2nd Sodomite Gamble

Yakou perceived an immense pool of hate towards Baku in the eyes of the notorious sodomite and the match was just an expression of it. This is made more impressive not only by that fact that the eye is notoriously hard to read but also because of standing behind the sodomite (who faced forward),the eye was concealed and only brief glimpses could be caught. Likewise later on Yakou perceived that Sodomite had become ghostly pale without direct line of sight.

Yakou realised that when usogui had not asked for the cards and vials used in the game to be checked,the Sodomite had smiled thinking usogui a fool which was read by usogui and sued as basis of reasoning that the Sodomite had installed two organic peroxide vials and had rigged the cards. This is made more impressive due to positioning as already explained.

P1. Sodomite lost his wealth to Baku
P2. Sodomite designed the purification ceremony
C1. Sodomite designed the game such that there are two vials of peroxide (to ensure that peroxide has to be drunk within 6 rounds) and rigged deck (to ensure Baku is the own with worse cards and one who drinks)
P3. Baku is competent
P4. Baku didn't ask to check the vials
P5. Sodomite smiled,thinking Baku a fool due to it
C2. Baku didn't ask to check Sodomite's response,confirming the presence of tricks without ringing any alarm bells
P6. Sodomite 'caught' Baku's double dealing
P7. Kyara punished Baku for the cheating despite no rule against cheating
P8. Kyara said it was because a member complained

P9. Sodomite's complain isn't justified by rules and Kyara doesn't care about him
C3. Baku used this fake cheating to make Sodomite let down his guard and the justification of a member complaining is just a misdirection

Conclusion: Baku has devised a strategy in which he would firstly confirm the presence of traps using Sodomite's expression by not asking for everything to be checked -> Sodomite would catch Baku's double dealing -> Kyara would punish Baku for the double dealing -> Sodomite would be overconfident -> Baku will double deal to make Sodomite the one forced to drink from the vial -> Sodomite would 'freak out' and not drink -> Baku would use this to force Sodomite to agree to an unfair game
[Yakou foresaw the results of the game before they happened|Conclusions like C1 and C3 are based on and aided by profiling]

Yakou allowed Baku to proceed with his trick and didn't reveal Kyara or his true motives predicting this would force a gamble which would showcase the truth of the sodomite ,by removing his mask due to making him bet all he has and struggle.

Yakou accurately profiled the nature of Baku and Kyara's relationship. Kyara and Baku had a relationship where one could bleed for the other,not due to just trust or care but rather because the other is an impurity within them .

Abandoned Building

After realising Qtarou's opponent was Usogui,Yakou made a certain series of actions to ensure a true gamble in which both sides fought with all they had. Firstly,Yakou masked any knowledge of Qtarou's opponent being the Usogui to allow Baku to exploit the information gap. Then,he assisted in the deception by explaining Kakerou's history to kaji making Qtarou think both Baku and Kaji were unaware of Kakerou and allow Baku to ask for Qtarou's membership under pretence of being excited by his story. Later, Yakou warned Qtarou that he'd loose and then that the opponent was Usogui. Yakou stretched the revelations to Qtarou such that Baku has time to prepare for Qtarou coming at him with full force. Yakou instantly realised that the pen on the ground was a pen shaped wiretap belonging to Baku and wore it under pretence of dropping his pen since that would make the game more interesting,moreover he assisted that tactic by asking about Rodem to let Baku know some key weakness. The reason,Yakou assisted Baku so clearly was because he was gambling on Baku being the pinnacle of gambling that he has been so attracted to and searching for,but even still,Yakou aided Qtarou to test Baku.

Yakou had a good grasp of the complex scientific phenomena of reorganisation. The same reorganisation phenomena which not even the best scientists of World War II understood.

From ,what Qtarou told him that Rodem was born after he started injecting Marco with the reorganisation drug, Yakou realised that it wasn't that Marco was corrupted into becoming a monster but did those acts for Qtarou (his father) but that evilness made him disassociate and create the identity of Rodem to bear the weight of his sins.

Qtarou is a seasoned killer and former prestigious World War Two soldier but even still ,yakou blocked his sword attack meaning he was able to notice its motions (and at that with it likely appearing in slow motion due to implied gap) and respond

P1. It appeared like Baku was defeating kakerou members nonstop but he was just a "monkey" dancing in the leader's palm
P2. With the loss of 1st STL,Leader's influence on him was gone
C1. Usogui lost the first STL to remove the influence
P3. Qtarou is notorious within his area's underworld
P4. Baku had made preparations such as the wiretap for the match
P5. Baku's reaction made it look like he wasn't that interested in Qtarou's membership
P6. Rodem is extremely powerful
P7. Marco's mental state makes him easy to manipulate

Conclusion: Usogui intentionally lost 1st STL to remove Leader's influence and is attempting to recruit loyal allies [such as Marco-Rodem] for the second attempt
This conjecture [More specifically C1] was aided by a profiling. Yakou profiled that Baku was laughing ,even at that time. This laughter isn't just any laughter but the recurring idea of the joy of a gambler who has been right in his prediction of the unknown and has thus won. This is made near impossible due to how insane it is for someone to lose all of his influence and risk his life intentionally on a near zero future chance and Baku's perfect acting which fooled even the royal leader

Hangman

Yakou had to collect the debt [Life] of the Setsuo group's president who had escaped using Shuei Kai forces. Yakou understood that the president was confident in his forces and didn't believe he should die over mere "entertainment". In advance,Yakou arranged for the chef to conceal his gun in the rice of egg sushi. Yakou came alone and allowed himself to be checked by the president's men to exploit the president's pride and make him think that he couldn't be killed by the lone unarmed referee. Yakou asked for egg sushi,which he knew the president would allow due to the engineered confidence and the fact that humiliating a referee in such a way would fulfill the president's greed (for notoriety). This allowed Yakou to use the contraband to kill the president's men. Furthermore,Yakou also feigned a collapse mid shooting when the men surrounded him to confuse them,allowing him to exploit that confusion to eliminate them using his gun and physical attacks.

P1. Marco displayed monstrous prowess in the apartment fight
P2. Ikki requested for only one additional ally of the kakerou member

Conclusion: Ikki used this rule to prevent usogui from exploiting Rodem in the fight since if he choose Rodem to accompany Kaji [The Kakerou Member] then he couldn't be present himself and Kaji can't win without usogui

Due to Baku having less funds than Ikki,the situation was about to devolve into a gunfight with Kaji and Ikki's ally taking out guns,moreover Kaji was already shooting. But,Yakou was able to cool down the situation and make them agree to match with Baku increasing his bet by accumulating funds through man owners. Furthermore,since this would cause Baku to have the surplus funds due to his notoriety,it would allow Yakou to force Ikki to accept man owners and thus have the looser die (due to man owners bloodthirsty nature) and thus create a true gambler where each side struggles with all they have.Yakou also reasoned that his actions were within Baku's prediction.
Yakou intuited something wasn't right about the situation

Even if Baku accepted Ikki not gathering man owners,Ikki would be forced to accept the death game proposed by the man owners if he wants the huge rewards .

Yakou also reasoned that his actions were within Baku's prediction.

Yakou intuited something wasn't right about the situation,that feeling was about the way Ikki interacted or more accurately received sensory information about the world. Yakou only completely understood it later but intuited something wasn't off and in what way at that point when Ikki could see through all cameras and there was no proof for it.

P1. Baku confidently drew the card despite threat of death if he drew old maid
P2. Baku is currently making Ikki draw old maid cards with ease ,abusing easy to detect card shifting
C1. Baku confidently drew the card not due to having read Ikki as Ikki thought but because of the way to make Ikki draw the old maid
P3. Ikki placed his two cards face down
P4. Baku drew one and confidently declared he won without showing his card
P5. Ikki accepted easily thinking it a 50% chance without asking for card to be checked
C2. The earlier round made Ikki conscious of Baku reading him so he placed his cards face down without checking them himself,and Baku's declaration was made independently of if he didn't draw the old maid or not and the reason Ikki accepted was due to his method of invisible cheating

Yakou asked Mekama if ikki held all his matches in the tunnel,not to gain the obvious answer but to allow Mekama to challenge him to a ranking battle to buy time for Ikki and the revolutionary army. This allowed Yakou to force Mekama to struggle against him in a gamble for time. Furthermore,Yakou made the match an entertaining show for the man owners by exploiting Mekama's blow to cut off his ear.

When he heard that The Royal Leader would eliminate Baku when the ranking battle and gamble ended. Yakou decided to convince the Leader that Baku was too competent and useful to be just eliminated by dragging out the battle with Mekama showcasing his loyalty to Baku.

Labyrinth

Yakou demonstrated extreme biological understanding again through understanding and accurately explaining that Minowa's superhuman strength is due to a genetic mutation causing proteins in his body to inhibit GDF-8 Myostatin ,Myostatin is a protein produced to limit muscle growth and is decreased through muscle training,their absence is the reason ancient animals are so massive. In minowa ,Mysotatin absence the muscle,bones and tendons to be compressed,compared to a person of the same height (even a physically fit person),Minowa weighs more than a 100 kg more. Furthermore ,beyond just flexible and naturally strong muscle fibres and a body which produces barely any Myostatin,decades of growth have made his tendons extremely tough ,thus he is more advanced than ancient animals

Furthermore,it is prevalent to mention that Yakou's competence in Biology is not due to a formal education but rather through personal inference from personal research,combat experience and sensory perception

[Myostatin was first understood by Nowa but it's unlikely that Nowa would go around explaining it ,especially not with Yakou who he has a somewhat rocky past and either way Yakou is superior to Nowa]

Yakou also demonstrated excellent data acquisition abilities since within under an hour he was able to find out large quantities of information about the culprit for whose crime kaji was framed for with only basic information pertaining to them (such as who used the Kakerou Crime Coverup System for the them and info about the crime),allowing kaji to accurately profile them . Keep in mind,this was after an entire workday in his cafe and a coffee brewing match against Kyara with the culprit being extremely wealth and influential,thus able to cover his tracks

Tower of Karma

P1. Baku has L-File
P2. Baku wants 50Billion yen
P3. Baku wants Karamete
P4. Baku held a Kakerou match
P5. In proceeding of match Baku managed to reveal crimes of Kakerou Crime Coverup users

Conclusion,Baku used the Kakerou match to reveal the crimes of specific L-Filers to terrify the rest into becoming Karakete and obtain 50 Billion,with the impunity of Kakerou match to create a contradiction which allowed him to use Midara to protect himself.

P1. Baku specifically contacted Yakou

P2. Baku wants Referee 0 as his referee
P3. Yakou is strong enough to become referee 0

Conclusion,Baku associated himself with Yakou to use him to challenge STL when Yakou became Referee 0.

Yakou had reached a contradiction,his hate for Baku (born of recognition of Baku being one of the strong) made him want to kill Baku but he also was charmed by Baku struggling against the "heavens". Yakou exploited his own contradiction as a strategy. As he was securely driving Baku to the Old Radio Tower,he executed it. Yakou pulled a knife on Baku saying that it's just a joke but if Baku doesn't do anything then he'll kill him . Yakou's acting was so great that not even Baku could tell if Yakou was bluffing or not. There were two possibilities :

P1 (Baku prevents it) : Yakou says it is a joke because that is what it was and tries to become the pinnacle of violence to bear witness to Baku's match
P2 (Baku doesn't prevent it) : Yakou kills Baku because he wasn't joking

Yakou reasoned that Baku had predicted all of that and counteracted with the double grenade tactic to say to Yakou that he wishes Yakou become Referee 0,despite how illogical and unreal that would be and the total absence of evidence.

Yakou intuited that the entire situation pertaining to the meeting with referee 0 (Tatsuki) was within Baku's prediction.

Despite no proof of Suteguma's connection to IDEAL,Yakou inferred he was of IDEAL due to his competence and awareness of Baku's scheme.

Yakou can achieve a further sense of perception beyond his 5 sense by entering the death zone,as demonstrated in the car fight.

Without communication with Tatsuki,Yakou formulated the same strategy as him and realized that very fact. Yakou held back in the car fight against the private funeral division ,aiming to not kill them but to buy time to allow Hal to work with the head of the security bureau to reorganise the funeral division into ACIA (which is a part of Kakerou). Furthermore,convincing the higher up Mitaka and Manabe to willingly join Kakerou due to showcasing its nature as a superorganism in which each member has a high individuality but works together for a shared goal while not sacrificing one of their weaker own for the whole since there is no weaker part.

Yakou can effectively fight against Tatsuki. They both move at hypersonic speeds (~2 km/s) meaning he can process information generated at those speeds,considering the demonstration of precision [cm's] ,meaning information needs to be processed at tens of thousands of times faster than normal humans .

Before his fight against Tatsuki,Yakou profiled an essential facts about Tatsuki,he doesn't want to kill Yakou but rather send him into a temporary coma to take back Referee 0 spot . Exploiting this fact Yakou created a strategy to win. Yakou knew that the expectations in everyone's mind would be for him to fight normally (attacking while avoiding being attacked),exploiting that bias, Yakou allowed himself to get attacked while using that attack to counterattack with Tatsuki off guard. Moreover,Yakou predicted that Tatsuki would reason it and act like he has fallen for it to attack Yakou in such a way that Yakou is heavily wounded and can't counterattack while being unable to reuse the same strategy due to being unable to survive such an attack thus forced to block. Yakou knew Tatsuki would anticipate that Yakou would try to block Tatsuki's attack with his fist and counterattack with the other hand [Fake Contingency] which thus Tatsuki would try to block allowing Tatsuki to use the very fist he used to block,to attack Tatsuki . It was a double layered deception :

1. Yakou is fighting normally
2. Yakou is aiming to let himself be attack to deal back greater damage

All the while. Yakou and Tatsuki could communicate (exchange ideas information and emotion) without ordinary verbal and non-verbal exchange. This means they could talk without speaking any word or sending any body language signal. They didn't only perceive the other's cognitive state but the degree to which they had understood the message and their response (and recurcively the degree of understanding of that understanding and response to that response). To achieve it ,Yakou and Tatsuki require an exceptionally detailed model of each other's minds. Effective encoding (transforming information into message) depends on predicting how the receiver interprets information, while effective decoding (excavating information from message) depends on understanding how the sender structures and expresses thought. In a sense they were able to create a shared medium ('language') to communicate without needing to speak words or express emotions. Languages need symbols,shared meanings and rules for interpretation meaning Tatsuki and Yakou could formulated these mutually understood requirements WITHOUT ANY communication.The communication was perfect,without any misinterpretation (this doesn't occur for even standard verbal or non verbal conversation). Even a minor error (in decoding or encoding) can snowball to a mountain of misinterpretation and false feedback. However, the narrative and communication itself implies that no such distortions occurred. Yakou and Tatsuki reached an understanding as precise as if they had been engaged in direct face-to-face conversation. The barriers to effective communicationsuch as lack of a proper medium (inability to speak or send non verbal cues) and cognitive strain (the fight itself) are apparent. The transformation of abstract signals into concrete information,ideas and emotions occurred with such speed and ease that they could visualise the other saying it at that same time as the other communicated. Moreover,the conveyed information was not a simple feeling such as happiness, anger, or fear, but complex cognitive states such Yakou's desire to become the pinnacle of violence (Referee 0) to attract pinnacle of gambling.

During that very fight-communication,Yakou was reliving and re-experiencing the events of the gamble between Baku and notorious sodomite. The gamble should've lasted a couple hours in total and Yakou processed it in its entirety in 10 seconds Taken together Yakou has a high enough PSI to fight against Tatsuki (10's of thousands of times faster than average human) and communicate without use of verbal or non verbal signs and process hours of memories in 10 seconds.

Protoporos

P1. The rules of hand chopper (same as chopsticks)
P2. Neronero choose the game to win
P3. A time limit would be created to prevent the game for lasting indefinitely
C1. Neronero choose the game since ideal play would result in a repetition [3-2 and 4-1] and a time limit would make the slower and second party loose,guaranteeing Baku's loss

P4. It's too risky to fight Neronero in his own arena
P5. Baku is aware of C1
P6. Baku is confident in victory
P7. Baku is willing to "break his arm" for victory
C2. Baku has thought up some way to win
P8. The rules talk about fingers pointing outwards P9. The cigar has a straight cut
C3. The cutter is a guillotine type
C4. It can be used to cut one's finger to lower fingers pointing out
P10. Time is needed to cut it
C5. Baku will add a rules of time

Conclusion,the game offers no way to win (repetition due to ideal play with Baku eventually loosing) and Baku has realised it ,to counter up Baku has devised a strategy in which he'll initiate a total time to use the time to cut his finger to lower his accumulation to win
To help Baku achieve his goal. Yakou his atrophied hands.

Moreover for the prediction of repetition it meant Yakou calculated ALL possible outcomes arising from Hand Cutter

Yakou maintained total calm despite the Royal Leader being a Protoporos citizen and Baku's ally,a participant of Ban Match. This was able to make Nanpou loose his calm. The same Nanpou who could maintain his total calm despite the brutal beat up after his loss against Kadokura

P1. Becoming Kaiser on the 23d is the worst since then you wouldn't be able to become Kaiser on 31st [7 day term,no consequent reelection]
P2. Baku is smart enough to reason it

C1. Baku will pursue that strategy
P3. To achieve it Baku wants Lalo to believe that he wants to become Kaiser
P4. Baku didn't have his finger repaired
P5. Nobody would lose a finger for nothing
C2. Baku is using the loss of his finger to make Lalo think he wants to become Kaiser Yakou maintained his calm despite constantly electrocuting him till its battery ran out. Just one electrocution could make an average adult male scream in pain.

Yakou caught the leak of the ban match intruders location. From just that fact he reasoned that it was planned to lure in developers to get their pad,predicting that the location will be filled with strong Allies of IDEAL and possibly a surprise attack. Yakou anticipated that the developer would send their task specialist and the specialist would be defeated after a fight. Yakou concealed his presence among the Developer's strong men. Yakou allowed IDEAL forces to be confident in winning to surprise attack them in their unguarded moment with weapons .

Yakou made Baku wear his coat since he knew most players feared attacking a black suit referees due to the myths of their violence and the developers drilling it into their head

Yakou initially came close to Bai Long to attack him,making him think he doesn't have long ranged weapons. Yakou anticipated Bai Long would use his breath of fire after making distance,allowing him to shoot him with concealed gun

Yakou noticed the finger bullet coming towards him and moved his head such that it could only attack his ear. This bullet should move at above Mach 5 as it could catch referees off guard meaning Yakou's reaction speed is far above mach 5.

During his nightmare,Yakou visualised in full detail a hospital room in which he resided connected to an IV tube in a comatose state. Moreover,he visualised Tatsuki and Kadokura visiting him and Tatsuki explaining he lost and entered this state and revealing he will purge Yakou as he can't bear to see Yakou like this. What makes this more impressive is that he fully reconstructed Tatsuki and Kadokura down to minutest details in speech pattern and personality such as Tatsuki deciding to have Yakou killed since he can't see yakou like this since he's no longer one of the strong and Kadokura bearing witness to the extinguishment of one of the strong out of admiration to replace them. Narrative implies that this is what would've actually happened if Yakou had lost.

Yakous crystallised intelligence pertaining to fighting is so great that while unconscious he could tear off the ear of Bai Long. The same Bai Long who is the most prestigious assassin of China and has been engaged in violence for decades.

In their fight,Yakou allowed bai long to get powerful attacks in thinking he could eliminate the already wounded Yakou allowing Yakou to deliver a punch which could knock him out

Air Poker

Yakou designed the Air Poker gamble alongsides the other referees. The gamble had the goal of resolving Baku and Lalo's conflict with certain death of one party and Hal and Fukurou's conflict without death. Yakou achieved this by making Baku and Lalo's poker match be over oxygen containers and the looser being one who drowns and Hal and Fukurou's math be to avoid witch pain by creating better hand. Moreover,he joined the games by having the cards used in Baku and Lalo's match be the hands generated by Hal and Fukurou,respectively. This also created a situation where both sides would struggle with all they have ,even against their own nature,as a team in a true gamble

Yakou requested Baku to consider why the leader is not here to hint at the true joint nature of the game. This tactic was wholly within the rules and responsibilities of being a referee,as Yakou didn't overtly assist Baku . Moreover,if Baku didn't reason it then he wasn't the pinnacle of violence,desired by Yakou. Thus it was also a test.

Kaji was thinking that Baku was going to loose and would've interfered but Yakou calmed him down and made him believe in Baku

Collecting the Handkerchief

P1. Stimulants,Opioids,Cocaines have filled the forest after being released by Developers
P2. Hal wants the best and most suitable referee to oversee his match
P3. The easiest way to find the best and most suitable referee is through a multi referee version of the ranking battle
C1. Hal will call for a multi referee free for all
P4. The most reasonable rule to decide a victor would be the one who collects the handkerchiefs of the majority
P5. The referee must have his own referee,if not he will be a disgrace
C2. Victory condition is collect most handkerchiefs while keeping your own

P6. His physiology isn't in the best state [Necrotic weakened hands] making him be weaker than his prime P7. Referees like Minowa,Kadokura and Manabe are extremely strong
C3. He can't win the game in the standard way
P8. Baku wants an intelligence based game to fight Hal ,not a physical one
P9. He wants a similar game
C4. It's in Baku's best interest to have Yakou be his referee
P10. Baku knows Yakou can't win the match naturally [C2]
C11. Baku wants Yakou to win [C4]
C5. Baku will try to assist him
P12. As Baku wants to assist him,he will let Marco assist Yakou
P13. Marco isn't enough to overturn the match,thus there must be something else
P14. Baku dropped a handkerchief in-front of him
C6. Baku is hinting that Yakou can win if he takes the handkerchief of a referee while 'giving' back a normal handkerchief ,and then defeat that referee after they amass at least 4 handkerchief [4 since that's one short of majority,majority obtained by joining that very referee's handkerchief]. Furthermore,there must be a mutually self evident location for the final match between them to avoid any other referee from interfering.
P15. Marco would follow Yakou to help him -> Marco would see the trick P16. Marco isn't the smartest tool in the shed
C7. Marco would take time to realise the trick,and help the referee amass 4 handkerchiefs
P17. The referee needs to be strong to amass 4 handkerchiefs
P18. The referee must be weak enough to be defeated after wards
P19. Nowa Mitoshi is old
C8. Nowa Mitoshi is unsuitable due to being too weak
P20. Nowa Mitora can't get serious

C9. Nowa Mitora is unsuitable too weak
P21. Makami is old
P22. Makami wants Yakou to be presiding referee but won't give handkerchief himself
C10. Makami is unsuitable but can be used to accumulate handkerchiefs
P23. Ying wouldn't want to participate
P24. Ying is too weak
C11. Ying is unsuitable
P26. Manabe is possibly to string to beat even after he accumulates 4 handkerchiefs
C12. Manabe is unsuitable
P26. Douji is strong and weak enough to win
P27. Douji would be used by Makami to send Yakou his handkerchief
P28. Douji will also likely meet Kadokura
C13. Douji is suitable but can be used better to fill up handkerchief accumulation
P25. Midara is strong and weak enough to win
C12. Midara is suitable
P26. Kadokura is strong and weak enough
C13. Kadokura is suitable
P27. Kadokura has achieved synesthesia due to match with Minowa,thus he can 'see' the smoke.
P28. Kadokura has been charmed by Baku to become a gambler
C14. More times than not Kadokura would defat Minowa or Manabe while other is held back by Marco
P29. Midara would confront Mitoshi for the handkerchief
P30. Mitoshi would be willing to hand over the handkerchief
P31. Mitora would try to interfere for the handkerchief
C15. Midara would beat Mitora collecting both handkerchiefs

Conclusion: Marco would come to him to help him + Kadokura would find him to take his handkerchief + Midara would meet Nowa + Makami would approach Douji for his handkerchief + Manabe would wait + Ying would want to forfeit -> Kadokura would fall to the trick [Marco would see] + Mitora would interfere in Nowa handing his handkerchief to Midara + Makami would handover his handkerchief to Douji -> Kadokura would fight Douji + Midara would have a ranking battle with Mitora + Ying would forefeit her handkerchief to Marco -> Kadokura would beta Douji + Midara would beat Mitora -> Kadokura would beat Midara/Manabe + Marco holds back Manabe/Midara -> Kadokura would confront Yakou at Kyara's resting place -> Yakou would beat Kadokura

One more thing. As explained in the aforementioned articles ,drugs affect each individual uniquely based on genetic,biological and psychological variations . Consequently, their effects on decision making being unique and hard to predict ,due to impairing cognitive decision making and reward evaluation in unique ways. Moreover, the interactions between drugs further increase the effects and are unique and unique for each person.

Surpassing The Leader

Yakou was the one to develop the Surpassing The Leader version of Drop the Handkerchief. Standard DTH had many players gathered in a circle,with one player being 'it','it' would drop the handkerchief and the one it was behind would have to chase the 'it'. Yakou modifies dit into a two player game in which there were two roles,dropper and checker,the dropper would drop the handkerchief within 60 seconds and the checker would check for it once. If the checker checked late,then the delay would count as accumulation time and if it was early then it would add 60 seconds of accumulation . The accumulation was of a near death drug . This game was brilliant in how it challenged the player's ability to infer,predict the opponent,develop strategies to mislead the opponent and remain resilient in face of death. Thus the precise and best game for yakou to see the essence of gambling. Reviving was kept ambiguous to allow Yakou to manage his own state,allowing him to "give his all" and "run away" to and from his responsibilities as per his desire.

Yakou knew that Kaji and Oofuna were their in the tower before anyone else and Baku knew the various games which could be played,moreover he judged from Baku and Kaji's behaviour (both remaining quiet despite it looking like they wanted to say something) that Baku has perhaps used Kaji for preparations. Yakou checked if it was possible by asking Oofuna if they were together the entire time,Oofuna confirmed it wasn't so. Yakou thus chose not to use the standard clock which could've been tampered with but rather the distant speaking clock. This directly fell into Baku's scheme but that's a feat of Baku. Moreover,Kaji wasn't aware of this and would've tried to conceal the possibility that he did anything (he was only requested to do nothing),meaning Yakou read Baku's request and such emotions in Kaji despite Kaji not wanting him to.

Hal 'revealed' that he predicted Baku would die in the first round as it's the safest death and so had in advance tampered with the drug such that Baku will never wake up from his death. Yakou knew it was a possibility but intuited it was a bluff and inferred Hal was doing this to destabilise Baku's mental state.

From Hal's actions and behaviour,Yakou inferred that it was like there were multiple Leaders. Meaning,Yakou profiled the multitude of Hal's identities and the fact that all of them valued the rules of Kakerou above all else.

Yakou had inferred in the early rounds that the strategy (or part of it) of Baku was to use his body as a container. Accumulating 5+ minutes of ND in the container is game over,so accumulation (in the container) has to be mitigated,one can do this by dying and resetting the accumulation,using your own body as a container. Considering that it is best for Baku to die with an accumulation of 2 minutes and 35 seconds,in other words,Baku has 2 safe strategies left. Moreover,Yakou conjectured that unlike that standard assumption of Baku dying twice,Baku was planning to die three times with same goal in mind,the difference being that this allowed more room for mind games.

Yakou could perceive the astonishment in Baku's face,despite that astonishment being connected to Baku's true strategy and thus something he should conceal.

Yakou not only read Baku's aura of determination (which Baku was projecting to instil fear) but also the underlying cognitive reason that it was due to Baku no longer having any safe strategies which was connected to his true strategy,and thus (once again) something he should conceal.

Yakou managed to revive Baku with CPR despite the extreme pain to his hands simply because that was what he wanted. This also demonstrated the successful effect of his tactic of keeping reviving as ambiguous,since he could give his all to an ambiguous responsibility as per his desire.

Yakou connected Hal's current perfect checks and past viewing of Eko's last interview to infer that Hal was using echolocation.

Yakou explained the current situation as per Hal's request to make the gamble more fair,and inferred even this current decision is within the leader's predictions.

Yakou stated that he can see 'that place' with a symbolic panel of Baku,Hal and Yakou being present beneath an artistically beautiful starry sky. The symbolism of that place can best be explained by its occupants,Baku,Hal and Yakou are the people who have reached and the stars it. Baku and Hal are both people who struggle with all they have for their desire and have talent to struggle ,meaning Yakou has reached the same cognitive and mental state as them.

P1. Baku considered usage of Leap Second in STL as the key to victory
P2. Baku was the one to draw the time card
C1. Baku choose the time limit for the ban match to coincide with Leap Second
C2. Baku made Yakou Referee 0 for that reason,since he predicted that Yakou would choose STL
P3. Baku had somehow confirmed which time checking devices on the islands registered the leap second,the speaking clock was found to be one such
C3. Baku wanted the speaking clock to be used to register time
P4. He wouldn't let Baku gain an advantage,without effort and would try to make Baku struggle
P5. Baku was smart enough to know the fact
P6. Kaji was there before Oofuna P7. Baku told Kaji to be there before Oofuna and not be together at all times

P8. During that time,Kaji could tamper with tower clock
C4. Baku made Kaji not be together with Oofuna at all times and arrive early to make it possible for Kaji to tamper with tower clock ,predicting that Yakou will infer this and thus defer to the speaking clock
P9. Baku needed to understand how the game proceeded to ensure he was D at 8:59:00
P10. Baku died in the first turn of the first round
C5. Baku died to understand the nature of time in the game
P11. One Near Death,takes about 5 minutes of time
P12. Baku rested on the chair
C6. Baku was testing if it was possible to delay the proceeding of the game
P13. Over course of R1T2,Baku had walked in front of Hal to prevent him from checking due to having to absorb new information
P14. Baku knew Hal knew about Baku's prowess
P15. Baku predicted Hal would realise that Hal would've checked and so that delay due to Baku wanting in front contradicted the notion of his godlike sense
P16. Hal would want more information
P17. Baku knew P16 and didn't give any
P18. Hal realised that the absence of information is itself informative
C7. Baku's back trap was to walk infornt of Hal to make Hal wonder whether Baku had the handkerchief on him (or if that was the tie) to buildup an accumulation and make Hal believe in his godlike senses
P19. No matter what a player does ,a turn takes 1 minutes
P20. If check success then a turn last 2 minutes
P21. However it's more chaotic due to duration of near death
C8. It is possible to calculate and manipulate 'death' and the 'game' but it is a path of thorns
P22. If Baku died again then he would enter leap second rout

P23. In 2nd round 2nd half Leader died for 1 minute 24 seconds
P24. It was almost like he was guided by someone
C9. Baku feared that Leap Second was realised by the leader P25. If Baku died immediately then leader might realise LS wholly
P26. Even if leader didn't suspect,if he died early then the accumulation wouldn't be able to be reset any longer
C10. Baku still hadn't won,he had to defeat the enemy in front of him
P27. Baku's accumulation was high
P28. If he accumulated a large amount like 60 seconds then he would loose
C11. Baku had to limit accumulation
P29. Hal didn't drop due to fear that Baku would immediately check via god like senses
C12. Baku had prepared the aura of determination with the back trap to prevent Hal from dropping
P30. In R1T2 ,Baku had made Hal believe in his god like sense
P31. In R3T1,Baku's determination had overflowed and made Hal fear that Baku would realise the handkerchief had dropped at the moment he drops it
C13. Baku made Hal think he was using 3ND strategy to create a false scramble for death
P32. The 2 Near Death Strategy was a ruse
P33. The 3 Near Death strategy was a cover strategy
C14. Baku's death in second turn of round 6 allowed him to enter leap second route with a cylinder which could hold accumulation
P34. Hal's accumulation in the cylinder was 1 minute 25 second
P35. Hal had died for 1 minute 24 seconds
C15. Baku wanted to make Hal die for 3 minute 36 seconds but even with penalty it couldn't be the case
P36. Baku dropped early in round 6 and 7 to build accumulation
C16. Baku was targeting accumulation
P37. Baku's strategy failed due to mysterious godlike kiruma of that moment

P38. There was another way to buildup accumulation,a near death
P39. Baku was somehow aware of Hal's monthly memory loss cycle
C17. Baku manipulated Hal into dying as a 'Do or Die' rest to totally one up Baku ,which would allow for a buildup of accumulation and loss of Hal's perfection
P40. Baku didn't do anything,just trusted his prediction
C18. Baku was laughing even during the first Surpassing The Leader,this was preplanned

Yakou performed the conjecture within the time of providing Hal CPR.Moreover ,he was thinking so fast that time appeared frozen,meaning to him ,even his own self and the clock appeared stationary,its already been explained how fast he moves (hypersonic)

Spin Off

Yakou maintains a mask at all times of professional gentlemenlyness .

Yakou managed his emotions despite hearing that Baku would remove the referees he deemed unsuitable and even would accept it if it happened . This is insane since being a referee is his identity and what he has dedicated decades to and even lost Tatsuki (who he cared a lot for) not to mention the near death fights.

Yakou understood that he enjoys the sight of people gambling things other than money more than money and for him a referee was someone who could do what he wants within the rules and standards he has set for himself alongside how that belief was in large parts shaped by Tatsuki.

Yakou also understood that when he was young,he was full of ignorance and energy.

Later on it is revealed,Yakou understood that the moment he saw the masks of Hiraguchi and Marukobashi slipping to reveal their true nature was when his own mask started slipping and he first found being a Referee to be a marvellous choice due to the unrivalled honour and merit.

Yakou remembered the course of events of the first gamble he refereed in perfect detail down to the exact structure of the ornament [Kandeta Sama doll] and the words exchanged my Marukobashi and Hiraguchi (Some might argue that Yakou misremembered what the win reward for the match was but that's a misconception that I'll clear soon).

Later on just from Baku asking Yakou to remember it more clearly that Yakou managed to recall the details in such a way that he reexperienced them and hallucinated the events in perfect detail (down to the exact words exchanged and minutest expressions by wither party) while simultaneously interacting with the real world. Yakou processed three streams of information

1. Present Sensory Information from his meeting with Baku
2. Remembering Details from his first match
3. Relived experience of his first match

Yakou reasoned that a "conversation" with the referees wasn't true since Baku isn't the type to care about what others think of him and if it is accurate

Yakou knew that at Baku was a gambler and so would make this story a gamble between him and Yakou,likely about guessing the winner and Baku didn't have fun unless the stakes were high so he would likely bet his life or promise to do anything . Yakou decided that due to the extraordinary nature of the conclusion of the gamble,Baku needed a hint to allow him to reason it even if with false steps. Yakou thus acted like he misremembered the story and said that Marukobashi decided to gamble for a diamond which Baku would obviously find absurd since Marukobashi wouldn't be able to sell for the proper rate. This and the following objection would allow Yakou to mention Marukobashi dropped the diamond and made a mess allowing Baku to reason a trick with merry go around (it was still inconceivable and a true test of intelligence) with impunity . This would allow Yakou to test Baku's competence and whether Yakou really cared for Baku since Yakou could've won by the rule of not lying due to Baku's false explanation of the merry go around trick.

Yakou perceived that Baku was hallucinatory experiencing the event of the gamble analogous to Marukobashi from just Baku's extreme concentration while engaging with the real world. This is even more impressive than you think since Yakou didn't read a simple emotion but a complex cognitive state and Baku's was looking down with his hands covering his face thus expressions were concealed,furthermore ,even unintentionally,Baku should be hard to read as masking his emotions should have become an ingrained habit.

Young Yakou had reasoned Hiraguchi isn't blind from him just wiping his nose with a handkerchief. Furthermore,Yakou realised Marukobashi's strategy to make it evident. Firstly,Marukobashi only washed a part of his nosebleed and called Hiraguchi's invention lame,this insult would prompt Hiraguchi to place the Huggy Bear on Marukobashi and thus get wet ,now instinctively Hiraguchi would wipe his face. Secondly,when confronted Hiraguchi would just say he whipped it without question or surprise because he knew Marukobashi borrowed a handkerchief from the referee but this would only further dig his grace since how did he know that a handkerchief was borrowed when a napkin was just as likely to which Marukobashi would defend that the sound of napkin packet being open wasn't there and aloud accidentally mention it being due to a nosebleed.

Young Yakou convinced both parties to make the lie real instead of jeopardising the whole match or wasting time because a lie was told contradicting the rule of no lies.

Young Yakou reasoned that when the release hold was struck and Kandeta Sama's head went flying,the weight of the accumulated money would come constricting down on the neck of Marukobashi and managed to conceal this knowledge from both parties despite deep anticipation of it.

This meant Yakou reasoned the entire physical mechanism behind the game down to Kandeta Sam's being the stopper and furthermore (likely) visualised it as suggested by the panels. What's more Yakou reasoned that the devious Hiraguchi had planned all of this to make Marukobashi feel this pain unguarded and overconfident,allowing for himself to be outplayed when Marukobashi revealed the hidden money or reasoned his blindness lie which meant he willingly went blind to make Marukobashi suffer due to hatred to the free Marukobashi.

Yakou had profiled both Marukobashi and Hiraguchi. Yakou profiled that the appearance of Marukobashi being a normal sane person was just a mask and deep down he was willing to do a lot for a lot of money and was truly addicted to the uncertain reward of gambling,like Pavlov's dog wetting its mouth at just the sights preceding a win. And Hiraguchi wasn't the ingenious if not extraordinary inventor but someone constricted and weighed by his own success,who deeply hated and envied the free.

Yakou had been monitoring Hiraguchi ,knowing him to be a game maker under the moniker Redmaker and he would get people and prey for his game from the man dealer named Dari . Yakou planned to use the prey or Hiraguchi (depending on who lost) to find Dari

Yakou perceived that Baku had simultaneously experienced the present and experience the match between Higurashi and Marukobashi and shodowboxxing Higurashi

Side Story

Yakou was able to relive and experience decades of his youth,collecting debts under the 19th leader [which occurred generations prior] in a matter of seconds. This meant that during his youth,he noticed,registered [1st in prefrontal cortex as WMI,then in Hippocampus as LTM] and encoded every detail and while reminiscing,processed all of them in the 1st PoV. Furthermore,he visualised himself convincing his younger self to not leave Kakerou.

Yakou could function effectively in Colombia where the dominant language is Spanish,meaning he could speak it.

Nowa was sent to collect the same debt as Yakou. Yakou disliked him and wanted it alone. Yakou kicked him down knowing this would make Nowa want vengeance (collect debt 1st) and then abandon his mission,realising those things are stupid and he'd make a joke of himself.

Yakou could convince dozens of handsome waiters from all across the world to drop everything and come to work for him as a waiter. This is stupidly impressive,he convinced handsome (thus with higher ego) to leave their families,friends and future ambition to work for a stranger in a foreign land as a waiter (position of lesser social standing).

Yakou intuitively foresaw Baku [intuiting his characteristics and physical appearance] taking control of Kakerou becoming Leader ,commanding him to do impossible. This was during the time of the 19th royal leader,Baku is the same age as Hal [21st Royal Leader] so Baku (and likely his parents) weren't even born yet.

Yakou was willing and able to leave Kakerou and abscond to Russia under the identity of Georgi Georgiev. This meant he fabricated every detail related to that identity and could speak Russian to operate .

Yakou framed Nowa for attempting to leave Kakerou and fabricated that he valiantly caught Nowa,when Nowa was just there on vacation using a sick leave.

19th Royal Leader started the cafe Yakatan in Harjuku. Yakou made the cafe fail by headhunting,abducting and intimidating the employees and sending rats,cockroaches and spiders to the cafe. This was despite the leader's ardent wish and total influence over Kakerou.

One Shot

Yakou could convince a taxi driver to take him to his cafe without issue,despite being covered with blood.

Within seconds,Yakou formulated a heart touching speech about donation which stunned his employee and made him compare it to those on TV. It's stated ,Yakou has had this oratory skill since childhood.

This same employee is deeply charmed by Yakou and it's implied the same goes for the rest of employees.

Also just from judging the rate at which soft drinks supplies are exhausted,Yakou could tell that it wasn't just a simple boon in business or irregular increase but that the employees were partying.

Yakou could convince Tashiro to hand over his phone under the pretense that the battery is about to end while he was talking to what looked to be his grandchild despite the battery appearing full. This is the same Tashiro who resisted the Ore Ore scam despite his old age.

Using his crystallised intelligence pertaining to technology,Yakou could track down the location of the scammers during call. This is despite the MO of the scammers running on computer and thus their need to be competent in using computers and moreover since they escaped being caught for a long time they should be competent enough. Moreover at the same time,,to prevent them from ending the call Yakou was leading the scammers which is made more impressive due to the scammers being competent
As already seen before,Yakou is extremely competent in using computers. This is a testament to his fluid intelligence as during the times the computers had been first introduced,he had already reached an elder age and so his brain had lost more of his plasticity. Moreover,Yakou is busy with running his cafe and duties in Kakerou.

Yakou could pick up the pen shaped wiretap without Qtarou being suspicious at all

Yakou asked Qtarou about Rodem to allow Baku to gain some advantage as Qtarou explains Rodem's nature since Baku's listening over the wiretap

Before Qtarou (seasoned killer and ex army) could bring the sword down to kill Baku (who was next to him) ,Yakou moved all the way across the room to snatch the sword. This scales above the manga feat by a decent margin,using VSBW calc of manga feat being Mach 4.2, (1439 m/s)it should scale to at least to 3000 m/s since the sword wasn't coming at him from close distance but all the way across the room . As yakou can operate at that speeds,his PSI is necessarily above that to Process info at that speed.

To a large degree,yakou saw through Baku's acting skill and knew he was injured.

Yakou had inferred the nature of Baku's charming of Kaji. Thus,he lied that Baku can't take the membership due to loosing 1st STL but he's fine with Kaji taking it which would make Kaji think that this was Baku's scheme and thus abandon him . This would allow Baku to further love bomb Kaji into a deeper devotion. Due to Baku being incapacitated,Yakou managed to convince Kaji to join Baku and further increase the charm by revealing Baku had nearly died yet still pursued winning.

Yakou calmed down the situation and convinced everyone that a gun fight was against their wishes,this is different than in the manga since Ikki's former coworker was there with a gun and she Loved Ikki and was insulted that they brought only 50 million despite being told to bring 2 billion,and found a way by having Baku recruit man owners which would also make the situation more interesting.

Yakou scales above Judge who reasoned the nature of Ikki's trick before the match even begun due to knowledge of Ikki.

Yakou understood artificial vision technology which was novel and state of the art ,something even the best technicians found hard to understand.
