Expanded Vision

This Doc will Discuss FRIEND's VSI feat Which took a Place on Bloody New Year's eve, Chapters 76, 77 And 78, In Which FRIEND Visualised a Huge Portion of the Shinjuku in order to Set up the whole Plan.

Note: Shinjuku is around 18.23 km^2

The Visualized Area:

As we see Shinjuku is pretty Huge and Complicated, and has Many Buildings in its huge Raduinece, FRIEND In order to Read the main-casts's thought Process and Know Where is Kenji Going to be at anytime, He MUST have known the possible routes, as Kenji Might Pick anywhere he wishes, thus FRIEND Must be aware of all possible routes, Which Kenji could have chosen for the Plan to be completed.

That he could direct Kenji From That Place he will end up at to another place he wants later, FRIEND Had to Calculate Kenji's speed, and Know his Decision Making VIA Empathic Accuracy in order to Get the Perfect Timing he wanted, he had to Visualize Many Buildings, Inducing couple dozens of buildings With Endless details, like stairs, how would Kenji go through them, how long would he spend, The Roof tops, how much time will he spend on Each Rooftop ETC, all these Must be done for him to Know WHEN will Kenji be at a Particular place.

He also Had to Replicate the Robot at some point, and run a very complicated Simulation Where Kenji is Climbing it too, we will explore why and when later.

The Trap Must be Explained here, FRIEND Wanted to Kenji On top of the robot, this is the last Point Which if happened, FRIEND Would win no matter what, Now FRIEND Puts a series of traps, Which would lead Kenji into the top Of the Robot.

Otcho From a Monitors room saw a Masked-Person and suspected him for Being FRIEND, he had fit the profile Kenji gave which is:

- On top of a building
- Wears a Mask {FRIEND always wears a mask IN their pov}
- Has a Good Peak towards the Robot
- Has Control Over the Robot AKA Controls the Robot VIA some type of Remotes

FRIEND Knew how the Profile looked and matched it on a Building he picked on his own, which his trap would take a place On.

But, Why did he Visualize?

Once the Eve Started, Kenji starts Running from the point He and his Friends left the Van at, the ground he is scanning is entirety of Shinjuku, first thing comes to his Mind is "FRIEND Must be on Top of a Specific building" Which Of Course FRIEND Predicted, But Now it begins, Kenji has Endless buildings in his line of sight Which he can pick from, FRIEND In Order to Read his thought process needs to Know his POV through THE ENTIRE NIGHT, Since Depending on Kenji's surroundings he would search in any building he wants.

Thus from the moment Kenji left the group, until FRIEND Made the Falling Play, Every Thing Kenji saw was Visualized By FRIEND, From any Building he Encountered up to the last building which FRIEND Planted a Camera at, Was visualized by FRIEND.

FRIEND Replicated Kenji in his mind and visualized his movement, it's like "If I Were Kenji, Which path would I pick? After I pick a Specific Path, And fail to Find FRIEND, I Would feel frustrated, thus my pace would increase, and I would feel tired Few Buildings, thus will decrease it for a bit" ETC Which makes the space hard to determine for FRIEND himself, thus the replication Must have been hard as hell to do.

Kenji after lots of searching, had reached on top of a building which Otcho did not know about, yet one of the people in the Monitors room said they have a Camera on top of that specific building, {We will need that "a" Later} AKA FRIEND told the man that Kenji would end up there at X time and you have to switch one of the screens to that camera, that Otcho can describe the Profilied Man.

The Description was Not hard to give and FRIEND picked the Profilied Man's place Which indicates that FRIEND picked that place that it's Easy to describe and close Enough from Kenji's building, since if FRIEND picked a different building that was so far, Kenji wouldn't have been able to reach; via how exhausting would that be, especially that Kenji scanned endless buildings from a Down-to-top approach, and would need to do the same with the Building FRIEND picked, AKA FRIEND had taken Kenji's stamina into account while setting the trap up.

This is basically it, he Visualized Kenji's route with everything in his line of sight and Otcho's POV, and to Match them both he gave 0 guards in front of The Friendship party base, nor In front of Monitors Room Knowing how will everything go and Predicting everything alongside with it's timing. P1

FRIEND Also had to Visualize later after the trap, Kenji and his friends heading towards the Robot, Which includes considering the speed of the Vehicles, the emotional transactions they will have etc, then Visualize Kenji climbing the Robot, Knowing how long would that take him, Then Kenji putting the dynamites on top of the Robot and the dynamites's clock, and it would be done. Some of the FAQs:

Couldn't he spam Cameras? And then he does not need to visualize anything, Actually Thinking about it, why does he even Need to Visualize at all he spammed Cameras.

This can be Countered VIA Many Arguments:

1. The Burden of Proof:

This person claiming he did is the one supposed to provide evidence supporting him {FRIEND} spamming Cameras in the area, all the cameras in the Monitors room which we see were pointing at the Robot, besides The one aiming at the Profilied Man, wouldn't they have pointed the rooftops of Other buildings since FRIEND should have spammed cameras, and Kenji could be anywhere that is a Rooftop, NO? Thus breaks the pattern we were given by the FRIEND. {hitchen's razor basically}.

2. Hasty Generalization:

The person asking this has committed a hasty generalisation, as we literally see only ONE camera, which is one sample. The person who gave the Question Generalized this one sample that it Covered planting cameras on every rooftop in the city, despite it being ONE Camera.

3. People would suspect:

People in the area would feel uncomfortable. Why are those Friend-ship party members planting cameras all over the City? Which we never saw, which again contradicts the Identity FRIEND has been creating up to now. He gained Trust from citizens around Tokyo, everyone trusts him, he never did suspicious things etc.

4. The Statement:

The guy who switched to that 1 camera stated

WE HAVE A CAMERA

A Camera, he did not say we have Cameras in that X building thus it's Just One Camera NO? He would have said we have cameras in X building if FRIEND spammed Cameras as the questions Claims.

5. The Timing:

Anyone who read Bloody New Year's eve knows that it was CENTRED about the timing, FRIEND Predicted everything, from A to Z, he could have known when will everything happen, this is backed up by Many Examples, some of them would be:

A. Kenji's Route Matched Otcho and the others Timing:

FRIEND Knew when Kenji would reach that Specific building, That is why he Put the Weird people in the Monitors room, Knowing the Interactions would take some time, and he put NO guards which Otcho noticed, Why did he do that? That Otcho reaches slightly before Kenji is on top of that building, then the interactions with the Wired people takes a Place, {Which would take some time}, then Otcho would notice the man, after that he would call Kenji instantly, FRIEND Knowing Kenji would be on top of that place, Wanted a camera planted there, That Otcho can Describe where is Kenji Compared to the Man, slightly after Kenji Appears in front of Otcho on the screen, VIA then the Monitors guy would swap the screen to the camera on top of Kenji's Building.

B. The Bloody New Year's eve's end: Strongest proof by far

This proves that everything on bloody New year's eve was predicted with the timing. If Kenji was walking a different path, Literally Any Different step from the Route FRIEND Foresaw, not Just Kenji but also Otcho using the Van, if wasted half a second the whole thing would be missed.

FRIEND's calculations would have been wrong, he would never get perfect timing BY SECONDs correct if he did not predict exactly the same route.

FRIEND Predicted when Kenji put the Explosions on top of the Robot.

In order to do that, {We know he knew BY Second I will prove that later} you need to Visualize everything from the very beginning, how will X interaction go, how long will it take, how long will Kenji spend searching, when will Otcho tell him about the Man's place, when he reaches there for the Profileid man and finds Fukubei {FRIEND} Waiting, how long Should he spend in the Play, How long will it take to Reach the Robot, How long will it take to Climb it, how will the interaction with the fake-pilot take, how long will Kenji make dynamites clock last, all these and what is beyond that MUST be calculated and visualized in order for FRIEND to know EXACTLY when.

Suppose he missed 1 interaction's timing, that it lasted 20s Rather than 15s, he would have NEVER got it right.

Now, How do you We Know that he got the Timing Perfectly, Especially claiming it was accurate to the literal second?

{Keep in Mind that 4A Is a good proof for this too}

1. When Kenji put the Dynamites, FRIEND Had Known that they would last for 3 Seconds.

2. When The Explosion happened, deleting Endless buildings and cleaning a huge portion of the area, We have 2 Different people, from 2 different places in the same city stating that The day is done, AKA the 21st Century is upon us, In other words FRIEND in order to make it UNForgettable night had matched the timing of everything that the last explosion would happen EXACTLY at 0:00, People who reported that were:

A. Otcho:

He said "The 21st Century!" shouting, Indicating he knew FRIEND Won, that he wanted it at this timing in particular, he would be known as saviour of humanity and the reason why humanity LITERALLY passed the 20th century.

How do we know his report is trustworthy?

He was inside a car {before Kenji got in}
—————————————>
Cars have clocks inside them
—————————————>
He Knew how long will Kenji's dynamite Would last "he stated that" which is 3M
—————————————>
Otcho can calculate when will that happen by adding the dynamites timing clock to the clock he had in the car

He stated Literally Half a second before the Explosion

THE 21st Century!

Which matched the same second our next reporter Reported his report.

B. The Random: {our 2nd Reporter}

In shorts Kanna is Kenji's niece, she was with bunch of homeless people, one of them had a Clock, and in the same panel Otcho

shouted the 21st Century, this person said

Oh, It's Midnight.

Why do we know he is trustworthy?

1. Matched Otcho's time, how would they both be wrong despite them not being in the same place? Thus their sources were not the same, which allows one source to prove the other one.

2. He had an O'clock in his hand, how would he miss it? Mind you that, Watches make a beep every time 1 hour passes. Which would be why our homeless friend looked at it, it rang / beeped —> he realizes its 0:00, thus informing the Others.

he would be focused with Kenji instead of looking at the clock, trying to hear via the wireless other homeless Kenji supporters have, where did Kenji reach etc, and then the clock would make a beep, as a signal for 1 hour passed, announcing its 0:00, And that we are finally in the 21st century.

Couldn't FRIEND have seen the Buildings before?

FRIEND Is very popular Figure in the region, and his face was Very familiar to people there too, especially Shinjiku, considering where FRIEND used to do his gatherings for the Cult around that area, that FRIEND Had many cultists who live there, Imagine seeing the face of the Most popular cult leader in the area, Who is at the same time, one of If not the biggest Political parties leaders as well, walking around in these streets following mostly 1 linear road with no apparent reason, around and on top of the buildings, you see what I mean? He would not be safe as he had many people who hate him, he would also be followed by his cultists and his party supporters, thus taking tons of attention, But he wears a mask he could have Just Taken it Off, NO? 🤯

this is not true for anyone who may Bring this up, for few reasons:

1. The Burden of proof again, since the one accusing MUST provide valid reasoning backed up by evidence that FRIEND Was walking around Shinjuku and randomly entering dozens of buildings , and followed the same route the robot would do later.

2. Kenji and his group exist, FRIEND {Both} have the literal same face, and are pretending to be one of Kenji's group, how would Kenji and his group not see that? And find out that {on bloody New year's eve itself} that FRIEND Was their Friend Fukubei since he is following similar routes, they would say something alongside with the lines of:

Wait, we are going on the same Path Fukubei was walking on, back then.....

3. He Showed his face to Quite many people, this is shown pretty much many times, he Pre-bloody New year's eve gave speeches to his cult with-out a mask, he also in the very 1st chapter showed his face to many people, and the sessions he used to have with many people were without a mask, thus people would identify him, we see that the amount of people there is absolutely enormous in his speeches and that he had Hundreds of sessions, and that all of them in around the same area, since he never travelled, thus his face is quite known for those in Shinjuku.

4. His narrative contradicts that, FRIEND would be spotted walking around all buildings, which would hurt the image he has been establishing In many angles:

A. His forecasting:

FRIEND's Predictions never miss, his prophecies are correct, he will not make things up as he knows what will happen, why interfere to cause them? This is what he has grown in everyone's mind inside his own verse besides The Main-cast's, if he was spotted walking around. Wouldn't that contradict it? Won't people link the dots after the eve?

B. His Time:

FRIEND is very famous, and busy person, he is not just the leader of an absolutely enormous cult pre-bloody new year's eve, but he is also the leader of one of the biggest political parties in the world let alone Japan, would he really have time to walk around every building Kenji "Might" Pick?

This is basically it, I hope this doc gave a better understanding on FRIEND's EV {Expanded Vision}, Highlighting its Predictions, EQu, hot reading and psychoanalysis's capabilities , Mainly his VSI, and how well-rounded his planning on BNYE was.

This feat was explored by Asinsio and Amin.
