he said that she had sent him a message. In that message, she revealed everything Amelia had done to her and said that she would confront her. Emma knew that he would not let her do this alone and that he would immediately go to his mansion after seeing the message. However, Amelia took a gun from her pocket and pointed it at them. Emma stood in front of Joseph because she knew that Amelia would not kill her because of her personality. She (Amelia) said she wanted to make a trade. Emma would give up Harry's inheritance (Emma and Amelia's father) and erase all information about Amelia's abuse, and in exchange she would let the two of them live and avoid contacting them. Emma agreed. Amelia received the entire inheritance and all information about what she did was erased. Emma and Harry left, so Amelia kept all her father's money for herself and would become the CEO of his company, Starlight Grand Future, or just SGF, while Emma decided to live with Joseph and live a happy life. Furthermore, during the fight between Amelia and Emma, Emma told her sister that she hated her and Amelia pretended not to be affected by it. In fact, she laughed after hearing those words coming from her sister's mouth, but in truth, those words hurt more than knives in her heart. Amelia has no convictions or desires, her heart is practically empty and without emotions, she has no reason to exist other than to satisfy the wishes of the goddess of death, but Amelia had one more reason to live, a reason she actually enjoyed, which was to have the love and adoration of her sister, Emma, so when she told Amelia that she hated her, the only reason that made her (Amelia) want to continue living was completely destroyed, she had once again become a purposeless being who only lived merely for the sake of living, yet she was able to laugh, even when her only purpose in life and the only reason she wanted to continue living was destroyed, that is an insane level of control over one's emotions.

(Emotional management, stress tolerance, mental fortitude, emotional engagement, composure)

—----------

(Narrative)

Present times (or simply the prologue of the adult Amelia arc):

6 years have passed and Amelia has become CEO of SGF and with her extraordinary genius she has made the company's profits increase to unbelievable levels in just 5 years, going from 75 billion dollars to 90 billion dollars in just 5 years. Amelia has become known throughout the country for this feat and the media has spread her influence throughout the world. Amelia is 24 years old and has become one of the most important people in the world, being invited to all kinds of parties and special luxury events. She also uses a special drug to prevent too much blood from accumulating in her legs due to sitting for too long, to prevent her blood vessels from bursting. Emma decided to join the police investigation team and become a detective to help find out who the leader of Red9 is. also help solve other crimes unrelated to Red9, to date no member of Red9 excluding Ryan has been caught by the police, Red9 killed a total of 10,547 people, most of whom were politicians, people with criminal records no matter how minor their crimes were, rich and famous people or people who disagree or are against their methods and ideas and why is that? It's because Red9 is a religious organization that was created by Amelia Watson Aurora. The members of Red9 believe that the world will be spared from the creator's wrath if all sinners and evil people are eliminated from the planet. They believed that when they cleansed the world with the blood of sinners and criminals they would commit suicide and be accepted into the creator's kingdom. Amelia clone manipulated Index's answers and forced him to give false information to humans saying that the creator would destroy the world in a few years. After hearing this, several religions collapsed and people got out of control. Amelia then took advantage of all the chaos she started and created Red9. After that, she and the two vice leaders of the new criminal organization, Red9 (Ryan and the fool), recruited several members, promising that they would be spared by the creator and taken to heaven. This was a lie after all. Amelia had no interest in saving them and in her current state she was unable to take them there. The goddess of death would be able to do so. do it easily but she would never agree to do something like that, Red9 avoids killing people in person, instead they send one of the 700 terrorist gangs around the world that they have control of to do the work for them, but from time to time they kill some people, such as the director of Starlight Pride and the doctors that Amelia bribed, in addition to that the Amelia clone revealed herself directly to her human version (Amelia knew about the existence of a clone with the same appearance she has, however she never saw this clone with her own eyes) and said that she would help her in her plans, now Amelia had the authority of the leader of Red9 and the knowledge that there is a clone of her, she will use this detail in the future (it is from here that Amelia will begin to be exposed little by little by the Amelia clone, after all for her plan to kill the goddess of death to work she needs Amelia (human) to be arrested by the police together with the American government and placed in containment).

(By far her best feat of manipulation and second best feat of planning, like seriously, no other feat even comes close to this one in terms of manipulation)

The D.A.M.I.A.N experiment:

Several years passed after the revelation of Red9's existence to the people of the world, however they never did anything very important after that, Red9 merely sent gangs and terrorist groups that they had control of to do whatever they wanted, but the last time they did something for themselves was during Amelia's mysterious mastermind's plan, being very bored from not having done anything interesting or impactful after the mysterious mastermind's plan, Amelia decides to do something interesting, she had been observing a 12 year old boy named Damian for over 9 days for 12 hours a day, through her observations, Amelia was able to conclude some things about the boy.

P1: The boy was an orphan, his parents were killed in a car accident that he was present at, he saw the bodies of both his parents dead in front of him.

C1: Taking the boy's age into consideration, it is highly likely that he developed some kind of trauma or some kind of social/mental problem.

P2: The boy's new adoptive parents spent most of their time away from home on trips, leaving the boy alone.

C2: It is safe to deduce that the lack of presence of the adoptive parents in the house made it impossible for the boy to overcome his trauma due to the lack of emotional and physical support from the adoptive parents.

P3: The boy did not have any friends at school and always remained away from the other students, the boy only had his teddy bear that his biological father gave him as a gift before he died as a companion.

P4: The boy's parents are very strict and status-conscious people, and they only adopted him to create a false narrative in the media that they cared about the boy.

C3: The fact that he has no friends at school must make it even more impossible for the boy to overcome what happened to his parents.

C4: Because the parents are very strict about status and appearance, and they don't care about the boy at all, it makes it reasonable to think that they strongly suppress the boy's companionship with the teddy bear because they think it's silly.

P5: The boy seemed to have a high level of anxiety when leaving school on grade delivery day, and he was holding back tears as he walked out the school gate.

C5: The boy's trauma, the lack of support from his parents, the way they suppress the bonds of friendship and companionship he has with Teddy Bear by strongly discouraging this, all of this must have most likely caused great confusion and stress in the boy's mind, making it difficult for him to study.

C6: Aware of how strict his parents are, the boy will definitely try to run away from home to prevent them from finding out about his bad grades and also to try to escape from his problems.

FINAL CONCLUSION: The boy, depressed due to the trauma and aware of how strict his adoptive parents were when it came to status, will decide to run away from home to avoid being humiliated by them and also to try to futilely escape from his problems. At this moment, the boy will be vulnerable and without protection or help from anyone who can save him, the perfect moment to put the plan into action.

Seeing the boy walking alone on the street, Amelia abuses the Aurora network once again (as she always does) and forces Index to cause a nationwide blackout, taking advantage of the malfunctioning security cameras. Amelia advanced towards the boy and kidnapped him with the help of other members of the terrorist group known as Red9. After kidnapping the boy, Amelia takes him in a backpack to the most famous casino in the United States, The Daimon Flyer, or in other words, the Red9 base. Amelia goes inside the place and talks to the “manager” of the place. Emma starts talking normally to him and after a while says, “The fall of the devilish followers cannot wait for divine salvation.” This was actually a special password that only members of Red9 had access to. Upon hearing this, the man tells her to go to the gaming hall, and so she does. Upon entering, Amelia comes face to face with a huge dome full of seats, and in the center, there was an empty space where the most incredible and unbelievable bets that ever took place happened. Emma goes to the employees' room of the gaming hall, and upon entering, she goes towards a normal wall. She knocks twice, waits for two seconds, and knocks once more, from the wall that seemed to be completely normal, a passage opens and Amelia enters the place. Now Amelia is inside Red9's secret base. Some time passes and the boy finally wakes up. He opens his eyes and finds himself in an extremely comfortable bed. Thanks to the fact that the bed is very comfortable, the boy, whose name is Damian, refuses to get up. After a while, he hears someone calling his voice. That someone was Amelia, who was holding a plate full of cookies she had made. The boy is obviously scared to be in the presence of Amelia, a person he had never seen in his life and someone he didn't know. Damian didn't know how to deal with this situation. Amelia then takes one of the cookies and eats it in front of Damian. She took advantage of the fact that the boy was very hungry because he had been sleeping for a whole day to persuade him to eat. In addition, the fact that Amelia had eaten the cookie and nothing had happened to her would reveal to the boy that those cookies were just normal cookies and that they were not poisoned. When Amelia goes to get another cookie, she is stopped by Damian. who takes the plate full of cookies and eats everything quickly, Amelia caresses his head and kisses his forehead telling him to rest a little after he finishes eating, acting similar to a mother, Amelia then leaves through the bedroom door, the boy still being suspicious about the situation and especially about Amelia gets out of bed and opens the bedroom door, Damian then walks down the hallway, he goes down the stairs and then arrives in the living room, he looks around and is confused, the place where he was was identical to Damian's old house when his biological parents were still alive(Amélia made a perfect replica of his old house for the sake of the experiment), he looks at the couch and sees Amelia watching TV while eating popcorn, Damian's favorite snack, resisting the temptation to eat popcorn with Amelia, the boy goes towards her and demands that Amelia explain the situation, to which she says she doesn't understand what he was talking about, the boy being quite stressed about the whole situation yells at Amelia demanding explanations, she continues pretending to have no idea what he was talking about, seeing that trying to Getting information from Amelia was useless, Damian heads towards the exit door but ends up fainting, a little time passes and Damian wakes up in bed once again, just like before, Amelia arrives at the scene opening the bedroom door and shows Damian cookies to eat, she once again eats a cookie, but Damian instead of taking the plate of cookies from her hands exactly as he did before is confused wondering what was happening, he knocks the cookies out of Amelia's hand with a slap and runs towards the stairs downstairs, When he touches them, he faints once again and once again wakes up in bed. The boy is desperate, not even waiting for Amelia to enter through the bedroom door, and goes to the door of the lower floor once more and faints again, waking up in bed once more. The boy is extremely confused, wondering what was happening and starts to cry. Amelia appears in his room with a tense expression on her face and starts to hug the boy, who tries to push her away. However, Amelia sings a melody for the boy that immediately calms him down. It was the same melody that the boy's biological mother sang when he was sad or scared. Damian looks at Amelia and she says to him, "Don't worry, little bee. I'm here to protect you." That was the same phrase that the boy's biological mother said to him when she finished singing that melody. Damian then begins to see his mother in Amelia and becomes considerably more polite and respectful towards her. Seven years have passed and the boy has remained in that place without thinking about escaping for even an instant. He had everything he wanted there, food, a PS5 along with a latest generation Xbox, several toys, a private pool and his friend Teddy bear, the boy had everything he wanted in that place, however, he began to miss having human interactions other than with Amelia, he wanted another friend besides Teddy, but he knew he couldn't run away from the place, Damian then remembers something strange about the looping of the exit door, every time he passed through the door something changed in the house, the first time he passed out when he touched the door, an aquarium full of fish appeared out of nowhere in the living room, the second time several children's toys appeared thrown on the floor and the third time Amelia wasn't making cookies like all the other times, Damian then decides that he would open the door one more time and see what he would get again, if something bad or unexpected happened Damian could simply open the door again and again to reset everything if things didn't go as planned, the boy then passed through the door and passed out once more, but this time he woke up in a different place home, he was in a forest in the middle of a strong snowstorm, he quickly seeks shelter to protect himself from the cold and enters a nearby cabin, the boy upon entering the place sees a group of strange creatures devouring the bodies of several people, the worst of all is that these creatures had the same faces as Damian's parents and friends, however their faces were quite distorted, there was blood everywhere in their mouths, Damian gets scared and tries to run away from the monsters but is quickly incapacitated by them and devoured to death, his death was slow and painful, but after that he once again wakes up in bed as if nothing had happened, he wakes up screaming in fear and Amelia worried runs to the boy's room to see what was happening, she enters the room and finds Damian crying, upon noticing Amelia there he quickly gets out of bed and hugs her saying that he will never want to leave that place again and that he just wants to be with her forever, Amelia without understanding anything hugs the boy and begins to sing her mother's melody, the Amelia who was with the boy was actually a robot that Amelia created to act as a mother to Damian, in addition Amelia in cooperation with the Fool had created an exact replica of Damian's house copying even the dirt on the carpet where Damian ate snacks every day when he was 8 years old and several other things, she did this because she wanted to have a deeper knowledge about complex human emotions, a few days after observing the relationship of the robot Amelia with Damian, the real Amelia decides that she had already collected enough data and that there was no longer any need to continue with that, however she decided to let this experiment continue normally without any interference, she was doing this experiment without the knowledge of the other members of Red9 or the people who frequented and worked at the casino that served as Red9's base, in the end everything went exactly as Amelia planned, She was able to predict everything, all of Damian's actions, the fact that he would try to open the door exactly 7 years after the beginning of the experiment, that he would see the robot Amelia as a mother figure, that he would feel lonely for not having anyone to talk to and much more, in addition, the place that suffered a snowstorm where Damian appeared after opening the door was just an illusion created by hallucinogenic gases and other types of drugs contained in the cookies he ate at the beginning, Amelia predicted that the boy would eat the cookies after seeing the robot Amelia eating them in front of him and also because of the hunger she was feeling, as the robot Amelia was... a robot, she was not affected by the drugs however this was not the case with Damian who was a human being, Damian and the fake Amelia maintained this mother and son relationship for several years, even after Amelia's death and even so the place where the experiment took place was never discovered by either the members of Red9 or the police for more than 30 years, Robot Amelia and adult Damian stayed alive all these years thanks to a supply of food, energy and infinite water created by the Aurora network. In fact, there was a secret goal that Amelia wanted to achieve during the D.A.M.I.A.N experiment. This goal was to create a Doomsday 2.0. She planned to brainwash Damian so much that he would decide to help Amelia in her plans to exterminate humankind, even though he knew how wrong and evil they were. Several years after the start of the experiment, when Amelia died and the place where the experiment took place was discovered. She had thought that since Damian saw Amelia as his mother, upon learning that Amelia had been killed by the government, he would want to avenge her and continue what she started. Amelia, however, decided that this would be useless. After all, if she died, it was game over. Even if Damian was able to cause the destruction of the world in Amelia's place, the fact that she died and lost the game is undeniable. Damian would be the winner of the goddess game, not Amelia. In the end, she would gain nothing from this plan and so she decided not to go ahead with it, after all, such use of resources would not yield any favorable results for Amélia's interests.

(FRI, VSI, Deductive reasoning, abductive reasoning, abstract reasoning, inductive reasoning, Logical reasoning, critical thinking, convergent thinking, Holistic thinking, abstract thinking, creative thinking, causal reasoning, observation, perception, prediction, anticipation, emotional Facilitation, emotional understanding, emotional perception, empathy, emotional manipulation, indirect manipulation, Gaslighting, fear inducement, Persuasion, Love bombing, Brainwashing, all forms of planning, setting traps, information gathering, Hot reading, Fabrication, creative intelligence, misdirection, concealment)

—----------

(Narrative)

The false rumors:

While working for the US Government, Emma decided to spread rumors that Amelia was the avatar of the goddess of death, doing such a thing for a motive that will only be revealed on my doc about her plan to frame Amélia, the fact that Amélia was famous would make the rumors spread quickly and so it happened, the rumors were so out of control that Amelia was interviewed in person by reporters and stated that the rumors were lies and that there was no evidence that pointed to her being the avatar of the goddess of death and asked if being intelligent had become a crime, the amount of people who believed the rumors decreased drastically after this statement of hers, but there were still some people who suspected her because they found it strange that there was no evidence that pointed to her, this was very convenient to say the least, but quickly the rumors stopped almost completely, but this event lit the first flame of suspicion about Amelia Elliot Wilson.

—----------

The Medieval Era Killer:

A killer began to terrorize the streets of New York. The killer became famous for his strange method of killing. He would put the victim in medieval knight armor and throw hot lava inside the armor, thus completely burning the victim and killing him. In addition, he only killed people who had studied at the Starlight Pride school. Amelia's company received a threatening letter from him and Amelia decided to investigate the situation with a friend from her old school, Starlight Pride. They went to investigate near the place where the crime usually occurs. They went from house to house looking for clues and while traveling around, Amelia came across a large 120 square meter house that caught her attention. After looking at it just once and using the little information given by the neighbors who lived near that house who said it had 8 rooms, she imagined the entire structure of the house in her mind and realized that that house was the perfect place to commit a crime because it had a room far from windows. She began to suspect the owner of the house, but continued Her investigation, however, in addition to asking about the killer, Amélia asked about the owner of that house whenever she could. At dusk, Amélia and the girl said goodbye and the girl went home. While Amélia, in her wheelchair, went towards a nearby abandoned circus. She received a letter from the killer with an anagram telling her to go to that place. Amélia noticed the anagram almost immediately when she looked at it. After waiting for a long time, she was kidnapped and taken to the killer's hideout and tied to a chair. As she suspected, the killer was the owner of that house. When she looked around, Amélia deduced that she was inside his house. While the killer was preparing everything to kill her, he heard a familiar voice. It was Amélia using her ability to perfectly imitate the voice of every single living being and now she was imitating the voice of his daughter who had died at the age of 13. Amélia knew this because an old friend of the killer, had some tapes of a show of who sings better and the killers daughter was there. Amélia, copying the same voice she heard on the tape, asked if the killer wasn't ashamed of himself for having taken so many lives. She claimed he was a coward for not wanting people to judge him. After a short conversation, Amelia made the killer feel guilty and he killed himself so he wouldn't have to hear his daughter's voice judging his actions. According to the neighbors, the owner of the house had trouble sleeping and didn't leave the house for several days until his daughter died. After hearing this and doing a little research, Amelia discovered that the first victims of the medieval killer were the same people who killed the owner's daughter (only after a while did he start killing former students of Starlight Pride School). The people in question were rich gangsters. After hearing this, Amelia had already discovered that he was the culprit and used her weak psychology against him. After a while, Amelia heard the sound of a police car. Before entering the circus, Amelia called the police, presented her findings and said that she would probably be kidnapped and taken to the killer's house and that they should go quickly. After arriving at the scene, Amelia was released and taken to the police station to talk about what happened. She said that the killer was a crazy person and that while he was preparing the lava to kill her he looked at Amelia and probably felt guilty for trying to kill an innocent girl and killed himself to get rid of the guilt and since there was nothing to prove otherwise she was released, after leaving the police station with Apollo her assistant from the SGF who was taking her in his wheelchair, Amelia thought to herself and said that there was no voice in the world that she would not be able to copy, regardless of how thick or thin it was, Apollo questioned Amelia's silence who only said she was a little tired and so she was taken back to her mansion where she will be under the care of Thomas, one of the mansion's butlers who had known Amelia since she was a child when her adoptive father, Henry Elliot Wilson adopted her.

(Emotional manipulation, direct manipulation, Guilt tripping, verbal deception, information gathering, fear inducement, VSI, VCI, Logical reasoning, Gaslighting, acting skills, emotional engagement, emotional understanding, emotional influence, interpersonal intelligence, observation, perception, emotional Facilitation, Hot reading)

—----------

(Narrative)

The Discovery of the Mikus:

During a police investigation, the police discovered that some beings from another dimension were causing chaos throughout the world. The police decided to investigate out of curiosity about what these small beings were. They investigated, investigated and investigated but found nothing, until finally one of these strange beings was seen by one of the police officers and quickly teleported away. The police officer in question was Emma's boyfriend, Joseph, who now became her fiancé and they had a daughter. Joseph tried to tell his companions what he saw and described to everyone the being he saw. She was small like a child, her eyes were red and her hair was blond, and when Joseph approached her, she shouted the phrase “Hya” very loudly. Upon hearing this description, no one believed Joseph. Until during a TV interview where Index was asked what he thought about the police officer who claimed to have seen a small being with red eyes and blond hair. Upon hearing the description given by the journalists, Index said that the being in question was probably a Miku. He explained that Mikus were beings that exist beyond the time and space continuum that are servants of the goddess of death and that were created directly by her, upon hearing this Amelia had a surprised face, Index shouldn't be able to say that thanks to the prohibition system (the goddess Alice created a prohibition system within Index that only the highest people in the Aurora Link hierarchy could determine what those prohibitions were, after the prohibition is decided Index will be unable to answer any questions about that specific topic, in fact the Aurora Link is something like the internet and is the place where Index acquires all her knowledge), Amelia then called the clone Amelia's name to ask about it, but she didn't show up, Amelia realized that she had been betrayed and that the clone Amelia was an enemy and began to use the magic circles she learned from observing Milin's memories to be able to teleport from her room in the mansion to the Red9 meeting room, she had no choice but to appear in person at Red9 since the Clone Amelia wouldn't do that anymore, Amelia knew it was risky, but she couldn't let Red9 be undone, after all Red9 could be useful in the future for her plans, the reason Amelia didn't want people to know about the Mikus was because they had the same appearance as the avatar of the goddess of death (in other words Amelia) had when she was 6 years old and that this could be used to accuse her in the future and that's why she needed a contingency plan to deal with it.

The terrifying contingency plan:

Amelia purposely leaked information about the location of Red9's base to the police and they raided the place which was a famous local casino, while Red9's base was raided, Amelia kidnapped a blonde, blue-eyed woman just like her, broke both her legs and tied her to the bed in Amelia's mansion and using some makeup and attaching a wig to her hair, she also used sleeping pills to prevent her from messing up by moving her legs, Amelia put on a mask and hood to hide her face and hair pretending to be an ordinary Red9 member and recorded a video killing her, anyone who didn't know the real context of the video would think that Amelia Elliot Wilson was dead, after doing this Amelia ordered one of the Red9 members to pretend to be her, the girl pretending to be the leader of Red9 ordered the Red9 members to fight against the police's efforts, but they were unable to confront her effectively and quickly They were all killed. The girl who pretended to be the leader of Red9 was captured and killed. Amelia was watching everything from a mini camera she placed on the girl. A few seconds after they took off the mask of the girl who pretended to be the leader of Red9 and revealed her identity, Amelia pressed a button and exploded several bombs in the Red9 base, destroying the entire place and several documents. She also killed all 237 police officers who invaded the place. She also killed all the members of Red9, excluding the real leader, Amelia, and the vice leader of Red9, Fool. Amelia then stole the clothes of the woman she killed, cut her own hair to look like the woman she killed, took her purse and went to her house.

- Amelia pretended to be that woman from that day on. With that, Amelia managed to make people believe she was dead. The police would believe that since Amelia was a rich and important person, she would naturally be a target of Red9, so her death would make sense.

- Since Amelia and the leader of Red9 were in two places at the same time, all suspicions of Amelia being the leader of Red9 would make no sense. This way of thinking would be strengthened by the fact that the police saw the face of the person they thought was the leader of Red9 and it was not Amelia's face, in addition to the fact that the girl had studied at Starlight Pride.

- Amelia dressed up as someone else and with her ability to imitate any existing voice she would easily be able to pretend to be her. In addition, the fact that people thought that Amelia was a wheelchair user would strengthen the idea that that woman and Amelia could not be the same person, due to the fact that the woman Amelia was pretending to be was able to move normally and Amelia can too, but she fooled the entire media, strengthening the narrative that she was a wheelchair user when in fact she never was.

All three of these factors would prevent people from thinking that Amelia was alive and that she was pretending to be that woman, the woman in question was Louis McCarthy a young woman of 26 years old and a person who worked as a nurse and who had a stable life, a 6 year old daughter and a 27 year old husband, Amelia pretended to be this woman for the next 3 years and 67 days, Amelia was 28 but she claims to be 29 years old so that her age and that of the woman she killed is accurate, her “daughter” was 9 years old, her husband was 30 and Emma was also 28 years old, thanks to the various books that Amélia read she had no difficulty in helping with surgeries and did a great job as a nurse, completely surpassing each of the people present at the site regardless of experience, everything happened exactly as she predicted, thanks to the various books she read she was able to learn how to act as a nurse extremely quickly. Not only this, but Amélia gathered, processed and kept in her memory hundreds of thousands of information about Louis in order to copy her personality and actions perfectly, and she indeed managed to do so, Amélia understood Louis’ emotions so well that she was capable of copying her actions, reactions, minimal body movements and behavior perfectly in a way that not even Louis would notice a difference between Amélia’s acting skills and her own behavior. The fact that Amélia reached this level of understanding of Louis’ emotions by merely gaining some information about her for literal years also demonstrates impressive emotional perception. Btw, this was a contingency that Amélia had prepared ever since the creation of Red9, she always considered the possibility of the police finding Red9’s hideout and gaining information about her real identity, that's why she started gathering information about people that looked like her and we're almost identical to Amélia so that she could replace them some moment in the future if necessary. Which also turns this into an impressive trap evasion feat. In truth, Amélia understanding of Louis' emotions was such that it could even be said that she “became” Louis, Amélia purposely created a second personality inside her mind that is a perfect copy of Louis' personality, and gave control of her mind and body to this second personality, while Amelia's real personality would be hidden inside her subconsciousness, and even in the subconsciousness, her real personality would still managed to force the second one into making specific things specified by Amelia's real personality. But why would Amélia create a second personality? Simple, it had the purpose to create a perfect acting skills that is absolutely impossible to see through, technically, “Amélia” doesn't exist anymore since Amélia completely replicated Louis' personality to the point where it was impossible to find a difference between them, not only this, but all of Amelia's real personality's memories would also be dragged to her subconsciousness, in other words, if someone tried to see through Amélia, they would simply see through the Louis' personality, but the real personality would be hidden in the bottom of Amelia's subconsciousness, with this, even things like: hearing Amelia's heartbeats, perceiving her microexpressions, reading her thoughts or somehow reading her soul wouldn't be enough to see through her, after all, all the emotions that her Louis' personality feel would be genuine while her real personality would be so carefully concealed in the bottom of her subconsciousness that it would be impossible to even recognize its existence unless it decided to act independently of the second personality.

(CPI, All forms of planning, Logical manipulation, Mass manipulation, emotional understanding, emotional perception, setting traps, prediction, indirect manipulation, emotional management, emotional engagement, Lateral thinking, Trap Evasion, misdirection, acting skills, Crystallized intelligence, Knowledge, convergent thinking, Fabrication, concealment, information control, information gathering, scapegoating, Learning ability, adaptability, creative thinking, creative intelligence, social skills)

—----------

(Narrative)

The hour of revelation (The end of Amelia Watson Aurora):

While walking in the city, Emma and her daughter, Marie, passed alongside Louis, the person that Amélia is disguised as, upon crossing paths with Louis, Emma felt a strange sense of familiarity, so she decided to go to the hospital where she worked to find out information about Louis. Emma discovered that after the end of Red9 her performance increased significantly and questioned several surgeons there, including a group of surgeons who were friends of hers, they said that Louis' performance when she first joined the hospital was not very impressive and to avoid her being fired they lied to the boss and the other surgeons, they admitted that Louis' sudden change was quite strange, but they thought it was something that would happen sooner or later. After hearing this, Emma goes to the hospital where Amelia works once again after a whole day has passed, but this time, she was wearing a hood and hacked the hospital's systems by shutting down all the electronic devices and causing a blackout, she took one of the scalpels that Amelia used during a surgery without the people nearby seeing, after that she went to the staff room so that she would be seen by an employee on site and as any other normal employee would do he went towards the staff room to stop her, After making sure that the employee entered the room and closed the door, she quickly knocked him out and trapped him there. Amelia used a line mechanism and tied it to the employee's foot. When he woke up and tried to get up, the mechanism would activate and make a bell sound that would be heard throughout the entire hospital. After Amelia heard the bell, she would go crazy because of her trauma and would lose her ability to reason properly. She would head towards the source of the noise to stop it. However, Emma purposely made sure that in addition to the line system causing the bell sound, it would also knock over a lighter that would completely burn the employee's room, including the employee's body. Emma also locked the door and replaced all the fire extinguishers in the room with small liquid extinguishers filled with poison that evaporate when in contact with fire and thus become poisonous gases that would kill anyone who came near. Emma hated Amelia from the bottom of her heart and would sacrifice anything to end her, even if Emma had to go to hell to do it. kill her, Emma predicted that before throwing the liquid fire extinguishers the bell that Emma placed in the place would have melted and that Amelia would be able to think straight again, after seeing the fire and noticing that there was something strange with the fire extinguishers, Amelia quickly fled the place while the other surgeons stayed and would use the mini fire extinguishers filled with poison and throw them in the place of the fire but they were all killed by the gaseous poison, Amelia was the only one who survived, she was then taken to the police station and testified about what happened, the police after hearing that began to suspect her, after all Amelia was the only survivor of that accident and also the security cameras next to the door of the place saw her entering the hospital with a bottle of poison in her hand before the cameras went off, the person that the police thought was Amelia was actually Emma and everything so far has gone according to her plan, Emma used the fact that both of them are twins and made her look like the culprit of the crime, she was also wearing gloves at the time of the crime and kept her head down to avoid being seen by cameras leaving only her hair and lower part of her face showing, to make matters worse Amelia's scalpel was found next to the bottle of poison and to make things even more difficult for Amelia, Emma broke into Louis' house and approached an old painting in her warehouse, the painting in question had the fingerprints of the real Louis which were preserved by the fact that the place was away from humidity, dust and wind, Emma used a special adhesive tape and took the fingerprints from the painting and put them on the bottle of poison and the scalpel, after all this it was more than obvious to the police that Louis (Amelia) was involved in the crime and was taken to trial, the trial went smoothly until Emma, Index and some members of the government invaded the place, Emma then told everyone in the place that Amelia was alive and that the person they thought was Louis was actually Amelia, the court was left confused, Emma then explained that Amelia was never in a wheelchair and gave a summary of the plan that Amelia made to avoid the police, Emma then questioned Index about the Mikus since they had a connection with the goddess of death, until Index says something that Emma thinks is very important, "the Mikus have the same appearance as the avatar of the goddess of death had when she was 6 years old", Emma then orders Index to create 2 holograms, one containing Amelia Elliot Wilson at age 6 and the other a Miku, upon looking at them it was immediately obvious to everyone in the court that Amelia was the avatar of the goddess of death, so Amelia was captured by the government and arrested, an important thing to note is that Amelia (clone) used her powers to confuse the human Amelia and prevent her from countering Emma's plan, Amelia has a habit of thinking about all the possible outcomes of a situation and choosing the best way to deal with a situation, Emma would have a really hard time framing Amelia if the clone Amelia hadn't sabotaged her, after all, Amélia has the habit of thinking about all possible scenarios.

And so we conclude the document about Amélia Watson Aurora.

Next document:
Emma Elliot Wilson