Thank you for your interest in reading

This Doc is built to be viewed on a laptop/PC so I apologize for the aesthetic on Smartphones

Synopsis:

After getting away with actions he couldn't undo for too long, the 29 year-old Elias Kaiser was forced to deliver his own consequence himself and woke up in an outdated world only inhabited by pokemon. His first impression of another pokemon in this world? A purrloin trying to trick him into helping her join a guild she was declined from because of having no partner. Now, having minimal knowledge of his surroundings, a partner that feels almost like a liability to him, trying to come to terms with what he's done in his past life, a new body he can hardly control and trying to hide the fact that he used to be something most pokemon only see as a mythical creature, he only had one advantage left to navigate this mess: his genius intellect.

Chapter List & Additional Information:

- CHAPTER 1: The Second Life Of Ten (Word Count around 7000)

- CHAPTER 2: Cat's Paw (Word Count around 10300)

- CHAPTER 3: Gentle and Hireable (Word Count around 7600)

more coming soon.

Chapter 4 writing progress: 60%
(Probably around 22K words so it'll take a bit)

Gallery coming later.

regular updates on new chapters and overall progress on them can be found here too.

- Earlier chapters cap out at much more words than the later ones in order to properly introduce the premise and world.

- Later chapters mostly will follow the usual rhythm of 3-4K words.

- Early chapters will be released via docs so that I can build up a good rhythm and in order to know that this is something I can do consistently before I put it up on actual fanfiction websites.

- Whoever would like to be a beta reader before new chapters release or give general feedback can send a private DM on reddit (where you have most likely found this link), or DM the discord account db_Puddingdrawer. The reddit account's name is Equal_custard0

- Having knowledge of the work this fanfiction is based off of (Pokemon Mystery Dungeon) is recommended if you want to understand certain elements quicker but not 100% needed.

- Since this fanfiction contains SCD elements, I'm telling you in advance that the writing will still be the main focus and that the characters here won't be going anywhere above being solid mid tiers. At the end of the day there are two communities that have to be satisfied here, one of them with 0 SCD experience. And I doubt anyone not interested in scaling would sit there re-reading and analyzing chapters just to understand what's going on.

- For any more questions you can gladly DM me or comment, I am happy to answer