INTRODUCTION

There's a lot of confusion on how Joe managed to frame Nadia and Edward as in season 5 it contradicted what we saw in season 4. And I'm gonna clear up every conception so let's start "THE INTRODUCTION"

Throughout the Season Joes student Nadia was gaining suspicion of Joe and was looking into him see eventually finds out that her professor was Joe Goldberg and that he was a serial killer keeping marriane hostage.Nadia then comes into joes class late Joe sees Nadia, we came late to class. However, he doesn't say anything and continues to observe her. He sees that she is acting too weird and anxious, and he also sees that she is on his phone. To get her attention, Joe asks him a question about a book they were supposed to read as homework, but Nadia says that she couldn't read the book. Joe immediately understands that something is up with her because this has never happened before. Rhys says that she would be a problem, because he likely connected the dots and figured Nadia learned something about Joe. He then asks Joe to tell her to say, if he wants to find Marianne alive. This shows that Rhys instantly knew Nadia had found Marianne (who Joe was keeping in a cage). Joe listened to Rhys and asked her to stay. The conversation between them made Rhys understand more of her lies.

As for how Rhys figured it out: Nadia was already somewhat involved with the wealthy circle; she knew Malcolm and even attended the gathering in episode 6 (it wasn't exactly a party, but I can't think of a better word). She had been investigating the Eat-the-Rich killer quite thoroughly. Rhys realized from her nervous and suspicious behavior that she had likely solved the case and probably even found Marianne.

“SEEING THROUGH NADIAS PLAN”

Nadia comes up with a plan to free marriane and let her out of Joe's clutches but Joe read through Nadia’s plan so he purposefully let Marianne go, so that she will think things are going her way. Joe intentionally left her plan unnoticed so Joe can execute a better plan later that will help him clear his name.

“THE CAGE TRAP”

When Nadia and Edward came to the place Joe had previously put the cage, they didn’t find anything. After her previous visit, Joe anticipated that Nadia would take Edward to see the cage too, so he moved the cage. This move made Edward trust in Nadia less, and partially made him think she is crazy. Joe wouldn’t have any other reason to get rid of the cage as Joe keeps his cages even after somebody is dead or killed in them

“FRAMING NADIA AND EDWARD”

Joe anticipated that Nadia and her boyfriend would come to his house to search for evidence, so Joe planted evidence (Rhys’ stuff) in his house. When Nadia and Edward come to his house, Edward waits outside while Nadia searches for evidence inside. Nadia finds the box Joe planted and spends time taking pictures of it. In this timeframe, Joe cuts Edward’s throat near their car. Nadia has finished taking pictures so she gets out of the house to go to their car. She goes near the car but can’t see Edward inside of it, right in that moment, she turns around and sees Joe, she gets shocked and drops her phone to the ground. Joe picks up the phone from the ground and deletes the pictures Nadia took. He starts walking towards Nadia so she backs away, right when she gets near the trunk of the car she sees the body of Edward. Joe makes her pick up a knife that he used to kill Edward, so that he could frame Nadia for it by placing her fingerprints on the weapon. He also planned to plant the box (Rhys' stuff) into Nadia's bedroom sent from an anonymous tipster, knowing that the police will think Edward sent it. So in one move; Joe killed Edward who was a threat to him, he framed Nadia for the murder of Edward, he framed Edward for the "Eat-the-Rich Killer" murders.

"CLEARING MISCONCEPTIONS"

Despite being directly stated that Joe knew Nadia about marriane the show somehow contradicted it acting as if Joe didn't know Nadia knew about marriane so let me explain why this is false and how Joe did know marriane was alive. Joe didn't know marriane was alive but Rhys did let me explain The Subconscious and Intelligence

Intuition and Insight:

The subconscious mind processes subtle environmental cues and internal signals that the conscious mind misses, leading to intuitive feelings and "gut reactions" about situations.

Intelligent Action:
The subconscious is a goal-seeking "supercomputer" that uses past experiences and stored data to guide behavior and thought, contributing significantly to our overall intelligent responses to the world.
Complementary to Consciousness:
Instead of being a separate or lesser entity, the subconscious is an essential partner to the conscious mind, and most intelligent behavior results from the coordination of both.
Key Concept: Cognitive Unconscious
Beyond Simple Awareness:
The concept of the "cognitive unconscious" views it not just as a place of stimuli we are unaware of, but as a domain of sophisticated cognitive processes that influence our behavior and decisions.
Complexity and Adaptation:
This view highlights the highly intelligent and adaptive nature of unconscious processes, which can perform fundamental cognitive tasks that were once thought to require conscious deliberation. It wasn't Joe who knew about marriane But it wasn't exactly his conscience that knew His sub conscious which reads Rhys knew and Rhys is shown to have knowledge on things Joe does not like what he said to Phoebe and Kate's phone acess code Also Joe would've seen Nadia on his security cameras look in his flat and get the key to his cage

"HOW DID RHYS KNOW SHE WAS ALIVE"

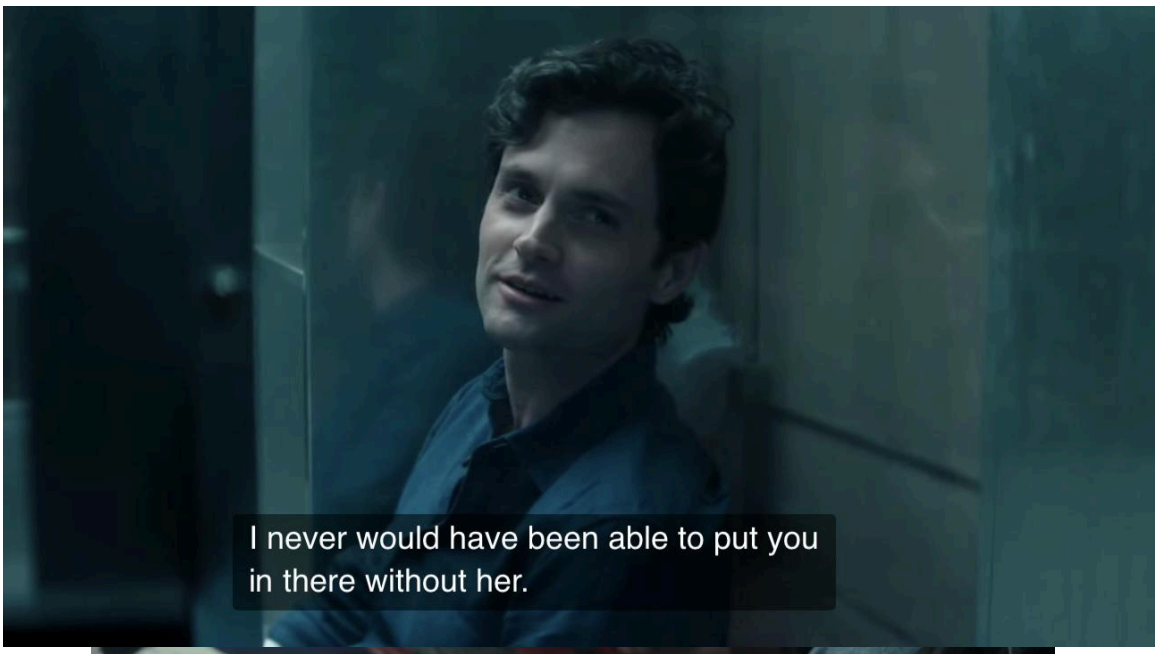

Despite the show saying Joe did not know we can logically infer Rhys did for one as we just explained Rhys is Joe's subconscious and knows things Joe does not. For one it's way out of joes methods to handle a loved ones death Joe would have covered up her death Bury her body or frame somebody for it Joe has done this for all his love interest (Beck love Natalie Candance) This is already enough evidence to show Joe knowing she was alive he wouldn't have left her on a random park bench this was just part of Rhys plan and Joe went along with it. And if you say just because it isn't stated means it isn't true things can be implied and it's done so before In the show many times. Joes subconscious knew she alive and used that to help with his plan to frame naida the reason Joe was shocked is because only his subconscious knew not Joe Rhys knew. Rhys also told Joe to cut up Marianne's body like Malcom why would he randomly change it up to putting her on a bench it's because Joe saw through her plan and decided to execute a better one

"BUT KATE HELPED JOE FRAME HER"

Kate didn't do anything at all to help Joe. The entire plan was his idea and even if you use the argument of Joe saying she helped him frame her even Nadia said this was just a manipulation tactic to help her get on his side. Kate did not have an impact on Joe framing her, she just supported the idea of Joe killing Rhys. Also they legit needed joes confession to Rhys death as they couldn't get Joe arrested himself if Kate helped she would've been able to expose Joe without it

I never would have been able to put you in there without her.

I know what you're doing. You're trying to

“EXTRA STUFF”

Joe stated it was a different man who did that when he framed Nadia implying Rhys took over when he was framing her meaning season 4 joes plan with Nadia was Rhys plans not joes.
