"The Harem King"

By: Akuma Ujjain

*I've decided that I'm going to be the very first person to scale a p*rnhwa because I want to see if he gets high.*

So with that being said, allow me to scale this death note rip-off to its highest potential, I'm going to be going over all his feats until the very end.

Time To get this MF over that damn fraud Light Imagay.

Chapter 1:

When he saw the notebook, he noticed that it was written in English, yet he was capable and more than able to easily read every rule in it with no signs of it being difficult for him.

When he first reads the rules, he thinks it's all rubbish. While he considers whether it's real or not, he knows that it's not going to be easy to see a woman's panties in the first place, so he doesn't really acknowledge it after giving it some thought. It took a complete accident for it to come back into his mind again.

(VCI, Discipline, Impulse Management)

Chapter 2:

TY NOTE

When he first uses the notebook, he tries to first use it on his friend that he has known for over 10 years, while he does think about it for a moment, knowing what he was doing and how bad it was, he still goes through with the decision to write down in his notebook.

While he was on his way back to the park too see of the notebook actually worked as he was going down the stairs he saw his downstairs neighbor Ms. Eun-mi getting harassed by someone but as he was about to go down to stop it he stopped to listen to what the guy was saying to get a good grasp on the situation and why it was happening.

Controlling his emotions until he decided that she needed help he went back to his door and opened it to slam it so that the guy would run off at the thought of someone seeing what was happening.

He would then go down to check on her, yet he didn't say that, as he knew that would make things more difficult, and instead engaged in a normal conversation with her, asking her what she was doing.

Even though he could see how out of breath and ragged she looked, he didn't bring it up once in the conversation.

With that out of the way, he would then go on his way back to the park, pondering on whether the notebook would actually work knowing the meaning of it.

Chapter 3:

PANTY N

When he got back home after not seeing his friend, he would check the notebook, noticing a new rule in the notebook, which states that you have 10 minutes to find the woman whose panties you saw, or the effect will wear off.

Despite this he decided to give the notebook another try, knowing the stuff that he could do with it in general.

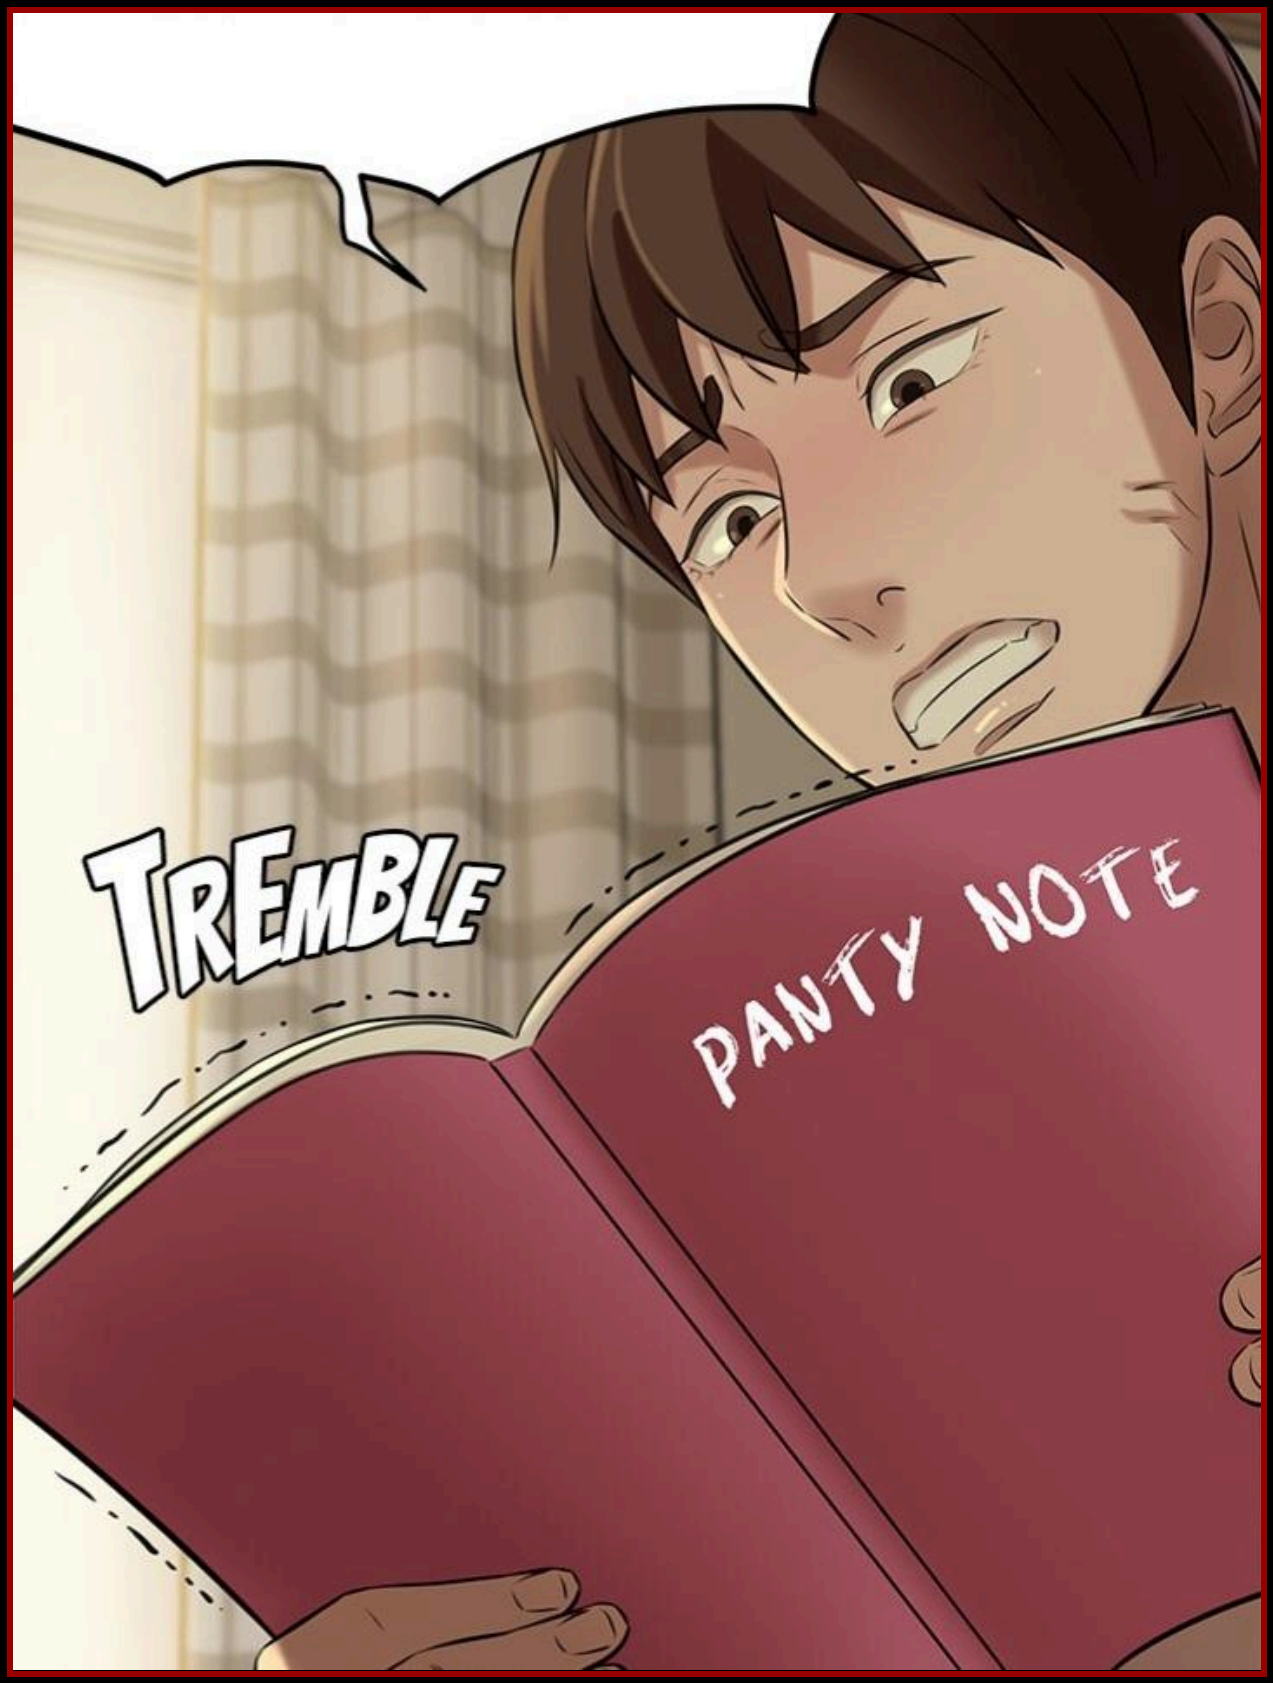

While he was on his way to his apartment he came across Eun-mi as he opened the door for her allowing her to go in first seeing as she had groceries in her hand, as he noticed how short her skirt was he allowed her to walk up the stairs first staying a few steps behind her so that he could see her panties.

Even though he saw her panties, he managed not to show any real signs of suspicion to her as he controlled his heartbeat until he got inside his apartment.

As soon as he got into his room he would once again try to see if the notebook was actually real while knowing what it meant if it was.

(Engagement, Management, Communication, Perseverance)

Chapter 4:

TREMBLE
PANTY NOTE

After once again using it, it worked a bit this time around as he wrote it down, and Eun-mi came by.

He would allow her inside as he would gesture her over to his couch, telling her to please take a seat, and then proceed to engage in small talk about how she hadn't been in his apartment since his mother was in it.

She would ask when his parents were coming back as he would tell her they wouldn't be back for about a year, and after that, they would switch to talking about his studies.

After he responded, he would use this chance to ask her about what brought her here, as the conversation would then switch towards last night, as she would ask if he saw, which he would basically respond with yes, as she would then explain the backstory as to why that happened.

With that being done, she would get up, leaving before she asked him if he cooked at home, as he said no because he usually ate out. With that said, she would then leave, saying that she would cook him something next time she came by.

After she left, he was confused because he technically did nothing wrong. Checking the notebook again, he would notice another rule that wasn't there before.

The rule was that the chance you have to have sex with the woman depends on how much of her panties you see.

Despite this setback, he would once again try to use it to get it to work.

As the day went on he would wonder if it would've been different if he saw more of her panties as he sat on a bench as a woman that he liked was running by and she would stop for a moment to tie her shoelaces

He would stare for a moment, noticing how he could see her panties through her shorts, as she would then turn around, noticing him staring, and ask him what he was looking at.

(Communication, Awareness, Perseverance)

Chapter 5:

The Chapter starts where I left off as she asked what he was looking at, as he was stunned for a moment, trying to find something to say, ashad asked what she was talking about.

She would then ask him if he didn't think she noticed that he stares at her all the time. With that being said, he would immediately apologize, telling her how he didn't mean anything weird and that he couldn't help it, as she was so pretty.

He would continue, to explain himself even further, telling her that when he first came around out here, it was for fresh air, but then he saw her, and it really helped him with his stress.

She would ask him what he meant by that, as he would explain that since she was so beautiful, whenever he saw her, he would feel better and forget about his studies.

She would ask him what he studied as he explained that he's studying for a civil service exam.

With that being said he would once again say sorry as he would then leave, managing to de-escalate the situation.

The next as he would ponder on the notebook saying how useless it was and how hard it was to use he would come across Eun-mi again.

He would engage in conversation with her as he would say hello as she asked him if he was back from studying all day as it has gotten hot these days.

He would then agree as he would say he decided to come home because of the heat.

Opening the door for her again he would try to let her go first but she decided to let him go up the stairs first as they would get up the stairs and were saying their goodbyes he would come up with something almost immediately.

Turning around he would ask her to wait as she said yes he would then ask her if she could cook him something now, cashing in on what she said the day before.

As they would get inside he would use the fact that it was gonna be hot inside as well.

Noticing that she was sweating and wiping her forehead, he would engage in conversation with her once more, bringing in a fan as he would talk about how hot it was and the fact that she was cooking.

This would cause her to agree with him, giving him reason to turn the fan on for her, angling it in a way that blew upwards causing her skirt to flow upwards.

He would sit on the floor by the edge of the door in a way that would give him a good view of her panties if the fan blew them up too much.

He would wonder what to do as he just has to see them once then game over as it didn't work last time because he didn't see enough, so he would crawl over closer to get a good view knowing what would happen if she turned around.

After he got a perfect view Eun-mi would notice him as he would try to explain himself before she ran off.

Chapter 7:

OH...
ATEL

Starting from where we left off we see him begin panicking as he would immediately write down in his notebook as he hoped that it actually worked and that none of the other moments were fake.

After a moment she would come back, saying how she didn't expect him to do that but they still live next to each other so they should talk about this.

He would tell her sure, and to please come inside.

As they were sitting down she would ask him why he would do such a thing like that as he would say that he was sorry.

She would ask him if he found her attractive, wondering why he would do such a thing to her.

This would cause him to remember Rule #6 since he hasn't seen 100% of her panties, everything else depends on how he acts.

The first thing that he would do is tell her that he is the most beautiful woman that he knows which causes her to get shocked as he would continue onwards, saying that he knows he shouldn't but he can't control himself when he looks at her which causes her heart to start beating quicker as he would take a seat next to her.

As she questioned what he meant by that he would continue, saying that whenever he sees her he wants her more and more, that he can't stop thinking about her.

This caused her to say that she didn't know he felt that way about her that way, to lay it on even more he would put his hand on her thigh, saying which is why i want to do it with you.

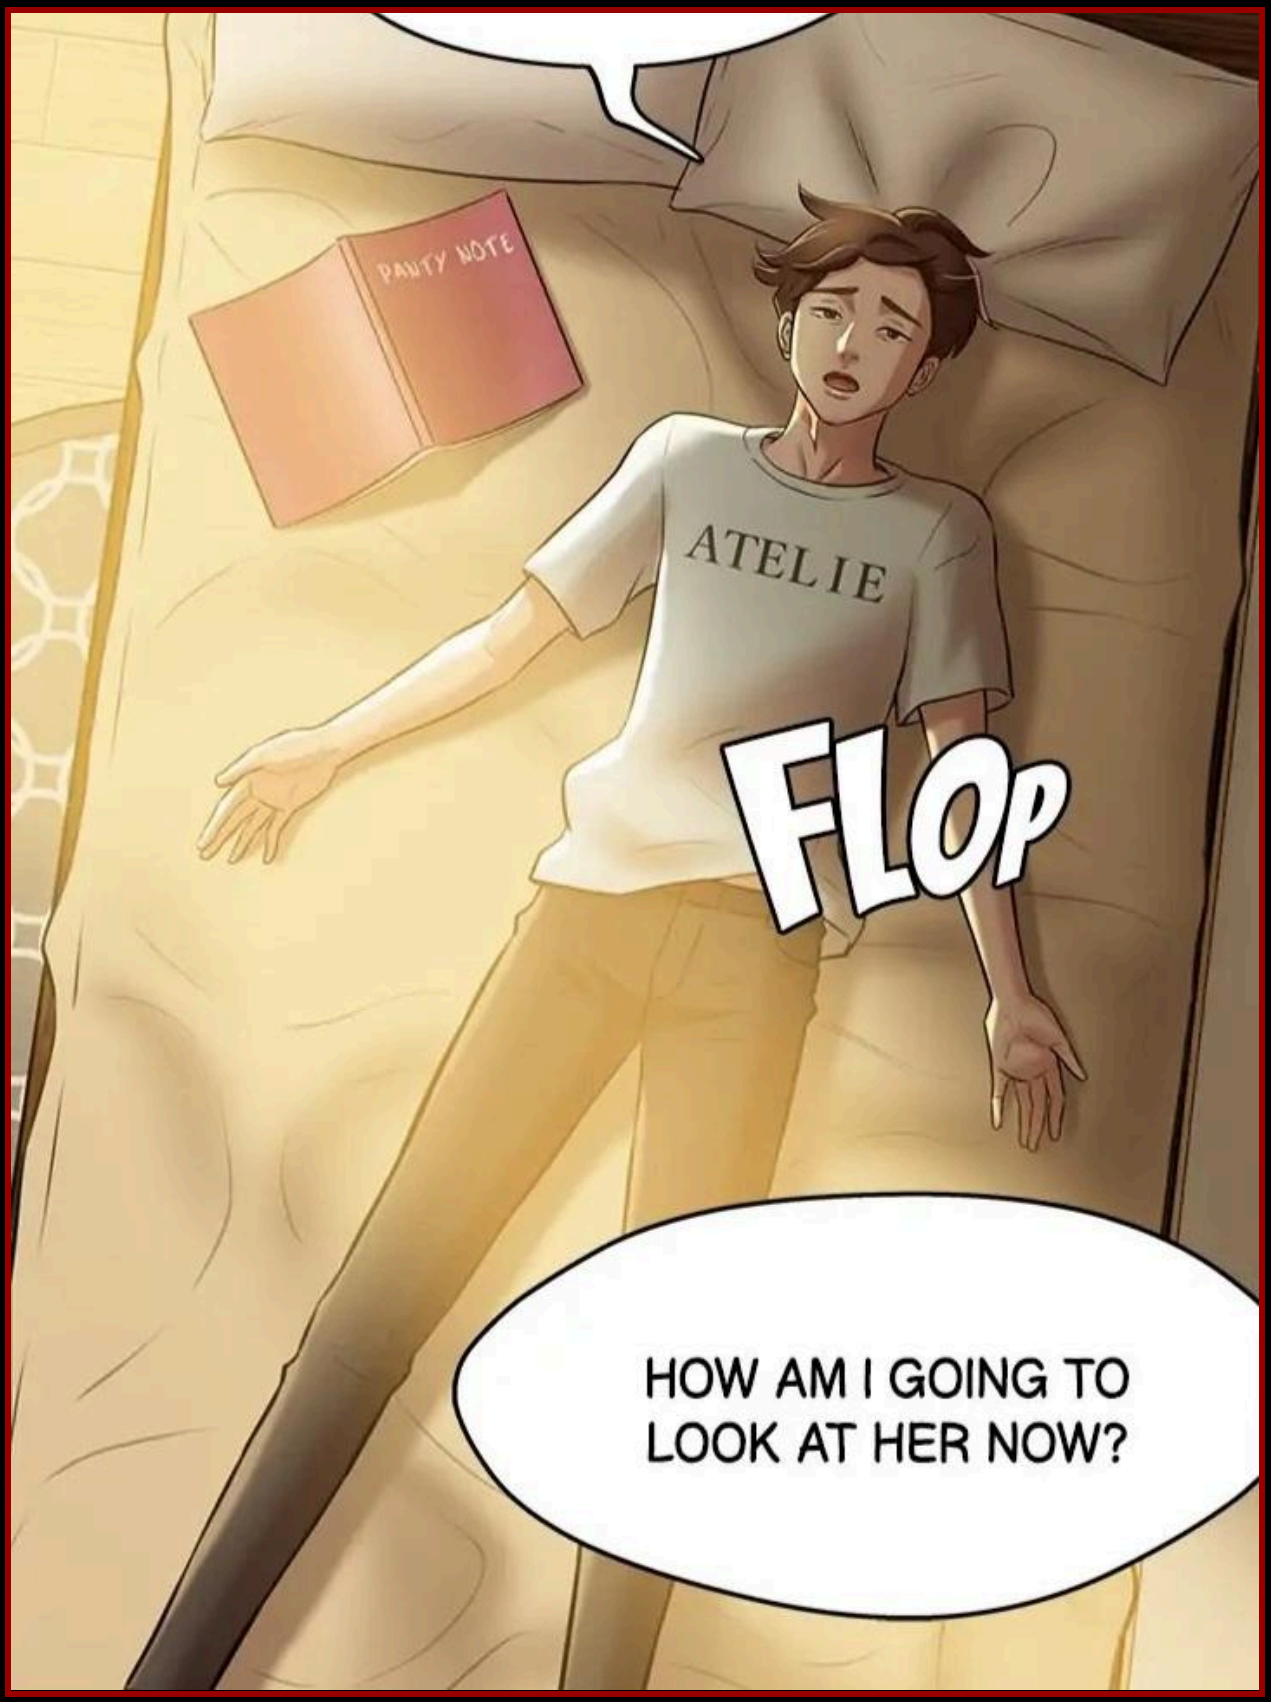

While doing that he would lean in for a kiss causing her to say no…that she has a husband yet she doesn't resist.

After a moment of them kissing she would turn away, telling him that they should stop and he shouldn't be kissing an old lady like her, still not really resisting.

As this went on he would go through all his memories with her knowing that this would change their relationship forever but he still went onwards with it.
