KEI SHINOMIYA DOC

This Doc Is A Collection Of A Charecter From Tomadachi Game Which Has A Lot Of Impressive Feats.

NOTES

This Documents Will Add Context, But It Won't Be Very Organized Unless It Was A Big Feat.

RANKS

FSIQ > PLANNING > STRATEGY > MANIPULATION > FSEQ > DECEPTION > PSYCHOANALYSIS > THINKING > OBSERVATION > PERCEPTION > DEDUCTION

STATUS

Normal Feats:
1.Hide And Seek(100%)
2.Murder Game(100%)
3.Friendless Game(0%)
Prison Game Analysis:
1.On Screen(100%)
2.Off Screen(80%)
3.Reasoning(100%)
4.Arguements(100%)
5.Scans(90%)
FSIQ Calc
1.Saw The Sun Perfectly(50%)
2.Surpassed Educational System(100%)
3.Found The Key In The First Day(0%)

CREDITS

DOC STARTS

Kei, after joining a school managed to make friends with alot of higschoolers and even leaded his basketball club

[social skills]

He could do anything he tried, easily succeeding in it, now at first this might look like a narrative statement, but this meant that, he learned math, algebra, english, history, biology, chemistry, physics, economics, and other school subjects first try, this is impressive because he learned all this at first glance, why? He said that he had learned it when he tried. This is vauge and in a highball could mean when he first TRIED TO LISTEN. Which means that, as soon as the teacher spoke, he immediately known about the subject. An even more higher interpertation is the dact that, when he lived HE TRIED KNOWING ABOUT LIFE, this means that, as soon as he lived, he had known about everything, OUT OF FLUID REASONING, as he was trying to know things about life, when he is living(of course this is a very hgih interpertation)

[FRI, VCI, PSI, WMI]

He had surpassed the educational system at a young age, now he is still very young, and let us say that he was referring to his midway age

Kei had easily found a winning strategy during the Friend Ship Hide And Seek, game. The rules are basically hide and seek but there are two teams which had a hider and a seeker, the seekers in each team were suppose to find the hiders, the hiders can't change they're location, the hiders can escape, the seeker of the opposing team may supply the hider with food by coming to they're location, the hider may give up, the particioants can contact each other by a provided phone. Since Kei has more people, his strategy was to follow the seeker which meant that the seeker can't supply fold resulting in the hiders starvation which would make them give up.

[strategy efficienctcy, formulation speed, critical thinking, EM]

In two hours he managed to find a hiding spot for his teammate, he had also been able to memorize the location of the cave, and to go back there, he had also constantly visualize his location while movin, as going from the center to the cave, must meant thate he must have had somrthing guiding him, such as a memory map.

[VSI, WMI, PSI]

He managed to convince Maria(Yuuichi's team mate) to snitch on Yuuichi's hider, which was hiding at a cave.

[persuasion]

He had reached the cave but Tenji(hider) was hiding. To find out his location, he called a phone, making an illusion that Kei was far away, this would make Tenji's guard down, after wards he had taunt him, causing Tenji to scream, revealing his position. He had also tracked down Tenji's position in the instant he screamed.

[EM manip, info gathering, EM, PSI, VSI, WMI]

After the game had ended, he was announced that he lost, and at first a teammate wanted to sacrifice himself for Kei(take his dept away) however he actually decided to take on the dept AND SRAY IN THE TOMADACHI GAME

[EE]

During the all bets poker gamble, he had made a decent tactic. You see, Yuuichi lost to others in poker, he had relised that the other members were using a back person, or someone behind his back to see their facial reactions. Since Yuuichi's face wasn't moving, they must have seen Kogorogi's reaction, and see what cards Yuuichi has based on that reaction.

[Deduction, EP]

Using this he had made a good mini strategy, at first he had asked for a piece of paper, he had used this and said that ir was for “calculations, “ But actually it was to tell Kogorogi she was being used and to fake her reaction, as he held it in an angle that only Kogorogi may see.

[misdirection]

Next he had asked for cheating preventions, by making a new card deck, however, with this, he could know predict where the Joker is, by keeping track of it, as he knew that the dealer would use either a “hindu shuffle, “ Or, “riffle shuffle, “ Which would allow him to predict where the cards were.

[misdirection]

And once he had gotten a good hand, he asked Kogorogi using the previous messagr to act bad, and he actually had a good card.

[misdirection]

During this whole period, he somehow cold readed Kogorogi, and knew that she has amazing acting skills.

[cold reading, EP]

He saw that Kogorogi was bring gaslighted by Kamishiro, by “reading” which card will she pick, even tho he didn't deduce how he did it, he had a feeling that it was fake and falied to trust him.

[EE]

During a gamble with another gambler, he had made a game, the rules are, there is a circle, and they must punch the other out of the circle, the circle was placed under both of the gamblers. To help visualize it here is a drawing of it.

TTTTTTTT TTTTTTTT
T KEI T T ENE T
T T T MY T
TTTTTTTT TTTTTTTT

The gamblers must be punched out of the circle, OR GET OUT.

With that info, he had made a good strategy to beat this gambler.

[formulation speed]

Now, he had tried to kick the opponents bottom, now there was a metal plating at the bottom, this gives him a good coverage feat as he had two possible benifits with this, but first, people must understand that, he had actually predicted this metal armor, but incase there isn't he would just attack it and won. But with this new comfirmation, he had now know and could use third party resources to protect parts, and that resource can hurt you, as Shinomiya was hurt after punching the metal.

With that, the gambler, just like he predicted, landed the final blow near his legs, but there was a knife hidden in there which harmder the hand.

Now this was amazing VSI, as he needed to predict where the hand would move AND WHERE THE KNIFE SHOULD BE HELD TO DAMAGE IT, again shoeing great VSI.

[misdirection, planning coverage, VSI]

During the murder game, one of the rules were that he and his team mates would be separated, how? Simple, by blindfolding him and moving him to another location while blindfolded. Now before he was blindfolded, he knew where the sun was(from the sky if that make sense.) When his blindfold was freed, he had found where he was, by the location of the sun(where it had move). Using this as a basis of how long had they travelled and USING THIS TO ACCURATELY KNOW THEIR LOCATION. Now, another fact was that he memorised the location of the sun, exactly, subconsciously, why? Since he knew the exact location, he must have knew the exact location of the sun, as it was the basis. He had also calculated all this in an instant

[VSI, WMI, PSI, perception]

At the murder game, he had met four players, each of them trying to decieve each other. In this confrontation he had recognized Satone immediately, and knows her name, which is decent WMI.

[WMI]

Now at the beginning, he had observed that one of the people proposed they work together to obtain the black bullet(an oppurtunity that was given if they reach a certain area.) He noticed that they would betray them anyway so he should just not join, as they still have a team.

[observation, critical thinking, cold reading, risk assessment, VCI]

He had remembered a name which he had only heard once instantly, this shows great WMI

[WMI]

He attempted to see Satone's choice if she wants to join or not, yes means good, no means bad. This is because, Satone has a massive intuition but actually, while yes this might have been bad reasoning to see if it's safe or not, humans are scientitically proven to make subconscious calculations, meaning that Kei trusting Satone should be a fine thing as Satone has alot of sub conscous calculstions, which could explain her luck. Afterwards Satone said yes, but Satone said it wasn't because it was safe rather, it was because it was more fun. Using this he had known that she would thought that Kei would rely on her.

[EP, VCI]

Now here is when one of hid genius strategies come into play again. When they were walking, Subaru Gaku commented on his bad health, now he predicted this as it is needed for his strategy, with that, he probably either anylized his speech patterns or his physical build to guess that he was an ex survivor who knew about the human body, of course this is a guess.

[prediction, perception, EP]

After which, he declines, this would make Satone hurt him, which was according to his calculations as she wants to proof that Kei isn't in good health and should be abandoned(btw they are trying to decieve each other in the fact that they are not going to betray each other.) Now then, Kei again, strongly declines this and says that he walks and doesn't trust the other, this would make a genius deception, as it looks as if Kei didn't want to trust them, but a person “calmed”(so he was left behind and the money went to them) him down by pretending to smile for him, in which he acted like he had fallen for it. In other words he had used his profile of Subaru(the one that noticed his injury) to make it look like he didn't want to go, and ends up falling for their trap. As it is illogical to stay behind, and he did this while also making it look natural as it would have been suspicious for him to suddenly leave the group.

[concealment, acting skills, indirect manipulation]

While he was walking with his group he had tracked his location 24/7, he did this every time he moved to.

[VSI]

Now then, why did he decide to be left alone? Simple! So that he can go in the building without any interruptions, you see, if he decides to enter the building with them, some of them would slow them down. He knew that the team would be blocked by the zombies, and one of them would be forced to be their bait or got voted out(he didn't explain this part, but it is what could only logically make sense) if people do not want to accept this, then he would thought that Substu might be a fan of the people in the team and become their distraction for them(even if it's unlikely.)

He knew that the people in the team couldn't trust each other, so they would wait for sometime(he had predicted that the bait will use a signal so that the others could hear it) judt to make sure that the bsit didn't lure them to the zombies(between the location of the black bullet and the players, there were money zombies).

He knew the bait would run, and he knew that the people will wait for a long time, he took this opportunity to go to the house.

[indirect manipulation, mass manipulation, anticipation, prediction, cold reading, EP]

Now he had known that by the time he arrived at the house, the other team members would got in, so he aimed at them with a gun(unloaded with a black bullet[each player gets one]) and bluffs so they do not attack him.

[acting skill, anticipation]

And he had also calculated the time for him to go to the house from his location, while not being spoted, and also knew when the other teamates would go in.

[anticipation, EP, VSI, FRI]

He had been shot by Subaru and was stunned(if you were shot you would be stunned for a minute) Satone stopped Subaru for a minute. With that he knew that Satone wanted to stall until he had been unstunned.

[observation, fast think, cold reading]

PRISON GAME ANALYSIS

Prison Game Is An Extremely Underated Strategy, With That This Doc Will Explore It's Advanced Anticipations Which Were Based On More Then Illogocal Concepts.

NOTES

Prison Game Is A, While Realistic, Still Is Offscreen And Has Some Unexplained Or Guess Based Logic(For The Second Part.)

CONTEXT

The Prison Game Is The First Round Of The Adult Tomadachi Game, To Fully Gradp The Situations, The Rules Of The Game And Relationships Between The People Should Be Understanded First.

Shibe - Innocent, Weak Minded, Friends With Yuuichi, Quickly Made Friends With A Certain Someone In The Game.

Emo Guy - From Now On I Will Refer To A Certain Person As Emo Guy, He Of ten Gets Blamed For Everything.

Old Guy - Is Meritocratic.

Bike Guy - He Betrayed His Friends In The Tomadachi Game, However He Was Fooled Resulting In Him Being Desperate And Gambling Against Yuuichi, He Lost.

Loli Girl - Secretely Exs With Kuroki, And Betrayed Him.

Ugly Girl - Fat.

Saori - Wants To Test If Shibe Is A Good Person. Is “working” With Taneda.

Taneda - Made Friends With Shibe, Also A Swindler.

Kei - His Rival.

Now For The Rules:

1. To Clear The Game To Either Stay In A Prison Complex For A Long Time, Make 10000 Dominos Stand Up, Then Everyone Will Clear It, Or, Find A Key Which Would Allow You To Escape.
2. If Someone Were To Escape Then The TG Office Will Reward The Escapist With 200 Million. However, The Escapist Will Be Called A Traitor, Why? Simple! Because, The Other Participants Will Gain More Dept When The Traitor Escapes.
3. To Combat This You May Vote Someone Out, However You Must Have A Majority Vote.
4. There Isn't A Fix Team, You May Change Your Side.
5. No Violence.
6. At thr beggining there is a time period to make friendd with yout team in a party

Game Starts

Yuuich and Keii's following strategy was made in a short time(note).

At the beginning all the participants seek a game clear, and decides to use the domino route. Now however while it was unkown where the following event happen, which was Yuuichi gaining the key, we could assume that he already had since the beginning as otherwise he would not sabotage the others without a way of escape. What do mean by sabotage?

Katagiri, being a monster that he is destroyed all their progres. But first, why didn't he just escape? This is mainly for two reasons.

1. Wanting to see if people are worth saving.
2. Saving Shibe from the rest.

Now why did he do the sabotage? This was to put a conflict into the other participants, you see he had known that Taneda was a swindler, his reasonings for knowing this this were unkown, but we can assume since Taneda seemed to force himself into Shibe, a rather quick strategy. Now that we get that straight, as stated he knew about Taneda, being a swindler would obviosly greedy, however just because he had made friends, doesn't mean that he could control everyone yet as it would be suspicious to ask to vote for someone with out a reason yet, so he asked the opposing side(basically people who hate Yuuichi, because they want control) to vote for the old guy(so he could gain a majority in the other side[popularity, and also conflict to have a reason to vote]) and Taneda would use the emo guy, who since was depressed or sociaial weird, didn't do much work got blamed from the meritocracy guy. This cause a rift between them, Taneda used this to flame the emo guy to get rid of the old guy, all this to gain influence.

Note that Yuuichi had predicted all this, which would be important in a later stage as he wants Taneda to purposely pressure his allies(explained later) Yuuichi ha dalso request for metal plates for the purpose of “making stoppers” As if someone were to knock them by accident they should not knocl all with this, but this had actually 2 reasons.

1. Since it would keep on fallling it would cause more outrage

2. To make fake keys, this would make more chaos.

[deduction, aniticpation, cr, social understanding, social awareness, concealment, mass manip, em, ep]

Now then, what is Yuuichi's next step, well first this party must establish the fact that, Kuroki has made alliances with alot of people and is the “leader.“ However, believe it or not, Taneda has been in control. Another fact is, Kei also secretly got a key, and they decided to collaborate, how did they found each other? Well, Taneda decided to persuade everyone to vote for bike guy. In which Yuuichi had purposely anticipated this, and since this had been against Kuroki's order he had purposely taunt Kuroki on this matter. This is that Yuuichi had suspected Kei of being the other key holder(he had known there are two keys) and to comfirm he brought attention to himself, Kei would deduce this fact and would also reveal himself by purposely stopping Kuroki punching after Yuuichi angered him, quite obvious, this is obvious as he is kind of a predator so having him eliminated would have been better.

[concealment]

Afterwards, he had made everyone think about the key to escape to lay paranoia after quickly adapting to one thing, which is, “The guards are no longer gonna exile anyone so vote someone out right now. “ After wards, Yuuichi immediately made another plan which is impressive. Now for the strategy, we don't know if Yuuichi asked Saori to do the next step or Yuuichi predicted Taneda's orders as he just needs Saori to say that the key holder is in control to instill fear into the others.

After wards he anticipated that Taneda will try to use this and create a letter which states that the werewolf is escaping unless you submit 90 million yen to the key holder, which he had thought he had gained, this reason is because he seduced a participant in the game, and after the message got out Yuuichi asked for a strip check, to see if anyone got the keys. He did this, because he knew that ugly girl had a key, or actually a fake one, he knew that she would request to get checked by her most trusted person, Taneda. After she confessed about having the key to Taneda, Yuuichi knew that Taneda will create the escape message.

This would lead the prison game players to chaos and fight each other resulting in a split. The on that wants to submit, leaded by Taneda, and the ones that doesn't with three main heads, Kei, Yuuichi, and Kuroki. He had anticipated that Taneda will vote of the people that doesn't want to comply as he has the key, but, he has the minority. However, that minority soon grew into the majority as Makoto Shibe, who had been in anti, had swapped into pro, Yuuichi anticipated this to happen as while he doesn't want to, he believes that this is the most diplomatic way.

[anticipation, indirect manipulation, direct manipulation, strategy adaptation, formulation speed, EM, EU, EP]

Now Yuuichi previously had stated that the keys were to drove the players apart but then revealed it to be a bluff, this is to worry Kuroki and Kei. As the games passed the two swapped to anti, leaving only Yuuichi. However this was part of his strategy, after Kei had swapped and requested to stay at Taneda's place, at first Taneda had rejected, but the girl he had seduced asked him to allow Kei in, now he knew that the girl would let him in, actually the main goal wasn't for Yuuichi to get Kei into the other side, but actually to get the ugly girl to confront Taneda. You see, the seduced girl had been seduced, and you see,

Taneda had been working with Saori and also getting her cooperation with seduction as well, so when Saori is talking to Taneda, ugly girl became jealous, Taneda accepted Kei in because he was reminded that women are always wanting attention.

[mass manipulation, indirect manipulation, direct manipulation, strat complexity, strat foresight, anticipation, EM, EU]

Now that this had happened, Yuuichi decided to submit the agreement, however, Yuuichi had shown some suspicious signs, mainly smiling after looking disturbed, this would feed Taneda's paranoia that there was a second key. And so he had to exile Yuuichi Katagiri, big mistake, or actually going into the Tomadachi Game in the forst place was a mistake. When he had asked everyone to submit Yuuichi as the exile, they all voted, except for Saori, as she states that, she had grown jealous of the ugly girl and wants to be raped by Taneda before giving him the exile. Taneda believed this, especially because he was reminded of this fact. However as soon as Taneda did, Sairo screamed for help, the rest would protect Saori and hit Taneda and the ugly girl would get jealous and hit Taneda. Eliminating everyone except Taneda, because of this Yuuichi got the majority.

Now why did Saori willingly got exploded, well Yuuichi's cold reading of her was someone with high EE as she was willing to expose Shibe by the Games, so after she had relised Shibe Makoto might be good, she wants to test him, all Yuuichi needed to do now was to say he would help and pay her the money for her loss.

[seduction, negotiation, triangulation, mass manipulation, EP, EM, EU]

Now, why did he make his vote himself? Simply to persuade Shibe.

[persuasion]

After the main thing was done, he practically knew that loli betrayed Kuroki be ause of their interactions, as to test if Kuroki was a good person, he gad made loli said that he betrayed Kuroki because she had a baby and needed to abandon him. After Kuroki had betrayed everyone, Kei and Yuuichi had escaped.

[concealment]

Note that everything was strategized by Yuuichi and Kei, so the two share this feat, which is why this was included in the Kei doc. In the end of the doc, Kei had revealed that he knew and deducted Yuuichi's first move, and the fact that he had known about the swindler, and this ENTIRE strategy revolves a huge amount on the swindler suggest that he had also the same CR feat as Yuuichi. Another theory is that Yuuichi told him about the swindler, and all Yuuichi CR feats, or basically all feats from this strategy also applied to Kei.

Now that was all of his on screen feats. But now, there is an offscreen frat in the prison game, which is actually a very good one. So first Kei's motive is to learn from Yuuichi.

Now let us begin.

Strategy Starts

Kei knew about his team's hatred for Yuuichi

Now how did he knew about their hatred for Yuuichi?

Bike Guy told him, and he calculated that he should not tell Bike Guy right here as that would be ineffective and should just wait. With the info he had abducted that the entire team was or has connections against Yuuichi.

He told them at the start of the game instead of the time he was given to make friends with the others for a couple reasons.

1. To make a sense of unity among them
2. The fact that he said it later and not now produces a psychological effect, you see, since he is less known by the Bike Guy, and he also predicted that everyone will eventually talk because they needed to, he knew that they would know each other better and connect through Yuuichi, once this happen, they would felt like Kei was a stranger lowering their expectations, once he told them about Yuuichi, they would start to be suprised, and since the Bike Guy, who had picked him to be his first victim to decieve would think of him lowly, but becauss this suprise happened, it would make them think of hin way higher and want to converse with him as when people learned something new that they are interested in, they would take it, and would start talking to him, with him being the focuse as everyone was suprised.

Now yes, not all people think Yuuichi, is bad, but from his perspective it wouldake sense because of his observations.

[relationship management, mass manipulation, info control, abduction, induction, analytical think, observation, prediction, EU]

Now that we know that he has everyones focus at the meeting(between his team) he could set the obstacle for Yuuichi, since now Kei had the attention, he know wants to engineer a situation where Yuuichi would look for the werewolf, that is to make Kuroki the leader, he had anticipated that Yuuichi would break the stacks to escape, noe then, he had anticipated that the old man would try to say to expell the Emo Guy as he was destroying progress. Since Yuuichi would say no, he would naturally do the next thing which is go to Kuroki's side, now he has Kuroki has absolutely all the control. And since he hates Yuuichi, he would impose many difficult things for Yuuichi to do. He also didn't make himself the leader as he plans to betray them and so that Yuuichi allows him to look at his strategy.

Now to clear a thing up, this is an adaptation and he gain attention just so that he could give ledearship to someone Yuuichi hates, and, while yes he had anticipated everyhing, no matter what, he had always planned on giving ledearship to someone.

He had also cold readed everyone to anticipate this.

He had tested if Yuuichi would difinitely say no by taunting him, as if he doesn't truly belief in it to be a good descision then he would have abandoned it.

Now incase there was no conflict, which was unlikely because of the trust, he would have made one by taunting them just like he did.

Afterwards he knew that Kuroki would expold both of Yuuichi's teammates to out them in despair and to have absoloute control.

[direct manipulation, indirect manipulation, mass manipulation, strategy adaptation, strategy foresight, strategy succes rate, anticipation, cold reading, hot reading, EU, EM]

He knew that Swindker needed time to gain influence, but since Kuroki was only overthrown by Swindler and could only be attacked by him because of his ever so growing influence. So, he needs to stall, to do this, he decided to calculate the exact time Swindler would make friends. He did this by making Kuroki bully Yuuichi and antagonize his side.
As this is a nattural side effect, as Kuroki would natturally take control and bully Yuuichi's team as he didn't connect with them, so he saw them as weaker and would make them bullied as well and he had also think them worst as he had a fake illusion of them being the enemies because of them being at another side.

He did this fully anticioating that the Fat Girl would be pressured because of his cold reading, and if the Fat Gril gave Swindler a chance he would take it, it's a shot in the dark, be he will make it. And with this, it gave the Swindler a chance.

Now yes, he could just normally not ask to bully Yuuichi, but he did this so the swindler can go and gain influence.

And while doing this, he had also show a logical side of manipulation by snticipating that Kuroki would make a plan to gain controo, by using the old man which he had cold readed to want to expell the Emo, and he also knew that the old guy would be expelled next to gain complete control and to make sure there isn't a rebellion against voting against Yuuichi. During this time, which he had anticipated, he had suggested toruring Yuuichi because why not.

[direct manipulation, indirect manipulation, logical manipulation, cold reading, anticipation, strategy foresight, strategy deception, misdirection, concealmrnt, EU]

Kei knew that the Swindler being the Swindler, would want to swindle the fat girl. Because of this, he will point out that because they don't have enough members, they would are in Kuroki's control.

Kei knews that the Swindler, would do this as a layer of deception to be able to Swindle the Fat Girl. Which he approves, and because of this, The Swindler could now more openly swindle the Fat Gril, making it easier for him to gain influence which is needed for Kei's strategy to work.

[indirect manipulation, logical manipulation, anticioation]

Now, he had anticipated and even MADE YUUICI OBEY HIMI. In this stage of the strategy.

Now, first, Kei had deducted that Yuuichi would predicted about the swindler, and that he would realise that the votes right now is

For Yuuichi
Kuroki, glasses, Kei, Bike Guy
For Bike Guy
Swindler, Fat, Yuuichi, Saori.

So he needs to beat Kuroki's side. But, even with Yuuichi's vote, it is only one, Kei cold readed Makoto to the point where Kei knew that Makoto is a pacifist, and won't fight unless aomeeone was really bad, and he knew Yuuichi would know this. Because of this Yuuichi must rely on a vote, someone like Kei.

But since Kei, was the opponent he has the rights to negotiate, with that, he knew Yuuichi can't day no, and he will work with Yuuichi now. All this, while also predicting the swindker would pose ad a threat, and also analyzing which would be a higher threat o Yuuichi, Kuroki or Swindler.

He knew that Yuuichi had anticioated this, so he knew that Yuuichi would anticioated that he won't break infront of him making this deal very fast, and because of this, he was able to talk with Yuuichi undetected, because of how quick the meeting is. Which just show how great his ability to asses risk are. And Kuroki, had been elected to cause problems to Yuuichi fully antcipating that all of this would happen. Now we don't know how exactly he had know that Yuuichi predicted everything, a possible theory was that, when he was looking for the Key, he saw Yuuichi knocking the stacks down, which indicates that he wanted smoke.

[indirect manipulation, logical manipulation, risk assesment, deductive, abductive, inductive, perception, observstion, strategy adaptarion, stratgey succes rate, strategy efficientcy, prediction, cold reading, hot reading, negotiation, persuasion]

Reasonings

Reasoning for this events being deduced:

We know Kei knows about Yuuichi being a target because:

you see, during the beginning of the game, he asked if the team was divided in a certain way, this indicates that he noticed everyone hates Yuuichi so he told. As even Yuuichi made this statement, so it is most likely he noticed it.

Reasoning for his observations and how he profiled people during their first meeting and figured out everything:
You see, they just met recently, just like with Yuuichi. The next is all assumptions but, since Kei needed to unite them just then, this would mean that during their befriending period he didn't taok about Yuuichi, but why?

Well first we must see who talks with Kei first.

Kuroki is to angry to speak to Kei, we can remove him.

Saori is to self serving to talk.

Fat girl has a jealousy complex, this could meant that she believes she is better, this is also shown when she kissed the swindler in front of Saori which shows her being egotistical. Knowing this, she would have been talking to another girl as she thought that the boys were savages.

This would leave bike guy, we know that he is also a swindler, so he must have seen this opportunity to talk with Kei, as the other people had been taken. Now the most logical thing Bike Guy did was to tell Kei about his story as to make friends with him.

How do we know Kei's motivations:
Noe first, why would Shinomiya Kei stay in the prison despite having the key?

That means that he has an ulterior motive, it also isn't boredom as Kei was hesitating to do stuff out of boredom during murder game, it wasn't to beat Yuuichi as he ended up working with him, and it must have been something Yuuihci's plan covers as he won't agree with it otherwise, it isn't for survival as either wide, why even join if you eant to durvive? . Now then what would that motivation be?

Well it was somewhat stated here.

Now he states that Yuuichi is a troublesome guy, meaning that Yuuichi has a problem with his plans, no, as since he didn't really care about Yuuichi as he won't work with him other wise, he wouldn't talk about it, because of that Kuroki would not talk about Yuuichi, making him not tell them about Yuuichi.

He is looking forward to see Yuuichi, now this would mean that since he is still playing and is willing to give money, it is not for money. This leaves only one explanation he wants Yuuichi to let him in his strategy so he could learn from it. Hints of this is also when he asked Yuuichi if he thinks that there is no traitor almost as if he wants to learn from yuuichi.

How do we know that he made Kuroki the leader:
We established on he made no pointless moves, this would mean that he has the attention, and because of this he appointed Kuroki as the leader.

How do we know Kei had anticopated everything:

He had taunted Yuuichi about this, he has no reason to ask Yuuichi if he is really sure to taunt him unless he is testing him, as if he doesn't truly believe it he would judt let the old man hurt the Emo Guy. Now this only makes sense if he anticioated everything.

Reasoning for decieving Yuuichi and the swindler:

Let us take a look at the votes(in Yuuichi's perspective)
For Yuuichi
Kuroki, glasses, Kei, Bike Guy
For Bike Guy
Swindler, Fat, Yuuichi, Saori.
Since Yuuichi had anticioated the swindler, even with all this, he had not anticioated Kei voting for Bike Guy. So the only way for Yuuichi to save himself is to vote for Ken but that wouldn't be enough, it would make it a 4/4. It is needed to be a 4/5 a possible route is convincing Makoto, but Yuuichi relied on Makoto bring on his side, so we know it isn't him as if he was helping the swindler it won't be dafe for Yuuichi to say. . Because of this, and the fact that Kei was working with Yuuichi, Kei must have asked for Yuuichi's corporation in exchabge for his vote.

How can we prove that Kei had anticioated suggested torturing Yuuichi:
He was the first person to say that “fun things are coming, “ (The torture) if someone else says it then, they would say it first as it was his idea, and he wiuld be modt exited for it, but since Kei said it first, no one was more exited then him.

Proofing that Kei had told them “Yuuichi is troublesome” as part of his strategy:
He said that he don’t do purposeless stuff.

Scans

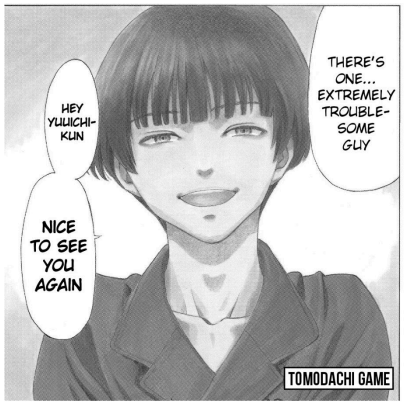

Kei calling it fun

Kei teasing Yuuichi

Kei calling Yuuichi trouble some

Kei won't do pointless things statement

Arguements

Debunk:
Kuroki knows Kei hates Yuuichi by the end of the game.

Rebunk:
Kei already stated about Yuuichi during the first part of the strategy.

Debunk:
But Mannabu said that they were not split in a certain way, this meant that it would have shot down Kei's strategy and it would have no point to tell them.

Rebunk:
No, as the answer was, “you are judt living in seperate rooms, there are no teams, “ Meaning that, he just addresed about the roles, not how they were assinged.

Debunk:
There is no evidence Kei said, “Yuuichi is a problem” To gain influence.

Rebunk:

He said it himself that he doesn't do pointless things, meaning that he won't do that if he has said it.

Debunk:
But if Kei was already working with Yuuichi, why did Yuuichi need to tell Kei, that he was the werewolf.

Rebunk:
Yuuichi didn't know as Kei hadn't told Yuuichi, and he still did this to comform it, this is even more evident since he saved Kuroki, and since the plan requires Kuroki, this would mean that if Kei didn't react, they would have another plan, but after he had learned about it, he decided to use Kuroki, which means that the Prison Game Strategy was a contingency plan, which is insane.

Debunk:
It could be Makoto as it was all planned so Yuuichi still know.

Rebunk:
It would be suspiscious for Yuuichi to say that ti the swindler, as he votes with the swimdler.

FSIQ CALCULATIONS

This Part Of The Doc Now Shall Cover His Statements Relating To FSIQ

NOTES

This Part Of The Doc Takes Things Literally.

Saw The Sun

As we all know he saw the sun perfectly, this would mean he had enough vision to look at the sun, micri meter perfect.

This has 2 ways of jnterepretation.

1. Saw the sun perfectly
2. Generaly saw the sun

"Saw the sun perfectly"

Now first, the sun isis 148million km away(source). Humans can see 5km away(source).

148m/5 = 29 million.

For Kei to be able to see the Sun perfectly, he had to see 29 million times the average human eye AND PROCCES THIS ALL.

Now to see how impressive this is, the human eye's vidual span is 100 vertically and 120 horizontally(source). Since Kei is smaller, we need to take that inti acount because of the R based calculations, so hsi eye span would be smaller. To find it out, he is 16,which had the avgerage size of 178cm(source).

In this scene he was 2* larger then the table.

A table has the average size of 73.5cm(source)

73.5* = 147

This would mean that he is 120% shorter then the average person, this would make his eye span also smaller by 120%, the eye span would be as follows.

120 - ((120*1.2) - 120) = 96

To find how much cm is this we need to use this formula “S(ArcLenght) = (2 * pi(3.24)* R(radius)) * (m ∠(angle) / 360) “

We get 49cm, this would mean that Kei xould visualize 49million CM without the Y varuble, but there is also the Y varuble, which would mean another calculstion set.

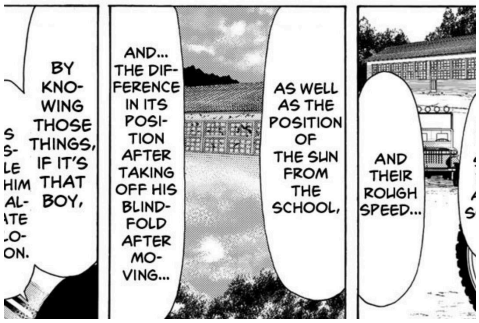

100-((100*1.2) -100) = 80

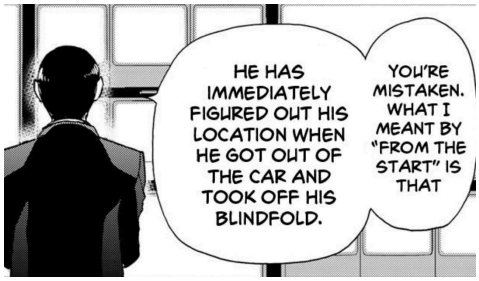

Using the formula to find the S, the S would be 38million cm

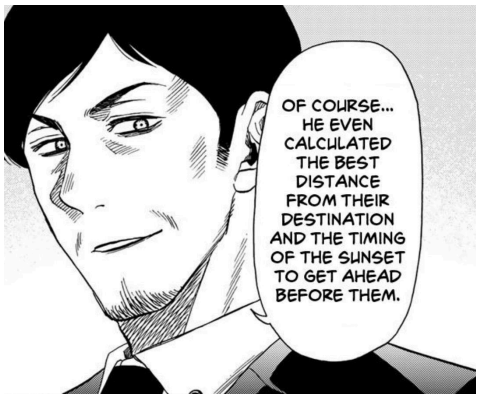

To find how much he visualized, it would be 49million cm * 38million cm, which would be 19110000000000000cm.

This also buffs his PSI, as humans can visualize 1.5cm per 200ms normally

Scans:

Conclusion:

Low ball - WIP

Mid-high ball - visualized 19110000000000000cm.

[PSI, WMI, VSI]

Surpassed The Educational System

This part of the doc will now cover, “surpassing the educational system. “

Now first, let us adress the different interpretations of this.

1. Surpassed everything so far, such as pre school - gr10(low ball)
2. Surpassed everything including one college PhD(mid ball)
3. Surpassed every single thing that could be teached such as, all collge PhDs(mid-high ball)

“Surpassed everything so far, such as pre school - gr10”

Now, since TG took place when Yuucihi was about to get a school trip, we can assume that it is close to being the end of the yeat. Since Kei had surppased Gr10 up to this point, this would mean that he gained 100% in all grades. Each grade has Math, Biology, Physics, Chemistry, English, History, Economics, side studies(art related stuff) That would mean that since each school year should have 10 tests(source). Thats 9*10 = 90.

Since he surpassed everythint, he had gotten 100% as nothing could teach him. Which means that, he memorised everything in a subject, since in a semester test you need to know everything, he memorsied everything to get a 100%.

As we know, a book holds the subject material, each educational book has the avg of 275 pgs(source) Which means that he had atleast memorsied 275*9(2475) pages for atleast a year. Even assuming exercises in a book taking ⅓ of a book, the number would still be 1650 pgs * amount of gr(13 with preschool) =21450 pgs. .

"Surpassed everything + college PhD"

We already have the calcs for the first 13 grs, that + an extra 6(gr11, gr12, Asscosiates, bachelors, masters, PhD) the 2 grades having 3300 pgs already would mean that it has 24750 pgs(without college) and then we add 4 text books of 600 pgs which is the avg college text book(the source is less credible) (source). The number we get is 27150 pgs.

"All subs of college"

We already have 27150 pgs from all grds + one degree, but assuming he got all of those degrees it would add a couple more pgs, havard has 61 degrees(source). 61*600 = 36600 + 21750 pgs = 52350 pgs, now 36600 is per grade so actually 36600*4. That would mean 146400 + 21750 1734500 pgs.

Conclusion:

Now of course he just had to memorise the contents of these pages, but since each pg explain the content and it's details he still had to memorise these details

Low ball - 21450 pgs memorsised

Mid ball - 27150 pgs memorsised

High ball - 1734500 pgs memorsised

Alternate

Low ball - 21450 pgs fluid rsg

Mid ball - 27150 pgs fluid rsg

High ball - 1734500 pgs fluid rsg

[VCI, WMI, FRI]